

Farmers Seek To Avert Damage by Insects to Crops

Best Crops in Years Are Being Threatened by Grasshopper Menace

In order to avert a threatened loss of crops in this section through destruction by grasshoppers, Brown county farmers began this week waging a war against insects, and taking precautionary steps to save what has been called the best crops for this area in years.

County Agent C. W. Lehmburg announced today that a shipment of bran has arrived for use of farmers in the fight, but the sodium arsenate, with which to treat it, has not yet been received. The bran and poison will be distributed as soon as the latter arrives. Notice will be given through the newspapers and by letters to the farmers, Lehmburg said.

Each farmer who wishes poison for grasshoppers can get 50 per cent of the amount of bran and poison needed from the federal allotment. He will be required to furnish the remaining half himself. The farmer will also furnish the other ingredients for the poison mixture, such as Amyl Acetate and black strap molasses.

Farmers who wish to secure bran and poison are asked to make application at the county agent's office at once. Other farmers whose crops are being damaged by grasshoppers and who are able to buy bran and poison without waiting for the government are urged by Mr. Lehmburg to go ahead with poisoning work now.

Formula Given

The west and northwest section of Brown county are now suffering the heaviest damage from grasshoppers, but the insects are spreading into other sections.

Following is the poison bran mash formula given by the county agent:

One hundred pounds of coarse wheat bran; 5 lbs. of Paris Green or White Arsenic; 4 ounces of good clear Amyl Acetate (avoid cheap, ready mixed bronzing liquids); 2 gallons black strap molasses; 2 gallons water (approximately).

Thoroughly mix poison and bran together. Mix the liquid ingredients together and then add the dry ingredients and stir thoroughly. Add more water if necessary. The mixture should be thoroughly moist but not so wet and sloppy but that it will readily fall apart in flakes when thrown from the hand. Scatter this broadcast so that the amount mentioned in the formula will evenly cover twenty acres of infested area. More than this is a waste.

Some don'ts: Don't use lead arsenate or calcium arsenate. Don't use corn syrup. Don't place the mash in piles or lines.

County Ranchmen to Attend Round-Up at Sonora, June 24-25

A large group of Brown county ranchmen and county agent C. W. Lehmburg will attend the ninth annual Ranchmen's Roundup to be held at the ranch experiment station at Sonora, June 24 and 25.

Subjects to be discussed at the roundup include range contouring, water conservation, eradication of range destroying weeds, organization of cattlemen and sheepmen, diseases of livestock in West Texas, feeding cattle and lambs and screw worm control.

Speakers will be experts from A. & M. College experiment stations, and the federal department of agriculture.

BANK NIGHTS ARE POSTPONED HERE

Brownwood merchants and theater managers have unanimously decided to stop at once all cash prize awards and merchandise distribution plans.

"After mature deliberation, in deference to the legal interpretation of the courts and to the enforcement officers of this state, we hereby announce that bank nights will be discontinued indefinitely until such time as their legal status is finally determined," announced Lew Bray, manager of the Lyric theater.

L. D. Brown, manager of the Queen and Gem theaters, made a similar statement. Joe F. Renfro, of the Regro Drug Company stated that last week's drawing for a cash award in the local stores of his organization would be the last. The award has been made upon a weekly basis.

Weakley-Watson-Miller Hardware Company, who have made weekly cash awards for some time, discontinued the plan.

Gus J. Rosenberg, whose men's store makes a monthly merchandise award, will stop the plan upon conclusion of the current drawing.

The Supreme Court of Texas recently upheld the allegation of forced declaring bank nights to be lotteries, and therefore, illegal.

NRS Assists Farmers In Securing Workers

With seasonal labor on Brown county farms reaching a peak late this month and during the early part of July, the local National Reemployment Service office, 104 Main Avenue, is assisting farmers and aiding local unemployed men by finding them jobs on farms.

The local office is opened at 6:45 in the morning, and a farmer who needs workers may call at the office, telephone, or leave word with the NRS officials as to the number of workers he wants. Only local qualified workers are referred to the jobs.

Fifty-three farm labor placements were made by the NRS last week. Most of the farm work now is in the grain fields, but many men are being employed to chop cotton, pick beans, or harvest other truck crops.

The NRS has made available to employers and employees a service without charge to bridge the gap of an unfilled job and an unemployed person. The service has registered, besides farm workers, housekeepers, yard workers, window cleaners, carpenters, rockmasons, clerical workers, and many other types of applicants. Telephone number at the office is 85.

Agriculture Council Discusses New Farm Programs Saturday

Brown County Agricultural Council at a meeting Saturday discussed a long-time agricultural program. The proposed 1938 AAA program was discussed and compared to the 1937 program, but few changes were recommended.

One recommendation was that inter-planted legumes be accepted as an approved soil building practice in Brown county. Another was that grain sorghum planted in rows and plowed under or left on the land be considered soil conserving. Neither practice is accepted in this year's program.

TEXAS CONGRESSMAN ASKS PARITY LOANS FOR COTTON GROWERS

Johnson Asserts Prices Will Decrease If Farmers Forced To Market

If Texas farmers are forced to dump their crop onto the market immediately after its harvest, there will be a marked drop in prices to the growers despite the conservation program, declared Representative Lyndon B. Johnson in a request this week to the Farm Credit Administration for the re-establishment of federal loans on cotton approaching a parity price.

The Texas Congressman is of the opinion that the administration has authority already to make the loans up to between 80 and 90 per cent of the posted parity price, but suggested that if this authority does not now exist, the FCA prepare legislation for immediate submission to Congress.

Conservation Insufficient
Writing to FCA heads, Johnson said in part:

"Our soil conservation act has not realized all that was desired in that our farmers still receive considerably less than parity prices for their products. I believe it very necessary that the Farm Credit Administration provide facilities for loans to cotton producers who are co-operating in the soil conservation act so that a forced movement of cotton will not result just as soon as it is gathered.

"If it could be arranged so that our farmers could secure loans on their cotton on a minimum base of say 80 or 90 per cent of the posted parity price, this would result in a free movement of cotton over the entire marketing year, rather than having it all dumped on the market at about the same time, thus reducing the price paid to our farmers.

"I urge that you give this matter your immediate attention and if you find it impossible for your administration to extend the necessary aid, then I hope you will suggest, by way of recommendation to the proper congressional committees, that legislation specifically in this connection be considered before the adjournment of the present session of Congress."

Captain Hasie Is Stationed at CCC Soil Camp Here

Command of the CCC soil conservation camp on Fourth Street was assumed this week by Captain Coleman L. Hasie, who was formerly stationed at Dallas.

WHEAT CROP IN BROWN CO. TO BRING FARMERS NEARLY HALF MILLION REVENUE THIS SEASON

A wheat crop which will bring almost half a million dollars to Brown county farmers from that crop alone is now being harvested and agricultural experts declare that the quality of the wheat is the best seen in this section in many seasons.

Farmers state that the yield is unusually high — averaging more than 15 bushels to the acre. Daily wheat receipts by Brownwood grain dealers are averaging about 10,000 bushels, and the heavy marketing season will continue for about ten days. Already about 75,000 bushels of Brown County wheat has been marketed here.

According to estimates, the total yield for the county will be between 150,000 and 200,000 bushels, to be harvested from approximately 15,000 acres. Average price being paid for wheat here is 95 cents per bushel.

Nearly the entire crop is being harvested with combines. Threshers began operation last week. Farm machinery dealers here have done a booming business as a result of this year's heavy crop. One local firm reports the sale of 22 combines. Other dealers also report heavy sales.

Farmers state that oats and barley crops are light in the county this year. The oats crop will total from 100,000 to 150,000 bushels on 5,000 acres. Market quotation on oats is 30 to 35 cents per bushel and on barley is 50 to 55 cents per bushel.

Hundreds of workers in the county are receiving employment in the grain fields at present.

A New Feature

This week The Brownwood Banner presents a new editorial feature—"The March of Time." This feature, on page 1 this week, will be found in the future on the editorial page.

It is prepared by the editors of Time, the weekly newsmagazine, which has gained wide popularity in the past few years, and which is doing a splendid job of bringing to American reading public a concise summary of the week's news, tersely written, amazingly accurate and strictly impartial.

This same service is now available to readers of The Banner each week. We feel that it will prove a popular addition to this newspaper. Comments from readers now, or in the future, are invited.

Unexpected Fishing Trip

WASHINGTON.—Shortly after John Nance Garner emerged from a tete-a-tete with Franklin Roosevelt one day last week came inconsequential news that the Vice President was going fishing in Texas, off for an indefinite vacation of two to six weeks. But Jack Garner is one of the President's chief behind-scenes wirepullers, an arranger of neat political compromises, and he had never before done anything of this kind while Congress was in session. Moreover, the Executive department reorganization, wages and hours, and taxloophole-plugging bills were on the way, and the Supreme Court enlargement bill was expected to produce such a fight that perhaps the Vice President's vote and certainly his influence would be needed.

The Senate Judiciary Committee's majority report, presented to the Senate the day after Jack Garner departed, read: "We recommend the rejection of this bill as a needless, futile, and utterly dangerous abandonment of Constitutional principle. It is a proposal without precedent and without justification. . . . It is a measure which should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free people of America."

That Jack Garner was excused from duty by the President at so crucial a moment was therefore attributed to one of two reasons: Either the Vice President had grown more and more to side with those "free representatives" who want to kick over New Deal traces, or President and Vice President neither expected nor hoped to win action on the Supreme Court or any

Steel Tempers

MONROE, Mich.—Biggest development in John L. Lewis' war on Steel last week was the first appearance of signs that the public was ready to demand law and order and defend the right to work. At Canton, Ohio, anti-strike sentiment quickened when three clerical men, employed to count returns in the Commerce Chamber's poll of 6,465 steel workers by mail, reported 3,633 votes for returning to work, and 216 for continuing the strike—a majority, although 2,516 ballots were discarded as palpable forgeries, because they were not printed on the same paper as those mailed out.

In Monroe, Mich., the city election commission polled workers of the Newton Steel Co.—a small Republic Steel subsidiary from which pickets barred all non-strikers—found that although the Steel Workers Organizing Committee had advised its members not to vote 85% favored a return to work and 20 did not—a clear majority of the plant's 1,322 workers, Mayor Daniel A. Knaegs therefore announced that the plant would be opened, dispatched a motley army of police, barless youngsters, grizzled laborer and husky War veterans to rout the pickets holding the one road leading to the mill. Although the pickets brandished clubs in defiance for two hours, police and deputies finally marched up six abreast delivered two well-aimed volleys of vomiting gas grenades, sent them scurrying over the fields.

Millis that were still operating last week Union leaders hoped to soon to close by shutting off their one supplies from Michigan, their coal supplies from Pennsylvania, and by having automobile workers refuse to use the steel sheets from such mills as Newton Steels. The apparent trend of public opinion in the steel towns, not only embittered union men but indicated that attempts would soon be made to open other plants besides the one at Monroe.

Meanwhile, John L. Lewis broadened his steel front by calling a strike in Bethlehem's Cambria Mill at Johnstown, Pa., proceeded to call other strikes in 17 coal mines owned by Republic, Youngstown and Bethlehem.

"All of Us"
PHILADELPHIA.—Respected alike by lovers and haters of the New Deal is Texas' level-headed, 230-lb. Tycoon Jesse Holman Jones, who last week received an LL. D. from Philadelphia's Temple University, arose to his full six foot three inches to expound a practical man's reasons for supporting the New Deal:

"We still have unemployment and the Government is still being called upon to do many things that should be done by private enterprise. There is a limit to what the Government can do, or what it should be required to do, but no one should be allowed to suffer from want. People

LOW INTEREST RATES DEMANDED BY GRANGE

Farm Loans and Legislation For Tenants Are Favored By Agriculture Body

Federal farm loans at 3 1/2 per cent interest and legislation enabling worthy tenants to become land owners were two items of the 7-point program sent to Congress late last week by the executive committee of the Grange, national farm organization.

The committee submitted the report following the adjournment of the summer meeting of the organization in Los Angeles, and also went on record against President Roosevelt's proposed Supreme Court organization. The Grange claims more than 800,000 members.

The board program urged upon Congress was:

1. Federal farm loans at 3 1/2 per cent interest.
2. Legislation enabling worthy tenants to become land owners.
3. Continued soil conservation legislation; crop insurance and ever-normal granary laws to protect the family-size farm; maximum farm control in all rural legislation.
4. Opposition to the Pettingill bill in its present form.
5. Legislation giving American farmers the American market on all crops sufficiently produced in this country.
6. More money for vocational education, extension and research.
7. Louis J. Taber, of Columbus, O., national master, announced the Grange "will continue to urge defeat of the proposal for reorganization of the judiciary. The Grange is more strongly unified in favor of an independent judiciary than on any question in 50 years."

Taber left recently for an inspection trip through Texas and the corn belt.

SENATOR'S EFFORTS TO SECURE CONSERVATION MEASURE ARE LAUDED

Efforts of Senator E. M. Davis of Brownwood to effect favorable legislation on a state-wide soil conservation bill during the last regular and special sessions of the Legislature are lauded in the current issue of West Texas Today, publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The WTCC at its convention here in May went on record as strongly favoring the Davis Bill.

Reference is made to Senator Davis in the magazine as follows: "Speaking of credit where due, West Texas Today has received this telegram from Clint Small, West state senator:

"During the course of my remarks on the soil conservation bill, I had this to say concerning my colleague, Senator Davis:

"Mr. President, there is one member of the Senate, who, by reason of his untiring efforts to obtain passage of a soil conservation bill, has earned the eternal gratitude of the people of Texas.

"I refer to my good friend, Senator Eph Davis from Brown county. He, above all other members of the Legislature, has labored day and night for a real conservation bill, and I avail myself of this opportunity to say that he has discharged a most difficult task in a most efficient and commendable manner.

"I hope this Senate gives recognition to the faithful service of Senator Davis by casting a unanimous vote for this bill, because my friend has set in motion a conservation movement that will result in untold benefit to this and succeeding generations."

Work Started On Clio Schoolhouse

Workmen Tuesday morning started improvement work on the Clio school building, which will cost $7,000. The school district recently voted bonds to finance the improvement work.

Part of the present building will be torn down and the rest will be moved to a new location on a six-acre tract one-fourth mile east of state highway 23 at Owens.

Additions will be built to the structure that is moved and the new Clio school building will have a large auditorium, four classrooms, a book room and an office.

USE COLORFUL SUMMER VEGETABLES TO ADVANTAGE WITH THESE RECIPES

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox

Raw winds make chapped hands but raw vegetables bring smooth skin. Now that summer vegetables begin to brighten the market, add them to your daily salads for the sake of both tastier meals, more vigorous health and better looks.

Cottage Cheese and Raw Carrot Salad
(6 servings)
One package salad gelatin, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons minced onion, 1 cup cottage cheese, 1 cup raw grated carrots, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley.

Dissolve salad gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water, lemon juice, salt and onion. Chill until it begins to thicken, then add all the remaining ingredients, mix well, and pour into ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on large plate and fill center with cold salad greens, endive, chicory and water-cress mixed lightly with French dressing.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Stewed rhubarb and strawberries, broiled ham, toast, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Clear beef broth, raw vegetable and fruit salad.

French dressing, melba toast, ginger bread with whipped cream.

DINNER: Fricassee of veal, new potatoes in parsley butter, green beans, watercress and scallion salad, apricot upside down cake, coffee, milk.

Pinwheel Salad
(6 servings)
Twenty-four perfect lettuce cups, 1 1/2 cups each of chopped raw peas, shredded raw carrots, chopped raw cauliflower and chopped raw spinach, 1 cup sliced raw strawberries, 1/2 cup chopped nuts and 1 package cream cheese.

In center of each salad plate, make a small low ring of mixed cheese and chopped nuts worked smooth with a little cream. In the center of this ring place the colorful sliced strawberries. Arrange the four lettuce cups at equal intervals about the ring. In separate cups place peas, spinach, carrots and cauliflower. Serve with a bowl of lightly seasoned French dressing made with lemon juice and oil.

Pineapple Garden Basket
(1 serving)
One half small ripe pineapple, 1 tablespoon cubed apple, 1 tablespoon shredded cucumber, 1/4 green pepper cut in long thin strips, 1 tablespoon broken orange pulp.

Scoop out center of pineapple and shred fruit. Mix with all other ingredients and lightly refill the pineapple shell with this refreshing mixture. Serve with a light french dressing or with a light sour cream dressing.

These salads served with thin slices of dried toast or with any of the commercial non-fattening wafers, make ideal diet luncheons for those who seek to keep the weight down and the health up during hot weather.

IF THE YOLK IS ALMOST SPHERICAL, THAT EGG IS The Picture of Freshness

Pictures of the freshness of an egg may sound fantastic, but here they are, made by Cornell University researchers and showing four degrees of freshness. At upper left is a fancy egg. Note the spherical appearance of the yolk, how the white hugs it closely. Grade A (upper right) has a white that spreads out more, a yolk just slightly flattened. In Grade B eggs (lower left) the yolk retains its roundness but is noticeably flat, with white much more runny. The irregular shape of the white, the flat and distorted yolk tip off the presence of Grade C and older eggs.

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox

Don't get caught in any kitchen shell game. The only thing that makes an egg fresh is freshness. How tell when an egg is truly fresh? Dr. Alfred Van Wagenen and Dr. H. S. Wilgus, Jr., of Cornell University actually photographed freshness in "the broken out condition" of eggs.

When an egg is broken out on a flat surface, you can detect its freshness. If the yolk stands up, almost spherically, with the white, firm and jelly like, closely about it, then it is the best possible egg.

On the other hand, as revealed by the Cornell photographs, if, when the egg is broken out, the yolk is considerably flattened and the white watery and spread over the plate, it is just an average grade "C" egg.

Fresh eggs are delicacies that rate delicate treatment. As per example:

Egg Nest on Shrimp
(Individual serving)
One egg, 1 round of freshly made toast, 1 tablespoon shrimp paste, salt and pepper.

Separate yolk from white, keeping yolk unbroken. Beat white and season. Make round of toast and spread white hot with 1 tablespoon shrimp paste. Make a mound on toast of stiffly beaten egg white, shaping out well in center. Carefully slide unbroken yolk into this well. Dot with butter. Cook in hot oven for a few minutes until yolk is set. Serve immediately.

Shrimp Paste
Chop fresh cooked or glassed shrimp very fine. Add butter and lemon juice and work to paste. Season with a little condensed tomato condiment. Do not have too moist.

Eggs Poached in Cream
(Six Servings)
Six eggs, 1 pint of cream, 1-2 cup grated American cheese, salt and pepper, paprika.

Heat cream in poaching pan, but do not boil. Break in whole eggs, add cheese and seasoning. Keep fire low and spoon cream over eggs until set. Serve on toast with the cream and cheese sauce.

can have an interesting yard, quoted Miss Mayesie Malone, county home demonstration agent, at the home of Mrs. B. E. Boler Tuesday afternoon, June 15.

The family will be using the yard for resting, working, cooking and eating, playing and entertaining.

Resting, perhaps, is one of the chief uses of the yard. Since one can rest most and best lying down, yard furniture should include some of the reclining type. A hammock is a very fine lay piece of furniture, and one can easily be made from barrel staves. Put a hole in the center of each end of the stave, then double lace with a wire and swing between two trees. A thin mattress and pillow will complete the hammock.

In placing yard furniture try to arrange it so it will offer a real invitation to sit and rest and enjoy some pleasing view.

The next meeting of the club will be July 6 in the home of Mrs. A. B. Briley. Subject: Beautifying Country Homes.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames O. L. Pierce, Andrew Stewart, B. E. Boler, Will Duns-worth, Dee Stevens, C. B. Branum, Hamilton, A. B. Briley, and Miss Mayesie Malone.

Zephyr Ball Club Defeats Winchell

In a one-sided baseball game Sunday afternoon at Zephyr, Winchell lost to Zephyr by a score of 15-4. The winners ran up three scores in the first inning and added to the lead in successive frames. Winchell scored its four runs in the last two innings.

Morris, Polk, Whitey Morris and Darwin Cornelius were on the mound for Zephyr. Voegel and Rice hurled for the losers. Polk and Tom Wilson of the Zephyr team connected for home runs.

THIS OIL BUSINESS

Oil is Texas' major source of wealth. Unheard of 50 years ago, the Texas oil business today contributes directly or indirectly to the success of every other business activity in the state. The Humble Company is in the oil business; it produces oil, refines it into motor fuels, motor oils and other products, and markets these through Humble service stations and Humble-dealers. It knows what this oil business means to Texas, but more than that—it realizes what Texas means to this oil business. The appreciation of this fact stands behind Humble's policy of continuous improvement, behind the unexcelled service the Texas motorist finds in Humble service stations.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

These hints were given in a demonstration on "furnishing the yard" by Miss Mayesie Malone, County Home Demonstration Agent, to the members and guests of the Zephyr Home Demonstration Club, at the home of Mrs. R. H. Scott, Wednesday afternoon, June 16.

Brie-a-brac in yard is as out of place as it is in the house. Green frogs, and rabbits, little painted wooden boys and girls watering the flowers, gnomes and cupids are seldom, if ever, in good taste. It is far better to spend one's time, money, and energy in making bird baths, and rabbit hutches and sand piles for living pets and children.

Bangs

"If you like plants, you can easily get scientific information about them; if you learn to appreciate them in their native places and help others to enjoy them, we may continue to have them... otherwise, the time may come when we have plants only in yards and parks," according to Onah Jacks, Extension Specialist in Landscape Gardening, whose lecture on "Texas Shrubs, Their Looks and Legends," was discussed at the meeting of the Bangs Home Demonstration Club, in the home of Miss Myrtle Gaines, June 15.

As you learn to appreciate the beauty of plants, you will remember that in transplanting them that they need to have the very best consideration in the matter of soil and care if they are to turn out well.

There were eight members present at the last meeting, Tuesday, July 6, the club will meet with Mrs. Henry Morgan, the program scheduled for "Outdoor Games."

DON E STEWART, MANAGER

IF YOUR MIND IS ALWAYS BUSY, YOU WILL SUCCEED, SAYS HELEN

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

Stopped on the street and asked whether they considered college education important or if they believed that a girl should concentrate on obtaining a husband as soon as she reached the age of 18, the girls of an eastern metropolis displayed their modern viewpoint. They voted for college.

They insisted that in this new economic set-up a woman must keep pace mentally with her husband. To cook his food, mend his socks and be an ever-present refuge in time of depreciating stocks or lost jobs is not enough.

There was a time in the past when they stayed at home and let men bring them the news of the world. When we consider the recent activities of women on the picket lines where strikers gather, we realize how widely the feminine scope has spread. Whether or not one approves of their action, the vitality of their interest can not be challenged.

Moral of Keeping Busy

Peggy Wood, well-known to movie and theater goers, who has won acclaim as an author and radio star as well, in commenting on the success women now achieve, gives some pertinent advice.

She says: "Take on more than you can do. If your mind is always busy it will accomplish more than if it has periods with nothing to do. Keep running after yourself, chasing your dream."

Perhaps the change in the manner of living today is prophetic of the change in the manner of working. Gone are the large houses with the garrets and closets that were catch-alls for every half-worn pair of overshoes, and every yard of calico that might come in handy some day. Today we do not accumulate possessions. We have no space for which we live.

Likewise, educators suggest that our minds toss away the impediments that clog. They make us trip mentally as we try to think through the great issues of the day. Furthermore, they cover up and conceal the real fruits of wisdom and intuition that are part of our heritage.

Treasure Beneath Rubbish

Not long ago a woman who had let debris gather in her garret decided to have a house-cleaning. To her amazement she discovered a genuine Holbein valued at $45,000. It had been there for a long time, but she nor anyone else who had been mistress of that garret had known it. The treasure was buried under useless impediments.

The divorce pattern of the day is woven with many threads that go back to incidents where a man has kept his mind flexible and limber, while a woman has permitted her thoughts to crystallize around the house that he gave her to keep.

Certainly a woman who is left alone with a well-scrubbed hearth after years of devotion, is to be pitied. She is to be pitied not only for her loneliness, but for the misguidance of her talents. In this day when women no longer have to make their own candles and soap, fill the lanterns, and carry water, a larger amount of time is released for mental improvement, economic and civic interest.

Youth Was Right

An active participation in the affairs of the day is not at all important. Many men dislike it. A vicarious one, which enables a woman to discuss the events of the changing moment is exceedingly important.

Therefore, the girls who told the inquiring reporter that they believe in self improvement, answered with wisdom that is characteristic of our demanding age. If we could look ahead a decade or so, some part of the predicted lowered divorce rate might be attributed to this practical slant on the problems of living, which the 18 and 20 year olds of today are adopting.

Joel Chandler Harris, author of many tales of Negro folklore, wrote 40 volumes. He was a native of Georgia.

These attractive young women inaugurated, on June 14th, Courier-Nurse service on the Santa Fe's Scout, solid tourist Pullman and coach economy train between Chicago and California. Each a registered, graduate nurse, they will take care of children traveling alone, help mothers with infants, give special attention to elderly people and invalids, and be available for any emergency. In addition, the girls have taken a special training course to enable them to furnish interesting and authentic information as to history and scenic attractions along the Santa Fe route.

dard loans are based on a live-at-home budget. Unless families are equipped to conserve a minimum of 100 quarts of vegetables, 30 quarts of fruits, and 70 pounds of meat per person, they have to buy these items with funds which should go to repay their loans, or purchase necessities which cannot be produced on the farm.

The home supervisor states that it will take an equivalent of 100,000 quart containers for the 103 Resettlement families in this county to fill their annual food budgets. If weather conditions make for good gardens, more than this will be stored, as many families are making an effort to conserve enough food for two years—just in case there is another drought.

Funds had already been appropriated in the original 1937 loans to purchase approximately 27,000 cans and jars.

It COSTS LESS to Use Good Paint

Only experts can judge the quality of paint by its composition and appearance. The average buyer of paint can only determine two all-important questions to make sure that he is getting "his money's worth."

1. How many square feet will a gallon of paint cover?
2. How many years will a coat of paint last?

The price per gallon is only of relative importance because, judged by the standard of dependable quality, a low price for a poor paint is usually a wasteful extravagance.

When buying paint it is well to bear in mind that the paint costs only from 25% to 35% of the total price of the average painting job. The labor costs from 65% to 75%. The paint which avoids the need for repainting for the longest period of time is by far the cheaper to use. GOOD PAINT is always a sound investment because it lasts longer, protects better and looks well long after poor paint has worn off.

MEN, NOT WOMEN, ARE THE "WEAKER SEX", RESEARCH IN COUNTY'S CASES REVEALS

Arm women really the "weaker sex?"

Physically, perhaps—but not mentally, if one goes by the records of lunacy and feeble-mindedness cases recorded in County Clerk Vernon Green's office.

Out of the 27 such cases recorded by Brown county since January 1, 1936 to the present date, only 12 were women.

Interviews with most of the employees at the court house brought a variety of theories from the women as to the reason for the percentage, but the men were unanimous in their verdict—that the only possible reason for such a state of affairs is that women simply drive the men that way.

Financial worries and family responsibilities were offered as reasons, but County Judge A. E. Nabors blasted those with the grave remark that over half the cases tried were persons in their early twenties, usually with no heavy responsibilities.

Expensive Cases

Lunacy cases are expensive to the county. The average cost of such a trial is from $40 to $50, and a few years ago was around $100, when the old fee system for county officials was in effect. In addition, if the mentally ill person's family is unable to provide him with necessary clothing when he is committed to an asylum, the county furnishes that.

A bill passed during the last regular session of the Texas Legislature, provides that an alleged insane person may be sent to a state institution for 90-days' observation without cost to the county. Only preliminary hearing is made before the county judge, and not a 5-man jury, as was formerly the case.

Until his papers are approved, a person convicted of feeble-mindedness must be confined to the county jail. His period of confinement there does not usually exceed ten or twelve days, according to Judge Nabors.

HOMEMAKERS UNDER RESETTLEMENT BUY CANNING SUPPLIES

Every Resettlement homemaker in the county now owns or has available complete equipment with which to fill her canning budget, as a result of supplemental loans totaling $1,956.50 which were recently made. This money was used to purchase 12 cookers, 12 sealers, and 12,000 cans and jars. It was a part of a special appropriation of $100,000 made to Oklahoma when original allocations proved insufficient to cover canning equipment for all Resettlement families.

Cricket B. Shankle, county home management supervisor, who is in charge of all gardening and home-making activities of Resettlement families, said all Resettlement stan-

Safeguarding Candidates

Legislators in Austin this week proposed a measure which would make it unlawful for candidates for office to make contributions to charitable organizations or individuals after the candidate had announced for office. Ruled out of order once, the proposed law regained a place on the calendar, although it has slight chance of passage at the present special session.

Introduction of the bill, however, tends to throw the spotlight upon a practice which in many communities has become objectionable to those who seek public office. Its greatest danger does not lie in the comparatively small amount that the candidates contribute to worthy causes, but the possibility that dishonest individuals and minor racketeers might take advantage of the cautious attitude of most candidates that makes them easy marks for contributions to almost any cause.

Fortunately candidates for office in most sections of the State are spared much of this. In Brown County, for example, the candidates attend many social gatherings during the course of a campaign, buy many pies, contribute small sums to many worthy causes. But what do they get in return? The community gatherings which they attend draw many people. At the cost of a small purchase or contribution, the candidate is able to visit with most of the voters in the community and press his plea for votes.

And in no instance is the purchase or contribution obligatory. In no other way could the candidate visit with and talk to as many voters at so great convenience and so little expense. Most county candidates look upon the community meetings as a convenience and service, and the contributions they make as a free-will offering that helps make the meetings possible.

Precautions should be taken, of course, to prevent dishonest imposition upon the candidates. It is doubtful, though, if a law such as is proposed would be either workable or constitutional.

As a tribute to Texas heroes and as a means of spending part of the huge Centennial appropriation, there was erected on the Texas Centennial grounds at Dallas last year the magnificent State of Texas building. Centennial visitors looked at the building, took pride in its beauty, and wondered what purpose such a building would serve in the years to follow 1936.

That problem perplexed the State Board of Control until this week, when the Legislature directed that the building be converted into a sub-capitol to house branches of the State government.

The solution seems to be a sensible one. Many departments of the government, chiefly the Old Age Assistance Commission, and the Liquor Control Board, maintain offices in North Texas. Having no office building, the State has become a tenant, and as such does not usually drive a very favorable bargain with landlords. Use of the building will save the State thousands of dollars rent, and will furnish desirable offices for the North Texas branch bureaus.

Of course, such utilitarian use of the monumental building was not intended when it was designed. Permanent use of the building was offered the City of Dallas and the State Fair of Texas. But Dallas, alert in the matter of securing appropriations, was not anxious to assume the maintenance cost of the building, and wanted the gift from the State to include the sizeable expense of maintenance. The Board of Control balked at this, and had made plans to board the building up and close it to the public. Only after a series of conferences and compromises was the building made available for the Pan-American Exposition.

Now it is to be converted into an office building, and its utilitarian use should not detract from the tribute its beauty and majesty pay to the heroes of Texas it was built to honor. Rather, its destiny should be a guide to those who in the future are entrusted with determining the character of design which monumental structures should follow. A lesson, possibly, that should be of value to those who are erecting in Washington the costly monumental building to the memory of Thomas Jefferson.

An interesting study tracing the history of shorter hours for working America recently was made by the United States News, under the title "America's Diminishing Work Week." During the last century the working week has been almost cut in half. In 1822, the average worker put in six 12-hour days, for a total of 72 hours a week.

During that year, the first organized revolt against a long week was made. A machinists' union in Philadelphia passed a resolution demanding a 10-hour day and a 60-hour week. This resolution got nowhere, and a long lifetime was to pass before the 60-hour week became standard in major industry—1890. And in that year, the A. F. of L. went on record in favor of the 48-hour week. As in the past, many years passed before this objective was reached. In 1914, the work week averaged 53 1/2 hours. By 1919, it had dropped to 50 1/2 hours. In 1929, at the height of the boom, it was 49 hours.

Depression naturally shortened the work week, as the "work sharing" plan, whereby employees worked part time in order that others might also have jobs, came into effect in many large industries. Then came the NRA, which established a 40-hour work week for the bulk of industries. Today, in 1937, the 40-hour week has been generally maintained, even though the NRA is no more.

As the News points out, a number of factors are responsible for the declining working week. Perhaps the most important of these factors is science and invention. Technological progress, which simply means better and more varied machinery, enables workers to produce as much or more in a short week than they previously produced in a long week.

The labor unions have also been a factor. They have won many concessions from management, and cut the working week without cutting wages. Management has also done a great deal to make shorter hours possible. It has improved the technique of production in many ways, to the end that less employe motion be wasted, and that each worker produce more in his working time. It has often voluntarily reduced hours even as it has raised hourly rates of pay.

Finally, in recent years government has been a factor. A number of states have specified the maximum hours per week. The Federal government has also stepped in, as happened with the NRA. A Federal law now in effect refuses contracts to manufacturers whose employes work more than 40 hours a week.

The new Army planes is a strange Boeing which last week stood ready in Seattle for first test flights. A 4-motored, mid-wing monoplane of lines similar to the famed Boeing "flying fortress" launched two years ago—of which the Army ordered 13, at a reputed $196,000 each—the new bomber is much bigger, much more efficient. The new Boeing is reported to weigh 20 tons, have a speed above 250 m. p. h. with eight tons of bombs.

Paris, France—In the woods near Bagnoles-de-Orne, French gendarmes stumbled last week on two dead Italians whose throats had been slashed, whose bodies had been riddled with bullets. No more murdered tourists were they, but the famed exiled Italian anti-Fascist Brothers Carlo and Nello Rosselli, who for years have published in Paris "Giustizia e Libertà" (Justice and Liberty), organ of fugitive Italian liberals.

To the Surete Nationale, (French Scotland Yard) the Rosselli Brothers' good friend Francesco Nitti, nephew of Italy's one-time (1919-20) prime minister, declared: "The murder of the Rosselli brothers could have been committed only by experts in political crime."

Some considered Carlo one of the most determined enemies of the Mussolini regime. He had preserved contact with his friends in Italy and was able to print information which the Rome government found embarrassing.

One kind of embarrassing information that Carlo continually published was stolen lists of daily instructions to the tightly controlled Italian press from the Propaganda Ministry, samples of which were also published last week in New York's anti-Fascist "La Stampa Libera," by Editor Girolamo Valenti, who said they came "from Paris."

Los Angeles, Calif.—Sinemactress Loretta Young last week adopted 3-year-old James and 23-month-old Judy, two children she first saw when decorating a tree last Christmas at a Los Angeles Catholic orphanage. Three years ago she had her marriage to Actor Grant Withers annulled.

New York—Arriving from Europe where she had reported George VI's coronation for the North American Newspaper Alliance, Novelist Kathleen Norris last week declared: "I predict that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor will break up in less than two years. I base my bet on the letters, some 300 of them a day, that I have been receiving from women everywhere during the last eight years."

What Mrs. Simpson and the Duke did is not the sort of thing we would stand for in the White House. No American President has ever put to people the question: Can I take another man's wife and make her mine? If he did we would be hearing from the General Federation of Women's Clubs in no time.

Washington—President Roosevelt last week remarked at a press conference that he hoped for quick action in Congress on Secretary Wallace's cherished "Joseph" plan for insuring farmers' against lean years by storing up part of each bumper crop. Day before, having added up June 1 data from 40,000 farmers and field agents, the Federal Crop Reporting Board released its estimates of the principal U. S. crops for 1937—except corn and cotton, on which first reports are made as of July 1 and August 1, respectively.

Most accurate to be had, the figures seemed to suggest that a cycle two years shorter than the Biblical one had entered its second phase and the time had come to apply the "Joseph" plan. After five lean years, U. S. husbandmen were assured not only of the biggest wheat crop since 1921 but of an export surplus in wheat.

In Texas, where harvest hands are already beginning to drift north after the first threshings, the Board estimated winter wheat production at about 29,000,000 bushels compared to 17,000,000 bushels last year. In Kansas, greatest U. S. wheat-

I've rubies stored in gleaming rows I've topaz-lighted wealth I've amber sealed in prisms A cellar full of health.

Isn't it grand to be a plain country woman? Sometimes I think we have all the riches of the kingdom here at our fingertips and sometimes never realize it. Right now when city dwellers are fuming from heat and packing for a long vacation to rush hither and yon to find peace and contentment, we simply roll up our sleeves to the golden sunlight and go into our gardens.

While a little feathered prelate who has usurped the honeysuckle vine over my kitchen windows and is using it for his pulpit expostulates in trills and a great fluttering of scarlet and gold... I have only to see the sun through the apricot preserves which are cooling on my window sill to realize that topaz and amber are the priceless jewels of contentment which are mine for the asking...

The emeralds that we know are more priceless than the crown jewels because they hold the wealth of health for our growing boys and girls... Contentment found in things at home, joy from the little tasks which are ours... Rest and quiet when the shadows fall that we may rise on the morrow refreshed and ready to face any task that life may offer. That is the wealth that belongs to us.

Yes, it's grand to be a plain country woman.

growing state, the estimate was 142,264,000 bushels of hard winter wheat compared to 120,000,000 bushels last year. Winter wheat production for the country as a whole will be about 649,000,000 bushels, nearly twice that of the drought year, 1933, and 150,000,000 bushels over 1936. Since this is roughly the amount of wheat that goes annually into the U. S. breadbasket, it leaves the equivalent of the entire spring wheat for export—according to the Board's best guess, between 175,000,000 and 200,000,000 bushels. Because the critical month of May had been kind to winter wheat, brokers on the Chicago Board of Trade were pretty well prepared for the Crop Reporting Board's estimate. Next day, however, despite reports of black rust in Kansas, the price of July wheat dropped from $1.11 to $1.08 per bushel.

Other estimates: rye, 45,574,000 bushels compared to 25,544,000 bushels in 1936; barley, 200,000,000 to 225,000,000 bushels against 147,452,000 bushels in 1936; oats, 1,000,000,000 and 1,100,000,000 bushels compared to 789,100,000 bushels in 1936.

Eastchester, New York—Arrested in suburban Eastchester last month because she was seen feeding four dogs in a vacant lot and three of them shortly died, Mrs. Juliet Tuttle, 65, wealthy contributor to humane societies, seemed sure to be cleared as her trial opened last week. But other evidence darkened the picture.

Found near the spot where she approached the dogs was a capsule which had contained cyanide of potassium. A former chauffeur of hers testified that he had resigned "in disgust" because she used to have him "stop the car while she got out to give capsules to stray cats, that when the cats keeled over she would deliver them to an S. P. C. A. shelter, that she handed as many as 30 cats a day."

Old Mrs. Tuttle, who took a nap in court while a score of other witnesses told how their pets had died or become sick after she fed them, freely admitted occasional cat killings, "to put them out of their misery." "But," she explained, "I never picked up an animal that was licensed or had a home."

That was enough for the court and the derisive spectators who packed it. The court offered "kind" Mrs. Tuttle the choice of $500 fine or a year in jail. As she paid and walked out, the spectators growled with satisfaction, wished her no luck on her appeal.

I must be more absent minded than I thought I've probably put yeast in the last few poems I sent out instead of the rolls... the way the barn editors bounce them back at me.

Did I say I'd take a leave And have a nice vacation? Well two whole days I stayed at home I s'pose for recreation Then pappa ups and sets real sick He's had an operation So work and I have done made up We can't stand separation...

Anyway pappa is having a grand time now telling about his operation. He doesn't have even a scar to show however, which of course, must be terribly disappointing. Don't ever let the female of the species get razed again in your presence for this offense... The men don't even have the comfort of the missionary society to tell it to. They just have to tell it to anyone who will listen.

The Outward Room By Millen Brand "The Outward Room is a first novel by this understanding, deep thinking author. A brave novel of a woman who escaped from the fogs of today's misery into the sun of normality and happiness," says Sinclair Lewis. A great love story... an exciting first novel... a poignant love story of a mind which found itself... the story of escape... These are all excerpts from reviewers who have found the remarkable, powerful story good and said so.

Harriet Demuth is an inmate in an insane asylum... has been treated for seven years... she wants to escape... and in her escape hangs a tale of breathless suspense and excitement. Penniless and alone in a world by whom she has been forgotten, she meets John, a machine shop worker... He takes her home with him. She begins to do things... little things but they reassure her of herself. She makes herself reliant... She knows she is insane and tells John. He helps her overcome any weakness. He learns to depend on her. She realizes this and loves him. Together they face the supreme crises of their lives. There is an increasing pull to the story. You can't put the book down... A mind wandering through dark places seeking light. Honest, frank portrayals of the emotions keep the reader in sympathy with the characters to the last page. She finds her escape from the asylum as well as from herself by calling on love. She loses her great sorrow by bearing sorrow with one whom she has learned to love and to depend upon. We leave her safe in the glorious security of a great love. It is a book that will set you to thinking and one which you will long remember.

Thanks and deep courtesies for all the nice fan mail about "Prairies Are Enchantment" in Pictorial Review... Orchids wither, perfume fades into the ether but lovely phrases spoken from heart to heart live on and on weaving a bridge of happiness for the sender as well as the recipient.

CITIES AFAR STIRLING Royal Scottish borough and county town... 37 miles from Edinburgh... Always at the martial heart of its country's history... Playing important roles at its old castle till the crowns of Scotland and England were united in 1603... Mary, Queen of Scots and James VI were both crowned in the parish church... A modern industrial town, but fragments of old walls and the "auld brig" of 1570 remain... View from the castle walls unsurpassed in Great Britain... In the cemetery visitors seek out the simple grave of Prof. Henry Drummond... In Broad Street is "Argyll's Lodging," home of Sir Wm. Alexander, the poet and Earl of Stirling... Good center for tours in Waverly Land.

PAVIA Provincial capital in northwestern Italy... At the confluence of the Ticino and Po rivers of Lombardy... Its large 15th century cathedral one of 165 churches said to have existed in the city at the time... Still unfinished... Tourists frequent at the old 11th century church of San Pietro to see the handsome tomb of St. Augustine... In the Church of San Michele, Barbarossa assumer the Lombardy crown... Many fine buildings, including University, built in 1490... The old Castle of the Visconti, now a barracks... North of the city, the well known and beautiful Catusian monastery, Certosa di Pavia... WILL H. MAYES, AUSTIN, TEXAS

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the state and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What rank does Houston hold as a port? A. Only New York, Philadelphia, and Duluth now rank ahead of Houston in cargo handled in the United States. Its rapid growth as a port is shown in a recent report by the United States port engineers showing that in 1932 the Houston port handled 12,710,432 short tons; in 1935, 19,774,071; in 1936, 23,800,415. Beaumont and Port Arthur rank eighth and eleventh, respectively.

Q. What was the "Cordova rebellion"? A. It was an ineffectual effort on the part of Vincinte Cordova, made in 1837 and 1838, to ignite rebellion among Indians and Mexicans of east Texas. Quick action on the part of citizens of San Augustine and Nacodoches crushed the movement before it gained much headway, though Cordova remained several years among the Indians of that section, awaiting a favorable opportunity to renew his efforts.

Q. Was the bridge across Vincee's Bayou the only route by which Santa Anna might have retreated to join Filisola at Fort Bend? A. Historians have so stated, and while it was the bridge over which Santa Anna had passed and the route by which he naturally tried to escape, and probably the only road communicating with the Brazos, it would have been possible to escape above the source of Vincee's Bayou had Santa Anna known the topography of the country.

Q. Did Santa Anna ever give any reason for having the Mier prisoners decimated through the "black bean lottery"? A. He stated that it was not because of their efforts to escape at Salado, which, he said they had a right to do, but because army followers had broken into and robbed houses at Laredo.

Q. When was the first Masonic lodge organized at Dallas and who was its first master? A. Tannehill lodge, named for Wilkins Tannehill, a distinguished Tennessee statesman, was organized at Dallas under a charter granted Jan. 24, 1850, with Col. Nat. M. Burford its first master. Col. Burford served two terms as district attorney and two as district judge at Dallas, was speaker of the house of the 11th Legislature and colonel of the 19th Texas Cavalry in the Confederate Army.

Q. Is there a State Park in Williamson County? A. No, but there is a beautiful, well-kept municipal park at Georgetown. It contains about 30 acres, extending about a half mile along the clear waters of the San Gabriel river, densely shaded by large native forest trees, and is one of the prettiest recreation spots of Central Texas.

Q. Did the Mexican army expect any mercy to be shown their officers and men if taken prisoners by the Texans? A. The general feeling among them was well stated by Gen. Filisola in justifying his retreat from the Brazos following receipt of news of the capture of Santa Anna at San Jacinto. He said "Alarm and discouragement was general among all classes, for it was believed that all the prisoners, the president included, would have been shot as a reprisal for the conduct observed with theirs at Bexar and Goliad."

RA TO START WORK ON 78 MORE FARMS; PLAN IS ANNOUNCED

Immediate construction of 78 farm units on Texas land recently purchased by the Resettlement Administration has been authorized, it has been announced by Paul V. Maris, acting regional director. Maris said that an increase in the number of houses which can be built with available funds was made possible as a result of economies in planning and construction. The work authorized today covers 38 units of RA's Fannin County project and 25 units of the Sabine project for Negroes in Harrison and Panola counties. The 15 remaining units covered by the announcement are additions to the number previously announced for the Farm Tenant Security project scattered over North Central Texas, where 86 jobs are already under way.

A new development announced by Maris was that contract for construction in a majority of these cases will be let by the farmer to whom the unit is to be sold. The money will be lent to him by Resettlement, instead of Resettlement doing the work and selling the completed job, as has been the case on the units previously started. This new procedure applies to the Tenant Security and Sabine projects. RA's own construction division will build the Fannin County units.

Contract for 76 units on Sam Houston farms, Harris County, Texas, will be let by RA itself on competitive bids from private contractors. The three methods of procedure used—construction by RA, contracts let by RA, and contracts let by the farmer—are expected to develop the comparative merits of each, for guidance in future activity.

The amount which is to be expended or loaned for construction of dwellings, barns, outhouses, and water supplies will range from $2300 to $2700. The amount of land per farm averages around 80 acres. All loans or sales are on 40-years' time with interest at three per cent.

Maris said that construction is now under way, or ready to start, on 325 units in Texas and 156 units in Oklahoma, a total of 481 in this region.

The construction authorized is part of the program planned and announced last year, land having been purchased but no funds having been available until now for construction of buildings and other improvements. As a result of eliminating running water in the houses and other items which have been cut out of the later plans, and as a result of liberalization of labor policies which now permit the use of

AMATEURS OF MAJOR BOWES' SHOW TO BE FEATURE AT DALLAS

The best talent of Major Bowes' amateurs will appear, under auspices of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, at the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition which opened June 12. This announcement was made by Fred M. Lege, Jr., vice-president in charge of marketing.

The amateurs, to be presented five times daily at the Magnolia Lounge on the exposition grounds, will be selected by Major Bowes personally. Every Thursday night from 7 to 8 o'clock, during the exposition period, Major Bowes will include a Magnolia talent search in with his nation-wide broadcast. From these programs the best acts are to appear at the Magnolia Lounge in the Exposition Grounds.

Wally Sharples will come direct from New York to act as master of ceremonies for the Dallas performances of the Major Bowes amateurs. To accommodate the acts scheduled to appear here beginning June 12 when the exposition opens, the Magnolia Lounge has been remodeled to provide an adequate stage, and additional seating capacity. The air-conditioned lounge is located near the Grand Avenue entrance to the grounds.

"The five shows daily will be free and are being offered for the entertainment of exposition visitors," Mr. Lege said. Each unit of four acts will run two weeks; there will be ten entirely different shows non-relief labor, it is estimated that construction costs will be reduced approximately 40 per cent as compared with previous estimates. This permits construction of a larger number of houses with funds now available than would otherwise have been possible, Maris stated.

Number of Texans Unemployed Shows Decrease by WPA

For the first time since the inception of the Works Progress Administration, fewer than 100,000 Texans are eligible because of destitution for employment on WPA projects, State Administrator H. P. Drought has announced.

This week's report on the Texas case load shows 99,769 persons eligible for WPPA employment, the lowest number in the two-year history of the organization, Drought declared.

"This week's report that less than one hundred thousand Texans during the June 12-October 31 exposition period.

"Magnolia, in cooperation with Major Bowes, is glad to bring outstanding amateur performers direct to Dallas for the entertainment of visitors to the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition," stated Mr. Lege.

are eligible for employment on WPA projects is an encouraging milestone in our efforts to reduce unemployment in Texas. Our records show that the case load has declined steadily since the beginning of this fiscal year when more than 170,000 persons were certified as destitute and eligible for employment on Federal Works Program projects. The vast majority of those who have left our rolls are now in private employment.

"It has always been a policy of the Works Progress Administration, supported by strict regulations, that any WPA worker who is offered private employment at a living wage must accept such employment or be dropped from the payroll. Seldom has it been necessary to invoke that rule as the average subsistence wage in Texas paid the WPA worker is but $28.17—a sum which is certainly low enough to encourage any person to seek other work rather than to retain WPA employment."

The current case load is divided among the twelve WPA districts as follows: Marshall district, 7,872; Dallas district, 15,304; Houston district, 13,952; Fort Worth district, 15,345; Waco district, 9,009; Austin district, 6,464; San Antonio district, 10,885; Laredo district, 4,258; Amarillo district, 4,051; Lubbock district, 4,913; San Angelo district, 5,926; El Paso district, 2,690.

Farm Income Shows Increase of More Than 50% In Year

The computed farm cash income for Texas during April, excluding government benefit payments, totaled $27,475,000 as against a comparable figure of $17,648,000 during April last year, an increase of more than 58 per cent, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The districts in which sheep, wool, and cattle constitute the major sources of income made relatively the most favorable showing. The lower Rio Grande Valley continued to maintain a wide margin of improvement over last year but the gain was not so great in April as it was in March.

"Barring abnormal weather conditions during the remainder of the current crop season, indications point to further improvement in Texas farm cash income during coming months," Dr. Buechel said. "Because of the high degree of specialization which prevails in the various natural regions of the State, however, these distinctive regions will not share equally in such gains as are expected to occur. Regions in which live stock and live stock products constitute the most important sources of income are expected on the whole to continue the favorable showing of recent months. The specialized wheat areas of the State will benefit both from larger production and higher prices than have prevailed for several years."

THEIR LIVES are in your hands

WHEN BLOW-OUTS KILL OR INJURE THOUSANDS, WHY NOT GIVE YOUR FAMILY GOLDEN PLY BLOW-OUT PROTECTION!

IT'S WORTH the one minute it takes to read this because it may save your life. And here's why: At today's high speeds the heat generated inside your tires is terrific—as hot as boiling water. This heat causes rubber and fabric to separate. A tiny blister forms—grows bigger and BIGGER—until sooner or later, BANG! It's a blow-out! Thousands of people are killed or injured every year in blow-out accidents.

But now there is no reason why you should take this chance. Goodrich Silvertowns have an amazing new invention—the Life-Saver Golden Ply. This Golden Ply resists heat so that rubber and fabric do not separate—blisters do not form—thus high speed blow-outs are checked before they ever get a chance to cause trouble. Come in today and see us about Golden Ply blow-out protection Goodrich Silvertowns actually cost less than other super-quality tires!

LOCAL WOMAN WILL REVIEW LATE BOOKS SATURDAY, JUNE 26

Because of current interest in the opening of Fort Worth's new Casa Manana revue, the Carnegie Library Board has arranged to have a series of reviews given of the books upon which this year's spectacle is based. Just as the first scintillating show used four fairs as a background so the second will use four very popular recent books. "Gone With the Wind," "Wake Up and Live," "Lost Horizon," and "It Can't Happen Here." Mrs. H. W. McGhee has been chosen to review the books, the first of which will be given in costume, on the Fiesta's opening day, Saturday, June 26, at 4 o'clock.

The place is the Carnegie Library, and the hour has been set for the convenience of people who may live out of town and wish to reach their homes early. As this service has some expenses attached, a free will offering will be taken, but there will be no fixed admission charged. The Board feels that the local library and its supporters should get better acquainted. For this reason, town and country patrons are cordially invited to attend.

According to preview accounts, the first Casa Manana episode, "Gone with the Wind," has a beautiful setting of the Ante-bellum South, with music, costumes, and ballet in harmony. Keen interest in the most popular book in the world is still apparent, and although the review of "Gone With the Wind" has been given locally a number of times, there is still much demand for it.

A great variety of antelopes are found in South Africa ranging from the diminutive blue buck or milti to the eland.
