

Memorial Day

Lest We Forget!

It is a day rich in history and emotion. Established three years after the Civil War, it was originally called Decoration Day . . . when graves of friend and foe alike were honored. Those with no one to mourn their passing were not overlooked; they too were remembered for the enormous price paid for liberty and justice for all.

Americans cannot abandon the justice and freedom for which these brave men and women have fought and died.

Spend a moment remembering.

VFW Auxiliary sets Memorial Service Sun.

Memorial Day services will be held at Sacred Heart Cemetery following the 8 a.m. Mass on Sunday, May 29. The public is invited.

Services will be directed by the Muenster VFW Post members and its Auxiliary. The VFW Honor Guard and Rifle Squad will be under direction of Arthur Bayer.

Andy Stelzer, past state commander of the department in Texas, will speak.

The procession from church will proceed to the Crucifixion statues where a memorial spray will be placed by Juanita Knabe, Auxiliary patriotic instructor. Frances Bayer, Auxiliary president, and Josephine Schilling, Buddy Poppy chairman and junior vice president, will place memorial wreaths at the servicemen's monument. Prayers will be led by Father Denis and Father Victor.

First Communicants will place floral tributes on graves of all servicemen, where flags will have already been placed on Saturday by Linda Knabe and her children. Gold Star parents will be honored.

Taps, played by Ronnie and Tina Weinzapfel, and the rifle salute by the Rifle Squad will conclude the observance.

Rumblings heard about transfer of collections

by Elaine Schad

A lot of people are still scratching their heads these days over the final details of transferring tax collection functions from the Cooke County Appraisal District to the county.

To Muenster residents, the transfer means that tax collection will be taken away from the city of Muenster and passed to the county. All other taxing entities had contracted with the CCAD to do the collection.

Things became quite confusing when the issue was discussed this week during a special meeting of the CCAD Board of Directors. There are still several areas of disagreement between the county and the CCAD over who will pay for what when the county takes charge of collections on Oct. 1, 1988.

The CCAD Board directed Chief Appraiser Bill Sherman to come up with some final solutions for making the transfer complete by the Board's next meeting June 14.

A major area of confusion centers around how the collection budget will be handled. Sherman said the county must obtain the approval of the budget from a majority of the taxing entities, just like the appraisal budget.

Commissioners disagree, saying they have authority over setting the budget and will bill the entity at a rate proportionate to the taxes collected. Sherman said he expects to get a legal opinion by Friday, May 27, on who is right.

The State Property Tax Code says the county must take responsibility for the collection, but doesn't say anything about how to go about it, said Doris Koch of the State Property Tax Board.

"This is uncharted territory because there are no tools in the tax code to set it up," she said.

A lot of the conflicts are arising from the decision that the county and CCAD will share the same building on California Street. There remains disagreement about what kind of printer to buy, who will be in charge of the mail, and who should pay for the various equipment. There also remain problems with telephone usage and building rent.

One thing is for sure. Unless someone files a lawsuit to stop it as has been done in Parker County, Joyce Zwinggi will be in charge of collection for the next two years beginning Oct. 1, 1988. Current estimates for the county to set up collections are nearing the $100,000 mark, including capital expenditures.

Read those notices...

Estimates mailed

by Elaine Schad

About 65,000 tax notices will be mailed today, Friday, in Cooke County as the 1988 property tax estimates are ready, said Bill Sherman, Chief Appraiser of the Cooke County Appraisal District.

Sherman emphasized that the notices are just estimates and are not bills.

People should wait until they receive their final tax statement in September, before paying their taxes, he said.

Since the Cooke County tax notices have been mailed later than the May 15 state deadline, county taxpayers have until July 1, or 30 days after they receive their notice, to file a protest.

"Read those notices and don't wait to get your tax bill before you protest, because that will be too late," Sherman said.

If a person has a question, thinks there is an error on his tax notice, or would like to protest the appraisal of his property, he should contact the CCAD office on California Street in Gainesville by the July 1 deadline.

If he cannot resolve the issue with an appraiser, a taxpayer can file a formal protest and appear before the Appraisal Review Board. ARB hearings are scheduled for July 5-14.

For more information, call the CCAD office at 665-7651.

Good News!

Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost.

Bishop Delaney distributes diplomas...

Sacred Heart seniors graduate

Graduation exercises for the 17 members of the 1988 senior class of Sacred Heart High School were Wednesday, May 25, following a Mass celebrated by Bishop Joseph P. Delaney.

The 6 p.m. Mass at Sacred Heart Church was concelebrated by Father Denis Soerries and Father Victor Gillespie.

In his homily, Bishop Delaney charged the graduates with changing their world to make it a better place to live and with sharing Christ's love.

"God will bless you and make you all that we hope for," he said. "I ask the Lord Jesus that he will continue to bless you wherever you go and in whatever you do."

Bishop Delaney thanked the graduates' parents for trusting Sacred Heart School to their children's education. He also thanked teachers and members of the parish for making Sacred Heart possible.

Song leaders and accompanist were Emily Klement and Ruth Felderhoff. Seniors entered the church to "Pomp and Circumstance," and the song during the Offertory procession was "What You Hear in the Dark." Communion songs were "Time for Building Bridges," "Dwelling Place" and "All I Ask of You."

Seniors participated in the liturgy and as a group sang their song, "That's What Friends Are For," after the Mass.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I was in Muenster for the funeral of my brother-in-law, Richard Grewing.

I would like to express my gratitude to Sacred Heart Parish and to all the people of Muenster and surrounding area for the beautiful tribute paid to Rich and for the compassion shown to my sister, Florence, and family.

The funeral liturgy conducted by our dear friend, Father Jeremy Myers, O.S.B., with our cousin, Father James Moster, O.F.M. Cap., and Benedictine Fathers Denis, Victor, Bruno, Cletus, Paul and Alcuin, was especially comforting.

The Masses, monetary gifts, food and flowers were deeply appreciated.

I was especially proud of my hometown and all the people of North Texas. Muenster is still a town of compassionate people that I remember from childhood.

God bless you.

Sincerely,
Brother Thomas Moster, O.S.B.

My Thoughts,

Today is May 19, 1988. It's a beautiful day - the sun is shining, flowers are blooming, birds are singing - but it's a sad day for Muenster. We said goodbye to Rich - Rich, our dear friend and the friend of the entire community. Yes, we are sad, our hearts are broken, and we wonder, and it's hard to understand - a man who we loved and will miss for years to come. To me, Rich was a young man, who loved God, his family, friends and country.

A man who suffered and carried his pain with dignity - who never gave up, was concerned for the welfare and growth of Muenster, concerned about our problems, trying to make it a better place for us, our children and grandchildren.

Rich was a caring person, reaching out to help those in need. We will never know the good things that Rich did for the community and his church. He was a missionaries' helper, to the children of the world he reached out and tried to help ease their pain and suffering.

Rich loved his fellow man. We all remember how he liked to visit with us. We remember his smile - his laugh. I could go on and on, but with this thought I will say the world is a better place because he visited it for a while.

To Florence, his children, grandchildren, brothers and sisters - remember he fought a good battle, he loved all of you so much and he knew that you loved him.

Pearl Evans

To the Editor:

Our hearts are filled with gratitude as we express our sincere thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown to us at the death of our loved one, Richard Grewing.

We are grateful for all the prayers, monetary donations, Mass intentions, food, flowers, cards, and phone calls.

Special thanks to our dear Father Jeremy for the beautiful homily. Also to Eileen Fisher, Emily Klement, Christy Hesse, Ruth Felderhoff and Dave and Janice Bayer for the touching music.

Thanks to our cousin, Father James Moster, and other out-of-town clergy for being here.

Thank you, Fathers Denis and Victor, for the constant care and concern shown him throughout his illness.

Thank you to all our doctors and nurses for their special care and comfort.

A special thank you to Mac McCoy for everything he did to make this time a little less painful.

Also to the local C.D. of A's and the cooks for the delicious meal and the K.C.'s for use of the hall.

Sincerely,
Florence Grewing

Brochure to bring disease education to Muenster

The federal government's mailing in the next few weeks of a brochure entitled "Understanding AIDS" can only help the AIDS education effort in Muenster, local officials said recently.

Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, or AIDS, is a disease that has reached such epidemic proportions in this country that President Ronald Reagan has called it "Public Enemy Number One." And lack of information and misunderstandings of the disease by the public have prompted the mass mailing of the brochure.

Virgil Henscheid, postmaster at the Muenster Post Office, said the U.S. Postal Service will mail a copy of the brochure to every household in America from May 26 - June 15. Muenster's post office has not yet received the brochures but will mail them soon after they are received.

"The brochures will be an added load but won't be overbearing," Imelda Rohmer of the post office said Monday. "The federal government must really have considered it (AIDS information) essential to have gone to this much trouble."

And AIDS information is essential, said Dr. John Kozura of the Muenster Memorial Hospital.

"Educating the public about AIDS is of primary importance, especially since we don't have a cure for it," Kozura said Tuesday. "Education is our only tool right now. Muenster needs to know that no one is immune to getting AIDS."

In response to the urgency of getting out AIDS information, local school officials have not neglected educating students about the disease.

MPS Principal Eddie Griffin said he conducted an AIDS survey last fall on all high school students. Results of the survey indicated that the students had many misconceptions and fears about the transmission of the HIV virus that causes AIDS.

To promote education on the disease at MHS, a pathologist from Gainesville spoke to high school students, and pamphlets have been distributed. AIDS information is also taught in health classes. All information is screened by teachers.

"We have avoided any methods of education on the subject that are inconsistent with community standards or would encourage kids along any lines of the ways you can catch AIDS," Griffin said.

At Sacred Heart School, AIDS education is based on teachings of the Catholic Church and is directed by the Fort Worth Diocese, said SH Principal Bronte Gonsalves.

A video tape entitled AIDS, A Topic For Life, was shown at SH and to some CCD classes, said Barbara Fuhrmann, director of religious education. The tape also had been shown to the SH School Board and at a parents' meeting where a panel discussion took place.

"It's important that people are given the right information along with Gospel values," Barbara said Monday. "We need to be out to prevent AIDS and preserve what Jesus taught us."

Gwen Carroll, chief medical technician at the laboratory of Muenster hospital, said no great demand for testing for the HIV virus exists at the hospital. Therefore, the hospital does not have the necessary equipment to test patients for AIDS and for several years has sent blood samples from persons who have doctors' orders for the tests to a reference laboratory in Dallas.

Gwen said a preliminary screening test for the virus costs $25-30 and a second confirmatory test costs $70-75.

In describing Muenster as a "small rural town that's pretty conservative," Hospital Administrator Herman Carroll said he would not rule out the possibility that Muenster residents could expose themselves to AIDS.

"And on confidentiality, I don't know who knows the answer," he said.

AIDS is a viral infection which attacks and destroys the body's immune system, leaving it unable to fight invasion of other diseases. The Human Immunodeficiency Virus that causes AIDS is transmitted only by intimate sexual contact, exchange of blood products and mother to infant during pregnancy or delivery.

Brian Hess Hess wins national award

Competing against 14,000 students from throughout the United States, Brian Hess, Muenster High School senior, has received a $1,000 National Honor Society scholarship, sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NAASP) and the L.G. Balfour Foundation.

Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hess of Muenster, is one of 450 winners announced by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Each high school NHS chapter could nominate two senior students based on their leadership abilities, scholastic achievements, characters and service. Nominees submitted a form outlining their participation in school organizations and clubs, academic accomplishments, employment experience, and community service.

"Brian has demonstrated outstanding ability in his academic work and service to his school and community," said Scott Thomson, executive director, NAASP. "He's a fine example of the outstanding calibre of young people in America's high schools."

While at Muenster High School, Hess has been senior class president, a member of the Student Council, vice president of the National Honor Society, a member of the Spanish Club, and an active participant in athletics. This fall he plans to attend Texas Tech University.

Commissioners address dam problem

By Elaine Schad

Cooke County Commissioners have given a Muenster resident 30 days to correct what they call damage to a conservation dam.

A water retention dam, site 6B, located on the Henry Weinzapfel property just west of town, has been a point of contention for quite some time, according to commissioners. Weinzapfel claims he has merely been improving the area around the dam, but representatives of the soil conservation service and commissioners say he is damaging the dam.

Rosalie Bayer, Muenster's commissioner, said she has met with Weinzapfel three times to try to correct the problem. Commissioner Danny Knight said Weinzapfel has changed the construction of the spillway to the extent where it could later cause a breach in the dam.

The change in spillway construction consists of filling and leveling a small overgrown area between Maple Street and the eastern part of the dam on Weinzapfel's lake. The SCS and the commissioners claim that he is encroaching on the easement and adversely affecting the drainage. Weinzapfel says that he has no plans for the location except to improve it and has encountered no objections, only approval, from neighbors and the city.

Commissioners this week authorized that a letter be written giving Weinzapfel 30 days to correct the situation or they may bring legal action.

Weinzapfel commented Wednesday that he was amazed that they (the commissioners) want to undo a worthwhile project. "I don't want to have a fight with the SCS or the County Commissioners, but I don't understand why they are so adamant. I guess I'll find out what my alternatives are," Weinzapfel said.

In other action, commissioners approved an interlocal agreement contract between Cooke and Wise counties to use the new Wise County Jail facility.

Cooke County has been transporting prisoners to other county jails for more than a year while they await the completion of an expansion to their own jail and to comply with state jail commission regulations. Knight said the county will save more than 100 miles in travel time by contracting with Wise County which voted just two weeks ago to accept prisoners from other counties.

The contract calls for a rate of $45 per day per prisoner to be paid to Wise County to house the prisoners. The county expects to spend more than $130,000 this year housing prisoners in other jail facilities.

The Center constructs new building

CONSTRUCTION at the new Center Restaurant is in the roughing-in stage. Plumber Earl Shasteen, his wife and helper, here, convert the plans on paper to the pipe works in the ground. Dave Fette Photo

Stan Endres claims restaurants don't stay the same: every two or three years they must adapt to keep ahead in the ever-changing and growing restaurant business.

And that's why Stan and brother Phil Endres and Jacob Pagel, owners of The Center Restaurant and Tavern, decided to keep "eating out fun" for Muenster diners by constructing a new building.

The new structure is being built on the north side of Hwy 82, across from the present location of The Center. Stan estimated that JAW Construction of Muenster will finish work on the building by October.

Designed by Charles Daboub, the Dallas architect who has designed world-famous buildings including the Hard Rock Cafe in Dallas, the new building will carry out a German look through a brick base, stucco-work, wooden trim and lots of windows.

"It's going along with the German look that everybody in town's trying to get," Stan said last Friday.

At 5,300 square feet, the new building is about 300 square feet larger than the present location. Its dining room will seat 90 people, its private dining area will seat 36, and 66 people can be seated in the bar.

"The seating areas are not that much bigger, but our kitchen is much bigger," he said. "The biggest advantage is the kitchen layout -- food preparation is going to be more efficient and much faster."

The restaurant's new menu will be basically the same as the one used now but will have a few additional items, including more German food. German sausages and cheeses made in Muenster and crafts will also be sold there, Stan said.

An outdoor Bier Garten, in an area east of the new building, will seat 75 to 100 people for dining and private parties. Stan also said he plans to feature live entertainment on a gazebo with a band stage in the garden.

At least another 12 employees will have to be hired to the current 24-member staff when the new restaurant opens.

Stan, who has owned The Center with Phil and Jacob for 10 years this November, said sales at their restaurant and at others in the North Texas area have declined in past years. He said he thinks a new, attractive building will help boost business.

The Center's current clientele is 50-60 percent Muenster residents, 30-40 percent residents of surrounding towns and about 10 percent people who stop to eat there as they are travelling through Muenster, he said.

The building where The Center is located now was built in 1959 by Jerome Pagel and Rody Klement. It was leased to Al Felderhoff and Rich Grewing and operated by Ray Swirczynski as a coffee shop and bar for years before being leased to Adam Wolf and Clyde Miller. Stan leased from Mrs. Marcie Klement in 1978.

Mrs. Klement said the building is available for leasing.

Sacred Heart School registration June 1-2

Registration fees are due at the time of registration and are non-refundable. Registration will not be accepted for families whose previous accounts are not cleared.

For all new (transfer) students, we need transcripts, health records, and testing scores (overall school test) brought with you to registration. Both parents and/or guardians must attend registration.

Reward for vandals!

The City of Lindsay is offering a $250 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone involved in town vandalism.

An anonymous donor put up the money in hopes of ending pranks, said Lindsay Mayor Don Metzler.

A new curfew ordinance is now in effect after going through its 30-day warning period. "It's been pretty good so far, and we haven't had much trouble with it," Metzler said.

Incidences of pranks and vandalism have greatly subsided because of the curfew and stepped-up enforcement, but the town hopes to put an end to the problems by offering the reward, Metzler said.

Should anyone wish to report any information about any acts of vandalism, they may call the Lindsay Police anonymously. They'll be given an identification number which they can redeem for the reward if the tip leads to an arrest and conviction.

Congratulations!

Park officials prepare pool for summer swimmers May 28

Muenster City Park officials, with the cooperation of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department and the new fire truck, filled the park's swimming pool in preparing for the pool's opening day Saturday.

The new fire truck pumped water from a hydrant near the front entrance of the park at a rate of 1,200 gallons per minute for one hour and 40 minutes to fill the pool. Officials began the procedure by using two 2½-inch hoses from the truck but eventually had to use four hoses of that size.

Claiming that filling the pool was a good test of the capabilities of the truck, City Manager Joe Fenton said, "This proved that the truck is certainly able to perform, and the city water system will supply the truck."

Some recent improvements for lifeguards at the pool were made by the Muenster Jaycees who added fluorescent lighting and a ceiling fan and windows to the south side of the basket room to increase air circulation there.

Returning manager of the pool this summer is Valerie Vogel. Lifeguards are Angela Endres, Sharon Henscheid, Vickie Schmitt, Debbie Schmitt and Tracey Walterscheid. Substitute lifeguards are Keith Vogel and Aletha Brawner.

Pool hours are from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday and 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Mondays for Ladies Day. Entrance charge is $1, and children younger than seven years old must be accompanied by an adult. No alcoholic beverages or glass containers are allowed in the pool area, and swimmers are not allowed to wear cutoff shorts in the pool unless the shorts are hemmed.

The pool will be available to be rented for private parties from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at a cost of $20 per hour. Two lifeguards are on duty for private parties.

Poetry in motion...

MPS Kindergarten has program

The Muenster Public School Kindergartners treated parents, grandparents and friends to a delightful program of poems, verses with motions and songs on Sunday, May 15, at 3 p.m.

With processional music, the class of 32 young kindergarten entertainers marched into the auditorium. Their teacher, Mrs. Rosemary Dankesreiter, welcomed the guests.

A rendition of "All I Really Need to Know in Life, I Learned in Kindergarten," was given by Jacob Little, Heather Hess, Casey Walterscheid, Jonna Schneider, Bryan Miller, Polly Fette, Craig Hartman, Jessica Schoppa, Jason Lutkenhaus, Raegan Koesler, Jim Stoffels, Karen Cler and Jeff Klement.

As each child recited his or her verse, the card being held was turned over, eventually spelling "KINDERGARTEN."

Jay Jump and Allison Endres recited verses from the poem "Were You, Mom?" by Bette Killian.

"Let's Be Polite" was recited by Justin Fleitman and Amy Hellingner.

A delightful verse of "Twenty Froggies" was given by Jenny Black, Barry Escobedo, Krystle Sparkman, Douglas Knabe and Shelly Stewart.

The entire class recited in unison and used hand motion for the recitations of "April Showers" and "Then." The class surprised the guests with the poem "My Hat" and its German version, "Mein Hut."

Nicholas Silmon, Jon Reed, Kourtney Dittfurth, Randy Grewing, Eric Knabe, Marisol Cancino and Justin Walterscheid led the class in singing "Five Little Ducks."

Other songs, sung with hand and body motions, were "Big Bear Song" and "Instrument Song" and "If I Were a Bluebird." Also taking part in the program were Cliff Massey, Kristen Fleitman and Brandon Klement.

Following the program, Certificates of Kindergarten Completion were presented by Elementary Principal Gwen Trubenbach.

Mrs. Dankesreiter thanked all for attending, and complimented parents for such a wonderful group of children that made a successful Kindergarten class.

Provided by Kindergarten mothers, refreshments of sherbert punch and cookies were served following the program.

Party at the farm fetes Mass servers

Fifty Sacred Heart School and CCD altar boys had the "time of their lives" at a party at the home of Charlotte and Bill Dangelmayr Sunday evening, May 22.

The event was hosted by the Knights of Columbus who provided the meal and the Liturgical Commission of Sacred Heart Parish. Members of the commission are Karen Mosier, Charlotte Dangelmayr, Rhonda Hartman and Anthony Luke.

The group met at the Community Center at 5:45 p.m. and were accompanied on a school bus by Sister Monica Swirczynski, Father Denis Soerries and Father Victor Gillespie and several parents.

A fried chicken supper was waiting for their arrival. Games and contests followed, including potato game races, wheelbarrow races and three-legged races.

Teams were formed for each age category, grade or class. One team at a time entered a "rodeo arena" at the farm to compete for a chance to snatch a ribbon tied to a goat's tail. The winner received a $1.00 prize. The goats were provided by Clinton and Barbara Bayer. Next, three boys to a team tried to milk the goats. The challenge was accepted by some.

A group of older boys and young men provided horses and calves for a rodeo demonstration and show.

The DI provided ice cream cones, and fried the chicken. A group of mothers brought cookies and brownies. The Liturgical Commission gifted each boy with special "Fruit of the Spirit" and "Golden Rule" pencils.

The sponsors thanked all individuals who gave assistance in any way, especially those who provided horses, calves and goats. They also thanked the Knights of Columbus for the meal; the DI for services; and mothers who provided cookies.

The altar boys returned to the Community Center at 9 p.m. where their parents were waiting to take them home.

Student Council leaders elected by MHS students for 1988-89

Meredith McDaniel has handed her title of Student Council president at Muenster High School over to Jeff Walterscheid.

New Student Council officers and representatives were elected by the student body on May 11.

J. Shane Wimmer will assume the responsibilities of vice president which are currently undertaken by Jamie Walterscheid. Kim Hess replaces outgoing senior Darla Bindel as secretary. Taking Kim Hess' position as treasurer on the council is Staci Sicking. As Jeff Walterscheid becomes president, Eric Dankesreiter will fill the position of parliamentarian, currently held by Walterscheid. Jennifer Reeves, another of the five outgoing seniors on the council, will be replaced as reporter by Dana Wimmer.

The incoming senior class chose Mike Pagel and Carrie Russell as representatives. Jerry Brawner was chosen by the incoming juniors to represent them on the council. Lisa Robison returns as a representative for that class.

Representing next year's sophomores are Melissa Bayer and Darrin Russell. Tina Klement and Tony Perryman were elected as freshman representatives.

Currently, Michele Huddleston serves as senior representative; Staci Sicking and Eric Dankesreiter, junior; Mike Abney and Lisa Robison, sophomore; and Sheila Huddleston and Brad McDaniel, freshman.

A short induction ceremony was held Monday in the library. Meredith McDaniel introduced the current council and elected council and she led the swearing in of new members. A short reception for students and parents followed.

A meeting was held the next day with the incoming members present to view council procedures.

Secular Franciscans meet

Vernon and Marie Badgett hosted the monthly meeting of the Secular Franciscan Fraternity in their home at 1:30 in the afternoon.

Mrs. Tony Hermes, president, led the opening prayer from the Ritual, and conducted the meeting. A letter was read announcing the annual retreat in the Alverna Retreat Center in Indianapolis. Also, a letter was read from Bishop Peter of Kerala, India expressing his delight at the wonderful outcome of Father Ralph Diorio's crusade in Kerala, for the healing ministry.

Father Diorio had seven meetings in as many cities. At times there were 20,000 in attendance at onetime.

Another letter was read from the society's adopted family in Kerala, India, telling of the severe area drought, affecting particularly fishermen's families, to the point of starvation.

Veronica Klement read from Scriptures. Mrs. Mary Stoffels read three paragraphs from the new Third Order Rule Book.

A letter was read from Father Albert Merz, OFM, of St. Francis Village, expressing appreciation for the package of cancelled stamps sent from Lindsay. He indicated the project is a happy conversation piece among residents. He urged asking employees in large offices, civic and fraternal groups, etc. to save cancelled stamps, emphasizing that the proceeds will benefit St. Francis Village.

The meeting closed with the Litany of the Blessed Virgin and prayers to St. Francis.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stoffels will host the next meeting.

Hostess Marie Badgett served cookies and coffee after adjournment.

MISD race car finals

Students of the 7th grade Woodworking class at Muenster have just completed a jet car project, which consists of building a carbon dioxide-powered miniature car and sending it streaking across the gym floor.

The assignment begins with designing the vehicle within specifications of a racing car. The first step is to make a sketch of the creation and, after approval, make two more drawings, resulting in a full-scale three-view sketch of the car.

The drawing is transferred to a styrofoam blank which is then cut along the lines to make the car's body and further trimming produces the desired shape.

This object becomes a pattern, its measured specifications to be followed in cutting out a piece of white pine. Next, the car is trimmed to the desired shape and holes are drilled for two axles and the carbon dioxide motor. The car must weigh 75-100 grams before painting. Then plastic wheels are mounted and the painting is finished.

Finally, students came to the thrill of the project, a double elimination race to determine whose car was the champion. In first place was John Moster; second, Chad Cheaney; third, Cindy Culp.

preciation for his bringing the Flusches to this area.

The Pultes were to build a two-story building on these lots. They were happy to have a German Catholic community close by and anticipated making this their future home. When the first Mass was held in Muenster on Dec. 8, 1889, Joe Pulte rode by horseback to Gainesville (a parish had been established there by this time) and brought the pastor to Muenster to say the Mass.

It was not until 1911, when he was ready to retire, that August built the town's first two-story dwelling on those donated lots; however, he never lived there as he died suddenly on Aug. 11, 1911. After his death, Caroline moved into the new home and lived there until her death on March 21, 1933. Both are buried in Sacred Heart Cemetery, as is there 14-year-old daughter, Helen.

August and Caroline Pulte had 11 children. Two died in infancy: Augusta (1868-1869); another daughter at birth in 1884; and Helen at age 14 (1871-1885). Of their adult children, August (1876-1943) lived in Chicago; Joe (1874-1966); Alexander (1885-1966); Matthew (1888-1975); and Walter (1892-1983) all made their homes in Gainesville, Texas. Daughters Mary (Mrs. John Knauf) (1869-1955) and Emma (Mrs. Joe Fisher) (1879-1930) lived on farms near Muenster.

of Lieutenant Colonel. We moved back to Muenster in November 1956 where we had bought the former Henry Fette farm, two miles south of town.

Our children easily adjusted to country life and Chuck and I became involved in church, school and civic activities. To our great loss, in 1963 Chuck had a serious heart attack and died at Sheppard AFB 10 days later on April 16. The children and I stayed on the farm until after the three oldest left for college.

When the Muenster Memorial Hospital opened up Feb. 3, 1964, I started to work there and continued on until I retired in November 1986. In 1971, I sold our farm and the next spring Steve and I moved into a house I had built across the street from the hospital and where I still live.

Our children are scattered except for Roger who lives here with his wife, Jane (Endres), and children Sandy and Scott. Roger is the co-owner of the Muenster Garden Center. Ginny lives with her husband, Prentiss (Pete) Mangum and three children, John, Michael and Sarah at Seattle, Washington. Pete is a retired Army pilot and is now working for the FAA investigating airplane crashes. Ginny is a registered nurse and works parttime.

Jerry and his wife, Jane (Dolan) are living in St. Louis, Missouri where they both teach physics and math. Steve and Doreen (Pels) are parents of Nicholas and twins Laura and Adam, and now live in Fort Worth. He is an assistant manager of a Wal-Mart store.

SUGGESTIONS FOR WRITING FAMILY HISTORIES

Write your story in your own words - as though you were telling it to a descendant or a friend. The way you tell your story is part of your heritage.

Begin with the background of your family, even before they settled in the Muenster area. Why did they move here and in what location did they settle? Bring your family up to the present day, including all members living and deceased. If there are many children and generations, this may require several individual family histories.

Describe your pioneer ancestors' trip to Muenster, mode of travel, kind of work, what type of home was built. What did they do for a living? What did they do for entertainment? Tell about the family's trials and tribulations, the joys and hardships, family customs and family feuds, children, pets. Remember, you are writing for future generations. (Always remember maiden names with surnames.)

Second or third generations residents of Muenster, simply indicate your lineage: i.e. "son/daughter of (full name of both parents)" and then proceed with your own family history, including education, profession, residences, hobbies, civic and religious affiliations, etc.

If you are a recent arrival in Muenster, give the complete names of your parents, where and when you were born and proceed with your story, being sure to include why and when you came to Muenster.

Adult singles, bachelors, career women, widows and widowers, please give us your story whether or not you have children, or other family. YOUR story is an important part of our heritage, too.

Some of the most important items of information to be included: give complete names of family members, paying close attention to correct spelling. Give names of locations: towns, rivers, lakes, passes, streets, etc. that are important to your family's story, always being careful of correct spelling. Include and check as many family dates as possible. Dates of births, deaths, marriages and important events are essential in your history. If you cannot be exact, explain it, "about 1900," or "in the spring of 1910 or 1911."

Include anything that will be of interest to future generations. If, in the layout and editorial process, it becomes necessary to cut any story, the writer will be consulted.

Type your histories or stories on regular 8 1/2" x 11" typing paper, double spaced. Place your name, address and phone number in the upper left-hand corner of each page; the story title in the upper right-hand corner of each page. As the author of your story, specify your name exactly as you want it printed in the history book.

A family photo is not necessary for your history, but "a picture is worth a thousand words." A family photo will add much to your story.

We welcome any old photos of interest that might be included in other sections of the history book or in the centennial projects, such as the calendar and date book.

Send or bring your picture whatever the size. There will be no charge for reducing or cropping to fit column widths.

Mark and identify your photos. On the back of your photos, print your name and address. On a 3x5 card, write a short explanation (caption) of each photo. Be sure to identify each person in the photo, giving full names. Whenever possible, explain the occasion of the photo, noting when and where it was taken. Tape this card to the back of the photo. Re-check your photos and photo captions to be sure they correspond.

Your photos will receive special care, and we will do our best to prevent any damage to them. We cannot, however, assume complete responsibility for your photo. They will be returned as soon as possible after the book is completed.

If you are physically handicapped and confined to your home, help is available to take oral histories. Anyone who needs help with their history is welcome to call Wanda Fleitman (759-4664), Juanita Bright (759-4482), or Lillian Appel (759-4863).

When you finished typing your story, get a family member or friend to proofread it. Make all the corrections and revisions you want to make; then, retype it (if necessary) exactly as you want it printed. Mail it with your family photo or take it to:

Muenster Telephone Company
P.O. Drawer 587 - 205 N. Walnut
Muenster, Texas 76252

Your descendants will love you for preserving their history and their heritage!
THE DEADLINE FOR TURNING IN YOUR STORY IS JULY 1, 1988!

Pioneer family: The August Pultes

by Lillian Fisher Appel

August Pulte, born 1834, and Caroline Schmidt, born 1848, were both born in Germany and migrated to the USA and settled in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Caroline, at age seven years, arrived with her family in 1855; while August, at age 21 years, arrived in 1866 along with three brothers. They married in 1866.

In 1877, in search of farm land and a warmer climate, the Pultes took their four children via train to Sherman, Texas (the end of the railroad). There they purchased two oxen and an oxcart to carry their possessions and continued on to Gainesville, where for three months, they lived in a tent across from the courthouse.

During this time, August set out on foot looking for farm land. In December 1877,

Lifelong residents: The Chuck Taylors

by Lorena Fisher Taylor

Charles O. Taylor (Chuck) was born in Chilton, Wisconsin May 16, 1913, the first child of Charles and Katherine (Mertz) Taylor. His family was living in Chicago when his mother died during the flu epidemic of 1918. Thereafter, Chuck and his brother lived with different uncles and aunts in Chilton and Hilbert, Wisconsin.

At age 21, Chuck went to Milwaukee to attend college. After a couple of years with no more money and no work to be found during the Depression years of the 1930's, he enlisted in the Army Engineers. As a corporal, he did a geodetic survey of the West Coast and some benchmarks bearing his name can still be found in that area. Later he transferred to the Army Air Corps and was in the initial cadre that opened Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, Texas in the summer of 1941.

I was born Nov. 4, 1921 and was raised in Muenster, the eleventh child of Joe and Emma (Pulte) Fisher. I graduated from Sacred Heart High in the first graduating class of 1939, attended Our Lady of Victory College in Fort Worth and North Texas University. It was while I was in my first year of teaching in Wichita Falls that I

Chuck and I were married here in Sacred Heart Church Sept. 17, 1942 and from then on lived in many places, wherever the military sent him. First there was Washington, D.C., then San Antonio followed by Independence, Kansas where our first child, Roger, was born Dec. 23, 1943. From there, Chuck was transferred to Monroe, Louisiana. The next assignment took him to Atlanta, Georgia. I came back home to have our second child, Virginia (Ginny), born in Gainesville Jan.

21, 1946, as we couldn't find housing in Georgia.

Next, Chuck was sent to the Philippine Islands. One year later and with another child, Jerome (Jerry), also born in Gainesville on March 10, 1947, the three young children and I joined over a hundred other wives and their children on a 23-day trip by Army transport ship to the Philippines. This was shortly after World War II and the living conditions outside of Manila were quite a challenge, but interesting. We were happy - we were all together again. It was an experience I wouldn't trade for a million dollars, nor give a nickel to repeat.

When we returned to the States, we lived on base at Wright-Patterson, Ohio for two years, followed by two years at Midwest City, Oklahoma. Chuck's next orders took him back overseas to Korea during that war. Again, the children and I came back to Muenster to live. After his return, we were moved to Georgia where our last child, Steven, was born in Atlanta April 2, 1956.

By now, Chuck was eligible, and applied for, retirement as we wanted a more stable homelife for our children. He retired from the Air Force after having completed 21 years of service and having held every rank from private through his retirement grade he purchased his first 100 acres for $500.00, which was located about eight miles southwest of Gainesville. Shortly thereafter, he rented some land about two miles northwest of his 100 acres. There the family lived in a dug-out with a lean-to added. This place was located west of Elm Creek near the Reed Cemetery. At this place, their first Texas child, Emma, was born in 1879.

By two years later, having fenced and plowed his own land and built a three-room house, August moved his family there. The Pultes farmed and later also ran a grocery store, wagon yard and the post office with Caroline acting as postmistress. Their farm was on the Butterfield Trail and was a stopover for many a traveler. In time, they expanded their farm to 243 acres.

Although the worst of the Indian raids were over, a few isolated ones still occurred. Being warned of a coming raid, the Pulte family took refuge in the nearby woods, but were afraid to take the baby out in the bitterly cold night. They wrapped their baby in blankets and hid the child under the bed. Upon their return, they found that Indians had indeed raided the home but not found the baby, who was still sleeping.

For several years, the family spent four days traveling to and from Sherman, by wagon, to attend Easter services as this was the nearest Catholic church. The Pultes were the only German Catholic family in Cooke County, so longed for the company of other Germans of their faith.

When they learned that a 45,000-acre ranch was for sale in and around Muenster, August went to Dallas to meet with Jot Gunter and C.E. Wellesley to persuade them to sell this in family-size farms. He then began advertising in a German Catholic newspaper called Amerika that was published in St. Louis, Missouri, urging other Catholics to move to this area. It was through these advertisements that the Flusche brothers came to Texas several times, met with the Pultes and stayed at their place.

August showed the Flusches the area that is now Lindsay, Muenster and Electra before going with them to Dallas to meet with Jot Gunter, where a contract was signed between Gunter and Wellesley and the Flusches to sell land and to establish a community that was later called Muenster. Gunter and Wellesley later deeded to August Pulte the lots, located on the southwest corner of Main and 6th Streets, plus a block in the east part of town in ap-

June 17 is deadline for workshop

GAINESVILLE - Some spaces are still open for participants in this summer's Young People's Theater Workshop program at Cooke County College but the deadline for enrolling is Tuesday, June 7 and the slots are expected to fill quickly.

"The interest in both the Children's Theater and Young People's Theater programs has been exceptionally high this year," reported Cathy Keeler of CCC's Division of Continuing Education, co-sponsor along with the Butterfield Stage Players. "We've had to expand the classes twice now to accommodate the demand."

"Unfortunately, we just don't have the physical space or personnel to expand any more, so when we fill up this time, that will have to be it."

Registration is being conducted in the Continuing Education office in Room 109 on campus. Participants in Young People's Theater, for ages 14 through 20, must register in person, and those 15 and under should be accompanied by a parent.

This program for the older age group is being offered for the second year. The traditional "Children's Theater" is for ages six through 12. Each group will have its own rehearsal times and its own separate production.

"In the past, we've had many youngsters who've simply 'outgrown' our Children's Theater program age-wise but were still intensely interested in theater, and wanted to continue beyond the 'Peter Pan' and 'Cinderella' level," said Keeler, "and that's what the Young People's Theater is all about. We think it will prove to be just as popular in coming years."

Young People's Theater rehearsals will begin Wednesday, June 8, in the CCC Little Theater, site of the recent CCC-Butterfield Stage Players joint production of "The 1940's Radio Hour."

Rehearsals will run from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Monday through Thursday evenings through July 14. Performances of the production that will climax the program are set for July 15-16.

Cost of participating in Young People's Theater is $25 per individual student, $40 for two students from the same family and $15 for each additional student from the same family.

Keeler stressed, however, that this fee does not cover the cost of costumes. Each student must pay his or her own costume expenses, and costumes must be approved by the director.

For more information, contact Cathy Keeler, CCC Continuing Education office, 668-7731, ext. 272.

1988-89 dove bag limit changes proposed

AUSTIN - An increased mourning dove bag limit during the special white-winged dove hunting season in the Rio Grande Valley is the most important change in the Early Season Migratory Game Bird Proclamation being recommended by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for the upcoming 1988-89 seasons. Early season species include doves, rails, gallinules and teal.

Most other seasons, bag limits, zone boundaries and whitewing sanctuaries are proposed to remain basically unchanged from the past hunting season, according to Ron George, dove program leader.

The proposed regulations will be published in the Texas Register whitewing season, only two mourning doves were allowed in the daily bag.

George said recent studies have indicated this proposed change would not adversely affect the mourning dove breeding population in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The possession limit would be 24 whitewing, mourning and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, including no more than four whitetips. These proposed changes are contingent on U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service approval, George added.

A falconry proposal would extend the period during which migratory birds may be taken by

for public comment and considered for adoption by the Parks and during the July 21 public hearing in Austin.

Under the bag limit proposal, hunters participating in the special two weekend September white-wing season would be allowed to take 12 white-winged, mourning and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, including only two white-tipped doves. During the 1987 means of falconry. The proposed season of Sept. 1 - Nov. 20, 1988 and Jan. 1 - 26 would be in effect for hunting rails, mourning doves, white-winged doves and gallinules.

Comments on the proposed changes may be directed to Ron George at the TPWD, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744, 1-800-792-1112, ext. 4778, or (512) 389-4778.

FARM AND RANCH NEWS

Time to spray for pecan casebearers

by Craig Rosenbaum, County Extension Agent

Pecan growers and homeowners in Cooke County need to be on the lookout for the pecan nut casebearer. Based on various prediction models as well as scouting reports from producers in Denton and Cooke County, casebearers should be showing up on pecan trees in our county about May 27 until May 30. This would be a good estimate for treatment times if producers are not making insect counts. Normally, in Texas, casebearers damage nuts within a two week period from the first week of May in Southern and Central areas to the first week in June in the Northern and Western sections of the state.

Producers check pecan trees to determine the stage of growth of the casebearer egg and the development of the larvae which bore into the small nut. The eggs are white when first laid, then turn red over a three to five day period before turning white again after hatching.

Insecticides recommended for control include Diazinon, Malathion, Zolone, Guthion, or Dimethoate. Other insecticides are available. Please check the labels for instructions and dosage.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

A ranch's forage system is the basis of successful cow-calf programs. The more effectively a forage system is managed, the greater the resulting animal production.

Many cows in Texas need a higher level of body condition at calving and breeding to improve reproductive performance and income.

Both the quantity and the quality of forage available to the cow largely determine her productivity, her need for supplemental feed and the profitability of her production.

A typical cow-calf pair requires about six tons of forage a year. Unfertilized land typically will produce 1-1/2 tons of plant dry matter annually with an extra ton of forage generally being produced with each 50 pounds of actual nitrogen fertilizer. Land needed to produce feed for a cow-calf pair largely depends on added fertilization with needed rainfall and to some extent on the mature size of the cattle and the type of forage involved.

Quantity in pastures is measured by the volume of forage present. The rate of gain on growing cattle or the condition gain or loss on a cow is directly related to stocking rate - acres of grazing available per cow - or to the grazing pressure, the amount of forage dry matter available per acre for each 100 pounds of animal weight.

A cow's body condition score of five or more (or at least 14 percent body fat) at calving and through breeding is required for good productive performance. Overstocking pastures is a common cause of poor body condition and reproductive failure.

A successful forage program will provide quantity and quality properly matched to the requirements of the cattle. Proper stocking, year-round mineral supplementation and timely use of protein supplements offer the greatest potential for economically improving body condition scores and rebreeding performance of beef cows.

Sorting cows by condition 90 to 100 days ahead of calving and feeding so that all cows will calve with a body condition score of five to seven will maximize reproductive performance and hold supplemental feed costs to a minimum.

Antique binding demonstrations held

by Elaine Schad

The Cooke County Antique Tractor and Farm Machinery Association held its first two binding sessions of the spring season as they prepare for their annual show in August.

The group used a 1930's John Deere Binder on the E.J. Schad farm in Valley View and at the Leon Knauf farm near Muenster. They expect to hold a threshing demonstration in coming weeks after the grain has cured a little.

The third annual antique machinery show will be Aug. 27 and 28 at the Lindsay Tractor Pull Arena northwest of Lindsay. The show has become one of the largest in the state. The bundles from the recent harvests will be used during the show at the threshing demonstrations.

Cooke Co. 4-H elects officers

The Cooke County 4-H Council met May 23 at the TU Electric meeting room to discuss old business and elect officers for the 1988-89 year.

Elected were: Eddie Krebs, chairman; John Krebs, first vice chairman; Sheryl Sicking, second vice chairman; Amy Bartlett, secretary; Werner Becker, treasurer; James Krebs, reporter; Greg Brooks and Allison Walterscheid, recreation leaders.

Following the election of officers, Werner Becker and Sheryl Sicking led recreation. The meeting was adjourned with the 4-H Prayer.

Area grain almost ready

The area wheat harvest may be right on the verge of starting but as of deadline Wednesday, no wheat had shown up at local elevators. Ronnie Felderhoff of Muenster Milling Co. said that only one sample had come in and it registered 16 1/2 percent moisture content. The preferred moisture is 13 1/2 percent. "But the quality still looked good and some of our contacts around a 70-mile area say that the wheat quality is good," he said. Hard wheat will now bring $3.15 per bushel and soft wheat $3.05. This price is 70 to 80 cents higher than last year.

Joe Hellman of Tony's Seed and Feed in Muenster said that a small quantity of windrowed oats had come in and tested at varied quality. The lease price for oats is $1.75 per bushel. They had received no wheat yet.

The lack of rain recently has not hurt the wheat significantly but farmers are really concerned that the milo crop will be reduced if it doesn't rain soon.

Rainfall so far this year totals 5.76 inches according to Steve Moster. The average over the last 10 years for the January through May period is 16.05 inches! By comparison, at the end of May in 1980, Muenster had received 7.76 inches of moisture.
