

Committee To Review Creek Water Problem

Industries To Outline Situation

By WAIN MILLER
News Editor

A committee appointed by the state water pollution control board meets with Hereford business and industry officials Friday to set about determining "a reasonable policy" to follow in taking steps to clean up Tierra Blanca Creek.

Invitations have been sent industry leaders whose operations are near the creek to meet with a committee headed by a member of the Texas Water Pollution Control Board. Chairman of the committee, Sam Wahlford of Stratford, declined to comment on the purpose of the meeting other than to say that findings from discussion would be reported to the water pollution control board to help it determine what steps should be taken concerning water pollution of the creek.

The invitational meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the First National Bank.

Disclosure that the meeting would be held came shortly after an announcement in Austin that a study conducted by the Parks and Wildlife Department indicated that sources of pollution in the Hereford area have definite effects on fish in Tierra Blanca Creek and Buffalo Lake.

The same report covered pollution on the Canadian River near Amarillo and Borger.

THE REPORT said that sewage, feedlot runoff, slaughterhouse wastes, and vegetable processing wastes along the creek south and east of Hereford "has had much effect on the fish in the (Buffalo) lake."

However, Hugh Yantis, executive secretary and chief engineer for the state water pollution control board, said in a telephone interview Friday concerning the report and the upcoming committee meeting.

"WE FEEL that since cattle feedlots, meatpacking industries, and vegetable processing is in-

Campaign Lines Drawn For Three Local Races

The line-up is complete for the list of names to be placed on ballot for 1966 elections in Deaf Smith County — including three contested races locally and several more on the district, and statewide level.

Last week's deadline for filing for Hereford city commission and school board posts passed quietly — leaving only incumbents in announced bids for re-election to two commission seats, and three school board positions.

CONTESTED races on the local level are for the offices of county judge, county commissioner for Precinct 4, and justice of the peace.

Incumbent H. C. (Hank) Williams will be contested in his bid for re-election to the office of County Judge by former Hereford High School principal, L. B. Russell.

Three candidates will run for the office of Justice of the Peace.

FILING for election to that office pending the May 7 Democratic Primary were incumbent C. B. Miles, former Hereford businessman and sheriff's office dispatcher Ernest Wade, and former county commissioner Charlie Sowell.

Donald Hicks, commissioner for Precinct 4, seeks re-election to the county commission. He is opposed by Paul Metcalf, area farmer.

ALL OF THE above-mentioned candidates will seek nominations in the May 7 Democratic Primary.

Voter Registration Sign-Ups Continue

Twenty-two persons obtained voter registration certificates here during the first two days of the special two-week voter registration period which began Thursday.

OFFICIALS in the county tax assessor-collector's office said that was the number who had qualified to vote under the new registration system as of Friday afternoon.

The 3,267 Deaf Smith County residents who obtained poll tax receipts or exemption certificates before Jan. 31 will remain qualified to vote in Texas elections during 1966, as will those who register during the two-week period which began Thursday and continues through March 17.

Anyone who could have qualified for the poll tax but did not pay them now has a chance to secure the right to vote this year by registering free of charge, pointed out Nell Miller, County Tax Assessor.

THE NEW registration plan was approved by the Texas Legislature in a special session for-

TUESDAY MORNING

Vegetable Growers To Discuss Trends

A Vegetable Growers Conference offering latest information on production practices and production outlook will be held here Tuesday morning.

County Agent Juston McBride said the conference, which will get underway at 8:30 a. m. in the Hereford Community Center, is being sponsored jointly by the Deaf Smith County Vegetable Committee and the West Texas Vegetable Growers Council.

NOTED agriculture experts will discuss numerous topics concerning vegetable growing in the Hereford area.

Beginning at 8:30 a. m., Dr. John E. Larsen, horticultural specialist from College Station for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service; and Dr. Jack Kyle, horticulturist for the South Plains Research & Extension Center, Lubbock, will outline trends in vegetable production for 1966. Dr. Larsen will discuss

Firemen Battle Haystack Blaze For Nine Hours

Hereford Firemen battled a stubborn haystack fire for some nine hours Thursday afternoon, hampered by a strong, gusty wind.

Firemen were called to the Elmer Kimbell farm near Easter about 1:30 p. m. Thursday, where a stack containing some 2,000 bales of hay was burning. FIREMEN said the fire was beyond control when trucks arrived at the scene some 10 miles south of Hereford.

However, danger of fire to nearby barns and a house kept a truck on the scene until 10:30 p. m. as wind blew burning straw from the blaze.

Volunteer firemen rotated shifts as they remained on the scene to contain the stubborn blaze.

Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Hereford Men Serve On Board For Foundation

Two Hereford area men were named new members to the Board of Trustees of the High Plains Research Foundation at the Semi-Annual meeting of the board last week in Plainview.

Steve Bavousett, Dawn community farmer, and Henry Sears Hereford banker, were elected among 15 new members named to the board.

THEY JOIN a third Hereford man on the board.

R. G. Peeler, also of Hereford, was re-elected a Vice President of the board.

In other action, the board promoted Dr. E. H. Collister, director, to Executive Vice President.

Other officers re-elected were Harold Hinn, Plainview and Dallas, Chairman; Virgil Patterson, Amarillo Vice-Chairman; Frank Ewalde Quebe, Lockney, and Steve Taylor, Dimmitt, vice president and Graddy Tunnell, Secretary-Treasurer.

New board members elected were F. O. Masten, Sudan; Guy Victory, Fort Worth; Jack Payne, Lubbock; W. E. Miller, Springlake; Dick Brown, Hartley; Cone Donelson, Stratford; Arthur Corse, Sunray; Steve Bavousett, Dawn; Henry Sears, See HEREFORD, Page 8

License Tag Sales Going Slowly Here

Spokesmen in the county tax office reported Friday that sale of 1966 vehicle registration tags was going somewhat slower than in past years.

Some 1,272 sets of tags had been sold as of Friday afternoon for passenger autos registered in Deaf Smith County.

Deadline for obtaining 1966 plates is March 31 in the county tax assessor-collector's office in the courthouse.

Officials said that current sales totals are about 200 behind figures for the same time last year.

Some 6,000 passenger autos are registered annually in this county, it was pointed out.

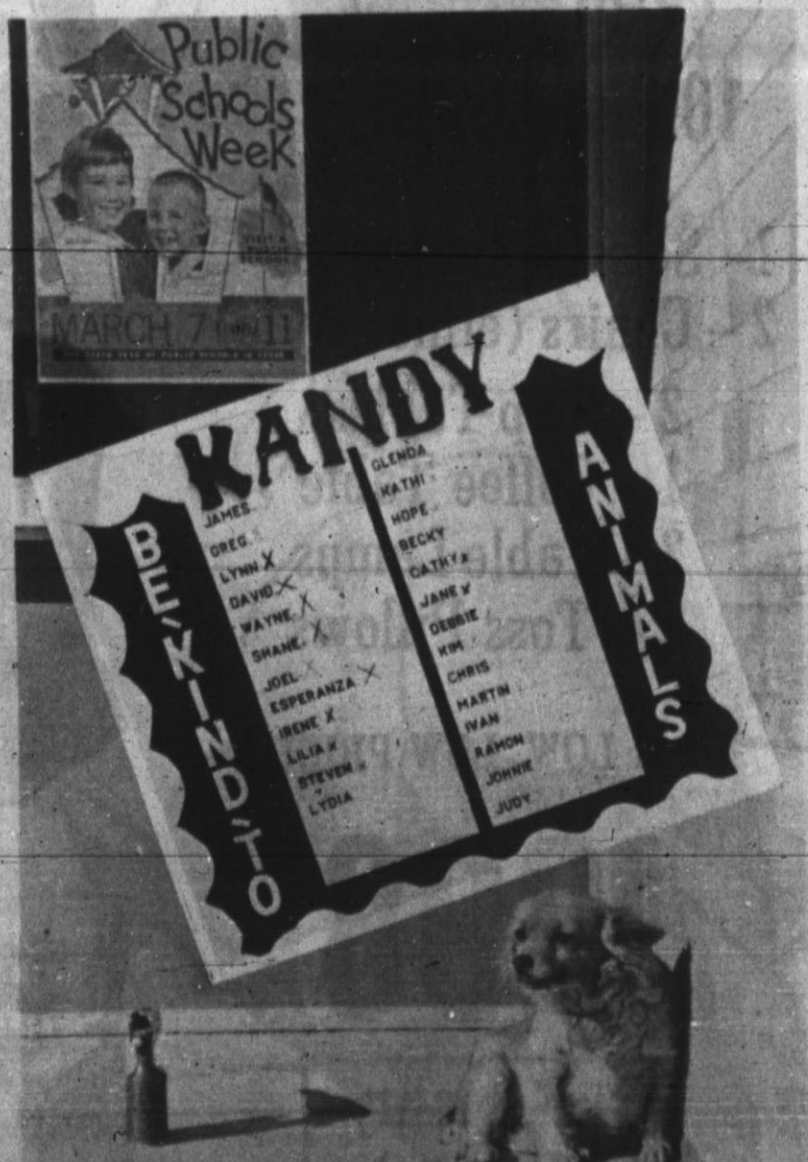

Bid Accepted For 385 Topping North Of City

A contract for 8.878 Miles of Construction on Highway US 385 in Deaf Smith County has been awarded to a Amarillo, Texas, firm, it was announced in Austin this week by the State Highway Commission.

Gilvin-Terrill, Inc. submitted the low bid of $93,140.01 on the project. Asphaltic concrete pavement and seal coat on the 8.9 mile stretch north on 385 from the Hereford city limits is expected to take 180 working days, according to Charles W. Smith District Highway Engineer Amarillo.

W. V. York, Resident Engineer at Canyon will be in active charge of the project while it is under construction.

Work will begin in early May.

STUDENTS' PET — Kandy the dog waits for company at Northwest Elementary School. The one-time-stray probably would be the envy of most any dog . . . because Kandy has been adopted by the 26 students in Mrs. Johnnie Morris' fourth grade class at the school. The class set up housekeeping for Kandy in the form of a cardboard box furnished with tow sacks after adopting her shortly after Christmas when it became apparent that Kandy had chosen the school grounds for home. The students provide food for Kandy daily, and keep tabs of their "Be Kind to Animals" — namely Kandy — project on a classroom bulletin board (inset photo). (Staff Photo)

TO STUDY LANGUAGE

Students And Teachers Slate Trip To France

Ten Hereford High School students and two Hereford school-teachers will go to school this summer — at the University of Rennes at St. Malo, France.

Purpose of the trip is to study the French language in a four-week course arranged by the American Institute for Foreign Study.

STUDENTS will join others from throughout the Free World in the session at the famous University of Rennes, which was founded in the year 1461.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Dingus of 117 Lake St. have received announcement from the AIFS of their appointment as teacher-chaperones for the group. HEREFORD High students who are going abroad for the 41-day study and travel tour are Charles Dones, Mary Lynn Gibson, Penny Jones, Sherri Marsh, Cynthia McMinn, Sandra Thomas, Stevan Thorton, Shelley Rush, Charlotte Hill, and Kandis Hill.

Also in the group will be two other high school students — one from Tascosa High in Amarillo and another from Little Rock, Ark.

Dingus is a member of the modern language faculty at Hereford High, while Mrs. Dingus teaches at Northwest Elementary School.

THE AMERICAN Institute, with national headquarters in Greenwich, Conn., is a non-profit membership association of high school students and the youth of foreign countries, their language and cultures.

This year the Institute is sponsoring summer courses at 17 university campuses in Great Britain, France, Spain, Germany, Italy, Austria, and Greece.

The Hereford delegation will fly an airline passenger jet from Kennedy International Airport, New York, on July 13, for Paris.

Following their arrival at Le Bourget Airport in Paris, they will leave by bus for the scenic drive to St. Malo, where City Commissioner Albert Maxwell and Lloyd Sharp drew no opposition to their bids for re-election in the April 5 city commission election.

Three school board members will also run unopposed in the Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees election on April 2.

CANDIDATES for re-election are Bill Gentry, Olin Parris, and Hugh Clearman.

IN OTHER elections on the county level during 1966, current office-holders drew no opposition.

Included are Marcus Latham, county commissioner for Precinct 2; B. F. Cain, county clerk; Mrs. Velma Hodges, county treasurer; Mrs. Lucille Posey, clerk of the district court for Deaf Smith County.

However, there is a host of choices for numerous offices on the district and state level.

FOR THE office of District Judge, incumbent Harry Schultz of Dalhart is opposed by Moore County Judge Archie McDonald.

State representative Bill Clayton of Springlake is unopposed, nor is there an announced race for state senator.

Sen. Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo, who became state senator for Deaf Smith County via the recent senatorial district reapportionment, is unopposed in his bid for re-election.

BUT THERE is a real race shaping up for the office of Congressman for the 18th Congressional District, which includes Hereford.

Incumbent Walter Rogers of Pampa will be unopposed in the Democratic Primary, but will be challenged by Republican Bob Price, also of Pampa, in the election.

AMONG NAMES appearing on the ballot for statewide balloting in the May 7 primary are: For governor: Incumbent John Connally is being challenged by Johnnie Mae Hackworth of Brantley and Stanley C. Woods of Houston.

Lieutenant governor: Incumbent Preston Smith of Lubbock is being opposed by Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline.

Attorney general: A three-way race comprised of Crawford C. Martin of Hillsboro; Galloway Calhoun of Tyler, and Franklin Spears of San Antonio.

U. S. SENATOR: Waggoner Carr of Austin meets John R. Willoughby of Houston to decide who will face Republican John Tower.

Railroad commissioner: An-summer classes will begin on July 15.

The historic university now has over 10,000 students and is held in high repute by French academic circles.

THE CURRICULUM of summer school is challenging and standards are high; the school authorities require at least one year study of French as a prerequisite for the course. Students are assigned to one of four levels. A special feature is the conversation classes given by young French monitors, who also serve as guides. AIFS students will live in the beautiful, modern dormitories of the College Technique.

BESIDES the wonderful beaches and harbor of St. Malo, there are tennis courts, horseback riding, theatre, and excursions to such nearby places of interest as Mont St. Michel, Dinan, and Combourg.

At the conclusion of the course on August 13, teachers and students who have successfully passed the required examination will receive diplomas of attendance from the University of Rennes, under whose patronage the summer semesters are given.

FOLLOWING the commencement celebration, Mr. and Mrs. Dingus and their students will begin 8 days of traveling through France and England. While in Paris, the group will visit Notre Dame, the Eiffel Tower and the palaces and gardens of near-by Versailles on the agenda.

On August 18 the group will leave for London, motoring to Dieppe for the daylight crossing of the English Channel. Continuing by bus to New Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Dingus and their group will go on to London where they will stay at the Hotel Royal during their five days of sightseeing in England.

THE GROUP will visit the Houses of Parliament, Tower of London and also witness the colorful changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace. Side tours are being planned for Cambridge University and Oxford.

A trip by punt on the River Cam and a picnic on its banks will be followed by an evening at the Aldwych Theatre, where they will see a performance of the Royal Shakespeare Company. On August 22 Mr. and Mrs. Dingus and their students will depart from Gatewick Airport by Trans International Jet for New York, arriving later that evening at Kennedy International Airport.

Public Hearing On Annexation Set For Monday

A public hearing concerning proposed annexation by the city of Hereford of some 28 acres of land in South Hereford will be held Monday night at 7:30 p. m. in the city commissioner chambers at city hall.

Property owners interested in the proposition should be on hand for the hearing, which is a part of the items listed on the agenda for the commission's regular session.

SWITCH IN RIDERS
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Willie Shoemaker has been signed to ride Buckpasser and Braulio Baeza will be on Graustark if the two standout colts meet in Florida racing this winter.

Ogden Phipps, owner of Buckpasser, used Baeza on that colt's 11 races during 1965. However, with John Galbreath's Graustark being pointed for Hialeah's Flamingo, Baeza will have to ride that colt. Baeza is under contract to Galbreath.

WT Closes Season With Bright Note

West Texas State closed its third basketball season under head coach Jimmy Viramontes with a 6-17 record, but all is not gloom in the office of the fiery mentor.

ALTHOUGH THREE starters will be gone — Gail Simpson, Cal Taylor and Joe McWilliams — prospects appear to be bright for next season.

Mickey Fitts, who led the team in scoring (16.1) and field goal percentage (.519) this past season, returns along with 6-2 Rod Teague (7.9), 6-8 Vern Furlow (10.9) and 6-5 Ron Gardner (6.2). Each had some starting assignments. The 6-5 Fitts started all but one game which he missed entirely due to illness and, should he gain more consistency next year, could top some records.

The three seniors scored 42 per cent of the Buffaloes' 1965-66 points and Taylor led the squad in rebounding with a 9.4 average. McWilliams was the best foul shooter with .783. Simpson finished his career with 663 points which tied him with Gruber's Sonny Blankenship for 16th place in WT history.

Bolstering the returnees will be two outstanding sophomores from an 11-4 freshman team — Mike Mitchell and Gary Sikes. Mitchell, a 6-2 guard from Roswell, N. M., led the frosh in scoring (22.3) and field goal percentage (.518) while Sikes, 6-5 from Pampa, topped the rebounders (8.0), scored at a 13.8 clip and hit .472 of his field attempts.

AS IS SO OFTEN the case, mere won-lost figures concerning the 1965-66 season do not give a true picture of the campaign. The Buffs faced much sterner opposition than in Viramontes' previous two years what with Texas Western, Oklahoma City, Detroit, Hardin, Simmons and Abilene Christian having perhaps the finest teams in their history. The five schools named have a combined record of 101 wins and 22 losses for 82 per cent to date with three of them — Texas Western, Oklahoma City and Abilene Christian — already named to post-season tournaments and the other two hoping for bids. These five schools accounted for more than half of the Buffs' losses in 1965-66.

TOO OFTEN, it seemed, the Herd played well against superior opposition only to falter against the weaker teams on the schedule. A glance at the statistics does reveal two glaring weaknesses — shooting and rebounding. The Buffs shot 43.3 per cent from the field which is about par, but were too inconsistent in this department. By comparison, Jimmy's first two teams here shot 50.2 and 47.4. In addition, Buffalo opponents recovered nearly eight more rebounds per game (47.6 to 39.6). Only two of the Buffs' 1965-66 games were lost by more than 19 points (28 at Tulsa and 25 at Ohio State). Viramontes first two teams took seven 20-point lickings. Jimmy's three-year record is now even at 35-35. The individual high game of the season was a 33-point effort by Joe McWilliams against Southern Colorado. Seventeen of them were free pitches. Only five other WT players have exceeded 33 counters in one game and the total of 17 free throws has been bettered only once.

THE TEAM'S best shooting night of the year was recorded against Panhandle A&M when the Buffs hit 37 of 66 for 56.1 per cent. The poorest was a dismal .291 mark at Texas Western. Simpson is the fifth Berger athlete to join the top 20 scorers. The others are James Scott (4th), Allen Simpson, a brother, (12th), Rookie Rogers (15th) and Frank Schaffer (20th).

In three of the freshmen games, both teams scored over 100 points. WT won two of the high scoring affairs. The WT frosh also converted 54 of 64 charity tosses in edging South Plains at Levelland, 98-96. Nine of 11 wins by the frosh under the guidance of ex-Buff Pugh were consecutive. The varsity opened with eight straight losses and closed with four defeats leaving a mid-season record of 6-5. "We should have started later and finished earlier," said Viramontes.

Committee ...

(Continued from Page 1) crossing through the state — and gladly so — much thought must go into this before the water pollution control board makes any recommendations or takes any steps concerning the Tierra Blanca problem.

"At the present time, we don't know enough to take any actions that would be fair, so the board has appointed the committee which will meet in Hereford for the purpose of studying the situation and advising what would be a reasonable solution to the problem in the public interest."

"THIS IS a rather broad-based committee and will include representation from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Tech, cattle feeders and beef packers, and others." Yantis told the Board.

Wohlford, a former state representative from Stratford, said that "sworn testimony will be taken" during the meeting to be presented to the state water pollution control board.

He was named recently to present the state position in a conference with Hereford area cattle growers, feedlot men, members of the packing industry, vegetable processors, and state, local, and federal officials.

A Hereford attorney invited to attend Friday's meeting said that local industry representatives would "show the facts" concerning the problem — concerning both why pollution practices have been allowed to exist here and what difficulties would be involved in changing the situation.

"THE ECONOMICS of 'cleaning up the creek' is the thing to consider," he continued.

He said that these facts would be outlined at Friday's meeting and commented that he felt the facts to be presented would shed new light on the situation for the state officials who are involved in the investigation.

Concerning the Park and Wildlife Department report, it was pointed out in Austin that the general objective of the study was to gather data on pollution which affected specific fish populations and to report the findings to the Texas Water Pollution Control Board.

Lonnis J. Peters, project leader for the research, sought to gather information in four main areas.

The report aimed at determining the extent of damages to the fish population, to trace the source of the pollution, to determine the nature of the pollution and to report to the WP-CB.

THE STUDY found that pollution exists in two areas on the Canadian river and two areas on Tierra Blanca Creek. Along the Canadian, the areas are located north of Amarillo and east of Borger. The pollution occurring near Amarillo is caused from sewage disposal, and that near Borger from industrial wastes.

On Tierra Blanca Creek south and east of Hereford the pollution is caused from sewage, feedlot runoff, slaughterhouse wastes and vegetable processing wastes. East and northeast of Canyon, sewage pollutes the creek, the report said.

The Hereford area has been responsible for pollution of Buffalo, which has had much effect on the fish in the lake. In 1964 an extensive fish kill occurred in the upper end of the lake and in Tierra Blanca Creek it was caused by oxygen loss in the creek which resulted from the decomposition of organic material which either washed down from feedlots, or came from the sewage plant and slau-gherhouses and vegetable processing houses.

The report noted that the "importance of pollution from the Hereford area is not in any one instance of limited fish kill, but rather in the gradual build-up of organic materials that occurs with repeated influxes of polluted runoff."

In 1959 there was a winter-kill which essentially "eliminated the sport fishery of Buffalo Lake," and, the report added, "since this time organic pollution has not been abated, in fact it has probably increased due to an expansion of feedlots in recent years."

THE CANYON sewage treatment has released Pollution which has resulted in fish kills east and northeast of Canyon on Tierra Blanca Creek. A sewage treatment plant north of Amarillo releases effluent into the Canadian River a half-mile west of the bridge on U. S. 287, and the report noted that the "downstream extent of the area toxic to fish" was probably far enough that fish moving upstream or downstream could not pass through."

In the Borger area, the construction of a water treatment plant has "greatly improved the overall quality of effluent from petro-chemical industries." Still the report mentioned that Wildlife Department officials had observed oil coatings floating on the surface of the water below the water treatment plant.

EVEN THOUGH there has been an improvement in the area, the minnow populations downstream will be affected by pollution because the Sanford Dam impounds water that previously diluted the Borger industrial effluents.

RECOMMENDATIONS which followed the study included a proposal that the cities of Hereford, Canyon and Amarillo "Should be approached with proposals to promote disposal of all sewage effluent by using it for crop or pasture irrigation."

It was also mentioned that further study and surveillance are needed of the sites which cause pollution, and the areas which become polluted. Remedial measures should be presented to feedlot operators, the report said, and following that "it should then be determined what legal recourse could be used to bring about desired remedial measures for abatement of pollution from feedlots whose operators will not willingly cooperate."

By MELVIN YOUNG
If the demand is sufficient, Hereford High School will inaugurate classes in vocational training next fall which could include courses in auto mechanics, building construction trades, cosmetology, etc. The programs have long been talked by professional school men and others interested in providing vocational training for those students not headed for college.

Much interest has been shown locally in the vocational and technical training programs and we feel that they will certainly be an asset to the students of HHS. But we believe that the student who wants to continue his education beyond the High School level will also be helped by the training programs.

In the past we have always talked about the student who "does not" plan to continue his education after High School graduation — and certainly this student will benefit tremendously by the vocational training — but we're wondering if the program will not be just as valuable to those who wish to continue with their formal education.

An item that crossed our desk recently stated that Detroit auto makers are crying for trained men. They say that 300,000 trained mechanics are working for automobile dealers now and that in the next few years 100,000 more will be needed.

Skilled mechanics can earn upwards to $10,000 per year, depending on the area in which they ply their trade. That's more than most school teachers earn, just for the sake of comparison.

But that's not the point we're trying to make. Many young men with mechanical abilities go on to become engineers and a high school vocational training background might be just the thing to get them started on the right track.

Many printers become publishers. Others who started in the printing trade as youngsters now own commercial shops and spend their time directing the work of others. By the same token, many young men starting in the building trade eventually become building contractors.

Certainly, the idea of the program is to help the young men and women who may not be able to go to college, but we see no reason why the program cannot benefit others as well — and we're sure it will.

And while we're on the subject of schools, it might be interesting to see just what some of the professional school men are thinking about this program and others.

For instance, Dr. Morris Wallace, head of the Texas Tech Education Department, according to a recent news release, believes that a "reshaping" of today's public school system will be forthcoming — taking vocational education into consideration.

Dr. Wallace predicts that the "K-4-4-2" system will be used as a basis for the realignment. The system would reach downward to include kindergarten and go upward to add two years of junior college — all under the public school system.

He further states that the provision of kindergarten education at age 4-5½ and the addition of two years beyond high school is inevitable and will become a reality in the 1970's. He feels that the 13th and 14th year at the junior college level will aid the nation's economy by providing academic, vocational and technical programs for capable students who have been unable to attend four year colleges and universities.

Wallace has a lot of other ideas too. Some might not be too popular in this area. For instance he believes that federal aid to education is here to stay — and he's probably right. He also thinks that the length of both the school day and the school year will be extended probably on eight-hour day lasting for 11 months.

He also points out that the Federal government is moving more and more towards federal control of the school systems. And again, he's probably right. Federal aid and federal control go hand-in-hand.

"The implication is clear," he says, "that the Federal government will become a major partner in providing education at all levels beginning with kindergarten, elementary and secondary and extending into higher education."

As Dr. Wallace points out, the assumption of responsibility by the Federal government to provide billions of dollars of educational support to states and communities must be accompanied by "the power to eliminate or curtail those programs that either defy improvement or which prove to be unworthy of support."

But this is really nothing new. Common sense tells us that he who dances must pay the fiddler.

A plug for the local theatre. "THAT DARN CAT" is one of the best pictures we've seen in years. Take the whole family you'll have a ball.

Although man has learned through evolution to walk in an upright posture, his eyes still swing from limb to limb.

IN BROWNFIELD MEET

Cold North Winds Slow Thinclads

Cold north winds accompanied by competition from strong schools in the south part of the state caused problems for the Hereford High School thinclads in Saturday's Brownfield track and field meet.

COLD WINDS FACING the runners hampered their efforts in trying for good times.

Also strong schools from the south, such as Monahans and Andrews have had more good weather favoring better practice sessions made a good showing in the tournament.

Hereford placed several members of its team in the meet with Gary Goodin making the finals in the low hurdles.

Goodin has a 20.6 in the preliminary running, but when he was turned into the kind for the finals his time dropped to 21.06.

COACH JOE BROOKS said that all the men showed better times than last week in the Fort Stockton meet, but were unable to keep up with teams who had a practice session advantage over them.

The team as a whole scored more points than last week with several men setting a faster pace.

Jim Childers placed sixth in the broad jump with an 18 feet seven and one-half inches mark. He also was jumping into the wind.

MARK HICKS made sixth place in the high jump at five feet eight inches.

Charlie Inman placed a close seventh in the mile run. He was only 2 of a second behind the fifth place runner.

Ricky Fangman placed eighth in the discus throwing with a 140 feet mark.

Bill Coffin hurled the shot put 45 feet in the competition.

ROGER SUTTLE cleared 10 feet six inches on the pole vault, but was unable to place in the meet.

Hereford will take a weeks rest from action due to the teacher's meeting in Amarillo next weekend, but will go back in action the following Saturday when they enter the Levelland track and field meet.

HELPFUL VIEWPOINTS

LINCOLN, Neb. — The mayor of Lincoln believes that high school students should be involved in city government.

In a letter sent to the heads of city advisory boards, Mayor Dean Petersen asked that each recommend young persons to serve as full, active members.

"I don't mean that they should dominate these boards," Mayor Petersen said, "but their viewpoints could be very helpful."

CLOSED SUNDAY

Baseball Season Opens Tuesday

Starters for the 1966 version of the Hereford Whiteface Baseball team were named Saturday. These nine will clash with the Palo Duro Dons Tuesday afternoon in the first game of the season.

Game time will be 4 p.m. on the Whiteface field east of the football stadium.

This will be the first of eight tough non-conference games, according to coach Don Dorman. All of these games will be with 4-A schools.

EITHER ED Mims or Alex

victory over the Amarillo squad.

ALTHOUGH THE first eight games are going to be rough, coach Dorman said he feels the men on the team will get a lot of good experience.

Conference I-AAA baseball will see the debut of a new team this spring when Canyon opens their first season in the history of the school.

In the past, the district had only two teams, Hereford and Dumas, and these teams had to clash on eight different occasions to decide the winner of the district.

BUT, THIS YEAR things will be different. Hereford will meet its opponents only three times each in the district race to decide the winner of the crown. Last season the Whitefaces got off to a slow beginning in conference play, dropping their first game to the Demons, but jumped back into the race and won the title after downing the Dumas nine in an Amarillo play off game.

Hereford has suffered two big losses on the baseball team this year. First was Gary Victor who took a scholarship to Lubbock Christian College, beginning with the spring semester. Second was when Steve Hodges had to have surgery on his right arm and will be out of action at least six weeks.

THESE TWO were key players in the district championship team last year.

Many of the players out this year are playing for the first time on the high school team. Others out are Brant Knox, Leaton Noyes, Lynn Betts, Kelley Tyler, Roger Beasley, Mike Banner, Gary Richardson, Mike Davis and Ralph Loerwald.

TOMATOES FROM SAWDUST?

VANCOUVER (AP) — Sand and sawdust may eventually replace good, rich loam in the hothouse tomato industry.

Researchers are getting up to three times the normal yield by growing tomatoes in a sand-sawdust mixture instead of soil.

"We are hoping that within another year interested growers will be able to make use of this information," says R. M. Adamson, the scientist in charge of the research. Experiments have been going on for three years at the federal experimental farm at Saanichton, on Vancouver Island.

THE BOARD approved the audit for the 1965 operations and received reports from the President and the Executive vice-President. President Moore outlined the major achievements of the Foundation during the past 9 years. He outlined the major achievements of the Foundation, pointing out a number of major "break thru's" that have developed increased income of the agricultural industry in the High south plains of Texas.

Research projects planned for 1966 were presented by Dr. Collier. Some of the research projects that will receive major attention this year are — Trace Element Testing at the Foundation and in several farm-centered research projects; Further development of the Foundation's Farming System of Interplanting at Halfway, and on 6 farms throughout the area in cooperation with farmers; Several new soybean strains with desirable characteristics to fit certain conditions, will be further tested and developed for eventual future release as new varieties. ced by a federal court ruling that the poll tax was unconstitutional as a prerequisite for voting.

Voting qualifications remain substantially unchanged from old rules, Mrs. Miller said.

The exemption certificates can be issued to any person turning 21 years of age during the year, as usual, she added.

Exemption certificates must be obtained 30 days prior to any election.

FIRST CONFERENCE MEET

Local Duffers Take First Place In District Tourney

Hereford Whiteface golfers won their first conference meet of the season when they scored a low 317 on the Muleshoe golf course Saturday and Mike Horton took medalist honors.

Two teams entered from Hereford High School with the varsity placing first in the meet.

MULESHOE PLACED second in the meet with a 330 total score for their four top players.

Five players entered on each team with the top four scores counting toward the final goal.

Mike Horton was named medalist for the meet with a 78, lowest score in the event.

Andy Channer and Jimmy Young were close behind Horton with a 79 and Roger Owen scored an 81, Russell Phillips scored an 86, but this score did not count on the final total.

STEVE HENDON scored a low

79 for top man on the B-team.

Chris Hutcheson scored an 86, Duane Black scored a 98, Steve Sigman scored 95 and Greg Herring scored a 105. The top four scores totaled 358 for the B-team.

This was the third meet for the Whiteface team with them winning one and placing fifth in the first meet of the season.

Hereford won their meet held here last week and placed fifth out of 11 4-A schools in the Roswell High School meet two weeks ago.

Coach Jesse Geron was the coach for the team in the absence of Coach Cuby Kitchens who was in Austin attending the state Basketball playoffs.

HEREFORD NOW has five more meets to compete in, before the district title winner is decided.

Each town in the district is hosting a tourney and the scores of all the teams at all the tournaments will be added together at the end of the season to decide the winner of the crown.

Next week the locals will take a rest from action due to a teacher's meeting in Amarillo.

The next week the Whiteface golf team will travel to Tulia where they will participate in their second conference meet of the season next Saturday.

ACTION WILL get underway at 10 a. m. with the teams getting off to a shotgun start.

If Hereford continues to win the meets they will be the undisputed champions, but officials predict that Muleshoe will give the local duffers some tough competition for the title.

The Mules took the crown in last year's action and lost only one of their starters from the team.

ONE MINUTE, PLEASE

THE CHURCH I LOVE SEEKS THE THINGS ABOVE IN HEAVEN. (13th in a series)

"Were you not raised to life with Christ? Then aspire to the realm above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God, and let your thoughts dwell on that higher realm, not on this earthly life." (Colossians 3:1,2 NEB).

We were raised to life with Christ when we were buried with him in baptism. (See verse 12 of Col. 3).

"No wonder we do not lose heart; Though our outward humanity is a decay, yet day by day we are inwardly renewed. Our troubles are slight and short-lived, and their outcome an eternal glory which outweighs them far. Meanwhile our eyes are fixed, not on the things that are seen, but on the things that are unseen: for what is seen passes away; what is unseen is eternal. For we know that if the earthly frame that houses us today should be demolished, we possess a building which God has provided — a house not made by human hands, eternal, and in heaven." (1st Corinthians 4:16-5:1 NEB).

"Praise be to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who in his mercy gave us new birth into a living hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead! The inheritance to which we are born is one that nothing can destroy or spoil or wither. It is kept for you in heaven, and you, because you put your faith in God, are under the protection of his power until salvation comes — the salvation which is even now in readiness and will be revealed at the end of time." (1 Peter 1:3-5 NEB).

ON BEAUTIFICATION

C of C Committee Outlines Projects

The Beautification Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, in its first meeting of the year Friday, discussed several projects to which it will devote attention during the coming year.

Mrs. Virginia Adams, and immediate past chairman, Dave Alexander, discussed several projects undertaken by the committee in the past. Mrs. Irving Alexander reviewed the efforts of the committee in behalf of the Downtown Variety Park plantings. THE BEAUTY wall proposed last year for U. S. Hwy. 60 was listed as a project to be considered at a later date. A proposed fountain for Mother's Park was discussed in some detail and the determination of the Pioneer Study Club to complete this project was reaffirmed. After discussion it was moved and seconded to recommend to the city that some alternative of trash barrels at the curb at those addresses where there is no alley for trash pickup be considered. THE MOTION carried. Other projects listed for consideration and further study include:

- New border plants be planted and greater care be given greenery in the Variety Park planters.
- ENCOURAGE the city to proceed with condemnation and clearing of dilapidated, unsafe and unsightly buildings.
- Promotion of a planting of one variety of flower throughout the city.
- Development of a local plan to work with junk yard owners in light of the federal highway beautification law, to produce local voluntary action and forestall federal action.
- A Bud 'n Blossom Garden Club representative presented a suggestion which has been forwarded to the city by that organization.

THE CLUB suggested that a permit be required before trees could be removed and that the city require that property from which trees have been removed be replanted in some type of greenery, either trees or shrubbery. —Strict licensing and control of those engaged in the business of tree trimming and repair to determine their qualifications and ethical reputation, to include bonding. A DETERMINATION of the order of precedence for each of the above suggestion will be made at the committee's next meeting. It was agreed that the committee should meet the first Tuesday of each month at noon at the Hereford Country Club.

WORST CROP SINCE 1905 NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A nationwide survey shows drought seriously affected all-important foodgrain crops in six states. Mysore State's harvest was described as the worst in 60 years.

FOUR BEAT BUCKPASSER MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Only four horses took the measure of Buckpasser leading 2-year-old colt of 1965. In the Tom Fool colt's first start he ran fourth to Lonely Gambler, Handsome Boy and Mask of Play at Aqueduct. In the Futurity at Aqueduct Buckpasser was beaten by the filly Priceless Gem. Hospitality ran a dead heat with Buckpasser in the National Stallion at Aqueduct last June.

KATHY LEADS PROETTES QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio led the Ladies Professional Golf Association of America tour players in money earned during 1965 with $32,327. She won eight tournaments. Marlene Hagge finished second with five victories and $23,934. U.S. Open champion Carol Mann was third with $20,875. Her unofficial earnings reached $24,844. Eleven LPGA players won tournaments during 1965.

CAREERS LIMITED AT TWO MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Graustark, the unbeaten young colt now preparing for the rich winter stakes at Hialeah, has something in common with the great Kelso, also working for a comeback at Hialeah. Both horses raced only three times during their 2-year-old careers. Kelso won only one race at two.

WHAT, NO PALM TREES FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The Rolling Hills Golf and Country Club is unlike most Florida courses. It has no palm trees but plenty of oaks. President of the club is Charles Seriani, owner of the thoroughbred Native Street. One of the layout's eight owners is George Morton Levy, the father of night harness racing in America. SWIMMING WITH WHAT? KURUKESHETRA, India (AP) — Hunters used a motorboat in an attempt to find a crocodile which had been swimming in a portion of a stream used by Hindu pilgrims for ritual bathing. They didn't find it.

SHOT, DISCUS MEN — Bill Coffin, left, and Rick Fangman will represent the Hereford Whitefaces in the shot put and discus events. Fangman hurled the discus 140 feet last week at the Fort Stockton field and track meet. (Staff Photos by David Butler) Coffin and Fangman are both juniors.

AGGRESSIVE GLACIER
 GREYMOUTH, N. Z. (N) - For years the Franz Josef Glacier, on the west coast of New Zealand's South Island, has been retreating. Tourist interests lamented because this glacier is a most spectacular one, dropping steeply from alpine regions to only 600 feet above sea level, where it can easily be visited by tourists. During the last winter the glacier ended its long retreat up the valley and began pushing forward again at a rate of nearly three feet a day. Latest measurements by geologists show that it has speeded up still further and is rumbling forward at the remarkable pace, for a glacier, of 5 1/2 feet daily, engulfing everything in its path.

CAN'T AFORD CANDY
NEW YORK (AP) — If every child on relief in New York City received one ice cream cone or candy just once a week, it would cost the government $1,040,000 a year.

The city doesn't have money to buy such weekly delights. Joseph H. Louchheim, the city's new welfare commissioner, uses the figures to illustrate the magnitude of financing welfare in New York City. Describing the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) program, Louchheim said there are 200,000 children in New York under the age of 18 who cannot afford an ice cream cone or candy bar once a week.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A South African gangster "hired" a man to do his nine-month prison sentence, police reported.

The plot was discovered when a sharp-eyed detective spotted the African gangster walking down a Cape Town street. Only a few weeks earlier the man had been sent to jail for nine months for the illegal possession of a firearm.

When police checked the cells they found a switch had been made. News reports said the gangster offered the substitute two horses and a cart of serve his sentence for him.

Both men were scheduled to appear in court charged with fraud.

Mrs. James also explained that the American Cancer Society is deeply grateful to individuals and families throughout the county who are using this practical means of assisting the Society to carry on the fight against cancer. SUPPORTS FIGHT AGAINST CANCER

Cancer Society Reveals Memorial Fund Details

In response to numerous requests from families and individuals, the American Cancer Society has inaugurated a memorial fund. Families and friends of cancer victims are invited to contribute to commemorate their loved ones.

"Contributions made in memory of a friend or a member of the family are acknowledged by the American Cancer Society, and a memorial card is sent to the family stating that a memorial gift has been received and giving the name of the donor.

These contributions may be in any amount, said Mrs. Sue James, Memorial Chairman of the Deaf Smith County Unit. "Memorial funds are used to support the Society's three-fold attack on cancer through research, education, and service," explained Mrs. James.

"ALTHOUGH the major source of funds for this program comes from the Society's Annual April Crusade, memorial funds received throughout the year are becoming increasingly important to the Society as more families and individuals become aware that they can contribute to the ultimate victory over this dread disease."

Mrs. James said that the memorial gifts received by the local Unit of the American Cancer Society are made not only as remembrances of those who have died of cancer, but frequently in honor of happier events, such as birthdays and anniversaries.

School Is Different Now

PRECISION EQUIPMENT for use in Hereford High School science classes.

TO KEEP PACE with a changing world, public schools teach new subjects or present old subjects in new ways, making continuous adjustments to meet students' needs.

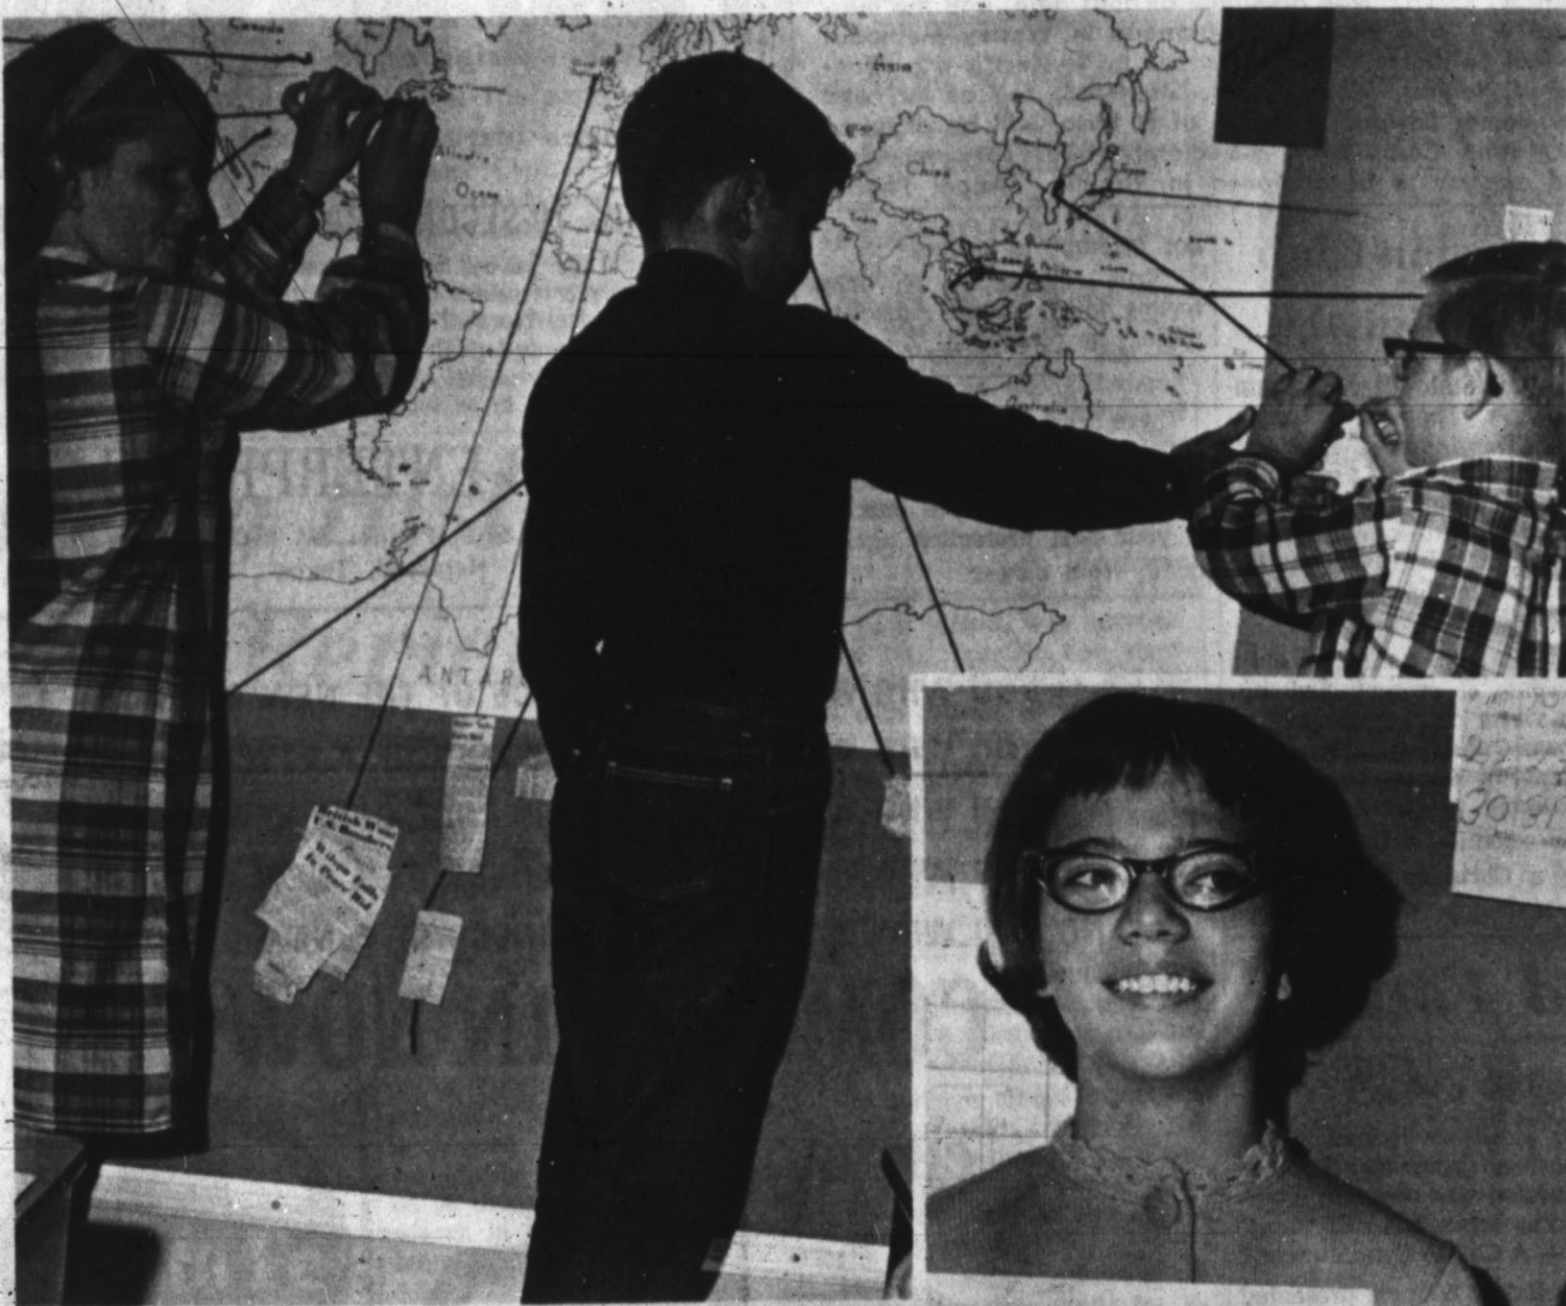

NEW IDEAS in Hereford schools, as well as some unchanged basics, will be on exhibit during Texas' Public Schools Week beginning Monday. Open house hours at each building will give parents of pupils and other interested persons an opportunity to see classrooms with new teaching equipment and displays of student work.

FROM PRIMARY grades through high school, teachers and pupils have on exhibit examples of classroom activity which they will show to visitors. Special programs are slated also in high school and junior high.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING gets new emphasis in Stanton Junior High shop classes, like this in metal working.

SPECIAL EDUCATION offers opportunity to many students. These at Bluebonnet Elementary are sanding a piece of furniture.

READIN' WRITIN' AND 'RITHMETIC remain basic, but they are not quite the same. Even the number of days on the calendar for March, shown at right, vary if they are written according to principles of the new math being studied in a sixth grade arithmetic class at Shirley School; far right, watch words and sentences put on a screen by a projector. When they begin to learn to write, first-graders like those at Central Elementary, below, use charts and other helps as well as the workbooks in which they practice forming their letters.

HOBBY: PLASTIC CRAFT

Home Ornaments Made

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Making decorative pieces for her home is a favorite pastime for Mrs. Jerry Don Glover, who likes to experiment with a new medium and is interested just now in working with liquid plastic.

SHE WAS INVITED recently to demonstrate the creation of ornamental grape clusters to the Young Homemakers Association, of which she is a new member.

She has been making the bright-hued plastic grapes for several months and says they have been received enthusiastically as gifts.

"So all I've made have been given away," she admits, "and these are for me," showing a half-finished purple cluster. The oversized grapes are made of liquid plastic, tinted and poured into small bulbs to harden, then wired to a wood stem.

Mrs. Glover uses round Christmas-tree ornaments for the bulb, and removes the coat of color from them with silver polish. She uses a small paper cup to form a funnel through which she pours the colored plastic into the bulb. A solution which makes the plastic harden is added previously, with the color.

A SHORT LENGTH OF wire is inserted into the plastic before it hardens and used to tie the "grape" into the cluster. A piece of tree branch serves nicely as the center of the cluster, and Mrs. Glover borrows an electric drill from her husband's tool supply to drill holes in it to insert the wires and fasten them firmly.

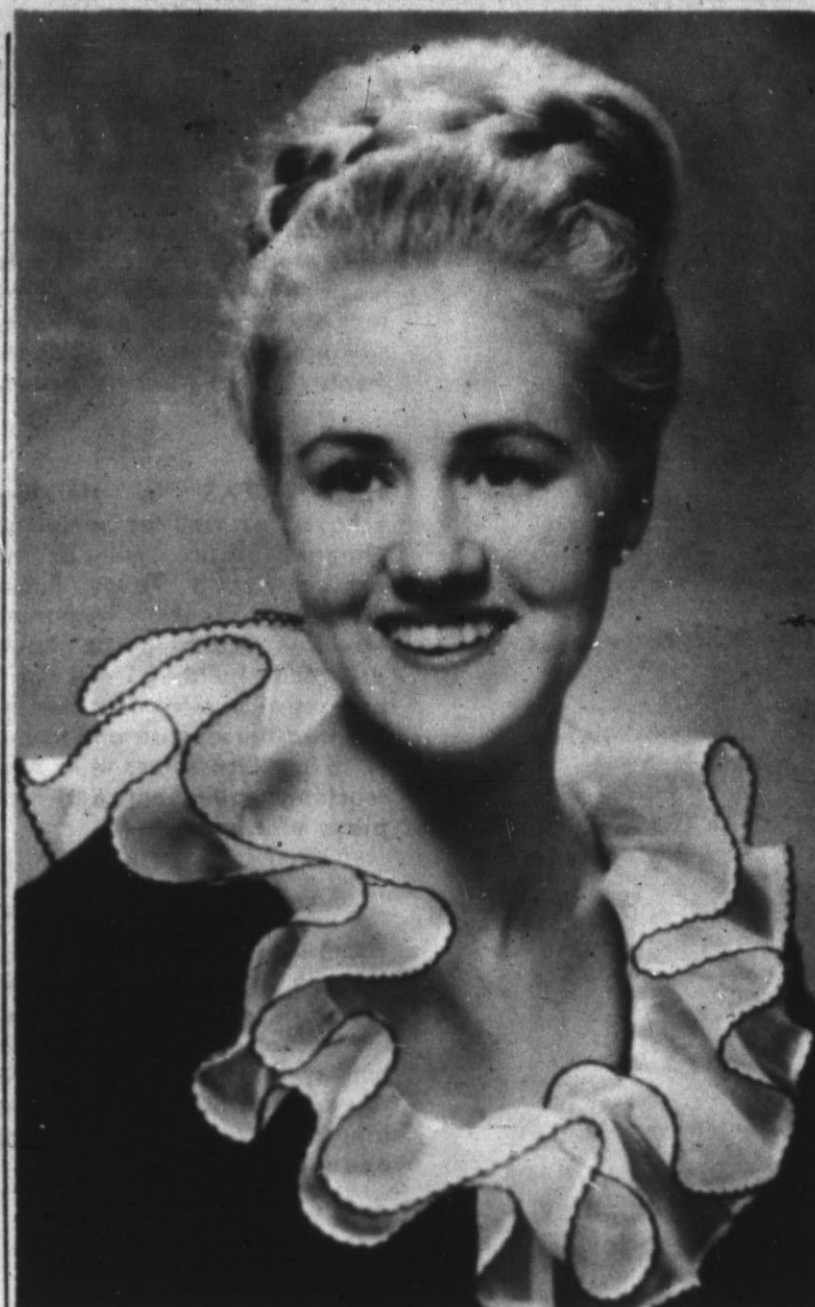

She varnishes the branch to preserve it, and dips real grape tendrils in varnish and adds them with plastic leaves for a finishing touch. One step in her process can be eliminated, she says, by buying clear bulbs at a hobby shop instead of using the decorations.

She has made the grapes in several different colors but chose deep purple for her own cluster because that color and blue are her favorites for dress and her home. They appear in a variety of shades against the background of white walls and off-white draperies in her living room.

THE GLOVERS LIVE in a rock house on a farm 16 miles west of Hereford. The renovated house was repainted inside when they moved there two years ago. Both grew up in the Lazzbuddie community and attended school there. Mrs. Glover, the former Donna Redwine, studied a year at West Texas State College before her marriage.

Like most members in the Young Homemakers, she was the Future Homemakers Association in high school. She is expecting a second child soon; daughter Susan will be two years old March 28.

Brown-eyed Mrs. Glover likes to sew as well as to care for homemaking duties. Results of her handcraft hobbies appear in numerous room ornaments — A group of mobiles made of balsa wood strips and colored string, hanging over a corner cabinet; toy musical instruments mounted in shadow-box frames and grouped on a wall near the piano; a bouquet of exotic-looking flowers made of dyed feathers. Her only previous work with plastic is a wall hanging, of colored plastic chips and pieces glued into a modern design.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Plans for the May 15 marriage of Miss Mary Russell to James Charles Stapleton are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Russell. Miss Russell and her fiance will both receive B. S. degrees from Sul Ross College at Alpine on that date, and the marriage will take place that afternoon in Wesley Methodist Chapel on the college campus. The bride-elect is a graduate of Hereford High School. Stapleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Stapleton of El Paso, will be assigned to Marine Corps duty immediately after commencement and expects to be stationed in Virginia. (Angel Photo)

Calliopian Club Hears Minister

The Rev. Staley Hackley, minister of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, was the speaker to Calliopian Club recently for a program on religion. Mrs. Sue James was hostess in her home and Mrs. Alton Fraser was the program director who introduced the guest.

Some of the new religious cults developing at present, and atheistic views being expressed in this and other countries were discussed by the speaker. Athelists attempt to prove their belief by scientific points, he said, while a Christian accepts by faith teachings which he does not attempt to prove. "True religion is an inner feeling which science cannot explore," he concluded.

There are 1,400,000 Americans, alive today, cured of cancer. The American Cancer Society says an annual health checkup is your best protection against death from cancer.

Officers Elected For First Methodist WSCS

Mrs. Robert Strain was elected president of First Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service for a term beginning in June, at a luncheon in the church fellowship hall Wednesday. She will succeed Mrs. H. Lee Benefield, who was made chairman of Christian Vocations.

Mrs. Roland Hairgrove was named vice president; Mrs. A. T. Mims was re-elected recording secretary and Mrs. Ed Warren treasurer. Mrs. B. E. Cooper is to be chairman of local church activities, Mrs. J. C. McCracken cheer chairman, Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr. coordinator for the Wesleyan Service Guild.

Secretaries of work divisions are Mrs. S. L. Garrison, campus ministry; Mrs. J. Frank Ford Jr., Christian social relations; Mrs. Charles Springer, membership cultivation; Mrs. Bill Walden, missionary education and service; Mrs. Ray Simpson, program materials; Mrs. Don Davidson, spiritual life cultivation; Mrs. Joe Hamilton, supply work. Mrs. Floyd Dunavant, vice president, conducted the business meeting. Plans were made for representation at the annual meeting of Northwest Texas Conference WSCS in Abilene March 22-23.

PATIENT HAS GUESTS

Mrs. Sue Havens and baby son, Randy, El Camp have been here with her mother, Mrs. George Suggs, who is recovering after recent surgery in Deaf Smith County Hospital. Mrs. Barbara Suggs and children of Lockney also visited Mrs. Suggs during her illness.

LAE Study Conducted

Mrs. A. N. Hopson was leader of a study of the Malaysian Confederation in La Afflatus Studio Club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Louie Olson.

Formation of the confederation by a group of Asian nations and its place in the present political scheme of southeast Asia were discussed by the speaker.

Members were invited to enroll for leadership workshops scheduled March 21-22 by Deaf Smith Program Building Committee, during the business session with Mrs. Hopson presiding.

As a Texas Day observance, roll call was answered with names of Texas personalities. Those present included Mmes. T. W. Roberson, B. A. Reddell, B. F. Markham, Walter Johnson, A. B. Higgins, Emmett H. Hale, A. H. Cook and C. E. Beauford.

Student Speaks Of Philippines To Legion Units

Maps and the flag of the Philippines were shown by Teresita Parba, a student from that island nation, as she presented slides and talked to members of the American Legion and Auxiliary in the Rock Clubhouse at Veterans Park Tuesday evening.

Miss Parba, an American Field Service student in Hereford High School, was introduced by Mrs. Ira Ott. She showed colored photographs and slides with scenes of mountains, trees, rice fields, city streets, homes and Filipinos at work and play.

She told of social customs, saying that girls are not permitted to have dates until they are 21 years old, and that women in the 40's are considered old. She presented a graceful native dance to recorded music. A gift from the Auxiliary was presented to the speaker by Mrs. Ott.

Plans for a dinner March 15 observing the Legion's 47th birthday were made. Jack Flynt of Dimmitt, department vice-commander, will be the speaker at the Legion Hall.

Committee reports were heard and an order was made for jeweled flag pins which Auxiliary members will sell. The Auxiliary voted to aid an Amarillo post in sending a hometown paper to a serviceman in Viet Nam, as no request has been received from a local man.

Announcements concerning the 18th District convention, to be held here April 30 and May 1, were made. Mrs. Bill Gileland, Auxiliary president, is to give a welcoming address to delegates.

Mrs. LeRoy Williamson and Mrs. Carl Schroeder were hostesses. Refreshments were served to nine Auxiliary members and the program guest.

Women's Clubs, Top of Texas District, here March 24-25.

Mrs. Ray Johnson, a coordinator of plans for the convention and a member of Summerfield Club, announced the appointment of these members to convention committees: Mmes. Guy Walser and Achley, transportation; Mmes. J. C. Clearman and Carl Lance, trash-or-treasure sale; Mmes. Mack Noland and Euler, breakfast tickets; Mrs. J. B. Noland, breakfast decorations; Mrs. George DeLozier, arts; Mmes. Lee Curry and R. B. Baker, crafts.

Projects planned were a contribution to the Opportunity Plan student loan fund at West Texas State University, and participation in Public Schools Week March 7-11 by visits to local schools.

Breezy History Book Reviewed

Texas Day was observed in the program of Summerfield Study Club Thursday afternoon, and Federation Day in the announcements and business session, Mrs. Mack Noland, Mrs. Clayton Sanders and Mrs. Thurman Atchley were hostesses in Mrs. Noland's home. Review of a book, An Informal History of Texas by Frank Tolbert, an Amarillo native, was presented by Mrs. J. R. Euler. Mrs. Guy Walser gave highlights of Texas places of interest as depicted in an article, Try Texas for Vacation Fun, from Redbook Magazine.

"In his breezy narrative, Tolbert has taken Texas history out of the classroom," Mrs. Euler said. "Yet if the viewpoint is relaxed or delightfully irreverent, the information is based on thousands of hours of research in state archives, court records and private papers."

She added that Tolbert did part of his investigating in a Jeep trip all around the boundaries of Texas, and has put into his history accounts of the little people whose influence on state events is well documented, along with the great Texans.

Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., vice president, was in charge of the business period. Mrs. Atchley was chosen to serve as acting president for a few weeks and Mrs. Glenn Walser was named club delegate to the convention of Texas Federation of

Spring Brings Cleaning Time

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Has spring house cleaning or redecorating begun at your house? One way to start is to get rid of the dust-catchers around the house. With the past week's sand, it reminds us that extra things around the house cause extra work.

TAKE AN inventory of vases, statuettes, figurines and what-nots on your shelf. If these items attract more dust than they do admiring glances, be firm with yourself, that is. Toss them out and choose one or two newer objects with simple lines for upkeep.

It is difficult for me to toss out some of those things that I should, I move them about four places before they find their final resting place. I first take them to the cellar, then the wash house (how old fashioned can a person be?), then to the garage and finally — no, not tossed out but given to someone who can start the cycle again.

An item in management: Next time it rains or some weather keeps you inside, take time out for clean-up. Do your dresser drawers look like a rummage sale? Empty first, then throw out everything you haven't used recently.

Before your rearranging, clean drawers well and line with plastic lining paper, then put back sorted-out contents. Whatever's used most often should be nearest at hand, with special — occasion items farther back.

THERE HAS BEEN AN extra amount of office work this week, in fact, more than we can do. Thanks to Carolyn Parmer and Mrs. Sallie Stevens as they helped with typing and stuffing envelopes.

From an ad in the paper I called Mrs. Stevens. I asked if I knew her and she said yes, I'm in the Young Homemakers Home Demonstration Club. When I recovered I took the work to her. Anyway, office work is up-to-date.

MRS. MILTON MCGEEHEE was missed at the Appreciation Luncheon. She is participating in the Seventh Annual Leadership Conference on Traffic Safety, sponsored by the National Extension Homemakers Council at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mrs. McGehee was a convention speaker.

THERE ARE APPROXIMATELY 40,000 Texas homemakers who are members of the Texas Home Demonstration Association, Deaf Smith County has 172 members enrolled in 1966.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, March 11 and 12, I will be in Dallas attending the annual meeting of the Texas Home Economics Association. I will be on a panel to discuss work in Family Economics in this country. Also, two committee meetings to attend.

THE COURSE OF STUDY with complete references has been given to all the ministers in the country. This is designed for use with any group interested in teaching adults. Some of the references are for handouts and some for the use of the leaders, but they are so labeled. This collection should be a great help to all persons interested in teaching others.

A NEW SPRAY-ON insulation made from the starch in corn has both flame and humidity resistance and strength that compares favorably with commercially available urethane foams, like that which made thin-wall refrigerators possible, says Mrs. Jane Berry, Texas A&M University Extension housing and home furnishings specialist.

The starch from a single bushel of corn can be used to make enough polyether for an inch-thick layer of lightweight foam that will insulate the exterior walls of a 50 by 25 foot house, she explains.

PROPER HANDLING of garments can prolong their life, says Rhea Boyle, Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M

University. She gives the following tips on how to wash and dry garments:

Sort garments as to color, type of fabric, and the way they are made.

Don't overload your washing machine.

Don't damage or weaken fabric by excessive twisting or wringing.

Use the type of washing product suitable to the garments being washed and use the amount recommended on the package.

Avoid adding bleach directly on the garments. Always dilute the bleach water according to directions on the container.

Student Rights Get Court Test

A recent case with broad interest is that in which a West Texas State University student sought reinstatement through court action after he had been dismissed from the school on grounds of having "a few beers". The case further involved his right to drive an automobile on and off the campus.

District Judge Gene Jordan ruled against the school when he granted a writ of mandamus forcing reinstatement of the student, and later scathed university officials for their attitude when the dean refused his appeal for reconciliation. The school, without doubt, will appeal the case to the Court of Texas.

The student pretty well based his case on high-handed methods of the school, classifying WT officials as "wholly arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable". The things he had done, the case stressed, were legal and law-abiding for the average citizen.

While we grant that the student has a point, it does seem that our schools of higher learning must have some method of controlling the students who are entrusted to their care; otherwise, some of the stories we hear about college students will become wild indeed. If the school cannot establish and maintain rules, it seems that they will sooner or later fail to assume any responsibility whatever, and higher education will face a stiff image reversal in public opinion.

Some of the trouble may well lie in

In Like A Lamb

March came in like the proverbial lion, and no question about that. This means that it will go out like a lamb, according to the popular adage. What happens during the 29 days which intervene, of course, is anybody's guess, and a few of the old timers tell you that they have seen March blow in like a lion and go out the same way.

March dust and high winds have been a peculiarity to the plains country since the settlers brought the first plow to the area. Irrigation and modern planting methods have helped alleviate the situation to some extent, but we cannot think of many people who will not admit they are glad that March only comes once a year.

Newcomers probably suffer more than anyone else, once the winds start barreling through the wide open spaces, and scores of people have pulled up stakes and moved away when the winds hit. Most of them do stick it out, though, and like the natives soon accept and become accustomed to the situation.

For a long time, West Texans had no defense in behalf of the "dust bowl season". More recently, though, we have adapted the political approach of modern statesmen, and quickly point to the floods which rampaged through the central states, hurricanes which ravage the coastal areas, and smog which is more recently plaguing many of our cities.

"The winds may be unpleasant," we content, "but certainly they are not so bad as conditions in other parts of the country must face."

Probably the most accurate of all, however, is another old adage which started back with the early settlers and is just as true today as then: "If you don't like Panhandle weather, just be patient a while. It is sure to change."

the inefficient manner in which some of our colleges and universities operate their disciplinary codes. These procedures of behaviour, it seems to us, should be spelled out in detail and voluntarily signed by the student as acceptable when he enrolls in the school. Furthermore, they should be enforced in all students, including athletes; also on college officials. Certainly, they should be humane and meet the standards of modern life — but they still should not allow or endorse conduct which would reflect upon the good name of the college or university, and they should be upheld by college officials with the same zeal and fervor by which Judge Jordan seeks to administer justice in his court.

Should the Supreme Court rule otherwise, it is highly probable that similar suits will spread down into the public school levels of our state, and without some semblance of discipline we simply cannot see how our officials, college or otherwise, can continue to operate our schools efficiently and sensibly.

It is possible that the case in question contained other angles than those mentioned but, in general, any parent knows that it would be impossible to keep 1,000 to 5,000 youngsters in line without some sort of rules and regulations. Furthermore, we doubt that it would be good training for our boys and girls as future citizens of Texas and of the United States of America.

Traffic Problem

The big problem with a lot of people these days centers less around doing the right thing, and more on deciding just what is the right thing to do. Sometimes you hit a problem which just doesn't seem to have a clear-cut answer.

For instance, we recently heard a lady expound at length on the fact that our youngsters have become completely indifferent to the dangers of traffic, primarily because they are guarded in school zones and trained to ignore approaching automobiles and, naturally, the habit goes along with them when they are not in safe traffic areas. To a large extent, we are bound to admit that the lady has a point. On many streets youngsters skate, play ball and beginners ride bicycles, all with complete indifference to heavy traffic from both directions.

At the same time, it seems to us that the school traffic safety zones are a must. We have an excellent safety record around our schools, and this is one thing everyone is most anxious to maintain. Without doubt, this record can in a large measure be attributed to the safety system. The answer lies possibly in organized educational drives by clubs and, above all else, a bit more interest on the part of parents whose children are taking over so many of our streets. Since we do have adequate parks and many large backyards, this could also afford a practical answer to the problem.

Frankly, it does seem that the younger generation has far less respect for the dangers involved in traffic than our adults, and this is one place where the proverbial "stitch in time" can be the most valuable thing in the world. Furthermore, it is a problem which seems to be growing worse instead of better.

Together

Getting things done. When a job is big and urgent there's a made-in-America formula for getting it done. It's based on combined action by the citizen as a volunteer and by the government — together.

Nowhere is this partnership between the volunteer and the government more vital than in the fight against the nation's second biggest killer — cancer.

With Cancer Control Month at hand we focus again on a voluntary health agency that has helped change the nation's attitude and practice in fighting this disease — the American Cancer Society.

Even the huge sums being spent by the government on research became available in part because of the pioneer prodding and initiative of the volunteers who make up the American Cancer Society. A president of the United States put it best once on the eve of the Cancer Crusade when he said: "Partnerships like this between the people and the national government are indeed the heartbeat of this effort."

In respect to research the American Cancer Society maintains a flexibility of approach which is imperative for creative and productive research into the cause and cure of cancer.

This is also true for the two other parts of the three-part ACS program — service and education. Public education about cancer is directly related to the saving of lives because early detection is indispensable for the one half of all cancer patients who can be saved with present knowledge and methods of treatment. The present director of the government's National Cancer Institute, minced no words when he said: "It is my conviction that education of the public is carried out better by voluntary agencies than the government."

So too with much of the service program to ease the burdens on cancer patients and their families. The partnership between the volunteer and government — on local, state and national levels — is the key to better execution of this humanitarian endeavor.

MAIN STREET, USA

Now, Something IS Done About Weather

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — Weather modification has been a dream of scientists for generations and enough headway has been made so that it is now illegal to try to change the weather without informing a Federal agency in advance. National Science Foundation placed such a rule into effect last January 1.

President Johnson has taken a personal interest in the subject and sent Congress a special message recently to transmit the seventh annual report on weather modification submitted to him by the National Science Foundation. LBJ told Congress: "Highly encouraging steps are being taken toward establishing safe and effective programs for modifying the weather."

Every American has a personal stake in current research efforts. Farmers, pilots and retailers are among those with an obvious special interest. Taxpayers are affected too because the U. S. is now spending $5 million annually on climate research and scientists are urging a six-fold increase to $30 million a year by 1970.

SUPPOSE costly tornadoes, hurricanes and floods could be prevented? The savings in dollars would far exceed the cost of the most elaborate research program. The government would recover its research investment quickly through higher taxes. The saving in lives and property damage would be even more important.

A recent report by a committee of the National Academy of Sciences said: "In a sense, weather modification today is a reality. Man can and does interfere with the atmosphere in a number of different ways. His ability to produce beneficial changes is still very limited and uncertain, but it is no longer either economically or politically trivial."

Congressional Hearings Planned

Congress has shown some interest in weather modification. There are two bills pending in the Senate and hearings are planned this year. Senator Warren G. Magnuson (D., Wash.), Chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, has proposed that the Department of Commerce undertake a weather modification program. The Weather Bureau is part of Commerce.

Seven Senators, headed by Clinton P. Anderson (D., N. Mex.), are backing a bill which would authorize the Department of Interior to conduct a rain-making program in five areas. Various other weather bills are pending in the House, including one to require the President to make a comprehensive report to Congress on the status of all weather modification efforts.

As so often happens when something new and important comes along, Federal agencies are vying for a share in the weather research. The Navy and the Weather Bureau are already involved in a joint program which seeks to weaken hurricanes by seeding clouds. This effort is known as "Project Storm-fury."

THE SPACE age is contributing to weather modification because satellites are sending back to earth a vast amount of information about world weather never before obtainable. The first step in controlling the weather is learning what causes it.

Some of the ramifications of weather modification include suppression of lightning, a major cause of forest fires and therefore a subject of interest to the Forest Service, and dispersion of fog, a matter of concern to the Air Force, Navy, Federal Aviation Agency, Maritime Administration, Coast Guard, Bureau of Roads, and other agencies.

TEN YEARS AGO

Three Incur Injuries When Residence Explodes

Three members of the C. E. Coleman Jr. family who were injured Sunday morning when their home exploded and then burned, were still in a "serious condition" here Wednesday, but hospital officials described their condition as improved.

Harold Leo Roberts, convicted murderer of his 17-month old daughter, remained in the Deaf Smith County jail here Wednesday awaiting transfer to prison or an appeal of his life sentence handed down Sunday afternoon by a Deaf Smith County jury.

Hereford City Commissioners on Monday let a $301,003 contract to the Panhandle Construction Co. of Lubbock for construction of two ground water storage tanks and needed pipeline.

Twenty howling Hereford dogs gained their freedom Sunday from the City dog pound, thanks to an unknown dog lover.

The first two candidates to file in the Hereford Rural High School trustee election did so Wednesday. Bert Boomer and Marcus Latham announced jointly that they would be candidates for the two vacancies.

A Hereford scoutmaster, Albert Maxwell, set an example for his boys Monday night when he was awarded Scouting's highest honor, the Eagle award.

Hundreds of parents and ex-students returned to the classroom here this week in honor of Texas Public Schools Week.

The visitors sat in classrooms with the students, ate lunch with them in the cafeterias and enjoyed activities with them in assembly.

A local lady gave a prowler the bird last Friday evening.

According to Robstown Police, Mrs. M. Q. Perdue returned home to discover that sometime between 6 and 9 p.m. someone had entered her home. After ransacking bureau drawers and looking under a mattress the intruder had evidently given up his search for money.

On the way out Mrs. Perdue's "visitor" spotted her canary in a cage in the kitchen. Not wanting to come away completely empty-handed, he deftly lifted the bird from its cage, and fled into the night.

—The Robstown Record

Three Canyon fishermen had an unusual catch on their recent trip to Lake El Novillo, about 100 miles east of Hermosillo, Mexico.

The "catch" was the fourth member of the expedition, Bud Parker, who was accidentally snared with a hook in the nostril by Bill Wilson. Although Parker describes Dr. W. J. Wooten, Jr. as a "tooth puller and not a hook puller," the Canyon dentist and Wesley Cox aided Parker in his plight.

Otherwise, fishing for large mouth bass was described by the men as excellent.

—The Canyon News

March has arrived, and in case you have any doubts just wash your hair and see the sand come pouring out.

It's strange but every year about this time we start to hear about the absence of rain in the area. A good illustration of this was the past weekend when the area north of us was favored with some good moisture and again Lamb County got none. The fact is not what we do not have rain, it's just that it evaporates before hitting the ground and as some one said Monday, a lot of fields are changing places as the winds pick up speed, and the wonderful West Texas sand begins to blow . . . all you sinus sufferers take note, and get prepared for the sneezing season.

—Lamb County News

The Palo Duro Canyon, second to the Grand Canyon, already attracts thousands of visitors. And thousands more would visit it if they could go into it from each end and each side without having to cover so many miles out of the way to get into the canyon proper. The whole Panhandle should get into some kind of cooperative effort aimed at getting a highway constructed on east to reach Highway 287, which reaches from Canada to the Gulf. It would double travel into Texas.

There are plenty of arguments in favor of such a road. The main one is it would boost tourist travel in the Canyon area many times over, and right now the State of Texas has a lot of boosters who want to increase tourist trade. Other states have attractions, not nearly so great as the Palo Duro, which they continually put before the traveling public, and the public responds.

—Memphis Democrat

That man with the big mouth and fists to match has stuck his foot in the gaping cavern again.

I'm sure you recognize Cassius by the description. He fights for money, but not for his country. He claims to pay enough taxes to support 200,000 men in uniform. He contends this should exclude him from the draft call to continue in boxing. He said he has no fight with the Viet Cong so why should he have to go. First of all he should have talked with a tax consultant before he bragged. He couldn't begin to support 200,000 men. Just give him a room full of newsmen and he has a field day.

This character must be a little slow upstairs if he couldn't even pass a simple army I.Q. test. When standards were lowered he managed to pass, which surprised thousands.

—Vega Enterprise

Russian scientists are making biological studies of the two dogs they put into orbit recently. One local wag said "Heck, I can tell them what's going to happen if they don't shoot a fireplug out there pretty soon."

While the Russians were shooting their strays out into space, an American woman died and left $8,000 for the care of her two canines. This ought to prove something about the relative merit of living in the two countries. Even a dog's life is better here.

THE BOOTLEG

Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm thought he had something figured out this week, but changed his mind.

Dear editor:

According to an article I was reading in a copy of a newspaper last night hoping it would help me get to sleep, Russia has come up with a new idea to save civilization from a nuclear war.

It's simple. Russia wants each one of the powers that have nuclear bombs, the United States, the Soviet Union, China, DeGaulle, to sign a pledge agreeing not to be the first to drop the things.

Obviously, if nobody drops one first, nobody ever will, and so nuclear destruction is thus headed off. How can you have a gun-fight if no gunman draws first?

But then I got to thinking. Why stop there? Why not get the same pledge on rifles, pistols, hand grenades, mortars, land mines, fire bombs, machine guns, sling shots and B-B guns? Fists, too.

If every nation in the world will agree not to shoot first with any kind of weapon, we've got it made.

Then all we'd have to do is get women and children to sign a pledge never to speak until spoken to, and we'd finally have some peace and quiet on this earth.

That seemed to take care of the whole problem and I was ready to drift off into sleep with a job well done and nothing to worry about but taxes and fish bait, when a sudden thought began to nag at me.

What if Russia or China some dark night around midnight Washington time changed dictators and the new one decided to throw out all the pledges of the old one and decided to let us know about it by tying the diplomatic note on the front end of a guided missile?

Nope, I decided, we could sign the pledge all right, but we'd better keep our guns oiled.

It took me another thirty minutes before I could get to sleep.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

City Records First Auto Mishap In Week

Hereford police investigated the first auto mishap in the city in seven days Friday night when a pickup collided with a parked vehicle about 7:45 p. m.

Barbara Ann Gholson, 16, driver of a 1958 model pickup, was treated at Deaf Smith County Hospital for a cut nose following the mishap.

Damage to the pickup she was driving was estimated at $200. A parked pickup owned by Quentin Curtiss, 304 Ave. K, which was parked in front of his home received damage estimated at $10 by city police.

Investigating policemen said the mishap occurred as the pickup driven by Miss Gholson dodged to avoid hitting an oncoming auto.

Mother Of City Woman Is Dead

Members of the Leo Witkowski family attended funeral services for Mrs. Wikowski's mother, Mrs. Frank F. Weil at Plainview Friday morning. Mrs. Weil, 70, was a long-time resident of Hale County who died Wednesday in a Plainview hospital.

A native of Kansas, she moved to Texas from Iowa in 1917 and lived on a farm southwest of Plainview. She is survived by her husband, three daughters, three sons, three sisters and three brothers.

The funeral was conducted in St. Alice Catholic Church, of which she was one of the first members.

Former Resident Of City Is Dead

Mrs. Mary Carter Bosse, a former Hereford resident and a sister of Mrs. J. J. Buckner and Jess Carter of this city, died of a heart attack in Reno, Nev., Wednesday and funeral services were conducted there Friday.

Mrs. Bosse was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Carter, and came to Hereford with her parents in 1912 when she was 10 years old. She attended Hereford schools and lived here until in the 1920's.

In addition to the relatives still residing here, she is survived by three daughters, five grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and two other sisters.

SPEND MORE, EDUCATE MORE

NEW DELHI, India — A meeting of Indian economists was told that India is spending 10 Rupees ($2.10) per student per year on education, compared with $300 in the United States. "We have the largest number of illiterates in the world — 380 million — and our expenditure on research is the lowest," the speaker D. S. Kothari, complained.

Foremost among Alexander's duties will be the development of Holly's sugar beet quality improvement program. He will also be concerned with implementing the agronomic research activities of the corporation, the dissemination of information on new beet growing technology to Holly's staff and more than 3000 growers, and the coordination of such special projects as may arise which are related to agricultural development.

Alexander, who joined Holly in 1947 as an associate agronomist in Swink, Colorado, has been a research agronomist since 1951 working throughout Holly's five-state area. Since 1962 he has been living in Tracy, California.

A native of Madison, Indiana, Alexander (48) grew up in Pueblo, Colorado, and attended Pueblo Junior College and Colorado State University in Fort Collins (B. S., 1947).

From 1950-1951 he attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology for advanced courses in statistics, mathematics, chemistry and physics. At Holly he has been responsible for a number of plant nutrient surveys and beet quality improvement projects. He has been a frequent contributor to national and regional technical farm publications and is considered an authority on sugar beet nitrogen fertilization.

Social Problems Raised
Tinkering with the weather to solve some national problems creates other problems. If you own a store on Main Street and have a sale scheduled for Friday, you don't want it to rain that day. However a farmer only a few miles down the road might desperately need rain that day to save a crop.

This sort of problem has already arisen in connection with seeding of clouds in an effort to induce rain. There have been cases where precipitation was induced but fell in an unwanted area. Cloud seeding is not an exact science yet, although President Johnson told Congress: "At present it appears feasible, under appropriate conditions, to seed some kinds of clouds and achieve increased precipitation."

If Mark Twain were alive today, he would have to revise one of his most famous quotations. Uncle Sam is doing something about the weather.

Tulia Editor Speaks To Local Church Youth

H. M. Baggary, editor of the Tulia Herald, was the speaker at the meeting of St. Anthony's youth club here Wednesday night.

Baggary spoke to the club of the joys and problems of the teenage world. In his speech pointing out the difference in time and custom since he was a child, Baggary marveled at the faster pace of the younger generation today.

THE SPEAKER commented on the ever-increasing pace of young people: "When I was a boy, I used to sit at home in the evening and hope that some neighbor would come down the road and visit awhile. We had a quiet life, nothing like the young people of today who can't decide where to go. No, we never had that problem."

Baggary also outlined current world conditions, showing students they have more problems that they realize. The speaker brought out the problem of over-population, and the startling rise in the number of people in the United States alone.

The war in Viet Nam was also one of the world-headaches mentioned by Baggary.

Baggary closed with great emphasis on education, which is one of the greatest freedoms of America, and very important to youth, he asserted.

Jobs for the Jobless

with Rural Electricity

Although fewer than one-third of this nation's population lives in rural areas, more than half the nation's poor lives there. Consumer-owned rural electric systems such as ours have helped to create new industries across the country which have already resulted in more than 125,000 new jobs for rural people.

Volunteering in the war on poverty, we hope to do more in the months and years to come to help develop this community.

Personal Share In Clean Cities Is Emphasized

Each person is responsible for control of his own share of litter, and if everyone met this responsibility there would be no public problem, Mrs. Bill Leonard emphasized in a talk to Dawn Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. E. E. Suttle was hostess in her home. The subject was Control of Litter, and Mrs. Leonard said that litter disposal is expensive to cities and states. She attributed the cause of littering to thoughtlessness, as each person fails to realize that one person's contribution to the litter problem is important.

Mrs. Ray Cox opened the meeting by reading a poem, It Takes a Heart To Make a Home. Mrs. Ray Stewart presided for routine business. The next meeting was announced for March 18 in Mrs. Ham Fuller's home.

Shower Honors February Bride

A bridal shower honoring Mrs. Roy Bouldin, who before her February marriage was Miss Joanne Carlson, was a Saturday afternoon event in the home of Mrs. Louis H. Woodford, 216 Star.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Woodford and received by the honoree; her mother, Mrs. Lawrence Carlson; her husband's mother, Mrs. O. H. Bouldin of Stratford, and Miss Linda Hopkins of Lovington, N. M., who was bridesmaid at the wedding.

Miss Betty Barrett and Mrs. Henry Ranspot were at the table where callers registered from 4 to 6 o'clock. Misses Sandra Hedgecock of Amarillo and Kay Crouch of Burleson served refreshments.

Blue and white, the bride's colors chosen for her wedding, were emphasized on the table where punch and cookies were served from milk glass. Flowers in those colors centered the white cloth.

Shower hostesses included Miss Bea Barrett, Mmes. B.F. Cain, P. L. Carmichael, Fritz Christian, Pete Cole, H. V. Crawford, O. Z. Golden, Glenn Gripp, Grant Hanna, Tandy Legg, C. R. McGee, Ira Ott, Alex Petersen, Ervin Robinson Jr., John Robinson, Robert Thompson, Robert Veigel, George Warner and S. O. Wilson.

Easter Seal Representative Appointed Here

J. A. Hodges, Jr. will serve as Easter Seal Representative and Treasurer for the 1966 annual Easter Seal Appeal in Deaf Smith County, it was announced by Robert W. Milam, M. D., State Campaign Chairman for the Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the State Easter Seal Society. Hodges is a Hereford banker.

RESIDENTS of Deaf Smith County will receive the annual Appeal and familiar Easter Seal in their mail beginning March 1. The Appeal, conducted yearly to provide disabled persons and their families treatment or assistance adapted to specific community needs or resources, will be concluded on Easter Sunday, April 10.

Hodges is one of 143 prominent professional men throughout Texas who are serving in this capacity. The cost of the statewide program is over $1,000,000 financed mainly by the Annual Easter Seal Mail Appeal. Almost 90 percent of all funds raised by the Appeal remain in Texas to support the growing needs of the disabled in the state.

Special emphasis is being given in the 1966 Easter Seal Appeal to the disabled citizen or his family in Deaf Smith County who may need assistance and not know where to obtain it. Any disabled citizen can contact Mr. Hodges at the Hereford State Bank, who will notify the state Easter Seal Office. There, every effort will be made to determine the extent and type of assistance needed and the most efficient means of obtaining that assistance.

Dr. Milam says that funds received as a result of the annual Easter Seal Appeal now add more than 14,000 disabled Texans annually, but there are many more not currently being aided. These disabled citizens, and especially those in Deaf Smith County who contact Hodges, can now be guided to the proper source of assistance. They or their families are urged to contact Hodges or the Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults in Dallas, regardless of age, race, cause of disability or financial status.

CAP Conducts Safety Checks

A Texas safety consultant has been named national safety officer for the Civil Air Patrol, it was announced by Col. Joe L. Mason, USAF, CAP national commander.

James C. Spraggins of LaPorte, Texas, a lieutenant colonel in CAP, was appointed to the new post because of his past experience in the field of industrial safety.

A rated pilot since 1938, Spraggins received a bachelor of science degree in industrial safety and a master of science degree in industrial engineering from the University of Houston where he has also taught these subjects. He is presently a safety consultant with the Pacific Employers Insurance Company of Houston.

As national safety officer for the 80,000-member Civil Air Patrol, Mr. Spraggins will direct the flying and ground safety programs involving more than 10, 893 pilots, 4,878 aircraft and 4,500 vehicles throughout the 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

He is married to the former Miss Kennon Pratt of Shreveport, Louisiana, and is the father of an 18-year-old daughter, Cheryl. Safety officer of the Hereford Composite Squadron is Dr. Wesley training session for all cadet and senior members of the monthly aircraft and ground safety local group.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN Women's Editor

A traditional part of a Federated Women's Club convention, Fine Arts Evening, is going to get a new dress—at the Top of Texas District convention here later this month. At least it is new to me, although it may have been tried in this district before.

INSTEAD OF TRYING to manage a banquet and a full-length program the same evening, now that conventions cover only two days, there will be the banquet with the customary out-of-city speaker, then a reception for delegates, visitors and the public at Community Center.

Arts and crafts exhibits in which clubwomen compete for awards will already be in place at Community Center, and to round out a true Fine Arts Evening, a chamber music group from West Texas State University will play a 40-minute concert.

Sounds like a delicious helping of music which friends of the clubwomen may enjoy, without overfeeding the women who have already attended the banquet. Bay View Club members will be reception hostesses.

THANKS TO A long-time friend-dating back to schooldays in Childress again — Elizabeth Forrest, I've learned that a Great Book group is in existence here and, as usual, welcomes more members. It is another of those interest groups which newcomers who want to get acquainted with congenial people, may join with no special invitation.

It meets on first and third Mondays at 8 p. m. in the REA Building on East Highway 60 and anyone who would like to take part in the discussions has only to come out at that time. The group here is in its first year.

A word of warning is in order, though, because the Citizens Band Radio Club meets at the same time in the assembly room at the front of the building. Great Books Group meets in the directors' room, door at the back on the east side.

Incidentally, the radio club is also open to people who prefer that activity to reading the works of Epictetus, who is the author due for discussion tomorrow evening. Maybe he does sound like Greek to you, but in translation he isn't bad at all, in small portions.

THIS COLUMN SEEMS to have taken a turn into culture, so it may as well take up drama next. Maybe you've already noticed posters for Stanton Junior High's all-school play, to be staged the 17th and 18th. The name of it is Class Ring, which might indicate a comedy about teenagers by teenagers, which just might not be bad at all.

MRS. W. H. AWTREY has returned to her home on the Dimmitt Highway after a week spent visiting her son, W. H. Awtrey Jr., and his family at Ulysses, Kan. The younger Awtreys have recently moved to a new home at 717 N. Durham in that city and Mrs. Awtrey found them busy adding another room — by completing an unfinished basement space.

Camp Fire Birthday Observance Planned Here For March 19-25

March activities which will be climaxed by the observance of Camp Fire Girls Birthday Week, March 19-25, were planned at the monthly meeting of Camp Fire Leaders Association Friday morning.

Open house at the Camp Fire Hut will open the anniversary week on Saturday, March 19. The next day, Camp Fire Sunday, will be observed by the girls attending churches in the groups.

Summer camping plans were reviewed and the annual father-daughter banquet was discussed. A definite banquet date has not been fixed, but it will be held late in April.

Preceding these events, leaders are preparing to welcome Miss Lois Jarrel of Dallas, field director for Region 4 from the National Camp Fire staff, who will visit here next Tuesday to Thursday. She will confer with group leaders and Camp Fire Council members on the program here.

A salad luncheon in the hut will honor her Wednesday at 11:30 a. m. All leaders, assistants and sponsors of Camp Fire groups are invited.

Mrs. Earnest Langley and Mrs. Lewis Lea will accompany her to Dimmitt Thursday to assist in launching a Camp Fire program for that city.

Mrs. Hewitt On Club Program

Mrs. C. F. Newsom was hostess to Wyche Home Demonstration Club in her home Friday afternoon, when Mrs. E. C. Hewitt gave the program on Control of Litter. Mrs. W. P. Axe reported activities of the recent County H. D. Council meeting.

Also present were Mmes. Charles Packard, Norman Hodges, Ira Ott and L. B. Worthan.

Bracero Rule--More Than Meets The Eye?

Many fruit and vegetable crops require hand harvest and over the years temporary foreign workers and the domestic migrant have been the principal sources of this labor. Now with foreign workers quickly disappearing, growers are scrambling for new labor and newly developed machinery.

Public law 78, which specifically admitted "Braceros," terminated at the end of 1964. Now, the Mexicans can only come in under a second law, PL 414, and for this the approval of Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz is needed. This "Bracero Embargo" was fully covered in the Spring Planning Issue of The Farm Quarterly magazine. For the '65 harvesting season, Secretary Wirtz looked to the three million unemployed citizens of the United States as a source of labor. He felt the farmers should hire them instead of the braceros. The growers argued that the domestic unemployed were neither able nor willing to work in the fields. But request for the braceros were turned down and the farmers were told they had to make a genuine effort to harvest their crops with domestic labor.

SO, FARMERS faced the immense task of finding and training thousands of new workers. It affected 30,000 farms and more than a dozen crops in 14 states, including Texas. Farm Quarterly editors found that these events were well worth marking for they are a warning of major changes which no farmer in the country can afford to ignore.

As long as the foreign-worker laws (PL 78 and PL 414) have been in existence they have specifically stated that foreign labor could come into the country only when domestic labor was unavailable. And it has been the Secretary of Labor who determined the availability of domestic labor, and certified the need for braceros. No farmer could use this foreign labor until the Secretary surveyed the domestic labor situation and certified that domestic labor could not be found.

OPPOSITION to PL 78 had been growing for quite some time and Congress let the law die at the end of 1964. The opposition argued that foreign workers were taking jobs from domestics, that they were preventing union organization of agriculture, and that they were depressing wages.

Secretary Wirtz announced that the termination of PL 78 was a mandate from Congress to completely cut off the supply of foreign labor. He began referring to PL 414 as "the back door" and said that the braceros would not be admitted through this statute. He did not stop with the braceros in his drive for more domestic jobs. When Congress terminated PL 78 it left untouched the workers from the Bahamas and the British West Indies who worked along the eastern seaboard by authority of PL 414. However, these workers too were for the most part kept out of the country.

TO A NUMBER of Congressmen, particularly to Florida's Senator Spessard Holland, this was too much. Wirtz had stated that Congress, in terminating PL 78 intended to reduce drastically, "or hopefully eliminate" the use of foreign labor in agriculture. Senator Holland replied that Congress intended no such thing. And Senator Proxmire of Wisconsin said, "The expectation is that the number of Mexicans who will come into the country under Public Law 414 will not reflect any diminution in the number that would come in under Public Law 78." No action affecting the status of PL 414 was taken by Congress.

IN FACT, there are reasons to argue that full use of PL 414 was of benefit to domestic labor, to agriculture, and to foreign relations. This was pointed out by the President of the AFL-CIO, George Meany, in a 1962 private memorandum to Arthur Goldberg, then the Secretary of Labor. Meany wrote a strong support of PL 414 and of the need for temporary foreign workers in agriculture.

With all this maneuvering it looks like the farmer is caught not only in an agricultural adjustment but rather in the middle of a national economic and social problem that has no clear solution in sight.

And agriculture may be heading into more trying days. The Secretary of Labor has announced that agriculture, despite many of its unique needs, may in the future be treated the same as industry in respect to labor. Basically this means collective bargaining and the provisions of the wage and hour law. Provisions which could eventually effect all farmers, not just those involved with hand harvesting.

Six Cases Draw Fines In County Court

Two charges of driving while intoxicated, two for driving while license suspended, one for swindling with a worthless check and another for theft were among cases handled in County Judge H. C. Williams' court last week.

Sentenced to three days in jail and fined $150 and cost after pleading guilty to DWI was Guadalupe Tijerina, 23, who listed his address as the 100 Block of Sampson St. His charge stemmed from an arrest by the Highway Patrol.

Fred James Gonzales Jr. was sentenced to 20 days and fined $50 and cost, then placed on probation for one year on a plea of guilty to DWI. Gonzales, 35, who lives at 318 Ave. A., was arrested by city police.

Charged with theft, Roberto Aranda, 18, of Rt. 1, Hereford pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and cost. He was arrested by city police.

Charles L. Page, 23, of Clarendon was fined $25 and cost on a charge of swindling with worthless check after entering a plea of guilty. He was arrested by a sheriff's deputy. Two men charged by the Highway Patrol with driving while license suspended were fined $25 each after pleading guilty. They were Clark Adams, 40, Rt. 1, Hereford; and William E. Rogers, 22, of 108 Catalpa.

CANCER'S DANGER SIGNAL

The American Cancer Society says everyone should know cancer's seven danger signals. They are: (1) unusual bleeding or discharge; (2) a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; (3) a sore that does not heal; (4) change in bowel or bladder habits; (5) hoarseness or cough; (6) indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; (7) change in a wart or mole. If any of those signals lasts more than two weeks, see your doctor at once. The faster they come to the physician's attention—the more lives can be saved.

Some 49,000,000 Americans now living will eventually develop cancer—one in four persons at present rates. Only one out of three will be saved, but the American Cancer Society says that with present knowledge, one out of two could be saved. An annual health checkup for every adult, making possible early detection and treatment, could accomplish this.

The immediate goal of the American Cancer Society is the annual saving of 285,000 lives—or about half those who develop cancer each year. This is the number that could be saved if the cancer was diagnosed early and promptly treated. "That," the Society says, "is why an annual health checkup by a physician is so important."

About 92,000 cancer patients who died in 1965 might have been saved by earlier treatment according to the American Cancer Society. The best way to protect yourself is to have a yearly physical examination.

About half of the 23,000 Americans who have lost their larynxes because of cancer have learned to speak again—many with help from the American Cancer Society.

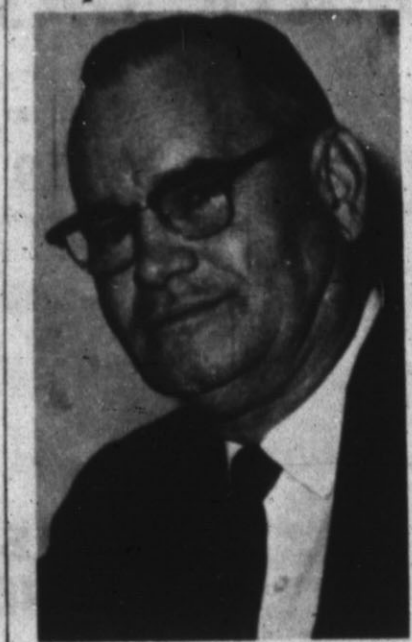

15 Arrested On Shoplifting Charges Here

Hereford police have arrested a total of 15 persons on charges of shoplifting during the past 30 days, it was reported Friday.

Ten of the arrests involved persons spotted in one Hereford grocery store alone, it was pointed out.

Fines assessed those convicted for the offense ranged from $25 to $100 in city corporation court and county court. State statutes provide for fine convicted shoplifters up to $300 who are found guilty of taking items of less than $5 in value, and sentence of up to two years in jail or prison for those convicted of shoplifting involving goods with a value from $5 to $50.

Presiding Officer's Duties To Be Topic Of One Leadership Workshop

The Rev. Don Davidson

How to preside at business meetings and programs will be the subject for discussion in one of the workshops to be conducted in two evenings of leadership training, open to all area residents, March 21-22 in Community Center.

The Rev. Don Davidson, executive director of King's Manor, will direct this workshop, one of five to be conducted by qualified local and visiting leaders. The program is to be held under auspices of Deaf Smith County Program Planning Committee.

It is especially planned to assist officers and members of organizations and committees, but it also aimed at aiding in personal development. General sessions as well as workshops will be a part of the program each evening from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Formerly a pastor of Methodist churches in a number of West Texas cities, Rev. Davidson acted as presiding officer for many church conferences, board and committee sessions and public programs during his 30 years in the ministry.

He served as a moderator for Gov. Price Daniel's program of preparation for the first White House Conference on Aging and has participated in national workshops on homes for the aging and hospital charities. Civic club session, student assemblies, graduation ceremonies and summer camp platform hours have given him a variety of experience.

He says his personal experience has demonstrated a "cornbread" variety of procedure, with the idea that a relaxed climate need not sacrifice efficiency in conducting a meeting. His workshop is planned to assist beginners at presiding and also to aid the technique of the more experienced.

CAP Cadets Earn Mitchell Honor Award

Two more cadets of the Hereford Composite Squadron will soon join the ranks of those who have earned the General Billy Mitchell Award. This award, the culmination of three years of study and hard work, is roughly equivalent to becoming an Eagle Scout in the scouting program.

Cadets Galen Evans, present Cadet Commander, and Ray Oglesby have successfully completed all of the requirements and application for the Certificate of Proficiency, which goes with the Mitchell Award, has been made to National Headquarters at Ellington Air Force Base, Texas.

UPON receipt of the award both cadets will advance to the rank of Cadet Master Sergeant. They will join cadets Dale Minor and John Schneider, who are both now attending North Texas State University at Denton and are leading members of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Program at that school, in holding this rank. The awards will be presented in public ceremonies at an early date.

Next step in their advancement will be the six courses in Phase III each of which will earn them an advanced officer grade. Cadets holding the Certificate of Proficiency who choose the Air Force for their military service enter as Airmen—3rd class—one stripe—rather than as basics. Those who are considering making application to the Air Force Academy receive a 15 point advantage in the competitive scoring.

Holders of the award are also eligible for many valuable scholarships, for flying training, to attend Air Force Jet Orientation school, participate in the international cadet exchange and many other valuable experiences.

ARMY TO LOSE FIVE WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—New coach Bob Knight, former Ohio State athlete, has a fine basketball team at the U. S. Military Academy. This is his first season but next season he may have some worries.

Five of his players will be graduated next June and four of them have been lettermen for the last two campaigns. They are Mike Silliman of Louisville, Bob Seigle of Mt. Healthy, Ohio, captain Dick Murray of Ramsey, N. J., and Bill Helkie of South Bend, Ind. Also due to graduate next June is Jack Isenhour of Kingston, Tenn.

Italian Supper Served

An Italian Supper was served by candlelight to members of L'Allegria Club and their husbands Thursday evening in the Community Room of First National Bank.

Mrs. Dennis Lomas, Mrs. Jim Carnahan and Mrs. Tommy Carnahan were hostesses at the guest entertainment. Quartet tables were covered with gay red cloths and centered with lighted candles for the supper.

Afterward, games of hearts were played. Mrs. David Gibson and Dennis Lomas were winners in the games; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Schroeter received consolation awards.

Couples present were Messrs. and Mmes. Joe Easley, Richard Pickens, Pat Robbins, Bobby Viegel, Dwaine Walker, Noble Ballard, John Smith, Bibson Schroeter, Lomas, Tommy Carnahan and Jim Carnahan.

GOOD OLD DAD

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—U. S. Atty. Guy Goodwin was prosecuting a criminal trial in federal court here and on cross-examination fired questions at a witness faster than the witness could answer.

Presiding Judge Wesley E. Brown finally broke in "My father used to say," he told Goodwin, "The hardest thing to do is to hear with your mouth open."

Goodwin chuckled, bowed, and replied: "I recognize the wisdom of your father."

Soil Program Set For Farmers

Area farmers are invited to attend a Soil Fertility Day Program sponsored by the Castro County Program Building Committee and the Castro County Chamber of Commerce Monday in the Dimmitt Junior High School Auditorium.

The program, which will get underway at 9:30 a. m., will feature several noted agricultural experts discussing a wide range of topics, including various aspects of vegetable production. A similar program will be presented in Hereford Tuesday. (See story on page one)

BEGINNING at 9:30 a. m., Tom McFarland of the High Plains Underground Water District will discuss water depletion.

At 10 a. m., Dr. Wayland Bennett of Texas Tech will present information concerning the farm outlook in general.

"Fertilizer Use" is the topic to be presented by Dr. Arthur B. Onken, agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center.

Elmer Hudspheth, agriculture engineer from the South Plains Research and Extension Center, will then discuss "Chemical Weed Control."

Pete Wright, work unit conservationist for the Soil Conservation Office in Dimmitt, will conclude the morning's program with a discussion of the Running Water Draw project.

A LUNCHEON courtesy of the Castro County Chamber of Commerce and prepared by the 4-H Leaders Council, will be served at 12:15 a. m.

"Vegetable Production" will be the topic for discussions beginning following the luncheon. This portion of the program is being presented in cooperation with the West Texas Vegetable Growers Council.

Beginning at 1:30 p. m., trends in vegetable production for 1966 will be outlined by Dr. John Larson, horticulturist for the Texas A&M extension service, who will discuss the topic on the statewide basis.

HIGH PLAINS vegetable production trends will be reviewed by Dr. Jack Kyle, horticulturist, South Plains Research and Extension Center.

These talks will be followed by "Vegetable Diseases on the High Plains," a report by Dr. Robert Berry, area plant pathologist for the A&M extension service, of Lubbock.

"Fertilization of Vegetables" will be described by Dr. Larson, followed by "Herbicides for Vegetable Weed Control," by Dr. Kyle.

The two will conclude the program with talks outlining "Mechanization of vegetable production" and "Vegetable research."

The program will conclude about 4:30 p. m. with a question-and-answer period.

BOOKS ON NATURE

Rachel Carson's best known books are "The Sea Around Us" and the controversial "Silent Spring." Her final book, "Sense of Wonder" is now in the Deaf Smith County Library. Although she did not live to complete it as she had planned, the presentation is satisfactory.

It is not a large book, with the printed word by Carson, and the many photographs, both colored and black and white, by Charles Pratt and others.

ITS AIM is to teach us the sense of love, awe and wonder as it is found in nature. And though it is written for and dedicated to her very young nephew, it is adult reading. In it we learn how easy it is to approach the young in teaching at a very early age.

She began to teach her nephew in the natural manner while he was still a baby. As he grew he became aware of many things himself, without formal teaching on her part. She states that both parents and teachers could follow this procedure with better results.

SUBJECTS photographed and discussed are the ocean, the seashore, the sound of the waves, the sea shells, the rocks, the flowers, the trees, the leaves, how to grow plants and watch their growth and the blooming. The moonlight, dew on the spider web, waving grass, clouds, large and baby birds, the stars, the sunsets, insects, autumn leaves, the milkweed pod and the silken mystery of its seeds, the snow, and color in many things.

As her nephew grew older he found and studied such odd things as the ferns, fungi, lichens, sea weeds, and even minute things as grains of sand. He learned the smells and feel of things as well.

IN TEACHING the child, she states, an adult renews his own delight in the mysteries of the earth, sea and sky.

If you do not locate in the library the books you want in this subject ask librarians, Mrs. Newman and Mrs. London. There are many on shelves either in the simple narrative form or the more technical approach to suit your mood or needs on this peaceful subject.

Safety Clinic Slated Thursday In Amarillo

A one day safety clinic designed to help the small businesses and industries of the area cut down on personal and vehicular accidents and control their costs will be held in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company, 301 South Taylor in Amarillo, beginning at 8:30 on the morning of March 10.

The Texas Safety Association and the Panhandle Chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers are co-sponsors of the clinic, which will feature talks and demonstrations by a panel of national and regional experts in safety, training, insurance and the manufacture of protective equipment.

"WE HAVE put together an extremely attractive package for small business. The fields to be discussed are those of primary interest to the small organization, which does not have a safety department, and the presentations will be made in non-technical terms easily understood by the employer, his supervisors and his foremen," Bill King of Amarillo, regional vice president for the Texas Safety Association and one of the program coordinators, said.

George Baker of Amarillo, district engineering manager for Texas Employers Insurance Association, will open the program with a discussion of "The Supervisor and Accident Prevention."

"DRIVING Safety" will be the topic of Bill Angus, driver trainer for the El Paso Natural Gas Company, while "First Aid" will be discussed by Cliff Morrow, safety supervisor in the Southwestern Public Service Company's production department.

Guyn Saunders of Amarillo, a partner in Ordway-Saunders Company, and Wayne Maxwell, owner of the Guardian Safety Equipment Company, Tulsa, will be the other morning speakers. Saunders' topic is, "Claim Costs; Future Insurance Premiums," while Maxwell will speak on "Protective Equipment."

The afternoon session will be made up of three topics. Leading off will be Harry Nell, Pioneer Natural Gas Company's training director, speaking on "Employee Training." Paul Dixon of Dallas, regional representative for the National Safety Council, will speak on a "Driver Improvement Program," with a discussion of "Fire Prevention" by Captain Bill Butler of the Amarillo Fire Department concluding the program.

Reservations for the clinic, at a cost of $5.00 per person, may be made by writing Tom Knowles, P. O. Box 511, Amarillo, Texas.

PRODUCED THE EVIDENCE

MT. STERLING, Ky. — Strange things have happened since Mt. Sterling adopted a law requiring a $7 windshield sticker for autos.

When residents change cars, they pay only $1 for a new sticker if they can produce a portion of the old one.

Recently, a woman showed up at City Hall carrying a large section of windshield to which the sticker was affixed.

Her old car had been wrecked and she couldn't remove the sticker, so brought along the whole works.

AT BREAKFAST MEETING

Membership Drive Begins For F.U.

Deaf Smith County Farmers Union board of directors voted at a meeting last week to have a breakfast meeting at the Calson House Restaurant Thursday morning, March 10, at 7 a. m. to kick off the annual Farmer's Union membership drive, which is to be concluded April 1, according to Leo Witkowski, president of the county organization.

Kenneth Moss, district field man for Farmers Union, will be present at the breakfast and will work with the county group a couple of days to get the drive underway. Moss resides at Paducah.

Clinton Jackson, local service agent for Farmers Union insurance, also stated that he had just received word that the Texas Farmers Union Board of Directors has announced the approval of a special reopening for Blue Cross-Blue Shield applications between March 15 and March 31.

DURING the 15-day period, applicants may enroll in the county groups and have their membership become effective on April 1.

The customary sixtyday waiting period will be waived for this special reopening campaign.

In commenting on the special reopening, state Farmers Union President Jay Naman said that "Texas Farmers Union and Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas have been working together for more than nine years to give to the farm families of Texas the best in health insurance."

All members of Deaf Smith County Farmers Union or their wives or both are urged to be present at this breakfast in order to make the membership drive kickoff a complete success.

March is really letting us know it's here! Here's hoping the weather is nice for the Herd's first baseball game Tuesday. The game will be here against the Palo Duro Dons. Good luck Herd Thursday, report cards were given out at H. H. S. Apparently the second semester is having a different outcome than the first. There seemed to be a few more smiles than usual after the cards were given out.

THE WEEK beginning March 14 will be what is commonly known as Twirp Week. In other words the girls must pay, but it isn't really that bad, after all, we get to ask the boys for dates.

Several activities will be in progress which should make for enjoyable "Twirp" dates. March 18 there will be a St. Patrick's Day Dance sponsored by St. Anthony's Youth Club. The dance will be open to the public with admission of $1 per person. So dance to the music of Dave and the Hideaways from 8 till 12 March 18.

Stanton Junior High will also be presenting their annual All-School Play on the nights of March 17 and 18 at 7:30 p. m. Admission is 35 cents for students and $75 for adults. The students are presenting "Class Ring" this year. If they hold true to tradition the play should be a success and provide an enjoyable evening's entertainment. Support them!

IT'S INTERESTING to notice the slang and how fast it comes and goes among members of H. H. S. Only last year everyone was saying things such as several, scode, grody, and even. Suddenly all you hear anymore is "would you believe." And that isn't only among members of our own school. I've heard it said by people from Vega, Bovina and even students of W. T. S. U., where it supposedly originated. But further research shows that a certain secret agent on "Get Smart" says it quite often. Well, at least we didn't get it from Batman.

miss the quotes when I fail to get this in. . . Tossing his mane of snows in wildest eddies and tangles, Lion-like March cometh in, hoarse, with tempestuous breath.
