MHS seniors earn diplomas

Twenty-four seniors were graduated from Muenster Public School during commencement exercises Friday, May 27, at the MPS Auditorium.

Dr. Jim M. Williams, president of Grayson County College, congratulated the seniors and their parents and supporters in the commencement address he delivered.

"There's a lot of pride in this auditorium tonight, and that's the way it should be," Williams said. "You have been singled out and made unequal with your education. Right now you're more educated than 90 percent of the people on earth."

The skills the seniors learned at MPS -- skills such as communicating, analyzing problems, organizing and decision making -- are skills that will last their lifetimes, he said. These same skills have helped to make them honorable and productive citizens of their country and moral members of their families.

The evening's ceremony began with the seniors entering the auditorium to a procession played by Vernon Austin, MPS counselor. The Rev. Steve Pearson led an invocation.

Jamie Walterscheid, Salutatorian, then addressed her fellow graduates in the salutatory speech. She was followed by top-ranking senior Brian Hess, who delivered the valedictory address.

Principal Eddie Griffin presented Mary Josephine Cox Scholarships from Cooke County College to Darla Bindel, Michele Huddleston, Melody Klement and Meredith McDaniel. Griffin also presented Meredith with a scholarship from the Bluebonnet Home Demonstration Club and gave a Salutatorian Scholarship to Jamie and a Valedictorian Scholarship to Brian.

D.J. Hellman, president of the Muenster School Board, awarded diplomas to the seniors as their names were called by Griffin. Class sponsors Priscilla Phillips and Robert McDaniel turned rings and tassels.

Russell Edward Simmons, Melinda Kay Smith, Michelle Lee Smith, Charlene Tracy Switzer, Jamie Beth Walterscheid, Ronald Jon Walterscheid, Staci Diann Walterscheid and William David Youngblood.

Father Victor Gillespie closed the ceremony with a benediction and Austin played a recessional as the graduates processed from the auditorium.

RUSSELL SIMMONS was one of the 24 seniors graduating from Muenster High School on Friday, May 27. He is a son of Rex and Donna Simmons, and

Council passes tax abatement guidelines

A crowd was on hand at the Muenster City Council meeting Wednesday night in supporting the Council's approval of tax abatement guidelines for new and expanding Muenster businesses.

The guidelines, drawn up by the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Board during the meeting, state that the minimum commitment of the industry requesting an abatement be a cash outlay of $500,000. The total commitment of the industry was set to be $1,000,000 with the industry getting credit of $30,000 for each employee that is added or retained.

The topic of establishing the criteria arose at the council's May meeting when Ronnie Felderhoff, a manager of Muenster Milling Co., requested a six-year tax abatement for construction of a new facility. A similar tax-relief program was granted by the 1977 Council for construction of Valenite Metals on West Hwy 82.

"I've heard a lot of people say, 'If they get tax exempt, I'm not going to pay taxes next year,'" Roy Reiter said.

John Pagel, president of the Industrial Board, said the board supported the mill receiving the abatement because of the increased sales taxes the facility would generate and because of the increased number of jobs it would provide.

"The main concern of the Industrial Board is fairness," Pagel said. "We have an obligation to the city government, the civic leaders and the citizens to see that the city is going to grow. We're all working for the same things, but we just want to be fair about it."

"We need to establish some criteria where we can justify a denial to someone who applies....The guidelines must assure the citizens of Muenster fairness and equality and yet protect ourselves just a little bit," Pagel said.

The approved guidelines allow the Council the privilege of approving or rejecting each case regardless of its economic situation. The guidelines are good for two years and can be expanded, changed or repealed with consent of 3/4 of Council members.

Although Muenster Milling conforms to the specifications passed Wednesday, a decision to grant the business an abatement cannot be decided by the Council until its next meeting.

In old business, the Council voted to approve Texas Power & Light specifications for construction of tennis courts at the Muenster City Park subject to approval of the specifications by the Muenster Jaycees. TP&L is involved in construction of the courts, which are being paid for by the Jaycees, because the proposed site for the courts lies under electricity transmission lines.

In beginning new business, Council members approved the rezoning of lots 18, 19 and 20 of Block 42 from residential to business. This vote okays a permit for Muenster Mutual Insurance to begin construction of a building on the lots, which are on the block across from the post office.

In other action, the Council:

To spend a time remembering...

Large crowd attends Memorial Day service

A larger crowd than usual attended the Memorial Day Services at Sacred Heart Cemetery Sunday morning, following the 8 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church. They came to gather at the military plot, in honor of men who gave their lives in wartime, and to visit graves of loved ones in other parts of the cemetery.

Hundreds of fresh flowers placed by families, and red carnations and flags on all servicemen's graves, placed by Linda Knabe and her children, lent dignity and simple beauty to the scene.

Preceding the memorial service, during Mass, members of the VFW Honor Guard presented Offertory gifts at the altar. Frances Bayer, president of the Auxiliary, gave the First and Second Readings in the liturgy.

Eucharistic Ministers were VFW and Auxiliary members Lucille Hesse, Regina Pels, John Wimmer, Norbert and Mary Ann Walterscheid, and Arthur and Frances Bayer.

The procession formed in front of church to march to the cemetery.

Members of the Auxiliary Color Guard are Mary Lee Hennigan, Janet Barnhill, Magdalen Yosten, Rose Hudspeth, Julia Cunningham, Hilda Sicking and Agnes Hesse.

Father Denis Soerries accompanied the procession and led prayers at the Crucifixion statues. A memorial wreath and buddy poppy spray were placed at the soldiers' monument by Juanita Knabe, Auxiliary Patriotic Instructor, Frances Bayer, president, and Josephine Schilling, buddy poppy chairman and junior vice president. Linda Knabe was conductress.

First Communicants who placed red carnations on servicemen's graves were Jonathan Grewing, Kristen Dickerson, Jerry Stoffels, Shawna Endres, Aaron Hess, Trisha Endres, Crystal Klement, Joyce Hacker, David Hesse, Matt Muller, Sherie Bonner, Dea Cler, Angel Sicking, Bryan Hudspeth and Jeff Yosten.

Senator tours Weber Aircraft...

Gramm promotes Texas economy

People such as the employees of Weber Aircraft are helping to end Texas' economic woes with the high quality items they produce, claims U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm.

Gramm, R-Texas, came to Cooke County Saturday where he toured Weber and spoke to employees and local officials. The trip was part of a statewide campaign highlighting economic expansion in Texas.

"I'm going around trying to promote employers," Gramm said. "I thought it would be a good idea to thank the good corporate citizens we already have for continuing such good work."

Weber, an industry located west of Gainesville that builds airplane seats and food service equipment for airlines, employs 1,100 people.

Gramm toured the facility and met employees as they built their products.

Welcoming the senator and briefing him on the economic situation of the North Texas area were local officials including John Walterscheid, Weber Aircraft General Manager; Ray Nichols; Charles Woolfolk, mayor of the city of Gainesville; Riley Peveto, president of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce; Carl Smith, Chamber Executive vice president and Jim Robertson, county judge.

"One of the reasons I wanted to come see you is that you're selling abroad about 30 percent of what you're doing," Gramm told employees. "This has happened because you've got good people with pride working here."

Gramm, confident that American products can compete in the world market, urged that more U.S. industries take up Weber's export example.

The senator also painted a positive picture for Texas' future with his confidence in the oil and gas industry. The economy of the state, more broad-based than ever before, will bring a "Golden Era" to Texas in the 1990s, he said.

"Texas can be the train leading the economic recovery in America rather than the caboose following the train," he said.

Gramm ended his visit by congratulating the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce for their aggression in recruiting businesses.

Dear Muenster, It's time again to be thinking of your family histories. Remember, if you don't take the responsibility for seeing the histories written, they won't be published. Also remember, in doing your stories, please include a short biography on each child: birthdates, spouses, marriage dates - children's names and dates of birth.

Remember! July 1, 1988 is the deadline for histories!

Williamson appointed to education conference

State Representative Ric Williamson (D-63) was notified recently that Governor Bill Clements has appointed Williamson to represent the State of Texas as a delegate to the Southern Regional Education Board Legislative Work Conference to be held in June. The agenda will focus on specific actions and recommendations for school and collegiate quality improvement.

"I am honored to serve our Governor and our state as a delegate to the Southern Regional Education Board Conference. I look forward to learning as much as possible about how other states are solving public education financing problems so that I might be a part of the solution to our financing problem here in Texas."

SMALL BUSINESS ANGLE

"REVISIONS" IN MINIMUM WAGE PLOY

The crusade to raise the minimum wage began as a noble quest. Its goal: to help workers struggling to support a family on a wage that hadn't increased in eight years. Recent facts have shown this apparently benevolent effort to be — in reality — a political ploy to buy union votes.

Determined to prove that business estimates of job losses from a minimum wage hike were exaggerated, the Democratic leadership in Congress asked its highly respected budget office to study the question. The Congressional Budget Office found that a wage hike to $4.65 per hour would cost the U.S. 250,000 to 500,000 jobs. Most of the jobs would be lost in the South and Southwest, areas already struggling with high unemployment.

These legislators could have saved taxpayer dollars by reading the same facts from reports by numerous economists and by the National Federation of Independent Business, which represents more than a half-million of the country's small firms.

It's to be hoped that members of Congress now understand the facts: If you force employers to raise wages, some will have to lay off people, delay creating new job slots or substitute machines for people. And the employers most likely to make those decisions are in areas already facing high unemployment.

Job losses from a wage hike are a fact that unions still attempt debate, but again facts defy rhetoric. The National Restaurant Association surveyed its members after the last wage hike to determine the effect of an increase on employment and prices. Because nearly a third of all minimum wage earners work in food services, the results are telling: 70 percent of those surveyed had reduced the hours of employees, 48 percent had laid off workers and 28 percent had added labor-saving equipment. Nine out of 10 restaurants had raised prices.

Further, many state legislatures have proved willing to take care of their own. Eleven states have raised their minimum wage above $3.35. Significantly, six of the 11 are in prosperous New England. Equally significant, none of the increases are in the South or Southwest.

This legislation won't help millions of working poor support their families because there aren't millions of minimum wage earners who head households. Out of a civilian work force of 114 million people, less than 5.1 million earn the minimum and only about 500,000 of those support a family.

If the minimum wage is helping very few poor, why the fuss from unions? Simple, the cost of a higher minimum wage to business is not just the increase to the lowest paid workers; it is the cost of raising wages for all the other employees who feel cheated.

And who stands to gain most from such a ratcheting up of wages? Unions — still losing members, ground and political power.

When all the musty rhetoric clears the air of Capitol Hill, it becomes obvious that a federal minimum wage increase is a mistake.

John Sloan is President of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing more than half a million small-business men and women.

Dr. James Dobson to speak against obscenity

In his new film, "A Winnable War," Dr. James Dobson will discuss his 14-month term on the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography and what citizens can do to combat porn on a local level. The film will be shown June 3 and 4 at the First Baptist Church in Muenster at 7 p.m.

This hard-hitting one-hour release from Focus on the Family Films reveals the mounting evidence of porn's destructive effect on the family. Dr. Dobson further explains the many ways - commercially and legally - in which the tide is turning against illicit materials. He dispels the popular notion that hard-core pornography is protected by the First Amendment and notes that the U.S. Justice Department is committed to fighting obscenity.

While emphasizing that the fight against pornography is a "winnable war," Dr. Dobson says that concerned citizens must become more involved in the campaign.

Dr. Dobson, a licensed psychologist and author of nine best-selling books on parenting and marriage, is founder and president of Focus on the Family, a non-profit pro-family organization based in California. His popular 30-minute radio program, "Focus on the Family," is heard daily on more than 1,000 stations across North America.

A WINNABLE WAR

Dr. James Dobson in a Powerful New Film on the Fight Against Pornography and How It Can Be Won

Your community is not immune to the tragic effects of pornography. After 14 months with the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography, Dr. James Dobson became convinced that obscene material is having a devastating impact on a surprising number of families. In this major new address, he explains why pornography is addictive, how it affects homes, and what can be done to stem the tide of obscenity.

Reappraisals force tax values up

by Elaine Schad

Overall market values in Cooke County edged upward slightly this year, mainly because of reappraisals of the Gainesville School District, said Chief Appraiser Bill Sherman of the Cooke County Appraisal District.

Total countywide taxable value increased by about $50 million this year, from an estimated taxable value of $1.2 billion last year to an estimate of $1.25 billion for 1988, Sherman said.

Estimated values for all county taxing entities will change some by the time the final tax roll is issued at the end of July. About 300 county residents appeared before the Appraisal Review Board last year to protest their values. About 3,000 people met with CCAD appraisers, but did not go before the ARB, Sherman said. He expects at least that many to come forward again this year. Written protests must be filed by July 1 in order to appear before the board. ARB members this year include Jerry Wimmer of Muenster, Terry Hermann and James Jirasek, both of Gainesville.

Muenster's market values stayed about the same along with most other areas of the county. Valley View and Era showed slight declines due to a drop in some property sales, Sherman said.

Appraisers focused on the Gainesville School District because the state said business inventory property and utilities were below state estimates, Sherman said. School districts could lose some state funding if state property value estimates are above local estimates.

The GISD actually lost some value overall, however, as more property owners took advantage of the over-65 and agricultural exemptions, Sherman said. The GISD stands to lose about $4 million more in taxable value due to the over-65 exemption and about $6 million more from the agriculture exemption.

Sherman credited the CCAD's efforts to better inform the public about various exemptions as the reason exemptions countywide increased.

Listed below are the estimated

1988 taxable values of taxing entities across the county excluding exemptions:

- Cooke County: $800 million
- Cooke County College: $820 million (includes auto taxation)
- City of Muenster: $40 million
- Muenster ISD: $78 million
- Lindsay ISD: $50 million
- Sivells Bend ISD: $28 million
- Era ISD: $30 million
- Valley View ISD: $38 million
- City of Gainesville: $320 million
- Gainesville ISD: $340 million
- Walnut Bend ISD: $12 million
- Gainesville Hospital District: $680 million.

EMT training begins at CCC June 6

GAINESVILLE - Just 10 weeks of intensive training this summer at Cooke County College can prepare students to become certified Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) and earn them nine full hours of college credit to boot.

The special EMT training program, offered through CCC's Department of Paramedicine, begins June 6 and runs through Aug. 12. Students may register for the course during regular on-campus summer school registration on June 2.

According to Laura Roberts, department director, the program consists of seven weeks of night classes on campus followed by three weeks of lab and clinical rotations at area hospital emergency rooms and ambulance services.

Roberts stresses that this final three-week segment of the program can be scheduled around 24/48-hour shifts to accommodate fire department personnel, police officers, EMS personnel and others who may wish to enroll to upgrade skills.

Upon successful completion of the training course, students will be prepared to take both state and national EMT certification exams. They also will receive an American Heart Association CPR card for course C and nine full hours of college credit - all of which, Roberts says, can be applied toward the first year requirements for the associate degree offered by CCC in paramedicine.

Classes will meet during the first seven weeks of the program from 6 to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday. The clinical and lab rotations will begin July 22 and continue through Aug. 12. In addition, two Saturday classes are required - an extrication exercise on July 30 and a multi-casualty exercise on Aug. 6, both classes meeting from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Roberts says the total cost for the 10-week EMT training program will be about $410 - including tuition, fees, uniforms, books, insurance and supplies - for Cooke County residents and about $10-20 more for students who live outside the district.

For more information about this and related programs, including admission requirements and procedures, interested persons should contact the CCC Department of Paramedicine at 817/668-7731, Ext. 208.

Davidson, Hazzard exchange wedding vows in Gainesville May 21

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hazzard are at home in Roanoke since returning from their wedding trip to Mazumel, Mexico.

They were married in Whaley United Methodist Church of Gainesville on May 21, with Rev. Joe Ed Goolsby officiating at 5 p.m. for the traditional double ring ceremony in a setting created by white candelabras with greenery, white flowers and white bows marking pews.

The bride is the former Barbara Jean Davidson, daughter of Charles and Alice Davidson of Rt. 1, Muenster. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I.B. Hazzard of Mineola.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a gown of elegant white satin, designed with off-shoulder fitted basque bodice, adorned with lace appliques and pearls. The Elizabethan sleeves were also adorned with matching lace appliques and pearls, and tapered closely to her wrists. The full skirt, embellished with lace appliques, swept to a cathedral length train, with ruffles and insets of lace.

Her tulle veil was fingertip length, attached to a satin band with lilies of the valley and delicate pearls. Her bridal bouquet held white silk orchids, burgundy roses and English ivy.

ATTENDANTS

Amy Davidson of Muenster was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids, all sisters of the bride, were Kathy Brorsen of West Lafayette, Indiana, Pat Gilliland of Norman, Oklahoma, and Becky Felderhoff of Muenster.

Their identical jade, tea-length gowns featured scalloped-edge lace over satin, with V-neck in back, satin cummerbund and back bow. They wore matching satin slippers. They carried arm bouquets of burgundy roses.

Emily Felderhoff of Muenster, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Lynn Honc of Victoria, a friend of the groom, was the best man. Groomsmen were Dr. John LaBore of Morrilton, Arkansas, a friend of the groom, Mike Davidson of Greenwood, Arkansas, brother of the bride, and Tommy Hazzard of Mineola, brother of the groom.

Ushers were friends of the groom, Mike Loter of Keller and James Huff of Mineola.

Wedding music was presented by Annetta Earle, organist, and vocalists Elaine Davidson, sister-in-law of the bride, of Greenwood, Ark., and Jamai Greeman, friend of the bride of Hope, Ark. Selections included "The Rose," "Today," "Through the Eyes of Love," "Perhaps Love," "There Is Love," "The Lord's Prayer" and "One Hand, One Heart," both preceding and during the ceremony.

RECEPTION

A reception, hosted by parents of the bride, was held in the Lindsay Parish Hall, with dinner catered by Ed and Ginny Schneider, and dance music presented by Doug Martin.

Securing guest signatures in the bride's book were Mrs. Anna Belle Snow of Callisburg, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Ann Dunnam of Whitesboro, cousin of the bride.

Reception assistants were Mrs.

Maryanne Fleitman of Muenster, a family friend; Mrs. Joy Siegmund and Wendy of Denton, aunt and cousin of the bride; Mrs. Pat Siegmund of Greenwood, Ark., aunt of the bride.

A special guest was the bride's 87-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Louise Siegmund of Gainesville.

Out-of-town guests came from Dallas, Denton, Mineola and Austin.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at Catfish Charlie's in Gainesville.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster High School, and graduated from Texas A&M University with a Bachelor of Science degree. She is employed by Zeecon Industries as an Operations Supervisor.

The groom is a graduate of Mineola High School and graduated from Texas A&M University with Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in Agriculture. He is a sales representative employed by the Ag Chemical Division for Mobay Corporation. The couple resides in Roanoke.

Changes in canning

by Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent

Home canning has changed greatly in the 170 years since it was introduced as a way to preserve food. Scientists have found ways to produce safer, higher quality products.

The United States Department of Agriculture has just this spring released the results of research done at its Center for Excellence in Home Food Preservation at the Penn State University. Highlights include new processing time for dial gauge and weighted gauge pressure canners. Pressure canners are the only recommended method of canning low-acid vegetables.

One of the major recommended changes due to the recent research is canning vegetables at 11 pounds pressure. Separate times are given for dial gauges and weighted gauges. Small pressure saucepans are no longer recommended for home canning.

Another change in specific recommendations is now given for processing tomatoes in the pressure canner as well as in the boiling-water canner. The process is still the same. The name was changed to emphasize the need to have the water at the boiling point when processing time is started.

Other recommendations include:
- Recipes for a variety of tomato products including spaghetti sauce with and without meat, chile salsa, country western ketchup, Mexican tomato sauce, etc.

- All jellied products, including jellies, should be processed in a boiling-water canner.

- Instructions are provided for reduced-sugar fruit spreads.

- Recipes for sodium-free dill and sweet pickles are provided.

- Recipes for fruit pie fillings are given, using Clear Jel A.

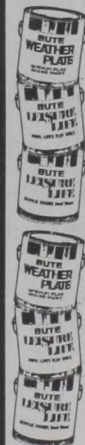

- Processing times for meat, poultry, fish and baby foods.

- It is recommended that pressure canner dial gauges be checked for accuracy.

Food preservation information is available by calling the County Extension Office at 668-5412 or stopping by the office in the basement of the county courthouse. Pressure canner gauges may also be checked in the office.

Kindergarten takes local field trip May 5

The Muenster Public School Kindergarten enjoyed a field trip to Bayer's Kolonialwaren on Thursday, May 5.

The morning class watched the Bayers make cinnamon rolls and as each roll of dough was stretched, cut and put into pans. Then they watched as dough was rolled and precise measurements were made for making pizza. They saw all the various machines used in the baking process.

Charles Bayer explained the use of yeast and allowed the children to smell or taste it.

Afterwards they were treated to "doughnut holes" and Coca-Cola. They were accompanied by Mrs. Rose Black and their teacher, Rosemary Dankesreiter.

The afternoon class also enjoyed the trip to Bayer's. They were accompanied by Mmes. Shirley Endres, Paula Fleitman, Carol Klement and Linda Lutkenhaus.

The class enjoyed watching pizza being made. Charles Bayer explained the uses of the various machines. The children especially enjoyed watching the dough being rolled and cut into sausage rolls.

Everyone was served pizza and Coca-Cola by the Bayers, following the demonstration.

The class wrote Thank-You cards and illustrated them with pictures of things they liked best.

CHAS and CHARLA BAYER of Bayer's Kolonialwaren demonstrate rolling pizza dough to the MPS Kindergarten class during a recent field trip.

Elementary students take field trip

The first graders from Muenster Public School had quite an enjoyable field trip. They were most fortunate to visit and tour the Muenster State Bank and The Muenster Enterprise.

At the bank, the students were amazed at the quickness and ease at which the checks could be sorted. They were also allowed to "step" inside the vault. Lillian Walterscheid was an excellent tour guide.

At The Muenster Enterprise, Alvin Hartman impressed the students with his knowledge and expertise at running the various printing machines. Mr. Hartman demonstrated how letters had to be arranged in opposite order to print words.

The students then enjoyed a morning snack in the back yard of Mrs. Heers' home and a nature walk back to school.

Mrs. Heers and her class are appreciative of Kathy Sicking, Deb Klement and Kim Walterscheid for accompanying them on their trip.

Ten from Muenster join tour to Missouri

Ten Muenster persons, J.D. and Miriam Caplinger, Leona Eberhart, Lucille Hess, Ella Haverkamp, Margaret Kupper, Harold Gladys Lutkenhaus, Agnes Owen and Millie Voth joined a group of 37 on the Nocona Fun Tour with Weldon Cowan as tour guide and Darwin Stroud, bus driver.

Others on the trip were from Nocona, Saint Jo and Gainesville, leaving Muenster from The Center on Sunday, May 22, at 7:40 a.m., enroute to Eureka Springs, Arkansas and Branson, Missouri. They arrived at Eureka Inn about 4:30 p.m. to spend the night. Their plans to see the famous Passion Play outdoors were canceled by a rainstorm, causing their disappointment, but the group agreed that rain was a welcome sight, making the area fresh and green.

However, they were able to tour various places of interest, including the Glass church and a stage show, "Ozark Hoe-Down."

On Monday, May 23, they toured the city of Eureka and went back to see the impressive area and sets where the Passion Play should have been presented. They all took pictures; saw the Church in the Wild Woods; enjoyed beautiful scenery, had lunch and went shopping and departed Eureka Springs, heading for Branson, Mo., arriving about 3 p.m.

That evening, they saw the "Presleys' Show."

On Tuesday, they toured the "School of the Ozarks," had lunch in the college cafeteria, saw a film, "Trout Hatchery," toured the campus and museum and Table Rock Dam. At night, they attended a show, "Country Music World."

The next day, they went to Silver Dollar City. Some of the group took the tour through the cave and others attended a music program and strolled the area. A train ride, boat ride and tunnel tour were included. Entertainment and music went on throughout the day until at 6:30 p.m. there was a program in the Amphitheater.

On Thursday, May 26, immediately after breakfast, the group toured downtown Branson. At 9:30 a.m., they saw the "Fantastic Waltzing Water" display. Next was a tour through the area of "The Shepherd of the Hills;" they watched a program, visited the locksmith and had a group picture made. There were so many interesting things to see. Half of the group returned that evening to see the play, "Shepherd of the Hills," and the others attended a show in the downtown area.

They retired then about 11 p.m. to pack suitcases and luggage, reading for a 6 a.m. departure Friday morning before breakfast. Their first stop was at McDonald's and then for lunch at Farris in Muskogee, Oklahoma. They arrived in Muenster on Friday, May 27, about 5 p.m. after an enjoyable trip, seeing many exciting new things, good shows, music, and making new friends. This trip was reported by Mrs. Margaret Kupper, a member of the tour group. The Enterprise expresses thanks.

Baptism

Hess

Hannah Katherine Hess, infant daughter of Doyle and Debbie Hess, was baptized in Sacred Heart Church on May 8, 1988 during the 10:30 a.m. Sunday Mass.

Her godparents were Penni Hess and Angelo Nasche, Jr., both cousins of Hannah.

The infant wore the same christening gown worn by her brother, Noah, a gift from the maternal grandmother.

The traditional white shirt was hand embroidered by Bronte Gonsalves and was her gift to the baby.

Readers of the liturgy included Dana Wimmer and LaBecah Hess, cousins. Hannah's brothers, Aaron and Noah, presented Offertory gifts at the altar.

A dinner in the parents' home followed the church service. A special turkey and dressing menu was served. The christening cake, made by Cathie and Francis Fuhrmann, was brought by an aunt, LaVerna Nasche. Pictures were made during the afternoon and gifts were displayed.

Attending were the grandmother, Kate Wilson; grandparents, Gary and Caroline Hess; godparents; brothers, uncles, aunts and cousins, Larry Wimmer and Dana and Shane; Gerald and Monica Hess; Angelo and LaVerna Nasche and Stevan and Matthew; and Floyd Haverkamp, Penni's fiancé.

Unable to attend was an aunt, Pat Wimmer, an R.N. on duty at Muenster Memorial Hospital. A special plate of dinner was brought to her where she was working.

Münster City Park is ready for summer crowds

Summertime. The word brings to mind a host of activities suitable for that sizzling season: baseball, cooking out, swimming.

And with the end of school years signaling the arrival of summer, Münster officials say city parks are prepared for the crowds that are sure to hit for hot-weather fun.

Claude Klement, Münster city councilman in charge of parks and libraries, said improvements at the city park and plans for future improvements are made continually.

"I think people need to look at the park and sit back and realize what a nice place it is," Klement said Tuesday. "And if they think of any ideas, we'll gladly look into it."

The biggest plan for future improvements at the park is construction of two tennis courts north of the present courts. Joe Fenton, city manager, said the new courts will take about six months to build, but construction will not begin until Texas Power & Light specifications are accepted by the City Council and Münster Jaycees.

TP&L became involved in the project because the proposed site is under an electricity transmission line. The Jaycees will pay the estimated $30,000 for construction of the courts.

"I think it's the general feeling of the Council not to put a Germanfest tent on them (the new courts)," Fenton said Friday.

"We're going to forbid skates, bikes -- anything but tennis there."

A "dancefloor", which is a 30' x 70' slab of unreinforced concrete 5 1/2 inches thick, was built this spring in the road at the west side of the park. Fenton said the dancefloor was built there because the Germanfest Committee wanted to encourage dancing near the west stage during the festival. The committee will pay costs of its construction, he said.

Also built this spring was a concrete slab south of the swimming pool. The beer van was stationed on the slab during Germanfest, but at other times it possibly will be used for shuffleboard games, said David Flusche Jr., Jaycees president. The shuffleboard equipment would be checked out from the basket room of the pool.

The Jaycees recently built a flower bed along the south fence of the pool and are growing flowers there, Flusche said Tuesday. They also provided Jon Fleitman, who was working to earn an Eagle Scout badge, with paint to repaint the playground equipment. Near-future plans of the group are plans to repaint the airplane and do upkeep work on it.

"It's an excellent park," Flusche said. "Hopefully we can get more fun and unique things there for the kids."

One of the most popular attractions of the park, the swimming pool, was improved by the Jaycees recently with more lighting and windows in the basket room. Last year, the pool cost $12,215.40 to operate and brought in $7,454.50. But Fenton called the loss typical.

"You have to look at it from the point of view of benefits rather than the point of view of revenues," Fenton said. "The pool is a form of insurance. If we can teach kids to swim here, then we save lives and it's worth it."

Jim Vogel, who was contracted to care for the park's grass and trees and do some maintenance there, every year seeds areas of the grass that come under high pedestrian traffic during Germanfest. In addition, he fertilizes every year and uses a water well and sprinkler system installed about five years ago by the Jaycees.

The Münster City Park was dedicated for use as a public park in 1889 by the Flusche Brothers. It is 8.3 acres in size, bounded by Maple, Willow, Division and Cross streets. In 1987, the park cost $14,333.82 (independent of pool costs) to operate. Park hours are 7 a.m. to midnight.

The Münster Baseball Park, which is also city park property, is 2.1 acres in size.

In the late 1960s, the Jaycees won the National Community Improvement Award for their work in developing the park.

Library's summer program begins

The theme for the 1988 Summer Reading Program, sponsored jointly by the Texas State Library and your local library is "Trailblazers, Stargazers." It begins in June and runs for 10 weeks, ending Aug. 4. Very attractive reading logs will be issued to the readers, and a certificate from the Texas State Library upon completion of the requirements. Participants are to read an equivalent of one book a week for 10 weeks. This year, a "Read to Me" certificate will be available for the very young who have books read to them. An added incentive is a coupon from the Dairy Inn for a free ice cream cone when requirements are completed.

Throughout the last year, the library has added books on every grade level - Preschool, Primary, Easy Reading, Intermediate (grades 3-5), Upper Elementary (grades 5-7), Advanced Readers (grades 6-9) and Young Adults (grades 9 and up). Staff members will be happy to assist readers in any way they can.

Library hours are Tuesday and Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Wednesday, 2:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Garden Club holds annual installation

King and Holly Koch were hosts Friday evening, May 27, for the annual potluck dinner of the Münster Garden Club that included installation of officers.

Nine members and their spouses enjoyed the event which highlights the year's activities.

Officers for 1988-89 are Daryl Ferber, president; Marie Mosman, first vice president and program chairman; Loretta Felderhoff, second vice president and yearbook chairman; Angela Antonetti, third vice president and membership chairman; Marcy Wilde, secretary; Eileen Luke, treasurer; Marie Endres, parliamentarian.

Angela Antonetti will be chairman of the summer-long Yard of the Month project with Marcy Wilde assisting.

Club members voted to send their charitable donation this spring to the new Hospice program.

With the May meeting, the garden club completes its scheduled activities. Regular meetings will resume in September, although committees continue to function throughout the year.

Camp Sweeney to welcome kids June 5

Every summer, over 300 young people between the ages of 6 and 18 attend a very exclusive camp near Gainesville. The entrance requirements are strict: the child must have diabetes.

Too often, regular summer camps turn away a child with diabetes because of their special diet and medical needs. But Camp Sweeney, organized over 35 years ago, is a place for the diabetic to learn while having fun. All of the activities of a regular summer camp are offered: horseback riding, swimming, boating, fishing, arts and crafts, riflery and many more sports, plus movies, dances, and carnivals in the evenings. Sandwiched between the fun things are interesting sessions on medical and dietary information to help the campers take care of themselves and learn to live productive lives with their affliction under control.

Diets are formulated according to each individual's needs, giving the diabetic valuable examples of how to exchange foods to include an occasional "treat" so he won't feel left out around his friends at home.

Located on rolling wooded acreage 10 miles northeast of Gainesville, the site is bordered on the south by a 34-acre lake. Three, three-week sessions are held every summer, with the opening session scheduled for June 5. Others begin on June 26 and July 17. A medical staff and experienced counselors are always present and keep a close eye on the campers in a one-to-four ratio, many of them former campers themselves.

Established in 1950, Camp Sweeney was the first educational and recreational training center in the South for children with diabetes mellitus. Thousands of youngsters are living a self-sufficient, healthy life due to their training at Camp Sweeney.

The camp is a United Way agency, and scholarships are available for any child whose family is unable to pay the full session's fee. No child is turned away because of race, religion or national origin.

For additional information and application forms, write to Camp Sweeney, Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 918, Gainesville, TX 76240 or call 1-817-665-9502.

Our Goal: Outstanding Customer Satisfaction

Customer satisfaction is something every dealer strives for, it is our ultimate goal.

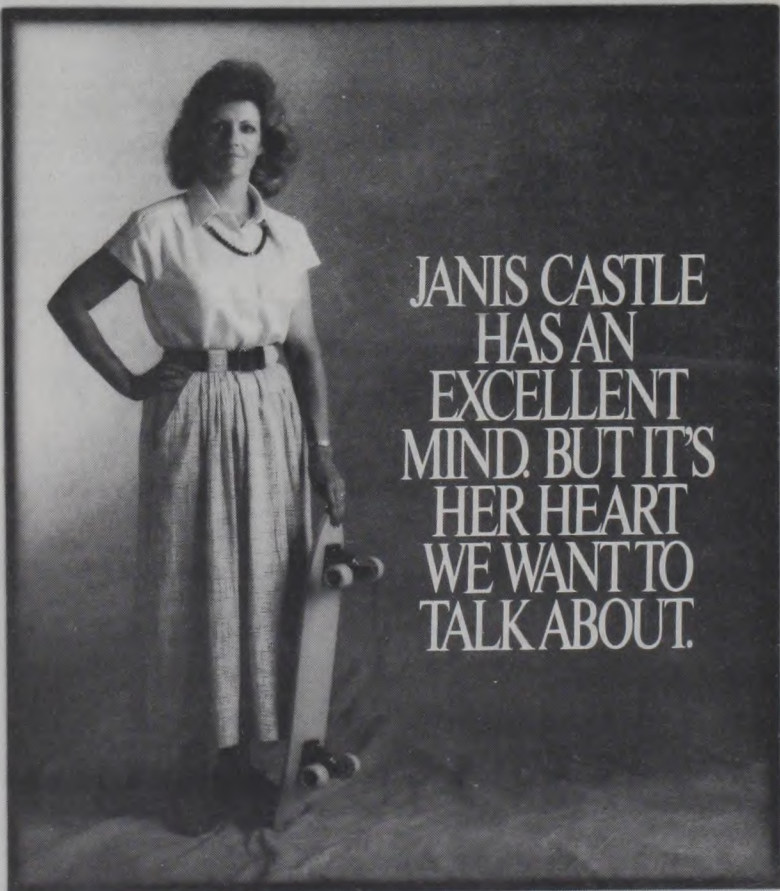

So you can imagine how proud we are to be one of a select few dealers out of 5600 to have been awarded an extremely prestigious honor for a Ford or Lincoln-Mercury dealer to receive the 1987 Ford Motor Company Quality Care Dealer Award for outstanding customer satisfaction. We worked hard for this award by giving top priority to your satisfaction; everything we do is geared to it. And we're even prouder of the fact that our customers made it happen with their responses to ongoing Ford Motor Company satisfaction surveys.

We're happy and proud you recognized our efforts to provide competent, courteous, and convenient sales and service treatment. It was your way of thanking us.

Our way of thanking you is to continue providing satisfaction for you, and all our customers, now and in the future.

JANIS CASTLE HAS AN EXCELLENT MIND. BUT IT'S HER HEART WE WANT TO TALK ABOUT.

As a Customer Representative for TU Electric, Janis seems to thrive on a heavy workload. Yet she still finds time to go beyond the call of duty for many of her customers. Such as the time a local orphanage was damaged by fire, and Janis coordinated donations of everything from clothing, blankets and furniture to sports equipment and toys. She says she just likes people. But we have a feeling it's because she's all heart. And Janis, like so many of our employees, is helping make A TU ELECTRIC Commitment To Service have a very special meaning indeed.

Hooked on fishing, not drugs

Young Americans across the country are learning that there are alternatives to drugs and one of the best is fishing.

Through a program called "Hooked On Fishing — Not On Drugs," sponsored by the Future Fisherman Foundation, students are discovering that fishing helps reduce stress that builds up in their lives; that it's a sport that they can do alone without feeling lonely; and that it's a fun, enjoyable activity.

The program includes a five-minute video called "Hooked On Fishing — Not On Drugs." It's a documentary about a 14-year-old boy who wrote the foundation a letter stating that fishing had helped to keep him away from drugs, and he knew fishing could work for others. Teachers and parents are encouraged to utilize the video to stimulate discussion about the use of fishing as an alternative to drugs and talk about other choices students have as well.

The "Hooked On Fishing — Not On Drugs" VHS video is available for $10 plus $2 handling per order. Involvement packets are also available for $2 that include a poster and step-by-step procedures for use by clubs, schools and communities. To order, or for more information, write to the Future Fisherman Foundation, Dept. E, Hwy. 9 & 71, Box W, Spirit Lake, IA 51360.

Fishing's catch-all, do-all lure

Jigs are deadly — so deadly that they were packed in military survival kits during World War II. When twitched, hopped or darter, a jig seems to yell "food" and commands fish to bite.

Popularly called a lead-head, the jig is sometimes adorned with skirts, trailers, feathers, plastic tipping, pork rinds and baits.

Jigs will catch just about any fish that swims. Since jigs can be hopped along the bottom or retrieved directly, they are versatile for any fishing situation. A bucktail jig, for example, consists of a lead body and a deer hair skirt. It is a favorite with crappie, bass and saltwater fishermen.

Usually the fishing line is tied directly to the jig. No snap or swivel is used. Jigging, especially effective in rocky structure, requires an abrasion resistant line like Berkley's Tri-Max or Big Game line. Most jigs have a single hook that rides upward. They slide remarkably well through heavy cover.

When fishing in clear water, use a small diameter line and a small jig. This combination allows a natural presentation.

Flipping is a popular jigging method whereby a rubber skirted jig, oftentimes adorned with a pork or plastic trailer, is flipped into brushy cover. Jigs used in brush have weed guards to reduce hanging up. As the jig falls, bass and other fish strike instinctively. Brute force and 20- to 30-lb. test line help haul heavy bass from the heavy cover.

It is important to select the proper size jig. Heavy jigs are useful for deep presentations and when fishing in heavy cover. Heavier jigs usually have larger hooks. Jigs for exceptionally big fish may weigh five ounces or more. Small jigs, weighing as little as 1/64th of an ounce, are the choice for panfish, such as bluegill or crappie.

It's impossible to fish a jig wrong as long as it's in or close to the water. Jigs can be trolled, hopped or even fished under a bobber. They can be pitched under docks or overhanging tree limbs. When fishing from shore, adding a bobber allows small jigs to be cast farther.
