

ON TEXAS FARMS

Kesler Builds Silo

J. A. Kesler, one of the most progressive farmers of the Blanket Community has just completed the first trench silo in the southern part of Brown county. This trench silo is 132 feet long, 10 feet at top and 7 feet at bottom with an average depth of 6 1/2 feet. The trench was built with a farm tractor, steel beam plow, and Fresno at a total cost of $16.50. The silo was filled with 23 acres of sudan and Johnson grass, 5 acres of hegarl, 3 acres of red top cane and 2 acres of corn thus storing 85 tons of choice feed in the ground for future use in feeding out sheep, beef cattle and dairy cows.

Blackstrap molasses, at the rate of 50 pounds per ton, was added to the sudan and Johnson grass. The addition of molasses was recommended by County Agent Lehmburg because these grasses do not contain sufficient amounts of acids to produce proper fermentation. Molasses also increases the feeding value of these grasses.

During the field meeting which was held while the trench was being filled Mr. Kesler said, "I believe there is just as much sense in earning your feed for sale keeping as there is in canning vegetables and fruits for home use. I am determined, he said, to have plenty of succulent feed for my livestock when pasture begins to dry up or when there is no green feed during the winter."

County Agent Lehmburg who spoke to the farmers attending the field meeting said, "We are now well through the pioneer stage of trench silo building in Brown county. The 15 trench silos built last year have fully demonstrated the fact that feed can be stored more safely and more economically in trench silos than in any other way. When you put your feed into a trench silo you are protected against loss by fire, storm, insects and rodents and you get twice the feeding value from ensilage that you get from dry feed. During the meeting the county agent discussed how to build a trench silo, the proper size of a trench silo for the number of head of livestock to be fed or the amount of feed to be stored and the proper manner of placing the bundles of feed in the trench. In filling a trench silo, Mr. Lehmburg said, an abundance of water should be used. Plenty of water should be put on the silage next to the walls if the dirt is dry, even though the silage is so green and juicy as not to require any water except where the dry walls draw out the moisture.

Use Plenty Water

Each layer of silage should be wetted down. More water must be used if the feed is dry, than if it is green and juicy. It is well to put as much as a barrel of water on each ton of silage, and if the feed is very dry, four or five times as much may be required.

Silage Should Be Well Packed

Each layer should be packed thoroughly, especially along the sides, as any air spaces between the layers or along the sides may cause spoilage.

Kinds of Crops for Silage

Practically all field crops can be used for silage, Mr. Lehmburg said. However, corn and the grain sorghums, such as kafir, milo, feterita and hegarl make the best silage. Sweet sorghums make more tonnage but are not considered as good as corn and grain sorghums.

Proper Stage to Cut Feed

Harvesting of feed crops for silage at the proper stage of maturity insures, in a large measure, its value as a feed. Corn, grain sorghums, and the sweet sorghums should be ripe with the leaves green if possible. If not, some of the leaves should be green. The small grains, sudan grass, Johnson grass, and other similar crops should be in the dough stage.

Putting on Cover

When the trench is filled the silage should be rounded off some two feet above the level of the ground and then covered with 12 to 18 inches of dirt being careful not to leave any air spaces or cracks in the dirt used for covering the silage. If after the dirt is settled any cracks develop, the top of the trench should be harrowed thoroughly until all cracks are closed or more dirt should be added.

Silos to Be Built

The following ranchmen and farmers will build trench silos this week: M. E. Fry & Sons, Zephyr; Vernon Carr, Brooksmith; T. G. Ross, Blanket.

New Adventures In Comfort For Lazy Summer Days

Now the happy days are here

when the airy comforts of summer lawns and porches have a lure for everyone. And modern treatments and finishes for upholstery and tablecloths make lawn living both colorful and practical.

The lazy-looking California style of outdoor furniture shown above has cool green and white upholstery made of a water-repellent fabric. On damp days there is no need to remove the cushions from this wheeled chaise longue and barrel shaped chair. Note the side laziness of rope and the drawer under the chair seat.

Printed roses on a washable tablecloth and chair pads of Fabrikoid lacquered fabric in the other picture are summery indeed for an open-air meal.

Webb Farms, and has a capacity of 200 tons. In 1935 Beeman increased the capacity to 600 tons, and this year he has dug another 600 ton silo. The 1,200 tons of silage will be used in feeding cattle for market.

Many improvements have been completed in the past on the farm and in the home of the Theodore Ochler family of the Reservation community of Kerr county, and the job undertaken by the family now is to coordinate the completed improvements and to add new ones. Part of the current improvements carried out in the family's whole farm and home demonstration has been to terrace pastures in connection with the field terracing system and to fill a trench silo to furnish a reserve of forage for the goats, sheep, cattle and horses.

With the help of his county agricultural agent, Alvis Johnson of Sutton county culled his flock of 315 ewes. The 435 ewes culled out averaged an average of 82 pounds less wool, which had a heavier shrinkage and a shorter staple than that of the ewes kept in the breeding flock. The culls are to be replaced with the top yearling ewes.

A permanent demonstration has been undertaken by Jimmie Rieck, Kimble county 4-H club boy, who has started a registered Hereford breeding herd. His foundation consists of the bred cow Myrtle Domingo, with bull calf at side and the bred heifer May Mischief.

When Mrs. Ralph Carter, of the Streeter club in Mason county, began her kitchen demonstration she decided to make her improvements in a northwest corner room, which gets a large amount of natural sunshine and light. Instead of in the dark room with a north exposure which she had previously used. Many county home demonstration agents have noted that club women now prefer to use their lightest and brightest room as a kitchen, whereas formerly the darkest room in the house was often used.

The club goals of the Christoval 4-H girls' club in Tom Green county were achieved early in the year by Eula Mae Rouse, who has made pillow cases, arranged a complete study center, and has made a tufted breadboard. In addition, she helped her father make and care for a hotbed, from which they produced 7,000 tomato plants, of which 2,000 were set out for family use, and the remainder sold.

The Indio 4-H girls' club of Presidio county, which is made up of Mexican girls and has a Mexican woman as sponsor, is showing the way to other clubs in the county by completing six quilts. For four of them the girls carded home grown cotton, while two were made with commercial bats.

Enrollment Increase

County agricultural agents of the West Texas section are reporting an increase in enrollment in 4-H boys' clubs, as well as in the volume and quality of the demonstrations undertaken by the boys.

Three Schleicher county 4-H club boys plan to feed a total of 160 lambs for the spring livestock shows. The lambs, with the ewes, will have access to a sudan pasture.

In Brown county, 40 4-H club beef calves are on feed and are doing well; 52 club boys have entered the state cotton contest; and other boys are carrying on work in crops such as corn and grain sorghums. Livestock demonstrations, with dairy heifers, sheep, and swine are also popular.

A 4-H club has been organized in Real county, which only recently employed a county agricultural agent. The club, the first in the county, is composed of 15 boys from the vicinity of Leaky. Mohair goat demonstrations will be the main line of work.

In Sutton county, 12 4-H club members will carry sheep breeding demonstrations, and 7 of the boys have already selected 214 yearling ewes for use in connection with the work. The ewes came from their fathers' flocks.

A permanent demonstration has been undertaken by Jimmie Rieck, Kimble county 4-H club boy, who has started a registered Hereford breeding herd. His foundation consists of the bred cow Myrtle Domingo, with bull calf at side and the bred heifer May Mischief.

ed up daily. Work on farms already under agreement is being pushed forward rapidly by the farm owners, the SCS and the CCC workers. More interest is reported in the work on the part of farm owners than at any other time since the camp was established here.

SCS technicians point out the following needs for soil conservation: Thirty-three per cent of the land surveyed in the United States shows one-half to three-fourths of the top soil lost. About 35,000,000 acres in the U. S. have been made worthless by erosion.

Of 169,000,000 acres surveyed in Texas, only 22 per cent showed little or no erosion and 5,000,000 acres have been ruined by erosion.

More than 40 per cent of the soil wealth is contained in the top six inches of soil. Rotating crops reduces soil losses by one-third.

Farm owners who are co-operators with the Soil Conservation Service are:

place the meters effective. A group of Brownwood business men attended the Monday night meeting and voiced their disapproval of meters for the city. A petition signed by 360 voters asking that an election be called on the question was presented by Elmer Haynes, secretary of the Brownwood Merchants' Association.

The Council took no action on the petition, either at the regular session or at a short executive session held at the close of the regular meeting. No action was taken on passing on second reading of the ordinance providing for the installation.

One hour parking limit on principal streets, two hour parking limit, angle parking on one side of the street and parallel parking on the other side and a return to the angle parking system were suggestions made for handling the parking problem.

Second victim of an automobile collision near Comanche July 7, Sid Witten, 62, Zephyr ranchman, died in a local hospital at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Mrs. Thorp A. Andrews, wife of a Fort Worth attorney, was killed instantly when the car in which she and her husband were riding and the Witten car in which Witten and Presley Van Zandt, also of Comanche, were riding, collided on highway 10 a mile east of Comanche. The injured persons were rushed to a Brownwood hospital.

Mr. Andrews was removed from an oxygen tent in which he was placed Friday when pneumonia developed from a chest injury.

A charge of murder was filed at Comanche Thursday against Van Zandt, 23, who allegedly was driving the Witten car.

Funeral services for Mr. Witten were held in Rising Star at 3 p. m. Tuesday. Burial was made in the Rising Star Cemetery.

Mr. Witten was born August 1, 1874, in Tarrant county. He had been living in Brown county for the past several years, but formerly lived in Comanche county and operated large interests in the Sipe Springs section.

Survivors are his wife and six Witten Zephyr; Mrs. Artis McCurchildren, Jack, Sexton, and Aubrey dy. Mullin; and Mrs. Lawrence Witten, all of Zephyr; Miss Gladys Hallmark, Byrds.

INSTALLMENT PLAN PAYING DELINQUENT TAXES IS OUTLINED

Property holders may pay delinquent state and county taxes under a new installment plan outlined in a bill passed by the last regular session of the Legislature. The new law goes into effect August 29, 1937.

First payment under the plan must be made on or before September 1, 1937. If partial payment is not made before that time, the law will not apply to the delinquent property holder.

Assistant Attorney General J. H. Broadhurst, in rendering an opinion on the bill, says in part:

"Section 1 of this bill provides that on and after July 1, 1937 tax-payers owing delinquent state and county taxes shall be permitted to pay such delinquent taxes in partial payments. However, since this law does not become effective until after August 29, 1937, I am of the opinion that the Tax Collector could not accept a partial payment of delinquent taxes and thereby stop the interest from running on such partial payment before the 29th day of August because of the fact that the law has not become effective until that date."

Safety Through Education

For more than a year the National Safety Council has been waging an intensive fight against traffic accidents. For six months the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee has been carrying on the campaign in Texas.

The National Safety Council has been conspicuously successful in checking industrial accidents, largely through educational measures. Education was not confined to employees, but employing units were taught to provide additional mechanical safeguards for those who work around machinery.

Such success has not marked the efforts of the safety council or other agencies when they entered the field of traffic safety. Despite well planned efforts, traffic accidents have not been appreciably reduced, and there is no indication that there will be any great reduction in the near future.

The wide difference in results can lead to but one conclusion: the lesson of safety can be taught to groups; it is practically impossible to teach safety to the masses. If safety is a matter of education, and none can deny that it largely is that, then traffic safety must be taught to groups if we are to materially reduce the heavy traffic toll each year.

The difficulty of getting interested groups of adults together leads to the thought that the most effective method of impressing the need of safety upon individual drivers is in the high schools and colleges. A thorough course in safety taught in every high school, college and university in Texas, would do much to assure that young drivers of the present and future drivers of the future at least would be aware of the dangers that beset every motorist.

Two little fiscal headaches remained over from 1937: Although it had been in session for six months prior to fiscal New Year's Day, Congress had not passed all regular appropriation bills so that departments would have money to spend beginning July 1.

A valuable contribution to the field of safety has been made by Elsie Smith Parker and Booth Mooney, the latter associate editor of the Texas Weekly and a member of the Governor's committee, through publication of a high school manual on safety, entitled "Safe Driving and Accident Prevention."

A short news release from the National Park Service tells the breaking of attendance records at National Parks on the Fourth of July.

People Are Traveling

Parks in California are drawing thousands of people to that state. Texas could cash in on the tremendous pulling power of such a park by making it possible to establish in Texas the Big Bend National Park.

Take a typical example. Little Sequoia National Park in the California Sierras drew 11,442 people for the Fourth of July holiday. No special program had been arranged, no extra crowd expected, yet the day broke all records for attendance at the park.

The National Park Service, in commenting upon the large crowds, says "Twenty years ago, this number of visitors during an entire season would have been regarded as a record. In more recent years, however, a year's count has totaled more than 200,000."

Motor cars and the increase in leisure time due to shorter working hours and more liberal vacation leaves has changed the entire method of living of our people. More people are traveling today than ever before, tomorrow the number will increase. Last year, tourists brought into Texas more money than any other single item except petroleum.

Texas should cultivate such a crop. Improvement of recreational areas, such as the numerous State Parks now being developed, is a step in the right direction, but it is not a long enough step. Texans have a wonderful opportunity to increase present travel to Texas, and to attract thousands of newcomers through establishment of the National Park in the Big Bend section.

First step toward acquisition of the proposed park area was made during the regular session of the Legislature, when an appropriation for purchase of the land was passed. The appropriation, inadequate, was vetoed by Governor Allred. It is not too early to begin efforts to see that the next Legislature provides adequate funds for this important program be started.

The MARCH OF TIME

A New BANNER Feature by the Editors of TIME, The Weekly Newsmagazine

Seventh Deficit

WASHINGTON—With the Federal fiscal year ended June 30, the U. S. Treasury Department clicked off on its adding machines a simple subtraction to discover the net result (in millions of dollars) of the U. S. Government's operations for fiscal 1937.

Spent ----- $5,691 Received ----- 5,294 The $397,000,000 expenditure was more than twice the size of pre-Depression Government spending, but smaller than the $5,477,000,000 spent in fiscal 1936 and the first downturn in spending since the New Deal took charge of the Treasury.

Federal receipts of $5,294,000,000 were 23% larger than in fiscal 1936 about the same amount larger than pre-depression receipts, and for the fifth year in succession had grown until now they are the largest in history—except for 1920 and 1921 when war taxes were still in force.

Fiscal 1937's deficit of $2,707,000,000 is only about 60% of fiscal 1936's deficit of $4,361,000,000. This is the smallest deficit since the New Deal began, but the seventh annual deficit of the U. S., bringing the public debt to an all-time high of $36,400,000,000.

Two little fiscal headaches remained over from 1937: Although it had been in session for six months prior to fiscal New Year's Day, Congress had not passed all regular appropriation bills so that departments would have money to spend beginning July 1. With the War and Interior Departments bills still unpassed, the Senate adopted a "continuing resolution" allowing those departments to spend for two weeks at the same rate as last year.

National Jamboree

WASHINGTON—Into Washington's Union Station one day last week rolled train after train bearing 35,000 arming, bare-kneed boys in khaki, arriving from all parts of the U. S. for the first National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America. At 8:45 next morning a trench mortar boomed and all stood at attention. It boomed again and the flags of 32 nations rose in an avenue of banners beneath the Washington Monument.

Market and Trade

NEW YORK—Mercurial shifts in Wall Street sentiment, which have a telling effect on the stock market, can never be adequately explained. But when the stock market went up last week, not in a whoop-in rally but enough to give industrial averages a net gain of nearly three points, the chief contributing factors seemed to be the lifting in some measure of the triple threat of strikes, war and perennial money troubles in France.

White war talk is a stockmarket depressive it is always a shot in the arm for the grain market. As the bumper U. S. wheat harvest rolled north during the week, the red cereal soared to a high of $1.26 3/4 per bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade, registered a net

Accident Record

NEW YORK—The grim records of last year's accidents in the U. S., just published by the National Safety Council, reveal that during 1936 one accident occurred every three seconds (total 10,730,000), and one accidental death every five minutes (total 111,000).

That U. S. church membership is increasing faster than the population is revealed in the annual statistical report of "Christian Herald," which points out that there are 62,493,036 church members in the land—or $37,404 more than last year; that the rate of increase was 1.33%, as compared to .71% for population.

Biggest Churches

Biggest churches are the Roman Catholic (26,811,129), Baptist (16,332,067), Methodist (9,109,359), Lutheran (4,589,660). Biggest Protestant gains were registered by the Baptists (149,308) and the Reform Church (81,958).

Deaths

WASHINGTON—In the House of Representatives Cloak Room, Pennsylvania Congressman James P. McGraney tried to set off a firecracker under Arkansas Congressman Claude A. Fuller, held it too long, got a badly burned hand.

Anti-Mothballers

PHILADELPHIA—Echoing many another earnest denominational organ, the Protestant Episcopal "Chronicle" last week deplored "the heathen do not attend church in the summer months. This seasonal lull seems... to defy solution."

Schools and Government

DETROIT—To 1,300 delegates and 12,000 vacationing members of the National Education Association assembled for NEA's 75th or "diamond" convention in Detroit last week, Chairman Floyd W. Reeves of President Roosevelt's Advisory Committee on Education presented facts and figures to show how good a friend of education Franklin Roosevelt is.

Believed in the Ruby

The Assyrians believed that the ruby protected the wearer against famine. No poverty could come within halting distance of the wearers of the ruby. Ruby powder taken internally was supposed to cure hemorrhages. It was a health amulet worn against rheumatism.

Thames River is "Temz"

The Thames River has been pronounced "temz" since time immemorial. This pronunciation is a survival of the time when it was spelled "Temze," also "Temse." The Romans spelled it "Tamesis" or "Tamesa." The "h" in the name does not appear until about the year 1377, and it was not regularly inserted until after 1500.

Makes Steel "Spryngy"

Silicon makes steel "spryngy." It is used to make car springs. Nickel steel is hard and tough and is used for the armor plate on battleships. Tungsten and other metals are added to make it hard. Such steels are used in high-speed cutting tools which retain their hardness even when red hot.

MAJOR CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS UNDERWAY AT BROWNWOOD PARK

Major construction projects that will be in progress at Lake Brownwood State Park during the next six to twelve weeks include the completion of the bath house, revision of present cottages, and the installation of a sewage disposal system for the entire cabin group.

The bath house, which is scheduled to be completed in August, is located on a small peninsula between the newly completed 500-foot sand bathing beach and the new fishing boat docks.

The boat motor storage and service area is conveniently located at a distance of only a few feet from the boat dock. The pergola and terrace, designed for the comfort and pleasure of non-swimmers at the beach, will afford an excellent view of the beach and the lake.

All cottages in the park will be thoroughly modernized by the addition of new bath rooms and showers. The sewage disposal line, approximately four miles in length, will serve the fourteen existing cottages and also the sixteen proposed units when they are completed in

Rising Star Scout Acquires Alligator In Jamboree Trading

A baby alligator has a new home thousands of miles away from its birthplace as the result of the National Boy Scout Jamboree which ended in Washington, D. C., July 9.

A. T. Shults, Jr., of Rising Star managed to acquire the alligator during the great amount of "swapping" which was one of the chief pastimes of the 25,000 Scouts gathered from 24 nations for the ten-day jamboree.

Horned toads carried by the Comanche Trail Scouts to the Jamboree were one of the main items of barter. The toads were traded for every conceivable souvenir, and has a market value of 50 cents each.

Leaders of the local troop were O. E. Winebrenner, Brownwood, Scoutmaster; J. R. Banes, Breckenridge, first assistant; Warren Talliferro, Lampasas, second assistant; and G. N. Quirl, Comanche Trail Scout Executive.

Brownwood Scouts attending the Jamboree were Ray Morgan, Charles Connelly, Billy London, Joe Harper, and Roland Graves. Other members of the troop were Thomas Wilson and Robert Christie of Cisco; Pat Owen, Russell Perrine, Fuzzy Furse, Raymond Pipkin and Clyde E. Chisney of Eastland; A. T. Shults, Jr., of Rising Star; Roy Sewell and T. R. Hunter, Lampasas; Glenn Miller, Stanley Kirk, Ray Nix, Carey West, Jr., Price Dosier, Jr., Alvin Highers and Frank Pellizzari of Breckenridge; Charles McDowell and John Molloy of San Saba, and James W. Traiff of Ranger.

The troop camped in 18 teepees during the jamboree. The camp was situated in a beautiful grove of live oaks. Work at the park is under the direction of N. H. Lee, superintendent for the National Park Service.

as a Comanche Indian Village and dressed in complete Comanche Indian costumes. Because of their unusual attire, and camping equipment, the Comanche Trail Troop had the reputation as being the most photographed troop at the Jamboree.

Hot weather in the south is favorable to the immediate growth of cotton after an unusually wet spring. Despite growing uncertainty of the effect of the weather on crops, the board forecasts a corn crop of 2,572,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,529,327,000 bushels last year, and a wheat crop of 882,287,000 bushels compared with 626,000,000 last year.

The board's July 1 estimate of a winter wheat crop of 663,641,000 bushels, an increase of 15,000,000 bushels over the June 1 estimate. Spring wheat production was forecast at 218,646,000 bushels.

The board said the condition of all wheat on July 1 was 71.2 per cent of normal on the 47,979,000 acres expected to be harvested, indicating an average yield of 12.9 bushels per acre. Winter wheat production was forecast at 14.1 bushels per acre and spring wheat 10.4 bushels per acre.

Farmers planted 9,146,000 acres of corn, compared with 92,829,000 acres last year. The yield, however, was forecast 26.7 bushels per acre compared with 16.5 bushels last year. Estimated production was a billion bushels more than the 1,529,327,000 bushels harvested in 1936.

Moore Reports Good Crops in Schleicher

Lawrence Moore, who moved his cotton gin from Brownwood to El Dorado, Texas, at the close of last season, was in Brownwood this week completing removal to the Schleicher county location. The McDonald and Moore gin was operated in Brownwood for approximately 20 years, with O. W. McDonald and Mr. Moore as partners.

Mr. Moore stated that cotton was in better shape in Schleicher county than it had been in many seasons, with larger acreage and crop prospects excellent. A number of ranches have been put in cultivation this year for the first time, and most of the acreage went to cotton. In addition, many fields which have been planted to feed crops were put in cotton because of the feed surplus in the county. The flea hopper, almost always a menace in the area, is not prevalent this season, and farmers hope it will not show up.

Cotton production has increased greatly in that section in the past few seasons, much of the ranch acreage having been put in cotton.

BROWNWOOD ICE AND FUEL COMPANY SOLD TO DALLAS OPERATOR

Sale of the two plants of the Brownwood Ice & Fuel Company to A. D. Martin of Dallas was announced this week. The plants were sold by the John C. Lee estate. Mr. Martin already owns some of the most modern ice and cold storage plants in the Southwest, operating nine plants in addition to the two acquired here. He has had long experience in the ice and cold storage business, and is said to have ample capital. He is planning to develop the two plants to meet the needs of Brownwood and its trade territory.

Mr. Martin's engineer was in Brownwood Thursday to begin the work of remodeling and modernizing the two ice and cold storage plants. Approximately $50,000 will be spent in this work, representatives of the new owners stated. When completed, the Brownwood Ice & Fuel company plants will be among the most modern in the Southwest.

Mr. Martin states that he expects to work wholeheartedly with the chamber of commerce and the business interests of Brownwood, and further develop the poultry, turkey, egg and pecan industries that have long been in need of additional cold storage facilities here. Already Mr. Martin has obtained from the chamber of commerce complete data about these industries in the Brownwood trade area with a view to future development.

The sale was made through the Owen W. Sherill Agency of Georgetown. It will be remembered that the sale of the Brownwood telephone system to the Southwestern States Telephone company was handled by the same agency.

POSSIBILITY OF NEW FARM STATION HERE DISCUSSED BY CITY

Possibility of the establishment of an experimental station in Brown county to study control of peach tree diseases was discussed at the meeting of Brownwood City Council Monday night.

The city was asked to aid in establishment of the station if Brownwood is selected as the site for the station, which probably would be located on a small tract adjoining the present U. S. Department of Agriculture pecan experiment station on the Comanche cut-off road.

Dr. Lee M. Hutchins of the Department of Agriculture, who is in the county at this time studying peach tree diseases, would be in charge of the local station. He attended the Council meeting with Joseph Hamilton, who is in charge of the pecan station.

Improvement work on old Frisco railroad from Brownwood to Fort Worth, acquired last March by the Santa Fe Railway, is underway. First authorized project is for improving a seven-mile section from Brownwood east to Fort Worth.

The work includes replacing 70 and 75-pound steel rails with 90-pound steel; widening the road dump where necessary; putting in new ties where needed, and strengthening bridges and rebalancing.

The heavier rails will take care of the largest locomotive used by the Santa Fe in this division. At the present time, heavy trains cannot be used on the line. A crew of 25 men is employed in the fall laying work.

Bridge work on the road will include improvements on the Brazos river bridge in Hood county. Numerous other smaller structures will be strengthened.

Work on the line is not interfering with the operation of the regular schedule of trains between Brownwood and Fort Worth.

Farmers Planning Dam Constructions

D. W. Porter, construction engineer for the State Department of Agriculture, has been working with County Agent C. W. Lehmburg in making surveys of dam sites for tanks and reservoirs to be constructed by Brown county farmers and ranchers under the federal range program.

Porter is working in Kerr, Menard, Kimble, Mason, McCulloch, Coleman, Eastland, and Runnels counties in addition to Brown county. His work in each of the counties is in cooperation with the county agents to assist farmers and ranchers in surveying and constructing dams.

Fourteen dam sites for earthen tanks were surveyed in Brown county under the range program in 1937, the agent states.

Grasshopper Menace Worse In Northern Texas, Says Expert

Although the grasshoppers menace in Brown county is causing alarm among the farmers, and immediate steps have been taken to effect their eradication, the situation here is not nearly so bad as in other sections of the state, according to C. H. Gable, grasshoppers specialist from A. & M. College.

Gable and R. E. Nelson, technician in County Agent C. W. Lehmburg's office, made a tour of the county last week to determine of crops damaged by grasshoppers.

"Brown county seems to be right on the lower edge of the more seriously infested area of the state," said Gable.

"The probability is that quite a good many of the farmers in the north part of the county will need to fight the insects. A farmer should be very alert and contact his county agent to secure advice and information in ridding their fields of the pests."

"IS IT IMPORTANT?"

Does it matter, you may ask, where I take this prescription? Most druggists fill prescriptions. Isn't one place just about as good as another? True, most druggists do fill prescriptions. And most doctors write prescriptions. Yet you seek out one specific medical man, because you have confidence in him. This same element of confidence, in our professional integrity and ethical standards, impels an increasing number of thoughtful persons to bring their prescriptions here.

The LATCHSTRING'S Out

You're always welcome to the service rendered at Humble service stations. But when we say, "the latch-string's out," we mean a little more than that; we mean, the door is always open to any criticisms, suggestions and comments you have to make. Indeed, we supply each Humble service station with cards upon which you may tell us what you have to say. You're invited to use these cards; each of them is carefully read and noted; they help us to furnish you with the service you want, the service you'll find always second to none.

4-H Club Activities

Woodland Heights
 "School dresses should not be made dressy looking" stated Miss Malone County Home Demonstration agent, at the Woodland Heights 4-H club meeting Thursday July 1, at 2:30 in the home of the sponsor Mrs. E. C. Alford.
 Girls who are fleshy should not select large prints and plaids. They should make their dresses plainer than slender girls. Select a color that is becoming to you. The material should be something that may be laundered easily.
 Plans were discussed and made for the encampment at Coggin Park

July 14 and 15. Each girl made a list of what she is to take to camp. Punch and cake were served to the following visitors and members Miss Malone, Nell Bishop, Dickey McHorse, Betty Jean Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tailant of Indian Creek, and Mrs. J. W. Martin and the sponsor, Mrs. E. C. Alford.

A door, shelves, rod sufficient coat hangers and a shoe rack have been added to the clothes closet of Murlene Burton Clothing Demonstrator for the Mukewater 4-H Girls' Club. This has been done to improve her storage for clothing and reach her club goals.
 "Due to the fact that our clothes closet leaked, I have torn down all the paper from walls and ceiling and plan to fix it over, when I finish it will be water proof as well as dust proof" reported Mary Joe Coffee Clothing Demonstrator in the Zephyr 4-H Girls' Club, at their meeting Wednesday morning.

"I have been a club member only a short time but long enough to learn that I did not want my garage and other buildings facing the highway or in a conspicuous place, this was a great help to me when we started improving this place we moved to recently." She told a group of club women when they visited her yard last week. She is a yard cooperator in the Clio Club and she plans to build an out door living room on the shady side of her place in a grove of beautiful trees and also screen her out buildings this fall.

ment work which was started several years ago the barn has been torn down and rebuilt of the back of the yard the garage and wash house has also been rebuilt in a more convenient location in the back ground, at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McBride in the Indian Creek community

Enlarge Yard
 They also plan to repair an arbor which was built several years ago and add some chairs and a table in the arbor, the entire family have enjoyed this outdoor room for years and they say it has saved much work and cleaning up when it's watermelon eating and ice cream making time in their home. Grape vines will be planted over the arbor another year to bring in a revenue to replace the other vine

As Cleveland Strike-Bound Steel Plants Reopened

The grip of the seven-state steel strike was further weakened when three of the Republic Steel Corporation's four plants in Cleveland were reopened peacefully under the bayonets of National Guard troops. The scene above, at the Upson Works in Cleveland, was typical as several thousand workers quietly re-entered the mills under the eyes of 1500 guardsmen and a like number of police and deputies. Steel workers' union heads insisted that the real effectiveness of the strike would not be diminished.

Miss Mayesie Malone, County Home Demonstration Agent gives the following excellent recipes for pickles which home makers should find useful:
