Mr. Adams asked to be excused before Mr. Wetzel came out the door. I saw Mr. Wetzel standing on the corner 4 or 5 steps from the drug store. It was only about a step between Mr. Wetzel and Mr. Adams...

Mr. Adams was facing this way (toward the courthouse) and Mr. Adams was facing the other way. I was 5 or 6 steps from them. I saw Mr. Wetzel hit Mr. Adams with his right hand. When Wetzel hit Mr. Adams, Mr. Adams staggered against the scales near the door and then started shooting. Mr. Wetzel said "Damn you, don't you shoot me." Mr. Adams was in a sort of crouching position when Mr. Wetzel hit Mr. Adams with his right hand...

Mr. Adams was in the drug store when I came back. He was at the telephone. I stayed in the store one or two minutes. Mr. Wetzel was saying "O Jesus, have mercy," and things like that. I don't remember what Mr. Adams said...

One or two other questions were asked by the state in regard to the first part of Mr. Lohm's testimony. Senator Walter Woodward, questioning for the defense, objected to the question, "Are you sure of what Mr. Wetzel said at the time Mr. Adams started to shoot?" The objection was sustained. Cross-Examined. The witness was then cross-examined by Mr. Woodward in regard to several statements he made in answering the State's attorney's questions...

"Mr. Wetzel was paying for a purchase when I first saw him. He was handing money over the counter. I don't know whether Mr. Adams called him or whether Mr. Wetzel stopped him but it seemed like I heard Mr. Adams say, 'Wait a minute, Bus,' it was either 'Bus' or 'Buz,' or something like that." Further questioning by the defense brought out that Mr. Lohm did not know whether Mr. Adams said it is a damn lie, or you are a damn liar. "Did you hear Mr. Carter's name mentioned," defense. "No," witness. Mr. Woodward asked the witness if Mr. Wetzel was not about six feet tall, weighed more than 200 pounds and was a very large man, to which the witness answered, "Yes." "Mr. Adams was between us I don't know whether Mr. Wetzel stepped forward or not." The State asked if Mr. Wetzel was in his shirt sleeves, the witness replied in the affirmative, that he was. The witness further stated in the questioning that he did not see only two minutes. (CONTINUED ON PAGE TWO)

The Brownwood Water Project

(The second section of a detailed report on the Brownwood water project, prepared for the State Board of Water Engineers by William L. Rockwell, consulting engineer.)

By William L. Rockwell On this project a wide range of products may be grown, but when there is a choice of variety either one of which will meet the same requirement that one which may be produced under other conditions being equal, with the least quantity of water should be chosen. An example of this is Indian corn and the grain sorghum. Indian corn requires more water to produce the same amount of feed than do the grain sorghums and it is very particular that it receive that moisture at a definite time.

Located as this project is it is believed that the major line of production will be stock raising and dairying, thus removing the farm products in concentrated form, and leaving the by-products and waste on the farm to aid in maintaining the fertility of the soil. Diversification, rotation, and stock raising with dairying will bring money to the farmer, not just once a year but month by month, and will at the same time build up the soil and gradually increase its productivity and ease of culture.

Farm Unit. In this section an under irrigation agriculture largely devoted to stock-raising and dairying 80 acres should be about the right size for the farm unit. To farm an estimate of the water requirement per acre the following representative crops are used, and the estimated duty of water for these crops measured at the farm gate is stated. This estimate of water duty is based upon good practice—the water applied in such quantity

Table with columns: Crop, Acreage, Soil, Required, Apply, Acre Inches, Max., Min. Rows include Indian Corn, Grain Sorghum, Sweet Sorghum, Perennial Fruit, Vegetables, Dairy Feed, Sudan Grass, Alfalfa.

During season when the annual precipitation amounts to twenty to twenty-five inches the daily record indicates that twelve of this should be rendered effective. On this basis the eighty acre farm devoted to the crop given will require the quantities following:

Total acre inches required 597.0 to 892.0. Or an average of 8.3 to 12.4 acre inches per acre irrigated. During seasons when the annual precipitation amounts to above thirty

Total acre inches required 525.0 to 601.0. Or an average of 7.3 to 8.3 acre inches for each acre irrigated.

Using the estimated quantities as being ample the supplemental quantity required is shown in the third column of the table following: For various reasons the charge for water used in irrigation should be based upon the quantity used. It will induce economy of use which will reduce the cost of water per crop and yield produced. It will prevent in large measure excessive use of water and consequent water logging of land. It will reduce a better preparation of the soil for water and result in larger yields per acre as well as a better quantity of crop hence larger net financial returns to the producer. It will very materially increase the duty of water rendering it possible to extend the irrigated acreage to many more of the acres of fertile soil not now receiving needed moisture.

Respectfully submitted, CONSULTING ENGINEER.

Deputy Adams' case will be called for trial Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Brown county court of the 35th Judicial District. Mark McGee of Fort Worth and Brownwood, Walter Woodward of Coleman, Arnold Kirkpatrick and E. M. Davis of Brownwood will defend Mr. Adams.

A special venire of 150 men have been summoned as jurors in this case.

Bevans-Mann-Vaughn Well in Trickham Locality Producer

Information Friday indicates that the well in the vicinity of Trickham, on the J. L. Vaughn tract, which came in as a big gasser a few days ago which was mentioned in the Bulletin is now spraying considerable quantities of oil, and the chances are that it will develop into a real oil well. Late estimates place the output of oil every twenty-four hours from a few gallons up to twenty-five barrels. The well is owned by Jim Mann Bevans, L. L. Evans and Roy Vaughn. These young men have sold one-half interest in the well, so it was stated today, to E. M. Smith interests, who will proceed to develop the well at once. It was said in this connection today that tankage and storage is now being placed and everything is being made ready for bringing in this well, which is being watched with much interest by people who understand the development of the oil industry.

PLOWBOYS NOSE AHEAD IN FINAL FRAME FOR WIN OVER COLLEGIANS

BOTH TEAMS PLAY GOOD BALL, BUT BREAK GIVES IT TO VISITORS

The Yellow Jackets of Howard Payne College practically gave away a good baseball game Thursday afternoon when two walks, a hit and an error by the Jacket squad, allowed two scores to the John Tarleton squad which made the score 2 to 6.

The winning scores came in the first part of the ninth frame with one man out. McCorkle, relief pitcher of the Tarleton Plowboys, struck out. It looked as though Butcher, the Jacket relief twirler, was going to retire the plowboy pitcher, but he did not. In the next batter, walked, as did Roberts. Garrett hit a single through shortstop to left field, scoring Come to throw in the count. Butcher took the field in an effort to catch Roberts at third base, overthrew the sack and Roberts scored the winning run. The next two batters flew out.

The Jackets endeavored to come back in their part of the last inning with the heavy end up but they also failed. Bettis, Cook and Clark grounded out in succession.

Both Score Early In the first frame, each team scored with the lead off man of each squad circling the bases. The Plowboys got their first score on clean hits while the Jackets scored on errors by the Plowboys. Devall pitched a good game until the third inning when the Jackets scored four runs. Two singles, a double, a walk and one error gave the Jackets these four scores. He continued to work until the latter part of the sixth when McCorkle, another right hander took his place on the mound.

Allison, freshman from Alabama, the only left handed pitcher on the Jacket squad went until he was relieved in the first of the seventh. Allison allowed the Plowboys only five hits in six innings and shifted several of his batters. Allison received his support in the sixth frame when the Plowboys scored three runs on two errors and two hits. Immediately after this episode Coach Amis swung Butcher into the diamond and he hit on the box to finish the game.

Cook's Fine Catch In the seventh frame Roberts hit a long fly into deep center field and it looked as though it would be good for three bases but Foster Cook, system catcher, was keeping the right garden this season. He mounted his horse and made a running one hand catch of the apple which probably kept the score down considerably. It was a mighty blow for Roberts and a mighty catch for Cook.

A night's catch for Cook. "Georgia Red" Reynolds is playing third base for the Jackets. He is good and will be better. He picks the fastest of the grounders out of the sod and whiffs them to first as though it was only a few feet across the diamond. Reynolds will also develop into a hitter for the Payne boys.

Seven doubles were hit during the course of the nine innings of play with the Jackets receiving 4 of them and the Plowboys 3. McAtee, hit a double the first time up while Clark hit two doubles. Johnson, short of the plowboys, also hit a double on his first trip.

Fabis Builds Fires in Pecan Orchard Keeps Frost Away

A. I. Fabis, says he has been examining pecan trees to more or less extent since the recent cold snap and he is of the opinion, that with no further calamity or set-back, the crop this year will suffer no more than 25 per cent damage, in the Brownwood area. Mr. Fabis acting on the defensive in the recent assault from the ice king, and the day before the freeze hauled and piled considerable quantities of dry wood and distributed it throughout his pecan orchard. That night he and one or two other men built fires and kept the heat circulating through the orchard all night with the result that very little damage was sustained. Of course it is a big task to undertake to protect big trees in the open from frost, by building fires, but when the wind is right an blow the heat through the orchard it at least does no harm, and is likely to do

ONLY Buick provides the design which can undergo such punishment. Of all cars today, Buick alone has the complete protection of the "Sealed Chassis" and "Triple Sealed Engine."

EVERY Buick operating part is "sealed" inside a dirt-tight, oil-tight, water-tight iron or steel housing. The "Triple Seal" (air cleaner, gasoline filter, oil filter) keeps dirt, grit and moisture out of the engine.

ROAD slush and grit cannot reach Buick vital parts. Rain and moisture cannot cause short circuits in the Buick electrical system. Even the spark plugs are protected.

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep.

And God said, Let there be light; and there was light.

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the creeping things that creep upon the earth.

So God created man in his own image in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every herb for meat; and it was so.

GOD IN CREATION

Text: Genesis 1:1-3, 26-31

IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 11, 1926.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist

FROM the studies in the Gospel of John we turn, during the coming quarter, far back into the story of Creation and of beginnings, in Genesis.

The book of Genesis and the Gospel of John begin with the same phrase, "In the beginning."

It is in his own nature that man has found the need of a Creator.

God and man, in the conception of this writer of Genesis, are distinctly linked from the very beginning.

Can man get far away from that assumption of a Creator? Of spiritual reality at the center and soul of the universe? It is true that it does not explain all that is to be

WELL AT BLANKET IS CONDEMNED, FILLED WITH DIET UNUSED

LANDMARK VENERABLE WITH AGE GOES WAY OF ALL MORTAL THINGS

In the removal of the large water tank that occupied the center of the street in the town of Blanket, one of the old time landmarks passes into the discard.

Recently it was discovered that the town well at Blanket was almost filled with mud, leaving the water standing at only four or five feet.

Numerous cave-ins, filled the well, and only a few months ago it was found to be only about 145 feet deep.

Thus passes another old timer—thus will be forgotten in years to come, the fact that the old well ever existed, and yet it became famous for the N. E. A. association.

Poultry Increases Farm Income

(Farm and Ranch)
R. C. Smallwood, of Red Oak, Oklahoma, is an enthusiastic supporter of the chicken business. He is president of the Latimer County Poultry Federation and does a great deal for the poultry industry of his county.
Mr. and Mrs. Smallwood are interested and occupied with other farm affairs, and it has been only within the last few years that they have given special attention to chickens. Their success with poultry has been very encouraging and they intend to increase their flocks.
The Smallwoods raise and keep separately two different strains of chickens: The Tanered Single Comb White Leghorns and Plymouth Rocks. They ship the fertile eggs in crates to commission men in New York City, where they receive a very fair price. It costs to express a crate of eggs from Red Oak to New York, about 10 cents a dozen; this includes the crate. The price is a little less when shipping two crates, still less when shipping three or more.
Early Market Prices.
The Plymouth Rocks are raised for early market fliers and for capons. The hatch last year for spring broilers came off February 15th. When the chicks were ten weeks old they were marketed at 52 cents a pound. Many more could have been sold on account of the demands of the early market. The capons were for home consumption, but he marketed one now and then to private customers. These were fine ten and twelve-pound birds.
Mr. Smallwood has a 120-egg incubator which he keeps busy in the late winter and early spring, but he has most of his eggs hatched at the local hatchery.
He says it does not pay to hatch eggs unless you know how the hens have laid and how the eggs have been handled after they have been laid. The hens should be vigorous and very healthy; the coxks from hens of good egg-laying strain; the eggs themselves should be cared for and not chilled.
"We use 500 chicks brooders and our brooder houses are 8 by 12 feet. We transfer the chicks to a larger house as soon as they are well-feathered and old enough to move," says Mr. Smallwood.
The feed at the Smallwood farm for baby chicks is oatmeal and boiled eggs with wheat bran added after the first week. Later they are fed a balanced feed or mash recommended by agricultural colleges. As they grow older they are given a scratch feed of cracked corn and whole wheat, and are always given plenty of buttermilk.
The older chickens are fed a mash composed of 100 per cent bran, 100 per cent shorts, 100 per cent corn meal, 100 per cent meat meal, which is kept before the chickens at all times. Three daily a grain feed is fed consisting of corn, oats and feed of a handful of sunflower seed. The morning grain feed is scattered in straw litter.
Mr. Smallwood kept account of what a few hens did for him in a commercial way a few years ago, and the results decided him that he would increase the number of his chickens. He says, "In the fall of 1924 we had 140 hens that made us clear above all feed costs over $33 per month, from October 24 to May 25. We then doubled our flock for the next winter and we have since increased it considerably. We find that it is money easily earned."
The finest part of this record is the use to which Mrs. Smallwood has put the profits from their poultry venture. Again in Mr. Smallwood's words, "Mrs. Smallwood claims the chickens and gets the money they make. The boys, Roy, Jr., and John Williams, get the work and the experience, and I get the honor. She is equipping the house with bath tub, lavatory, hot and cold water, both in the kitchen and bath room, all from the poultry money. She has all the necessary equipment—storage tank, pipe, pump jack, and gasoline engine, all bought and paid for and most of it installed."
"She has also bought a steam cooker and canner out of the poultry fund, and canned quite a number of fried chickens for winter use, and a number of pounds of beef. She has, in fact, canned most everything, and I fear she will can her husband next."
FOR SALE—Dark barred Plymouth Rock eggs, McDonald strain, $1.75 setting $9.00 hundred. Flock headed by prize winning male. R. M. English, May, Texas. w51p

Back to Barter

When the price of corn dropped to a level which brought a cry of distress from the corn belt, the International Harvester Company announced that it would accept corn in payment for farm machinery at the rate of 31 a bushel. If there were those cynical enough to suspect that that proposal was made for the free advertising that it would bring to the International Harvester Company, they are under obligation to retract. That corporation has about 1,000,000 bushels of corn on hand, it is now stated, and at present quotations it is worth 70c a bushel. For $1,000,000 of machinery it has property worth $700,000. Its loss, as matters stand, is $300,000. Looked at in only the light of those figures, that policy may be regarded as having been more noteworthy as an adventure in philanthropy than as one in business. But that view is subject to some possibilities. One is the possibility that the price of its corn may advance, which indeed it may, though the likelihood of its attaining to 81 a bushel must be thought small. Then there is to be taken into account the fact that the immense overhead expenses of that institution would have continued undiminished if manufacturing operations had been curtailed, and something is to be deduced from the apparent loss on that score. Finally, some considerable amount must be entered on the other side of the account for the good will which the Harvester Company has undoubtedly earned and obtained by its readiness to share in the misfortune of a large class of its patrons. And when one considers these and other considerations, one may find oneself close to the conclusion that this philanthropic transaction may have been also a much better business transaction than at a glance it appears to be.

Markets

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, April 7.—(AP)—Helped by firmness of Liverpool quotations and by unfavorable weather conditions for the feeding of spring wheat northwest, wheat prices advanced a little higher today in the early dealings. Opening prices, unchanged to 5c higher; May (new) 1.57 1/2 to 1.58 1/2, and July 1.35 1/2 to 1.36, were followed by something of a sag, and then by a moderate fresh upturn.
Corn and oats kept within narrow limits. After opening unchanged to 3/4c off, May 71 to 71 1/2 the corn market remained near to yesterday's figures.
Oats started at the same as yesterday's finish to 3/4c higher. May 4 1/2 to 4 1/2, and later showed but little change.
In line with hogs and grain, the provision market was steady.

Cotton

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of seven to nine points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and an unfavorable weather map. Increased commission house demand as well as covering and trade buying carried the prices up to 18.85 for May and 17.63 for October before the end of the first hour, or about 16 to 15 points net higher.
The weekly report of the weather bureau was mixed, saying that the early crop was making good progress in extreme South Texas, but poor elsewhere, with planting backward and germination unsatisfactory.
The early advance was checked by realizing but selling otherwise was discouraged otherwise by unfavorable weather news and the market held steady late in the morning. Reactions of six or seven points from the top brought some trade of investment buying, which local brokers attributed to nervousness over the possibility of a late start for the new crop as a result of wet weather in the south. Prices at mid day were within a few points of the best, with May selling 18.84 and October at 17.56, or 11 to 17 points net higher.
No fresh trading or new feature developed and the mid-afternoon market was quiet. May ruling around 18.31 and October at 17.55 at two o'clock, or about eight to fifteen points higher.

NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, April 7.—(AP)—The cotton market opened firm, owing to a combination of bullish influences, including better cables than due and the unfavorable weekly weather report and bad weather in the belt. As a result first trades showed gains of six to ten points and although prices declined after the call they soon rallied. May trading to 18.33, July to 17.74 and October to 17.55 or 14 to 18 points above yesterday's close. At the end of the first half hour the market was steady and within a few points of the highs.
Trading was moderate during the morning and although prices kept within the earlier range they gradually worked downward, under the pressure of some hedge selling and also some realizing of liquidation by early buyers. May traded down to 18.06, July to 17.66 and October to 16.86 or seven to ten points below the early highs but still four to eleven points above yesterday's close. Prospects for clear and colder weather in the western belt helped the earlier tone.
The market ruled steadier during the afternoon with moderate trading. May appeared to be in demand and prices in that position showed more strength than the later months. May traded up to 18.11 or 10 points above the low of the morning, July improving to 17.70 and October to 16.84, or five to six points above the lows.

Brownwood Schools Well Supplied With Modern Fire Escapes

The city of Dallas has started a campaign that has for its purpose the lessening of fire hazards in that city. It seems that the campaign is recommended by school officials, and seeks to find out if the school buildings of the city are as safe from fires as they should be. Considerable attention has been given to this problem in Brownwood, and rigid tests made last year, and which are to be repeated at intervals this year and other years, shows that the school buildings of Brownwood are all in very good condition with reference to minimum danger from fires, and that adequate means have been adopted for the vacating of the school buildings by pupils and teachers in event fire was to break out. Tests were carried out during fire prevention week last year and admission lectures delivered at each of the schools in Brownwood by members of the fire department on fire prevention, by the elimination of all hazards. In some of the tests which were out on without previous warning, the entire school building was vacated in less than one minute, and in an orderly way. No school building is considered modern unless it is well provided with suitable fire escapes. CARELESS PEDESTRIANS

Pedestrians are responsible for a great many automobile accidents. Too many jay-walkers ramble about without restraint, crossing thoroughfares where it is not convenient for them to do so, getting in the way of motorists who have the right-of-way and generally blocking traffic. Of the 21,000 men, women and children killed by automobiles during 1925, approximately three-fourths of them were pedestrians.
