

Lake Regatta Will Attract Thousands

Association To Award $650 In Prizes; Committees Are Announced

Outstanding speedboat racers from throughout the Southwest will perform before an estimated crowd of 10,000 persons at the third annual Lake Brownwood Regatta July 25, when more than $650 will be awarded in prizes.

Outstanding racers whose entries already have been received include Jack Barbee and Bill Cirs of Dallas. Jack H. Mitchell, Houston, who captured several trophies in last year's Regatta has signified his intention of entering. Word has been received from a San Antonio boating club that that city will send eleven entrants.

Committees for the Regatta were announced Monday as follows:

BROWNWOOD LISTS 23 CITIZENS IN RECENT TEXIAN "WHO'S WHO"

Twenty-three residents of Brownwood are listed in the Texian Who's Who, biographical dictionary of prominent living Texans published at Dallas.

The dictionary, first of its kind to be published in the state, contains brief biographical sketches of more than 2,700 men and women whose careers are of significant public interest in the present day life of Texas. Virtually all of the professions, as well as the fields of agriculture, commerce and industry, are included.

Names for the book were selected by the four editors, assisted by advisory sources with special knowledge of the accomplishments of those chosen.

The Texian Who's Who will be published at two-year intervals. Brownwood citizens listed in the volume are:

Homer Bryan Allen, William Bean Anderson, James Madison Bradford, John Charles Darroch, E. M. Davis, Montraville Erastus Davis, Robert Guy Davis, Clarence Yancey Early, Leo Ehlinger, Thomas Robert Havens, Robert Randolph Holloway, Earl Jones, Henry Galliard Lucas, May Abney Mayes (Mrs. H. F.), Wendell Mayes, Karl Hildreth Moore, Ben Marion Shelton, Thomas Hendricks Taylor, John Allen Walker, James Christopher White, Oran Elmer Winebrenner, Edward Pinkney Woodruff, and John Thomas Yantis.

Board or outboard motors, one heat 5:30 p. m. Prizes, $25 for first, $15 for second, $7.50 for third and $5 for fourth.

Amateurs and professionals to compete in the same races. Professionals to receive prizes in cash. Amateurs awarded equivalent in merchandise or trophies as they may elect.

RED CROSS AQUATIC SCHOOL ENROLLMENT SETS NEW RECORD

Director, Physician Are Conducting Classes at Howard Payne, Hot Wells

A record enrollment is participating in the American Red Cross First Aid and Water Safety School, sponsored by Brown County Red Cross Chapter and Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, and being conducted here June 28 through July 3.

The school is under the direction of R. C. Plaisted, member of the national staff of the First Aid and Life Saving Service, with Dr. R. H. Muirhead, staff physician, and A. B. Murphy, of the St. Louis office assisting in the instruction.

The first aid section, conducted by Dr. Muirhead, covers a thirty-hour period. Satisfactory completion of this course leads to authorization as lay instructor in the Red Cross Life Saving Service.

First aid classes are being held at Howard Payne College. The aquatic course is being conducted at Hot Wells Swimming pool. The classes will continue through Saturday.

Enrollees in the school include:

School Roll
First Aid Section: C. M. Hellums, Del Rio; Floyd Littlepage, Coleman; Eddie Mattern, Columbus; W. L. Sills, Brownsville; Lucy B. Woods, Palestine; Jesse Roberts, Waco; Brooks Powell, Fort Worth; Ruth Gehrke, Brownwood.
Water Safety Section: J. W. Atkins, Pampa; Mildred Halligan, Laredo; John Calvin Haygood, Cameron; Harvey Morris, Brownwood; William N. Wright, Vernon; Winona Wynn, Wharton; Vanita Yates, Brownwood; Marshall C. Hutson, Clinton, Okla.; Floyd Colley, Jr., Waco; C. R. Moritz, Stamford; Lowell C. Pouncey, M. B. Tyler, Carleton Lee, Albert McChristy and Weldon Chambers, all of Brownwood.

ALLRED TO SUBMIT SOIL CONSERVATION AT SPECIAL SESSION

Governor James V. Allred will submit soil conservation to a special session of the Legislature, it was officially announced this week.

A soil erosion bill by Senator E. M. Davis of Brownwood passed at the regular session of the legislature and was vetoed by Governor Allred after he received a letter from U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace expressing doubt that the Texas bill would meet requirements for federal aid.

One of the objections to the bill was the plan for county conservation districts rather than watershed districts.

CONSOLIDATE TRC DISTRICTS; ABILENE NEW HEADQUARTERS

Sub-District Office Will Be Maintained in Brownwood; Policy Unchanged

Consolidation of districts 13 and 14 of the Texas Relief Commission with headquarters located at Brownwood and Abilene, respectively, was announced this week.

Mrs. Jessica W. Bennett, administrator for district 14, will be in charge of the enlarged district. She left for Abilene Thursday morning and will make headquarters there. C. J. Sweeney has been administrator for the Abilene district, but recently was named state CCC enrollment officer, with offices in Austin.

A sub-district office will remain in Brownwood and will be located at the County Welfare Center on Walnut street, with E. A. Brooks in charge.

The combined district contains 25 counties, including parts of five Works Progress Administration districts with headquarters at San Angelo, Austin, San Antonio, Lubbock and Fort Worth.

The consolidation does not change the work, policies or regulations of the TRC, according to Mrs. Bennett.

Miss Lucille Olson, secretary to Mrs. Bennett, will go with her to the Abilene headquarters. Mrs. Sue Downs, who has been secretary in the office here, will remain as secretary to Brooks.

The profoundest happiness lies not in content but in struggling and suffering—and sacrifice.

Flaunting Blood of Slain Picket

As the body of a slain picket was carried away, these angry steel strikers at Beaver Falls, Pa., smeared his blood from the pavement on this sign and held it up for all to see. The picket, George Mike, was injured fatally when a deputy sheriff fired a gas gun into a crowd at close range. The deputy said the gun went off accidentally.

SENATE PRAISES DAVIS FOR EFFORTS TO SECURE PROPER CONSERVATION LEGISLATION

In the closing days of the Special Session of the Legislature, Senator E. M. Davis of Brownwood answered charges made in a letter by Representative B. B. Ragsdale, when he said was widely distributed in this section. Speaking to a point of personal privilege, Senator Davis said:

"I have in my possession copy of a letter signed by Representative Bailey B. Ragsdale of date June 18th, 1937, and I am reliably informed that several thousand copies of this letter have been mailed to people all over the State, and, particularly, to those residing in the 25th Senatorial District, which I have the honor to serve. The letter is reeking with misstatements and is clearly designed to injure me politically and personally. Incidentally, it is also designed to cast reflection upon the Senate as a whole.

"The letter states that the Governor advised Mr. Ragsdale and other members of the House that he would submit the subject of soil conservation legislation at the First Called Session of the 45th Legislature if he could be given enough assurance from both the House and Senate that they would pass it during the session. The letter further has the following to say:

"After working among the Senators I came to the definite conclusion last Tuesday that no conservation bill stands a chance of passage in the Senate at this time and Mr. Tarwater and Senator Head concurred in that opinion. This condition is due largely to Senator E. M. Davis' attitude. He stated that he will fight any attempt made for one until we get a new Governor. There are eight or ten Senators that assured us they would follow Senator Davis on this or any other bill in whatever course of action he chose to pursue.

"I can assure you of this, that except for Senator Davis and his followers we could get a soil conservation bill at this session.

"It is up to us and all those interested in a soil conservation bill that will make the Federal Soil Conservation Service available to Texas, to get out in the next three months and exert every effort to press this matter on the attention of the farmers, let them know what we are trying to do for them and get their support in our efforts to pass a bill at the next Called Session."

"In the first place, I never did tell Mr. Ragsdale that I would fight any attempt to pass a soil conservation bill until we could get a new Governor. I did tell him and Mr. Fuchs that I would not sign a petition asking the Governor to submit the question at the present special session unless the Governor convinced me that he was soil conservation minded and that I did not believe he would ever get a bill passed until our present Governor or a new Governor was soil conservation minded. In the conversation above referred to with Mr. Ragsdale and Mr. Fuchs, Mr. Ragsdale presented me a bill which in my judgment has for its sole purpose crop control and a regimentation of agriculture in Texas. I advised the two gentlemen that it was all right with me for them to procure the submission of the bill by the Governor, but that I could not consistently vote for any so-called soil conservation bill which did not use the county as a unit and which did not provide some sort of financing and which had for its primary purpose arbitrary crop and land control, and that I did not believe a majority of the Senate of Texas would support such a measure.

"I have fought consistently through the years for measures to conserve the soils of our State and my fight has been an unselfish one, unconnected with the Trinity River project or any other local or partisan project, and it is manifestly unjust to send out malicious and slanderous letters over this State and to my constituents, branding me as the arch enemy of soil conservation because I cannot subscribe to land and crop control and am not in favor of spending millions of dollars in forming new political subdivisions for this State, independent of the counties and other political subdivisions already organized.

"I have always been reluctant to answer petty charges and accusations but the above mentioned letter is so unjust, unethical and unfair that I feel justified in making this reply, and then forget about it. In my judgment the motive behind the letter is sinister, but I do not charge it to the young representative because I think he has been made the victim and scape-goat of the real authors of the letter."

Following Senator Davis' explanation, the Senate unanimously adopted the following resolution by Senator Small, joined by all senators present:

WHEREAS, Senator Davis has devoted a great deal of his time during the Regular Session of the 45th Legislature in a sincere effort to write a soil conservation bill and has, by his untiring efforts, made a substantial contribution to this worthy cause; and

WHEREAS, Certain unfortunate and incorrect statements have been circulated concerning the attitude of Senator Davis as the advisability of attempting to pass a new bill on soil conservation at this Special Session; and

WHEREAS, Senator Davis has carefully explained his attitude on soil conservation and has given a detailed statement concerning the circumstances surrounding the incident that gave rise to the statement that has been circulated; now, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That by the adoption of this Resolution, the Senate give Senator Davis, a full vote of confidence and an expression of the gratitude of this body for the splendid work exerted by him in his effort to pass a real constructive bill.

Merrill; Address, Dr. Bennett; Closing FFA ceremony, Dublin FFA.

About 25 cooperators and the following Brownwood SCS staffmen will attend the program: D. C. Larner, technician in charge; J. A. Johnson, engineering aide; Emil Stuter, engineering aide; Zech Dameron, agricultural aide; M. W. Ledbetter, camp superintendent; E. S. Rothe, foreman; C. L. Hagood, foreman; S. E. Ellis, foreman; K. B. Fontenot, foreman, and J. W. Arnn, technician. All county agents, business men, farmers and others interested persons are invited to attend.

J. M. Binion, Brownwood; G. H. Morrison, May, and V. P. Riley of Bangs, plan to attend.

LIVESTOCK SALES FROM FT. WORTH SHOW INCREASE

The May record of shipments of live stock from Texas to the Fort Worth stockyards and Interstate points showed an unusually sharp year to year increase, according to the Bureau of Business Research. Reports of the railroad shipping agents of the State and of the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company to the Bureau show that rail and truck shipments to these points totalled 11,154 cars, against 5,913 during May last year, an increase of more than 88 per cent. Aggregate shipments for the year to date were 39,113 cars, an increase of 31 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

The sharpest increase occurred in forwarding of sheep. Shipments of these animals during May totalled 2,133 cars compared with 778 cars during May last year, an increase of more than 174 per cent. Cattle shipments also increased substantially—7,530 cars against 4,057 cars a year ago or a gain of more than 85 per cent. The increase in shipments of calves and hogs was more moderate—874 cars against 553 cars last year; and hogs 617 cars compared with 523 cars a year ago, gains of about 60 per cent and 18 per cent respectively.

Road Improvement Work Starts Soon

Rock is being crushed for asphalt paving on Austin Avenue from Willis Creek to the Indian Creek road and on that road in front of Woodland Heights school to the intersection with Fourth street, according to E. S. Thompson, commissioner in precinct 1.

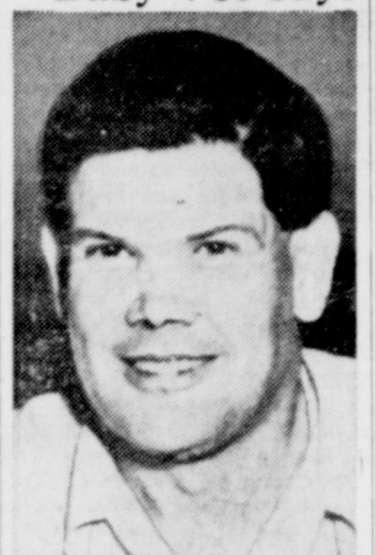

Caliche base has been placed on Austin Avenue, the Indian Creek road, and Fourth street, but the latter street will not be paved in the present project. The improvement job is a WPA project, sponsored by precinct 1.

The project also includes construction of a new concrete bridge over Willis Creek on Austin Avenue.

The pouring of the asphalt will start about the middle of July, according to Commissioner Thompson.

4-H, FFA Members Plan Encampments

In Army at 11, Baby Vet Says

Wearing of hearing other claimants boast of having been the youngest U. S. soldier in the World War, Forest R. Martin, above, told his story—that he enlisted at the age of 11 years and 28 days. Martin, now a patient in a Denver hospital, admitted he was something of a freak at the time, weighing 174 pounds. He has written to Creston, Ia., for his birth records to prove his story.

Scholarships, Trips to Short Course Among Prizes to be Offered Campers

Attention of hundreds of farm boys and girls in Brown county and surrounding counties is being turned this month to dates for annual summer encampments—highlights of the year's program of the various clubs. Two encampments will be held during July and one in August.

First group to encamp will be the Brown county 4-H Club girls, who will hold their camp in Coggin Park Wednesday and Thursday, July 14 and 15. All members of 4-H boys' clubs in the 19 counties comprising district 7 will attend camp at Lake Brownwood on July 26, 27 and 28.

Brownwood Future Farmers of America will sponsor a district wood State Park, date for which FFA encampment at Lake Brownwood has been set tentatively for the first week in August.

District FFA Camp
Brownwood FFA chapter voted at a meeting Thursday night to sponsor the district FFA encampment. FFA members in the Brownwood district and from nearby counties which are in other districts will be invited to attend.

New officers also were installed at the meeting. They are Mark Abney, president; Joe Harper, vice-president; Earl Bird, secretary; John McGhee, reporter; Bill Morris, treasurer; C. A. Low, historian; and Joe Hays, watch dog.

Billy Lytle and James Scott were elected delegates to the state FFA convention to be held in Arlington July 22-24. Others who will attend from Brownwood are Mark Abney, Billy Streckert, Blake Jones and J. M. Binion, chapter advisor.

Speakers on the two day 4-H girls' encampment will include Miss Maurine Hearn, district agent; Senator E. M. Davis, Chester Harrison, manager of Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, and County Judge A. E. Nabors.

Highlights of the camp will include a style show, vegetable show, oratory contest, theatre party at the Lyric Theater and a swimming party at Hot Wells swimming pool.

Prizes
Camp prizes include: clothing contest—first in each class (demonstrators and cooperators), trip to Farmers' Short Course at A. & M. College, donated by Austin Mill & Grain Co.; second in each class, material for dress, given by J. C. Penney Co. First place winner in the demonstrators' second class will be eligible to enter district and state contests. Vegetable show—first, hot fruit jar lifters; second salt and pepper shakers, third, fruit jar opener. All prizes given by Ball Fruit Jar Co. Stunt night—club putting on the best stunt will receive cash award.

Program
Complete program for the encampment has been announced as follows:

Wednesday, July 14
10 a. m., Organize camp, 11 a. m., Vegetable show; Songs and games led by Mrs. J. W. Phillips, Byrds; Sponsors meeting; Lunch, Talk by Chester Harrison, manager of Brownwood Chamber of Commerce; Rest period.

Picture show party at 2:30 p. m.

Home Demonstration Clubs

Byrds

"Furnishing the yard," was the general topic of discussion by Miss Malone, Home Demonstration Agent, at a picnic meeting of the Byrds Club, on Lake Brownwood, Friday June 18.

In selecting yard furniture the following points are worth considering: is it waterproof, is it rust-proof, is it warp-proof, is it folk-proof, is it first and last comfortable, useful and attractive?

The country yard, if properly planned, should provide a spot for rest, work and recreation for every member of the family, and for all members of the family at once.

A chicken barbecue dinner with salads, pies, ice cream and cake was served at the noon hour by members of the Club. Swimming, fishing and boating were amusements.

4-H Club Activities

Grosvenor

In choosing products for canning they should be as near the same size as possible and about the same ripening, stated Miss Malone, County Home Demonstration Agent, in the 4-H Club meeting in the home demonstration club house, Tuesday morning, 10:00 a. m.

For instance, in canning peas, if some are younger and smaller than the others they should not be mixed with the larger ones. For the reason that the smaller ones will cook before the larger ones, and cause them to have a cloudy appearance.

In canning fruits if some are ripener than the others, separate and cool them separate, so that you will not have to cook them as long as the others. They will then remain firm.

Members present were Betty Jo Chastain, Dorothy Mae Purry, Ruth Purry, Billie Hallford, Dorothy Jo Hallford, Doris Mauldin, Helen Sinclair, and Jonnie Wilson.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

CAMP BILLY GIBBONS Every Scout a Swimmer

Eagle Scout Harvey Morris of Brownwood will be in charge of the Water Front at Camp Billy Gibbons this year. There will be under his leadership—instructions for the Scout who does not swim, practice for the beginners, tests for the advanced in Red Cross Life Saving First Class Swimming and Swimming Merit Badge, how to handle a boat properly, and many other things taught that are necessary for the full enjoyment of one of the best sports and forms of exercise privileged to man. Ask any Scout who attended Camp last year about the Swimming Hole. He will tell you that it is one of the best in the State.

Indian Village

The Camping Committee of the Comanche Trail Council has completed plans to give the Scouts of the Council the opportunity to learn more about Indian Lore and Customs, by having a regular Indian Village on the camp grounds. The Scouts who participate in the Indian Feature will live in a section set apart, but this section will be a part of the regular camp. The village will be made up of eighteen Tepees. A merit system will be used to determine who shall live in the Tepees. Each scout attending camp will be eligible to enter this contest.

Air Plants Grow Wild

Air plants—a hardy kind of a wild orchid—grow wild throughout South Florida. They cling to the bark of oak trees and live solely on air and water. Like the Spanish moss that hangs from the branches of trees, they are not parasites and are easily detached.

Mortuary

MORRIS—Francis Marvin Morris, 49, passed away suddenly Saturday, June 26, at Uvalde, Texas. Mr. Morris was born March 14, 1888 in Holland, Bell County, Texas, and taught school for about 22 years until his health failed. Since that time he had been traveling in South Texas.

He was a graduate of Daniel Baker College and was a veteran of the World War. He was the author of a number of articles, pamphlets, and poems and was an accomplished artist.

The body was brought overland to Brownwood for burial and services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock from White & London Funeral Chapel with Rev. C. P. Owen officiating. Interment was in Greenleaf Cemetery. Pallbearers were Dr. Roy Hallum, Walter Emison, Dr. Joe C. Young, E. A. Beckham, L. E. Walker and James C. White.

Surviving Mr. Morris are his mother, Mrs. Martha W. Morris, of Brownwood, one brother, Wade A. Morris, and two sisters, Mrs. Sidney S. Oxford and Mrs. Glen Salisbury.

HALL—Funeral services for Jeff Hall, 76, resident of Brown county since 1904, were held at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday from the Church of Christ at Bangs with the Rev. Pat Salver of Burkett officiating. Interment was made in the Bangs cemetery.

Mr. Davis passed away at his home near Bangs Monday afternoon at 4:30. He was born November 23, 1861, in Caldwell county, Texas, and was married to Miss Clara Conner in Wilson County in 1898, moving to Brown county to make his home in 1904.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Clara Hall, and one nephew, E. B. Lawrence of Bangs, and a number of other relatives.

BIG MOMENT

THERE COMES a time in every woman's life when ordinary provender won't do. When she has to produce something pretty special—or else. Not long ago we came bang up against one of those major crises and met it face to face with a new Apricot and Apple Sauce Cake. How'd you like to try our recipe next time you need to do something spectacular? It's simple. Just cream together 1/2 cupful butter, add a cupful of sugar and cream the two together well. Then add an egg and beat the mixture for all you're worth. For a really elegant flavor, blend 2 cans of strained apricots and Apple Sauce (lifted from the baby's larder) with 1/2 teaspoonful soda and add to the other good things in the mixing bowl. As a separate process sift together three times 2 cupfuls sifted cake flour, 1/2 teaspoonful salt and 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder. Add this to the butter mixture alternately with 1/2 cupful milk. Pour into a greased loaf pan (7 x 10") and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 30 or 40 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares and top off with lumps of slightly sweetened whipped cream. It's the quintessence of spring!

LAST MINUTE LOGIC

On busy days when dinner time sneaks on you unawares, snag a can of Cooked Macaroni from the pantry shelf and save the situation with a quick concoction. You'll never be caught short if you keep a couple of these stout tins on hand all the time. It's a completed creation—this luscious creamy Macaroni with its crown of golden cheese sauce—all ready to open, heat, and eat, too! And then you are, you see, with the main dinner dish done in no time at all. Of course, if you have about 20 minutes grace you could combine a canful with some hard cooked eggs and turn out even more elaborate fare. Just take about 4 of the eggs and cut all but the yolk of one egg into slices. Arrange the Macaroni and eggs in thin layers in the bottom of a buttered casserole. Be sure to sprinkle each egg layer with salt and pepper for seasoning. Then scatter 4 tablespoonfuls grated American cheese over the top layer of Macaroni and add a few fluffy shreds of egg yolk for a finish. Mash that left-over egg yolk through a sieve to make the soft yellow shreds. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 20 minutes, and there you have a real short order triumph!

BRISK BEGINNING

It's no trouble at all to provide canapés for the crowd when you have a recipe on tap that can be tossed off as quickly as this hot pickle and cheese combination: To begin, slice bread about 1/4 inch thick and cut a large round from each slice with a medium size cookie cutter. Toast all the rounds briefly on one side, then place crisp green slices of Fresh Cucumber Pickle in the center of each untoasted slice. Blanket the Pickles with thin slices of American cheese cut by the same cookie cutter. Pop into a moderate oven (350° F.) until cheese melts. Then sprinkle with paprika and serve hot. You can make quite a platterful at a time. Enough to hold all your famished guests until the meal gets under way.

INTERLUDE

Here's a titillating tidbit to tuck in between courses—Celery Stuffed with Cream Cheese and Horseradish: Blend 5 lb. cream cheese with 2 teaspoonfuls Evaporated Horseradish soaked for 10 minutes in 3 teaspoonfuls cold water. Add a third of a cupful of sliced Stuffed Spanish Olives for a bright bit of color and use as filling for firm inner stalks of celery. Chill for a spell before serving.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Increased Yields Following Legumes

Although the full benefits of legumes planted in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program in 1936 will not be apparent until 1937 crops are gathered, a number of West Texas farmers have noted that increased yields follow legume and other green manure crops.

Alfalfa, chiefly noted as a pasture and as a hay crop, is also an excellent soil builder, as J. B. Bean, Hudspeth county farmer, will testify. Bean states that he doubled the yield of cotton on land where alfalfa had been turned under as a green manure crop as compared with land which had been planted to cotton three or four years in succession.

On the field where Walter Hohenberger, farmer of the Tarpley community of Bandera county, turned under a green manure crop last year, he harvested more than 50 bushels of oats to the acre, while 30 bushels was regarded as a good crop in other fields.

More than half of the 227 Kendall county farmers who entered 18,188 acres of cultivated land in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program have already qualified for grants by plowing under small grains, such as oats, as green manure crops.

In addition to 1,560 Coleman county farms which are covered by worksheets under the Agricultural Conservation program, 286 ranches are also being improved under the range conservation feature. More than a half million acres of land in the county have been entered in the program.

Clothes Making

Members of home demonstration clubs and 4-H club girls in West Texas are learning improved methods of clothes making, home demonstration agents of that section report. Club girls learn to sew by starting with towels and similar pieces and progressing to elaborate dresses.

The goal of Ruth Holland of the Pyote 4-H club in Ward county was to have a well equipped sewing box and to make a pot holder, cup towel, apron, slip, and dress. "In addition to making these articles, I have made all my school dresses and a suit for graduation," she recently reported to the members of her club. The suit was made of cotton suiting with a blue lace front.

Each of the six 4-H girls' clubs in El Paso county recently held club clothing contests at which all the articles which have been made this year were exhibited. Prizes were offered for the best cup towels, caps, aprons, head bands, pot holders, shorts, slips, and dresses. The winning dresses will compete in a county contest and the winner will receive a free trip to the A. and M. College Farmers' Short Course in August.

Tom Green county club women who were interested in making their own clothes attended a meeting at which an out-of-town stylist, sponsored by a local store, presented pointers dealing with color combinations, finishes, trims, and seams.

BRAZILIAN COTTON CROP NO THREAT TO U. S., SAYS EXPERT

The southern Brazilian cotton crop, officially estimated this season at an all-time record of 1,200,000 bales, actually may run below last year's turnout of about 810,000 bales, according to Benjamin Adler, cotton expert.

Adler's declaration came in the wake of warnings by American agronomists that Brazil was a major potential threat to a supremacy of the American staple in the world cotton markets.

Adler said he had received advice from authoritative sources in Sao Paulo, Brazil's southern cotton growing region, that the crop was becoming more disappointing daily. "In many districts," he said, "one picking took care of the entire crop in the section."

"Continual rains and lower temperatures were given as the cause of the reduced projects," he said. "There has been active competition for early receipts of Brazilian cotton and Japanese buyers are said to be among the largest takers at premium prices. Whether the market has been oversold again as was the case in 1935 when many Brazilian merchants and shippers found themselves out on a limb through too strict belief in official crop estimates is not yet known."

PEEP SHOW — For Ladies Only —

Our country has a birthday. We all will celebrate. We'll sing and shout and wave our flags. It's such a happy date.

It has been exactly one hundred and sixty-one years since a darling band, risking all declared that this nation must be. Resting on the strong foundation of Liberty a great nation has been erected out of character, strength of purpose,

Handful Hauls Trainloads

Scaled in detail, the Santa Fe Railway System is reproduced in miniature at the Pan American Exposition, in Dallas June 12-October 31. Minton Cronkrite, Californian who built the little 1/48th-size "Santa Fe" line, is shown setting a match stick "trainman" at the brakes of a car loaded with sulphur. Some idea of the size of the locomotive is given by an Exposition hostess, Texanita Lois Crow.

justice and honesty. A great Democracy... a great people. It comes over us in great waves of pride, this remembering, as we see the flag go by. That glorious emblem which stands for honor, character and country. It means home too. For without it we would not know what the word means. Our children would be shared by the government, fed by the government and housed by the government, like well cared for animals as they are in Russia. But here in this greatest land on the face of God's earth we enjoy all the things about us that are too many to enumerate. Freedom... lasting as the hills and broad as the seas. It is all ours because a brave band of men risked their all to make it possible for us.

Can you remember how you hoarded your pennies for the glorious Fourth? How you donned your best white flower sprigged dimity flaunting a big pink sash... How your plaits were so tight that your eye-brows drew up in a perpetual inquiry? How you peeled hard-boiled eggs and dropped them in beet juice... helped mother pinch the fried dough together in flutes of tasty greasy goodness... How you helped turn the ice cream freezer... how you churned your regular three-hundred licks before you could don the finery and go sit in the surrey and wait while the food was packed? Can you remember the shiny new patent leather slippers which you rubbed with cold biscuits to make them dazzle the eyes of the other kids who would ride on the same merry-go-round? Ahhh those were the days, I'm remembering. I can still smell the prairie hay that I raked in long golden ripples behind a team of "Peet" mules days before, at ten cents an hour that the pink lemonade, and sky rockets and rides could all be mine as long as the money lasted. Memory must be the seed which lodges in the cavity of the tooth of time, sweetening the taste long after the luscious berries of youth have been eaten.

Who can remember when a wart on a woman's nose was a worse blemish than a mole on her calf?

To one of Oklahoma's outstanding poets, Mrs. Verner G. Early, this week was presented the poetry parchment given each year to the person in each state who is judged to have done the most for poetry in the state.

The prize is awarded following the close of Poetry week at the last of May by the officers of the poetry week contest. Miss Anita Brown, New York City, is president of the association.

Mrs. Early, whose poems have been written under the name, Paige Early, is a charter member and recording secretary of the American Poetry society.

In 1936, Mrs. Early was the only Oklahoma poet and one of the few American poets in the Spring Anthology published by the Michael press in London, England.

Mrs. Early is the newly appointed chairman of the Oklahoma district of the National League of American Penwomen, and has been active in the poetry work of the

I want to sign off this week with a bit of beauty which I gleaned from the Oklahoma Club Woman, Alta Heacock whom you all know and have met often in this column as well as many more prominent places has a knack for finding and sharing such things, so our thanks go to her for the following:

"Lord, make me an instrument of Thy peace. Where there is hate, may I bring love; where offense, may I bring pardon; may I bring union in place of discord; truth, replacing error; faith, where there was doubt; hope for despair; light where there was darkness; joy to replace sadness. Make me not so crave to be loved as to love. It is in giving that one receives; in forgetting self that one finds, and awakens to eternal life."

5 a. m. Swim at Hot Wells swimming pool, guests of Hot Wells management; Breakfast; 10 a. m. Speech contest, conducted by Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred McGaughey. Winner will receive a scholarship to the Central Texas School of Oratory; Games and songs; Lunch; Talk by County Judge A. E. Nabor; Rest period; 2 p. m., style show; awarding of prizes; 4:30 p. m., break camp.

Any club girl may enter the oratory contest by writing, memorizing and delivering an oration. Following are the rules for the contest:

The scholarship valued at $45 is offered to any Brown county club girl in the eighth, nine, tenth or eleventh grade who has not previously won a scholarship from the school.

The oration must be memorized and delivered by the speaker before the judges during the club encampment. Each club may enter as many representatives in the contest as it desires.

The scholarship is not transferable.

Each contestant should give a copy of her speech to an official of the school at the contest.

The Central Texas School of Oratory will choose the judges and the decision of the judges will be final.

Speakers will be judged on such points as knowledge of subject matter, proper organization of thoughts, originality and literary style, naturalness in speech and stage presence and good pronunciation.

The scholarship will be known as the Central Texas-Julian Malone Scholarship, in honor of Julian Malone, a graduate of the school, now deceased.

Club girls who have won the scholarship in the past are Mildred Page of Winchell, Betty Jo Sanderson of May, Katherine Pover of Blanket, Edith Kimmons of Zephyr, and Mary Jo Coffey of Blanket.

4-H Boys

Four-H club boys and their dads from district 7 will meet at Lake Brownwood State Park, Saturday, July 26 for three days of swimming, games and discussions of topics of interest to 4-H club members. More than 300 are expected to attend this year's camp.

Extension Service officials and Brownwood business men will address the members at different times throughout the encampment period. Speakers will include State Club Agent L. L. Johnson and District Agent W. I. Glass, Jack Shelton, vice director of the Extension Service and state agent, and L. L. Lancaster, pasture specialist.

Fees

All active 4-H club boys are eligible to attend the encampment. Each boy who attends the camp will pay a meal fee of $1.50 which covers meals for all three days of the session. Two cooks have been hired, and meals will be served army style. A cold drink stand on the grounds will be operated by Brown county chapters.

Each boy attending the camp is asked to bring a plate, fork, knife, cup, spoon, cup towels, hand towels, soap, comb, bathing suit, bedding, and a cot if possible. Boys who have boxing gloves, balls, bats, horseshoes, washers, or musical instruments are asked to bring them.

Sardines by the Ton

Fishermen in the western section of the Pasque country, Spain, devote much of their time to catching sardines, which are so plentiful that canning is the leading industry. Thousands of tons of the tiny fish are exported yearly.

Land's End

Land's End is a headland in Cornwall, England, about 60 feet in height, consisting of granite cliffs bristling with sharp flangs of rock. It forms the southwestern extremity of England and is the entrance to the English Channel from the Atlantic ocean.

With the Fourth of July holidays stretched to two or three days this year, the possibility of a heavy increase in the usual accidents which have come to be a part of any American vacation is apparent. The Sunday "Fourth" will include for many Saturday, Sunday and Monday, instead of the usual one-day outing. The extension of time means more caution is necessary, or more lives will be lost.

Holiday Caution

The Fourth of July has become the greatest "traveling" holiday on the American calendar. Due to a desire to get away from the hot weather, or because weather conditions favor use of the highways, people feel a greater desire to climb into the family automobile on the Fourth of July than on any other national holiday. Labor Day, also favored by weather, comes second.

Whether the coming week-end is the occasion of greater traffic accident tolls than usual depends largely upon the caution used by the individual driver. During the past year, an active campaign, in Texas and in the Nation, has been waged against highway accidents. If the campaign has been even remotely successful, results this week-end should prove it. But if the traveling public has failed to recognize the danger of careless driving, the holiday toll of life will be heavy.

There is little that can be done to prevent accidents, unless the individual driver takes it upon himself to observe the rules, and in addition to be on the watch for those who don't. No amount of regulation can take the place of education. No amount of advice can be effective if it is not taken seriously.

Safety committees urge motorists to see that their cars are in good mechanical condition. Check tires, lights, brakes, steering mechanism, windshield wiper, rear-view mirror, horn. Then drive skillfully, at a reasonable speed. Observe the rules and courtesy of the road.

If these simple rules are observed, the holiday should be a happy one. If not, it will be marred with tragedies for you and others.

It is to be regretted that personalities injected into the bitter fight for a soil conservation program for Texas overshadowed to a great extent the great need for a workable conservation plan. During the special session of the Legislature, although the question was not before the law-making body, the bitterness of the fight between those of two entirely different trends of thought, broke out again.

Conservation Problems

The personalities involved are not important. They occupy the stage for a brief period, while conservation of the soil and natural resources of the State is a problem for this and future generations. To exist, these generations to come must earn their principal livelihood from the soil, just as the present generation and the generations of the past have done. Without conservation of the soil, this will be practically impossible in Texas. If the present civilization is to persist, definite and effective methods of guaranteeing productiveness of the soil must be made.

To the layman, interested in results rather than method, there seems to have been too much quibbling about the proper program. Of course, we are all anxious that the program be right, and that whatever is done is for the common good. If a compromise must be reached, it would be better that some good features of one program be sacrificed rather than all be discarded. Questioning the motives of those working for conservation does no good, and only confuses the minds of those most affected.

Because he was the outstanding leader in the conservation program during the regular session, Senator E. M. Davis of Brownwood earned the criticism of those who did not agree with his views on conservation matters. No member of the Legislature has devoted more time and energy to a study of conservation problems and their solution than Senator Davis, and it is noteworthy that the State Senate last week unanimously adopted a resolution of appreciation of his efforts in behalf of this important legislation.

The current March of Time, glorified newsreel feature, gives quite a bit of space to depicting scenes in the ten-state dust bowl, and because the community of Dalhart, Texas, had done more about overcoming the phenomenon than any other section, the Panhandle section of Texas came in for much of the publicity. The picture drew a protest from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and other interested agencies, on the ground that it is not a fair presentation of the area.

Dust Bowl Protest

Of course the reel presents an unusual condition, and one which not even the casual observer would think normal. Greatest cause for protest is that the "Dust Bowl" so far as Texas is concerned, now presents the most prosperous condition it has been favored with in many seasons. The Panhandle section of Texas is fairly bursting with prosperity. With a huge wheat crop in the process of being harvested, and a bumper cotton crop in prospect, West Texans feel that the reel, which plays up the desolation of the section, labels a hardy and worthy people.

After viewing the newsreel, we are inclined to think the protest goes a bit too far. To be sure, the picture is not inspiring, but it does not endeavor to leave the impression that the conditions presented are normal, or lasting. Rather, there is the feeling that valiant efforts are being made to overcome the unexplainable ravages of Nature. Had it gone a bit farther and shown the present prosperous condition of the country, it would have been an excellent bit of picture-reporting.

We have heard no protest so far from John McCarty, able, efficient, hard-fighting editor of the Dalhart Texan, at the time the reel was made. Featured was McCarty's organization of a "Last Man Club," in Dalhart, members of which vowed to remain in Dalhart to the end of their days. Organizer McCarty months ago moved away.

Refined Humor

WASHINGTON—Although three-fourths of the seats in the U. S. Senate are usually vacant, on roll calls last week as many as 30 of the 96 Senators appeared personally to vote, and senior members of the majority party, led by the Administration's own floor leader, were fighting one of the Administration's own bills—the $1,500,000,000 Relief bill for fiscal 1938.

In the House vigorous attempts were made to attach earmarking amendments to provide for the necessities of various Congressmen. In the Senate dapper James F. Byrnes, long-rated a close political friend of Franklin Roosevelt, presented tables to show that the financial condition of States and cities had materially improved since 1933, proposed an amendment (sponsored by the Appropriations Committee) requiring that no Work Relief projects be undertaken unless the local communities concerned paid 49 per cent of the cost of projects, or certified to Relief Administrator Hopkins' satisfaction that they were not financially able to contribute so much. Thus, although an impoverished community could still get relief with the Federal Government providing 100 per cent of the cost, a moral brake would be placed on spending. To this the President retorted that it was unfair to make communities take a "pauper's oath" to get relief grants.

Several days later Leader Joseph T. Robinson proposed a compromise: To reduce the local contribution requirement from 49 per cent to 25 per cent, omit the "pauper's oath," place on the President the responsibility for waiving the 25 per cent requirement for communities unable to meet it. When Administration forces under Kentucky's Senator Aiken W. Barkley rallied to oppose this modified restriction on Relief spending, Senator Robinson took up the cudgels anew: "Gentlemen may laugh about a $36,000,000,000 debt hanging over the Treasury of the United States if they wish to, but with all my refined and expanded sense of humor I find it impossible to laugh about such a thing. . . . Have we come to that state of mind in legislating that we want to encourage or even countenance indifference, lack of diligence, total lack of thrift and energy? . . ."

When the Relief bill went to Congress a group of staunch Democratic Senators, among them Senator Robinson, went to the White House and said flatly that Relief spending had to be reduced—so flatly that Franklin Roosevelt listened and gave reassurance. But when the roll calls were taken, the Byrnes amendment was defeated 58 to 25, the Robinson amendment 49 to 34—Democratic stalwarts like Harrison, Glass, Byrnes, Pittman, Bankhead, Bailey, Connally, Clark and Russell supporting Joseph T. Robinson instead of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Crowded Out . . .

WASHINGTON—All last spring Secretary of Agriculture Wallace was busy concocting with the aid of farm leaders a new farm bill to succeed the Soil Conservation Act hurriedly passed by Congress when AAA was invalidated. Permanent and inclusive, his program was to begin with soil conservation payments, continue with the ever-normal granary (Joseph) plan, and be driven home with production control when the ever-normal granary gets abnormally full. Although Franklin Roosevelt hoped Congress would take action on the Wallace program, he did not put it on his "ought" list.

Into Secretary Wallace's office last week marched a delegation, headed by Democratic Senate Leader Joseph T. Robinson, to tell him his bill would boost the Government's expenses about $100,000,000 next year, that it was late in the season and Congress has much to do. On condition that Congressional committees would continue study of his plan this summer and have everything ready for action next January, Secretary Wallace gave in.

Loved and Hated

NEW YORK—Arriving in New York last week, self-exiled German author Emil Ludwig declared: "To understand a man best one must talk to his most recently divorced wife. I hope Mrs. Roosevelt won't misunderstand that. And so I shall talk to some men, 'Brain Trusters' perhaps, who were associated with him until recently." Author Ludwig announced that just as he had written a life of Napoleon "without battles," he intended to write a biography of Franklin Roosevelt "without taxes." Added he: "It is difficult to write about such a great character who is leading silent revolution. He is the most loved and most hated man in the U. S. It will be the most dangerous book I have ever written."

Frightful Film . . .

WASHINGTON—Outside Republic Steel Corp's South Chicago plant on Memorial Day Paramount newsreel cameraman Orlando Lipfert filmed a bloody encounter between police and a holiday crowd of strikers liberally sprinkled with women and children, scored a thumping scoop since all other newsreel cameramen had not anticipated trouble, had spent the day at the automobile races in Indianapolis.

Although British cinema audiences zapped in horror at Cameraman Lipfert's films, up to last week they had been shown in no U. S. theatre because the prints were held by Senator La Follette's Civil Liberties Committee as evidence in its investigation of the riot. Moreover, even before Senator La Follette grabbed the frightful film, Paramount decided not to release it on the ground that such an unrelieved record of blood and brutality might touch off more riots. Said Paramount News Editor A. J. Richard in reply to a Civil Liberties committee challenge the suppression: ". . . Please remember that whereas newspapers reach individuals in the home, we show to a public gathered in groups averaging 1,000 or more and therefore subject to crowd hysteria when assembled in the theatre." Said one man who saw the film: "I made me want to go out and bite a policeman."

New Cabinet

PARIS—Unable to gain from the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate full dictatorial powers over French economy and finance for six weeks, Socialist Premier Leon Blum announced at 3 a. m. one day last week that his Cabinet had resigned, begged France to remain "perfectly quiet."

Although Socialist Blum had resigned, the political majority of the Socialist-Communist Popular Front was not destroyed and President Albert Lebrun promptly asked Camille Chautemps, another Popular Front statesman, who had twice before been Premier, to form a Cabinet. A middle-of-the-roader M. Chautemps chose his cabinet within a few days, retained Leon Blum as Vice Premier, observed to reporters: "I have just been talking to M. Blum, my predecessor and perhaps my successor!"

A constant menace to Premier Chautemps, if he strays from the strict Popular Front program and especially its close friendship for Loyalist Spain, are one-third of the Socialist deputies in the Chamber, plus the Communist deputies who have promised him their support only for the time being.

Santander Is Next

BILBAO, Spain—Bilbao, the city that has scorned capture for 700 years and the motto of whose red white and green flag was INYEN-CIBLE, fell into the hands of Rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces last week on the 80th day of siege. As was expected, Anarchists ran berserk for a few hours before the city was abandoned. Murdered many a suspected rebel sympathizer, but Bilbaína housewives shrilly greeted the invaders and the prospect of relief from constant gunfire and bombing.

Knowing the growing unpopularity of the foreign troops with Spaniards of either side, Rebel General Jose Fidel Davila carefully kept the Black Arrow Italian division well in the background, thrust forward the red bereted Carlist Royalist militia. Meanwhile, Generalissimo Franco pushed on toward Santander, well realizing that every day's delay merely enabled this next objective to rally its defenses, that the city must be taken quickly if Spain is to be conquered and Madrid captured this summer.

Wedding of the Year . . . WILMINGTON, Delaware.—In tiny Christ Church at Christina Hundred, Delaware, retired Powermaker Eugene du Pont this week gave his eldest daughter, Ethel to Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr., third son and namesake of the U. S. President, thus climaxing a bang-up love story, such as Kathleen Norris might write, complete with secret trysts, irreconcilable families, desperate illnesses, and a happy ending.

The U. S. Public first became aware that the tall (6 feet 4 inches) slim, Harvard oarsman and the lissom sportsman were companions in April, 1934, when the pair attended a Philadelphia wrestling match and Franklin smashed a "Ledger" photographer's camera to avoid being photographed. Two months later he was a guest at Ethel's debut at Owl's Nest, the Du Ponts' Greenville, Del., home. When they appeared together at other debuts in Boston and Philadelphia society columnists began to predict a match.

Following winter they continued to play together up and down the Middle Atlantic seaboard; then Ethel was packed off for a trip to Europe and Franklin returned to Harvard to devote himself with unaccustomed energy to his studies. When Ethel came home in March, 1936, eager Franklin lost no time getting to her side, was picked up by a Coast Guard cutter and dashed out to meet the incoming liner, "Carinthia."

When Aik Landon went through Wilmington last fall, Ethel was dining at the train to meet him; but Franklin was at Cambridge haranguing his economics class on behalf of the New Deal. Only a fortnight after election their engagement was officially announced. If there was ever any personal hostility to the match on the part of either family, it was decently and thoroughly submerged, and when Franklin, Jr. was smitten with a sinus infection and developed a streptococcal throat, Ethel rushed to his bedside in Massachusetts General Hospital. Cured Franklin stood by Ethel's bedside when she was suddenly stricken with appendicitis. As Mrs. Edward J. MacMullan, Philadelphia's social arbiter, few weeks ago, directed the mailing of the invitations, train schedules and road maps to those who were to attend their wedding, Ethel and Franklin posed in romantic silhouettes for photographers, amiably tennis and golfed at Owl's Nest. Among the 300 guests invited to the wedding were the Du Pont servants, the Roosevelt family, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Farley, a delegation of Washington officials and socialites. After a honeymoon in Europe, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. will this fall settle down in a five-room cottage at Charlottesville, Va.

Q. How many and what Texas counties have tax-supported county library service?

A. Seventeen as follows: Bexar, Collingsworth, Cooke, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Harris, Jefferson, Jim Hogg, Lubbock, McCulloch, McLennan, Midland, Potter, Rusk, Tarrant, Tom Green and Wilbarger.

Q. Was there a Greenleaf Flisk among the troops in the Battle of San Jacinto?

A. Records show that while Greenleaf Flisk was not an actual participant at San Jacinto, he was a member of Capt. Jesse Billingsley's company and with seven other members of that command was left at the camp opposite Harrisburg, probably either because of illness or to guard the baggage left there. He was one of the pioneer settlers, founders and officials of the town of Brownwood.

Q. What is meant by the term "trailblazer"?

A. A "trailblazer" is one who goes ahead on exploring expeditions and blazes pathways for others to follow, and the term has come to be applied to pioneers or leaders in any notable activity of life.

Q. Is the body of Cynthia Ann Parker still interred in the old Anderson County burying ground?

A. It was removed from there by the Parker family and placed by the side of her husband, Quannah Parker in a little graveyard near Casche, Okla. The Texas Centennial commission in 1936 had Major Geo. B. Black of the Texas Rangers Association, place a wreath on her Oklahoma grave.

Q. What Texas naval officer did Pres. Houston charge by official proclamation with piracy and order to be placed under arrest, and why was this done?

A. On March 25, 1843, Pres. Houston issued a proclamation charging Commodore E. W. Moore and all members of the crews of the Austin and Wharton with piracy and inviting the nations of the world to seize and hold them in arrest. This grew out of differences in policies between Houston and Moore as to repairs on the Texas naval vessels and as to Mexican blockades. Moore having refused to obey Houston's orders in regard thereto.

Q. What became of the piracy charges made by Pres. Houston against Commodore Moore and his men, and how did Houston exceed his authority in dishonorably discharging them?

A. Although Moore sought trial on the piracy charges, they were not pressed but were dropped, and ably discharging Commodore Moore, Commander Lothrop and Lieutenant Snow. Under laws governing the U. S. Navy, which had been adopted by Texas, no officer could be discharged without a court-martial.

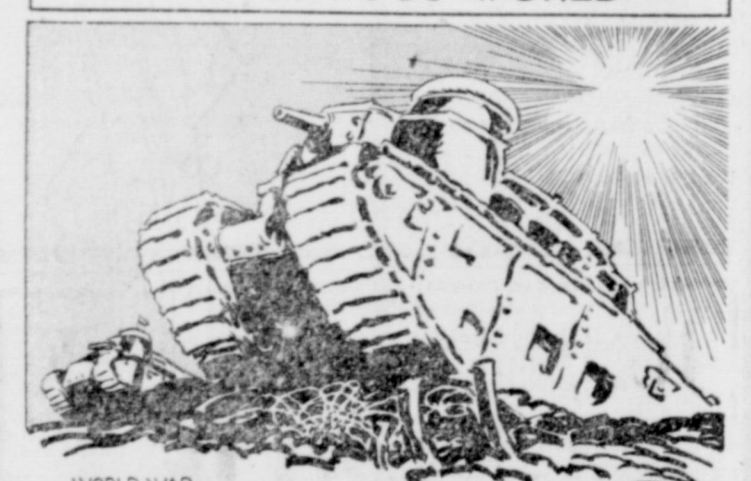

Q. What is a "quirt," and were they ever made from skins of Indians?

A. A "quirt" is a short, heavy-handed riding whip, which may also be used as a club in a close fight, usually made from cowhorns or horsehides. Jack McWhorter, an ranger who lived in Brown county, used to exhibit a "quirt" in Brownwood that he said he had made with the skin he had cut from a dead Indian, and he frequently boasted that he had made many more, but as he liked to relate tales hard to believe, his statements were much doubted. Below is published a tribute to the life of Mr. Henry Lappe, written by his lifelong friend, Mr. Robert H. Porter, of May, Texas.—Ed. Note.

IN MEMORY OF OUR FRIEND, HENRY LAPPE

A good man has gone to his reward. The family has lost a devoted husband and father. The community has lost an honorable, useful citizen.

We often do not realize what a man like Henry Lappe means to the community and to the nation. If all men were like him there would be no need of criminal courts, no bolts, bars or padlocks, no man-made trouble in this cruel world.

We were intimately associated with him for 28 years, and if he had a serious fault, we never discovered it in all that time. We will always cherish fond memories of the happy hours spent in his home and feel that we are better for having known him.

We cannot solve the mystery of life and of death. We do not know why some are doomed to endure a life of arduous toil, sorrow and dire poverty, or languish upon a bed of affliction, while others have health, wealth, leisure and pleasure, and seem to have the Midas touch that turns everything to gold.

Henry Lappe was not a strong man, physically, yet he toiled incessantly, to provide for those he loved. He saw his earnings repeatedly swept away by searing, withering drouths and disaster.

Many times the death angel hovered threateningly over his home. Slickness was a nemesis that pursued him.

Brooks and Macedonia—happily fourth Sunday in June in 1938.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Davis of Salt Creek, Marvin and Homer Petross and Joe Hall, and daughter, Verna Mae, were visiting W. Heptinstall and family Monday night. While there Mr. Davis, Mr. Petross and Homer and Verna Mae practiced the songs that the quartet will sing in the amateur program at Dublin Wednesday.

Brownwood spent Sunday with Mr. W. S. Porter.

Miss Erma Mae Rochester of Skidmore is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hicks.

Miss Letha Smith of Brownwood spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Smith and attended the singing at Rock Church Sunday.

Mrs. W. P. Heptinstall of Gap Creek spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Heptinstall and children.

Several from this community were Brownwood visitors Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lappe and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lappe and daughters attended the funeral of Mr. Henry Lappe at May last Tuesday.

Mr. Lane of Gustine is spending the week with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McDonald and son.

The annual singing at Rock Church last Sunday was a great success. At the noon hour a fine dinner was served by the ladies of the community. Some say the crowd outside the building was larger than that inside. It truly was a great gathering as scores were standing at windows and doors. Many that attend singings regularly say that it was the best they had been in to in five years. It was very inspiring to hear those singers sing those hymns which mean much to everyone.

Among the visiting singers present were Mr. and Mrs. Neil Davis and children of Salt Creek, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jones and Luther Wilson of Brownwood, Mr. Wall of Bethel, Mr. Jesse Hutton of Maverick, Rannels County, Mr. Luther Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Newt Wooly and Mrs. Becto of Early High and many others. We especially enjoyed hearing the Lane-Laker quartet, of Gustine, the Blanket quartet and the Rippeet quartet. They sang some very fine songs. We invite everyone back the

Warning

THE STATE, CITY AND FEDERAL AUTHORITIES ARE VERY ACTIVE IN THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW AGAINST BUYING AND SELLING OF

Poor Cream

The consumer of dairy products is entitled to reasonable protection. Farmers and Creamery Managers both have a responsibility here which they cannot evade. After Saturday, June 26th, we are required to refuse any Cream or Milk brought to us in any condemned containers.

Many containers now being used on the farm for holding and transporting cream to market should be discarded at once. Creamery Managers and Farmers are jointly responsible for undesirable containers being used.

Syrup pails, coffee cans and other similar containers with open seams must not be used.

Furit and mayonnaise jars, jugs and crocks, or other similar containers which cannot be properly steamed and sterilized, should also be discontinued.

Rusty containers of all kinds must be discarded, and under no consideration should cream or milk be received in containers which have previously been used for handling oil or petroleum products.

13,000! TEXANS

The Humble Company lists approximately 13,000 Texas men and women on its payrolls. If you could gather all these folks and their families into one place, they would make a city with over 50,000 people. Happily, they don't all live together; they are scattered through the length and breadth of Texas so that the work they do, the money they earn, contributes to the building up of a hundred or more Texas communities. Through them, as through many other activities, the Humble Company, a Texas institution, plays its part in the sound development of our common states.

Scholastic Record Of Student Workers High, NYA Reveals

Reports from colleges and universities of Texas which participated in the National Youth Administration College Aid program last season tend to support the oft-expressed theory that students who earn a part of their expenses make better grades than students who have all expenses paid.

Sixty-eight of the 87 colleges participating in the program have already filed annual reports with J. C. Kellam, State NYA Director. In 38 of the reporting colleges, students provided with NYA employment made better average grades than the entire student body. In 20 colleges the average grades of the two groups were reported to be approximately equal, while in nine colleges NYA workers were making slightly lower average grades than the student body. One school did not answer the question.

The reports that have been tabulated indicate that 66 per cent of the students employed were assigned to work which directly facilitated the teaching program. These students worked as clerks, teachers' helpers, library assistants, stenographers, and laboratory and shop assistants. About eight per cent of the students were employed on campus improvements, and seven per cent in assistance in the athletic department. The remaining students were assigned to various other jobs. About one-half the colleges reported that NYA employment was responsible for increases in enrollment.

The students employed on the College Aid program were selected by the college officials for employment because they needed assistance in order to enter or remain in school properly. They were assigned to socially desirable work under the supervision of their teachers and were paid at prevailing hourly wage rates. Their earnings were limited to an average wage of $15 a month. During the month of May 8,336 students were employed in the 87 Texas colleges and universities participating in the program.

BUTTER PRODUCTION IN TEXAS INCREASES

The dairy industry in Texas during April made a highly satisfactory record, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Creamery butter production was nearly 50 per cent above that of the preceding month and 8.5 per cent greater than during April last year. Dr. Buechel said. Ice cream production was up 58.8 per cent and 3.1 per cent respectively, and cheese production 129.1 per cent and 51.9 per cent respectively.

"There are two important reasons why the development of the dairy industry of Texas is of general interest to the people of this State," Dr. Buechel pointed out. "First, because milk and milk products are ranked high by all leading dietitians as an economical source of the vitamins and energy which make for human health and efficiency. Second, expansion of this industry can be made to contribute substantially to a rational readjustment of agriculture in a number of areas in the State.

"Such limited studies as have been made in Texas indicate clearly that in the case of a large percentage of the population, per capita consumption of milk and milk products in Texas is far below the minimum standard recommended by dietitians. Further studies should be made in representative localities over the entire State in order that the actual situation may be more definitely known. If, as a result of such comprehensive studies, present indications of the inadequacy of milk and milk products in the diet are verified, consideration might well be given to meeting the problem by an appropriate educational program. The conduct of such a program would involve the schools, the farmers, the distributors of milk, and the manufacturers of milk products."

COOKS COUNCIL
BY FRANCES PECK
Holds Home Institute

Soak in cold salted water an hour, then wash thoroughly. Place in an inch of boiling water in the bottom but a good saucetle, cover and steam for about fifteen minutes till tender but firm. Drain off water, cut away rest of leaves, stem and place in the center of a heated serving dish. A small chop plate makes a good background for this dramatic dish. Salt and top with a thickened mushroom sauce. Add a sprinkling of mixed cheese and bread crumbs—about 1/4 cupful grated American cheese and an equal amount of fine toast crumbs will do. Now about the mushroom sauce, just melt 1 tablespoonful butter in a saucepan, add 1 1/2 tablespoonfuls flour and blend well. Cook the roux until bubbling, then add a small canful of rich Cream of Mushroom Soup (the ready-to-serve kind) and continue cooking to the boiling point. Pour over cauliflower and there you have it!

HAVE YOU EVER TRIED . . .

... producing sandwiches on a moment's notice from supplies on hand? Blend an equal amount of seedless raisins and Peanut Butter and spread between slices of bread or graham crackers. Makes fine snacks for the young.

... dropping a clove or two of garlic in a bottle of golden Olive Oil? Let stand till well imbued with whiff of garlic, then use it in salad dressings. Keeps garlic off fingers.

... baking pork chops in the juice from a bottle of Cross Cut Sweet Pickles? Baste often to give an aromatic glaze. Grand way to use up every last drop of spicy liquor.

... enjoying your own parties? Serve simple canapés of Roquefort Spread made by blending together a wedge of Roquefort cheese, 1/2 teaspoonful nippy Prepared Brown Mustard and 1/2 teaspoonful Worcestershire Sauce. Fill up a small bowl with this spread, and place on a tray along with a plate of crackers and a row of bread and butter knives. Turn your guests loose to make their own appetizers. You'll have fun, too.

... crumbling a piece of Roquefort cheese about the size of a walnut into a tin of Cream of Tomato Soup? Makes a sharp and tasty blend.

... a cowpuncher's gullion for good solid eating? Heat together three cans of Oven-Baked Beans in Tomato Sauce (the meatless kind that comes in tins all ready for your table), a can of sturdy corned beef, 4 tablespoonfuls Tomato Ketchup and 1 teaspoonful Worcestershire Sauce. There's staple, he-man stuff for you. Try it on the Saturday night supper crowd some time soon!

SOMETHING SEASONABLE

It's time we featured strawberries now while they're still at the peak of the season. So serve them often on your menus—crushed, with cream—circled a mound of powdered sugar—larruping in and out of a shortcake—chilled in a smooth mousse—or, for something really festive, try heaping a rosy mound of lightly crushed berries in a delicate, meringue shell with a fluff of whipped cream for an airy topping. You can make the meringue shells early in the day, fix the strawberries and set them in the refrigerator to chill, and pretty well forget about dessert until the dinner hour when it's time to whip the cream. The only task at all is the meringues and they're simple done this way: Beat 6 egg whites until stiff, using a rotary egg beater. Then add 1 1/4 cupfuls sifted sugar, 2 tablespoonfuls at a time, beating after each addition. Sprinkle 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls Cider Vinegar, a few grains of salt, and 2 teaspoonfuls of vanilla over the egg mixture and continue beating enough to mix thoroughly. Now for the artistic touch! Place the meringues by spoonfuls on a pan lined with heavy waxed paper, shaping with the spoon to form round shells that are much thicker at the outer edge than in the center. Bake in a very slow oven, about 250° F. for 45 to 50 minutes. Remove from paper at once and set aside to cool.

MUSHROOM MAGNIFIED

Did you know you could make something pretty opulent looking out of a cauliflower cooked whole and masked in a mushroom sauce? Cut bottom of cauliflower stem off to within an inch from head so cauliflower will stand upright.

Removing Fragments of Crashed Plane From Peak

Flown by carrier pigeon from the mountain peak crash scene to Salt Lake City, this picture shows searchers removing top sections of the fuselage of the Western Air Express liner which crashed on Dec. 15, 1936. Lifting a ton bit here and finding matching fragments yards away along the rock-strewn slope, the workers dug into drifts slowly to reach the bodies of the seven persons who were killed in the crash. It took more than five months of intermittent searching plus a $1000 reward to find the ship. It struck just 20 feet from the summit of Lake Hardy peak, which thrusts snow-capped crags 10,650 feet into the air, 35 miles southeast of Salt Lake City.

PECAN CROP IS FAR BELOW USUAL QUOTA

Brown county's pecan crop, which reached a record production in 1935, is about 40 percent of normal at this season, and is continuing to decline, according to growers.

Unusually heavy dropping of pecans greatly reduced the crop in the last few weeks. The small nuts began to drop from the trees following the rains in the early part of the month. The case bearer, most harmful pecan insect, is doing considerable damage in the section.

Pecan harvest will begin in October.

DBC Athletic Star Accepts Place On Professional Club

Frank Coker, an all-Texas Conference tackle last season with the Daniel Baker Hill Billies, has signed a contract with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Professional Football League. Coker, whose home is in Paint Rock, weighs 225 pounds.

The team has also signed another Texas football star for next year, according to Bert Bell, coach of the professional team. He is Bill (Hoss) Hughes, 215-pound center from the University of Texas.

Hubert Davenport, a 1937 graduate of Daniel Baker College, and a three-letter man in football and basketball at the college, has been employed as athletic coach at Water Valley High School, near San Angelo.

Davenport, whose home is in Richland Springs, was a regular end on the football team last year and was captain of the Hill Billy basketball team, alternating as forward and center. He was named as the all-Texas Conference basketball team and led the loop in scoring.

Boys Bring Home Such Funny Things

By Helen Welshimer

BOYS bring home such funny things. Beetles made with crooked wings. Tadpoles in a paper cup. Rabbits with white ears turned up. And I've seen an ordered house Disarranged by one field mouse.

WHY, it should be understood That it does a small boy good To have pockets full of worms, Bugs, or anything that squirms! What makes older folks forget That a little boy needs pets?

STRIP CROPPING GETS ENTHUSIASTIC PRAISE FROM COUNTY FARMER

"In my opinion, strip crops are all right," states G. W. McHan, S. C. S. cooperater. "They hold the water. After the recent rains a combine was operated on adjacent land while the strips were still much too boggy to work in. There was also visible evidence that the thickly planted strips caught and held much of the soil in the runoff water. Last year I made more money, acre for acre, from my strips than I did from any other crop. Strips have been a little more trouble to work than unstripped land but I plan to do away with that operation next year by using 100-foot strips of grain alternated with 100 strips of clean tilled row crops on the contour."

Strips between the terraces stop erosion at its source, and keeps the soil in its original place. The practice of striping between terraces also holds the water where it falls. This fact was brought out forcibly by the recent heavy rains, when it was found that there was almost no evidence of water standing behind terraces treated in this manner. In the event of terrace failure caused by sudden heavy rains or cloudbursts, the thickly planted strips would check both water and soil, thus doing much to minimize the erosion.

Farmer Praises Work Of SCS Service Here

"The changing of a gully that was running through my farm and spreading into my cultivated land, to a fine calf pasture is the result of the pasture strip planned and sodded by the Soil Conservation Service," is the statement of Mr. E. L. Stewart, two and one-half miles northeast of Brownwood.

Mr. Stewart had one large field with a gully cutting through the center of the field. The gully had reached a stage at which it was impossible to cultivate across, being four feet deep in some places. Mr. Stewart, on playing too close found that smaller gullies had a tendency to form along the side of the main gully. He was forced to stop his plowing 25 to 50 feet from the sides, resulting in the spread of noxious weeds into his crop land. The plan to remedy this condition called for a strip of land 100 feet wide to be taken from cultivation and fenced into his pasture strip. Mr. Stewart plowed into the banks of the gully until they were approximately a four-to-one slope and did some fescue work until he had a broad swale from fence to fence with the center one and one-half feet deeper than either side. The strip was then flat broken and furrows opened across the strip at six-foot intervals, stopping within twenty feet of each side fence. Bermuda grass was transplanted in the area calculated to be covered with run-off water. The strip then was over-seeded with a mixture of Italian rye grass, oats, bur clover, and western wheat grass. The twenty-foot strips between the fences and bermuda grass were planted broadcast to oats as a border strip. Approximately six months later one-half of the field was terraced with terraces emptying into this strip giving it some 20 acres of run-off water in addition to 56 acres drainage from a neighboring farm. During the past year it has been subjected to severe rains and no damage has been done, with the grasses and clover well rooted, no washing is expected in the future.

Such fields of waste land can be changed into good pasture strips, which will also serve as an excellent protected outlets for field terraces.

PREDESTINATION

What is Predestination? What determines predestination? When does predestination cease to determine? What is a belief? When does a belief cease to be a belief? What is faith? When does faith cease to be faith? What is sin, what is wickedness?

These questions and correct answers are fundamental to an old thickheaded student of Life and the many extensions of life. Predestination is a fixity in good, made so by God putting a good quality in everything He created. Good for all forms of life. Man's destiny is pre-determined by the good or bad quality he puts in his thought and actions. A belief is based on what we conceive to be good, when one ceases to do good belief has no value. Faith is based on one's continuation in doing good unto fulfillment. Faith ceases if he stops before the job is finished. Sin is the commission of an unrighteous act. Wickedness is a continuing in unrighteousness. Will some kind friend tell me whether I am right or wrong? E. C. FAIR.

WE KNOW HOW DANGEROUS A BLOW-OUT CAN BE!

... that's why we swear by this life-saving Goodrich Tire

ARE your tires safe? Do you realize what havoc one blow-out can play with life, limb, car and pocketbook? Decide now whether it isn't wiser to come in today and let us put a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns on your car. No other tire in the world can give you the priceless protection of the Life-Saver Golden Ply, a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blow-out-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. You're protected because rubber and fabric don't separate. Dangerous heat blisters don't get a start inside the tire. And when you prevent the blister, you prevent the high-speed blow-out.

And—this is remarkable—in spite of the fact that Goodrich spent thousands of dollars to develop this life-saving invention, the Silvertown does not cost you a cent more. In fact, Silvertowns cost even less than other super-quality tires! Keep danger a stranger. See us about a set of Golden Ply Silvertowns today.

COSMETICS SHOULD BE JOY TO WOMEN, DECLARES SINGER

BY ALICIA HART

Dorothea Lawrence, attractive dark-haired concert soprano, thinks that more women should learn to enjoy cosmetics. The singer is not against the trend toward natural effects, but she does think that it can be overdone.

"A girl who really gets a thrill out of owning and using beauty preparations is more likely to be perfectly made up than one who gets an item or two only when driven to it, then puts them on with a well-I-suppose-I-had-better-take-time-out-for-this attitude. As a matter of fact, if it sets off a woman's type or makes others take notice of her, I don't object to none-too-subtle artificiality."

Miss Lawrence went on to say that she often uses nail lacquer to match her costume (black with black, blue with blue, and so on.) And she doesn't consider it one bit more unnatural than blood red, deep rust, or mauve shades. She knows that most people would be glad to argue this point, but she doesn't see why it matters so long as she keeps herself amused and doesn't hurt anyone else.

When planning a concert, Dorothea Lawrence spends as much time deciding on the right make-up as she does pondering over the correct costume.

"I think a concert singer should strive to appeal to the eye as well as to the ear of her audience. An excellent voice sounds twice as lovely if the singer behind it wears inspired clothes and makeup."

Miss Lawrence is five feet five and one-half inches tall. She weighs 119 pounds; does not pluck her eyebrows; always wears long, dangling earrings; applies rouge sparingly, lipstick lavishly. In addition to a regular dressing table, covered with all kinds of perfumes, powders, creams and tonics, she has a second dressing table in her bedroom. The top of it is covered and the drawer filled with bottles of nail polish!

Aubrey Graves Is Promoted To Editor Of Rocky Mt. News

Aubrey A. Graves, son of R. E. Graves, Brownwood railroad man, has been promoted to the position of editor-in-chief of the Rocky Mountain News at Denver, Colorado.

Graves was managing editor of the Fort Worth Press for a time, and was transferred to Denver last winter to become managing editor of the News. Previously he was employed in New York City.

The Rocky Mountain News is the oldest of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, and one of the largest in the chain.

CAR OF HEREFORDS SHIPPED TUESDAY FROM THIS COUNTY

C. V. Evans, E. W. Gill and M. E. Fry, Brown county Hereford breeders, sold a mixed car of registered polled Hereford bulls and heifers to Ray Lum of Vicksburg, Miss. Tuesday. The car of thirty animals was shipped Wednesday.

In addition to the 30 bulls and heifers, Lum, who has been buying registered Herefords from Brown county for a number of years, bought a polled Hereford bull calf from Mr. Fry to be used as a show animal.

DAVIS QUARTET SINGS

The Neil Davis quartet of Brownwood was in Dublin Wednesday night, where they sang in a contest, sponsored by the American Legion of Dublin, and were proclaimed winner by a unanimous vote.

The quartet is composed of Neil Davis, M. B. and Homer Petross and Miss Verna Mae Hall. Miss Ruth Heptinstall is accompanist for the group.

To Compile Volume Of Texas Poetry

Material for an anthology of poetry by Texas writers is being assembled for publication, to which all Texas writers are invited to contribute. Deadline date for submission of manuscripts has been announced by Tardy Publishing Co., publishers of the anthology, for September 15, 1937.

No particular style, type or verse is specified but short and medium lengths will be given preference, and while no objection is made to poems having been previously published, new work is preferred.

No letters will be answered or material returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. All manuscripts should be sent to the Tardy Publishing Co., 1023 Liberty Bank Bldg., Dallas, Texas, in care of the attention of A. C. Conner.

MT. VIEW SINGING

There will be singing at the Mt. View church Sunday afternoon, July 4, at 2:30 o'clock. All visitors and singers are urged and welcomed to attend.

Inspector Calls Attention to New State Foods Law

Copy of a recently-passed state law with reference to health certificates for food handlers has been received by J. M. McGhee, city milk, food and drug inspector. McGhee asks that owners of local food establishments meet the requirements as inspections by state agents will probably be made soon.

The law reads as follows:

"No person, firm, corporation or association operating, managing or conducting any hotel, restaurant, dining car, soda water fountain, liquor dispensary or any other establishment where food or drink of any kind is served or permitted to be served, or operating any dairy, creamery, meat market, abattoir, packing plant, bakery, candy factory, cannery, cold storage, pecan shelling establishment, vegetable market, or any factory, or other place where food is stored, packed, prepared, or otherwise handled in this State, shall work, employ or keep in their employ, in or about any said place, or deliver any article of food therefrom, any person infected with or affected by any infectious or contagious disease, or work or employ any person to work in or about any said place, or deliver any article of food therefrom, who at the time of his employment has not in his possession a certificate signed by a legally licensed physician residing in the county where said person is to be employed, or is employed, attesting the fact that the bearer has been examined by such physician within one week prior to the time of employment, and that such examination disclosed the fact that such person to be employed was free from any infectious or contagious disease, or fail to institute and have made medical examinations of all such employees at intervals not exceeding six months and after such examinations promptly discharged from their employment in or about any said place any and all persons found to be infected with or affected by any infectious or contagious disease.

"Whoever violates any provision of this Act shall be fined not less than $5 and not more than $100."

WOODLAND HEIGHTS SINGING

Singing will be held at Woodland Heights at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, July 4. Singers and pianists are invited to attend.

New Bale Tag Will Improve Cotton In Texas, Says Ginman

A new type of bale tag, developed and tested by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, is destined to make a major contribution to improvement of Texas cotton, in the opinion of F. E. Lichte, ginning specialist of the Texas Extension Service.

The bale tag is made of indestructible metal on which is stamped the symbol which permanently identifies the bale. The tag is attached to a heavy 28 inch wire, which is laid in the bale by stopping the trampler momentarily when the bale is half completed. When the bale is taken from the press, the tag is pulled through the bagging.

The tag, which is a public patent, was tried in the field during the 1936-37 season and was found to be satisfactory.

While the use of the tag at present is on a voluntary basis, Lichte points out that the device has many potential benefits. One of the chief ones may be as a trade mark for one variety cotton communities. The tag should result in lower fire insurance rates, he believes as it will constitute a record of bales lost in fires.

Spinners and exporters will welcome the wide use of the tag, as it will enable them to trace plated and other types of bales against which a claim has been lodged.

Cooling System Is Installed at First Baptist Church Here

Congregation of the First Baptist Church enjoyed for the first time Sunday the church's new air conditioning system, installed recently by an Abilene engineering firm.

First Baptist is the first church in Brownwood and in this section to install a cooling system. Only a few churches in Texas have such equipment.

The system circulates 50,000 cubic feet of cleaned and washed air per minute through the auditorium.

Merchants Will Observe July 5 As Holiday Here

Brownwood merchants will observe Monday, July 5 as a holiday, since July 4, one of the five holidays in the year on which the local stores are closed, comes on Sunday.

Independence Day is designated by Brownwood Merchants Association along with Christmas, Thanksgiving, Armistice Day and San Jacinto Day as the holidays for local observance.

LAKE BROWNWOOD TO DRAW MAJORITY OF CITIZENS ON FOURTH

Although the shores of Lake Brownwood will claim a majority of Brownwood citizens staying close to home to celebrate the Fourth of July, attractions in surrounding towns within a hundred mile radius will draw many.

Brady's twelfth Annual July Jubilee and Race meet will be officially opened Saturday night, July 3, when the Queen's coronation ceremonies will be held at Richards Park. Horse racing and rodeos, in which $800 in cash will be awarded star performances, will be features of the celebration. More than 50,000 persons are expected to attend the regular Jubilee festivities from July 5-7.

Eastland will open its new WPA municipal park and swimming pool to the public on July 3 for three days of celebration, including bathing beauty revues, dances, band and choral concerts, and many other entertainment features.

Miss Cleco will be chosen at a preliminary bathing beauty revue at Cleco on Saturday night, July 3. The girl chosen will represent her town in the Oil Belt beauty contest to be held on Monday evening, July 5. A water pageant will be held Sunday night, July 4.

Dr. Mayo Elected Lions President

Dr. O. N. Mayo was installed as new president of the Brownwood Lions Club Tuesday.

Other new officers are R. R. Holloway, first vice-president; Dr. C. C. Bullard, second vice-president; H. H. Gibbs, third vice-president; O. L. Billingsley, secretary; U. R. Groom, secretary; A. G. Davidson, hon. tamer; H. G. Wilson, tall twister; R. A. Ellis, and D. C. Pratt, directors. B. A. Fain and Dr. J. M. Horn are holdover directors.

Scholastics In County Increase

Showing a gain of 56 students for 1937-38 over the 1936-37 total of 6,133 students, Brown county's scholastic population is 6,189 for the approaching school term.

Official approval of the census was received from the State Department of Education Monday by County Superintendent F. D. Pierce.

Totals for the county and the two independent districts in the county are: county, 2,901 students; Brownwood, 2,880; Bangs, 405. Totals for 1936-37 were: county, 2,184; Brownwood, 2,894; Bangs, 398.

State funds are allotted to schools on the basis of the number of persons of scholastic age in the various districts.

RIPPETOE TO BEGIN SINGING SCHOOL AT BLANKET ON JULY 5

Ernest Rippetoe will begin a 10-day singing school at Blanket, Monday, July 5. Mr. Rippetoe is one of the leading music teachers in Texas having taught schools all over Texas as well as in several other states. He has just completed a school with V. O. Stamps at Dallas, Texas.

People of this section are fortunate to have the opportunity of attending a music school of this type, under the direction of Mr. Rippetoe. Sight singing, piano accompaniment and voice will be included in the instructions. The price for this school will be $2 per pupil.

WPA Approval of County-wide Road Project Granted

Eliminating the necessity of securing approval in Washington of various small, individual projects, the Works Progress Administration has approved a county-wide road project for Brown county, according to notice received by Commissioners' Court from the district WPA office in San Angelo.

Under the project, a commissioner may submit his road project to the district office and have it approved within a short time by the state office in San Antonio without having to send it to Washington. Under this plan the commissioner does not have to specify the exact road and location for the work, but may have the work done where it is most needed in his precinct.

If a commissioner receives approval under the county-wide project for caliche surfacing of 10 miles of lateral roads he may put down a mile of surfacing in one part of the precinct and five miles in another part.

Under the former individual project system he had to specify the road on which the work was to be done and had to separate the project for each small job.

Santa Fe Moves Wegner To Paris

M. P. Wegner, agent for the Santa Fe in Brownwood until recently, left this week for Paris, Texas, where he will assume duties as joint freight and passenger agent for the Santa Fe and Frisco lines.

Wegner was succeeded here by J. H. Forgey, former Frisco agent, when the two lines were merged by the Santa Fe's purchase of the Fort Worth & Rio Grande. Forgey has been serving as a special assistant of J. S. Purdy, division freight agent, since that time.

COUNCIL VOTES TO INSTALL PARKING METERS IN CITY

First step in securing parking meters for Brownwood streets was taken by City Council Monday night when the organization passed an ordinance providing for installation of 400 of the meters.

The ordinance will have to be passed on two more separate readings before it becomes effective.

The meters would be purchased from the McCammon and Thomas Company of Dallas, and would be paid for from parking charge receipts. The parking charge would be five cents for two hours. Streets on which the meters would be placed have not yet been designated by the Council.

Mrs. E. J. Woodward Wins Golf Tourney

Mrs. E. J. Woodward, finalist in the 1936 tournament, emerged as the annual tournament of the Brownwood Women's Golf Association which ended Saturday.

Mrs. Woodward captured the 1937 title by defeating Miss Genevieve McInroe 2 up on the 18-hole final match of the championship flight.

The club's trophy and other prizes were presented in an informal supper at the club house Saturday night.

Clock Contest Is Staged by Lyric

A "Ship's Clock" contest, with an award of tickets to the Lyric Theatre to those who can guess nearest the time the ship's clock will stop, is being conducted by the theatre in connection with the showing of "Captain's Courageous" Sunday and Monday. The clock will be started at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

A Ship's Clock has been placed in the show window of Armstrong Jewelry Store. The person guessing nearest the time the clock will stop will receive 6 guest tickets to the Lyric. Second prize will be four tickets; third, three tickets and fourth, fifth and sixth, two tickets each.

Guesses may be left at the Lyric boxoffice or the jewelry store.

DO YOUR FEET HURT?

CORNS? here's WHY

Corns return again and again unless you remove the cause, which is lack of support under the Vital Outer Arch of your foot. This leads to friction between toes and the inside of your shoe.

Due to short fitting and lack of control at the heel, your feet slip forward into the forepart of your shoe.

HEALTH SPOT SHOES support the Vital Outer Arch of your foot and control it at the inner curve of your heel, thus preventing friction on tender foot tissues.
