Child At Stake

In a hospital room, a child lies seriously ill. Doctors agree on the medical treatment that the child should have. But the child's parents, prompted by sincere religious convictions, will not allow it.

May a court step in? Does society have the power to order medical treatment for a child in defiance of his own parents?

Clearly, momentous issues, both moral and legal, are involved. A state has both the right and the duty to protect a child in danger. Yet parents, by and large, are entitled to raise their children as they see fit.

Case by case, in the law's cautious fashion, basic doctrines have been worked out to resolve the dilemma.

Broadly speaking, a court may indeed step in and order medical treatment — but it may do so only in extreme circumstances. Before taking that step, the court will weigh these key questions:

How serious is the child's illness? How risky is the medical treatment that is contemplated? What are the chances that the treatment will succeed?

Refusing to authorize surgery, the court said: "We have not yet adopted as a public policy the Spartan rule that children belong, not to their parents, but to the state."

In another case, however, a court did authorize removal of a child's eye, because the operation had a good chance of success — and because the alternative was almost certain death. And in a third case a blood transfusion, needed by a badly burned child, was given by court order. To the parents' insistence on religious freedom, the court replied: "The parents in this case have a perfect right to worship as they please and believe what they please. They enjoy complete freedom of religion. But this right of theirs ends where somebody else's right begins. Their child is a human being in

Earnings Do Not Bar Receipt of SS

"You don't have to retire completely to get social security benefits," James W. Smith, social security claims representative for Haskell Co., said today.

"If you earn $1200 or less in a year, you are considered to be completely retired and would be entitled to all your benefits," he said.

If you earn over $1200 in a year, you may be considered partly retired and entitled to part of your social security benefits. For example, a worker would have only one dollar in benefits withheld for every two dollars earned between $1200 and $1700. For earnings over $1700 annually, one dollar in benefits is withheld for each dollar of earnings.

Smith emphasized the fact that, no matter how much you earn in a year, you can be paid your social security benefits for any month in which you neither earn over $100 as an employee, nor render substantial services as a self-employed person.

Avoid any misunderstanding you may have about the social security retirement test, especially if you are over 65 and earning anywhere between $1201 and $3600. Get all the facts from your social security representative at Haskell Chamber of Commerce on every Thursday and also on Jan. 27, Feb. 10, 24 and Mar. 10, 24, at 10 o'clock.

SCOUT PACK MEETING

The Cub Scouts met Thursday night in the basement of the Methodist Church for a program and the semiannual auction.

Mrs. Bobby Kittley was in charge of the program. She read the story of Jack and the Bean Stalk, while the boys in her den acted out the story. Mike Lisle was Jack, and his cow was Tim Townsend; Van Vandiver was the bean stalk; while Rob Kittley played the part of the sobbing mother.

The Scout Master, Malcolm Herttenberger, led the group in several songs, and awarded the Cubbie to Den 2 for having the largest percentage present. The Cubbie is a small wooden scout, made by Maxine Herttenberger, and is given to the den with the largest representation at the pack meeting. The den keeps the cubbie until the next pack meeting.

Three boys earned 3 arrows Tommy Davis, Don Mark Davis, and Bobby Anders. Boys earning their gold arrow point were: Steve Cox, Dale Frazier, Nolan Pittcock, David Kupatt, and Cole Turner, all from Den 2.

John Allison is eligible for his bear badge, and Larry Don Mathis will be eligible for a gold and silver arrow at the next meeting.

All the boys and their parents enjoyed the auction. A.

D. May and Sam Turner helped the scout master answer the boys' needs during the auction. Nice articles had been purchased by the scouts secretary, Mrs. Malcolm Herttenberger. Larry Don Mathis left the meeting very happy; he took home a big flashlight with batteries. Joe Owens bought a nice box of Valentine candy, and Roy Don Wilson, a knife.

The boys are able to purchase, bid and buy for the highest price, any item that is put up for auction, providing he has enough buccaroos, paper money. This money is issued at each scout meeting, and a boy may receive different amounts. Ten for being fully dressed, ten for paying dues on time, ten for bringing his book to the meeting, and twenty for fulfilling an achievement.

FANCY BALLGAME

Saturday night at 7 p.m., the Cotton Pickers and their hired hands met the Senior girls in what proved to be a knock down and drag out. Mrs. Buddy Bishop, known to you in Rochester as Gracy Bishop, was acting manager for the Pickers. She made a wrong move and was out of the game for awhile, roped and tied.

Mrs. Sonny Denson showed she had not lost her grab, when she reached across the line and took the ball away from Jana Kile in a split second. Mrs. George Orr, our doctor's wife, put a wee bit of Scotland into the game, also. She knew the point was to run and try to get the ball; she did a great job.

Mrs. Travis Self was in the know, she had a tiger tail pinned on and could do no wrong. She wore a long skirt, an old shirt, wig, and a tiger tail was tied to her shirttail. Not all in the game was legal, but what could be put by the referees, Mrs. Worth Green and Mrs. J. N. Cornelius, was tried. Although no hair pulling or biting occurred, some of the girls were squeezed, stepped on, punched, and man-handled.

Some of the spectators feel that Coach Williamson should give Linda, his wife, a few pointers in the game. Linda did much to spice the show and we know that the Seniors appreciate all the cooperation given them by the participants.

The Seniors plan to go to Washington, D. C., when they take the annual trip.

The men faculty and helpers played the Senior boys, after the "ladies" game.

Travis Self had a lovely attire of pink slacks trimmed in 39c print, and Neiman Marcus hat. Coach Tibbets and Willie Wilson, science teacher, gave a great performance. Mr. Wilson had on short shorts, and baller; a black mask covered his eyes. Tibbets wore pale blue shorts, pink nail polish, and a hat that fit his face, with a feather.

Coach Williamson wore his sweat pants under his poka dotted shorts, and proved to be at ease, attire and all. Sonny Denson wore shoes with a t-shirt the first half and later junked the shirt. Cecil Lewis was clad in sweat pants and shirt throughout the game.

The boys had quite a game, even though the referees were J. R. Barbee and Malcolm Herttenberger.

Another event that some may have missed was the hat episode. It seemed that Mrs. Speedy Smith thought that Mr. Horton, supt., would look better in the beanie with the feather that Mr. Tibbets was wearing. She approaches Tibbets, removes his hat, runs and grabs Mr. Horton's hat and places the beanie on his head. Well, you can imagine how unusual it was to see such a thing happen right before our eyes. Nevertheless, our supt. was a good Joe, and the crowd went wild.

KURRENTLY WITH THE KINDERGARTEN KROWD

By MRS. TRUETT ALVIS

It has long been an admitted fact that Public School teachers can tell which children have been to Kindergarten. The reason? They have been trained to listen when the one in authority begins to speak. But the One in Authority at Kindergarten House heard a new slant on what is being learned where Pre-Schoolers gather.

A local merchant commented that he can pick out Kindergarten - trained children when they come shopping with their mothers. The Kindergarten rule of "Touch not that which you don't expect to buy" seems to be prevailing outside regular K. hours!

MR. AND MISS RHS
Mr. RHS
 David Halliburton was Mr. RHS last time. Mr. RHS this week has dark brown hair with light blue eyes. This freshman boy may be seen with his older brother and other famous musicians playing their instruments. If you're ever in Haskell and see a "62" blue Chevy, you can be sure it's Mr. RHS.

Miss RHS
 Alice Farrar was Miss RHS last time. This week's Miss RHS is Mr. RHS's 3rd cousin. She has dark brown hair with hazel eyes. This junior girl is active in all activities — school and otherwise! If you're ever at a basketball game, you are sure to see our Miss RHS. She even makes her presence known in band. See if you can guess the identity of Miss RHS.

JUNIOR NEWS
 Mary Lue Alvis was highest ranking girl in the junior class, with an average of 96.7. She will have the privilege of another picture in the annual. Congratulations Lue.

In English III, we have been writing short stories, character sketches, and diagramming sentences.

The Ag. III boys are studying Farm Management. The Homemaking III class is studying nutrients and will soon start cooking.

In American History, we are studying the beginning and development of labor unions.

In chemistry, we are reviewing weight-weight problems. We have had them once before, early the first semester.

SOPHOMORE NEWS
 None of us will be caught that way again! That is, without knowing what a demonstrative and interrogative pronoun is. It isn't too much fun to fail a pop test in English or any other subject, for that matter.

If you didn't see our basketball boys play Rule, you will want to know that the loss was a "heartbreaker." We were ahead until the last few seconds. However, every boy really played his best and we know they will bring many more victories home. Let's go to Paint Creek Feb. 9, and see both the Steers and Steerettes plunder the Pirates.

SPEECH NEWS
 This week starts our debating teams. We are debating our second round this week on "Should There Be A World Government"; "Is the Ban of School Prayer Constitutional?" and "Should Nuclear Weapons be Under International Control."

Debate is very interesting even if it is a lot of hard work. It takes hours to prepare our cases, but it is really worthwhile when we are in actual debating situations and matching our wits against others. The four best debaters are to be selected and they will represent us at Interscholastic League Contest.

Steerette Goals

By BRENDA DUNLAP

Friday, Jan. 29, Rochester's Steerettes left their hometown to play Rule.

Starting for the Steerettes were guards, Diana Lynne Harper, Marsha Shaver, and Judy Herring; and forwards, Cheryl Brown, Linda Tibbets and Oralia Barrios. Also participating were guards, Ginger Mullino and Jackie Holmes, and forward, Penny Helton.

Top rebounder for the Steerettes was Judy Herring, with 8; Diana Harper took 7 off the boards, while Marsha Shaver claimed 3. Jackie Holmes and Ginger Mullino also had 1 rebound each.

High point for the Purple and Gold team was Cheryl Brown, with 33 points. Post forward Linda Tibbets added 17 points, while Oralia Barrios made 2 more, to give Rochester a total score of 52 points.

The Steerettes had a 17-10 point lead over Rule's team, at the end of the first period, and a 28-14 edge at the half. The third quarter ended 35-27 for the Steerettes, while the fourth and final quarter ended with a 52-42 point victory for Rochester.

This was the Steerettes' third district game. The next district game will be with Paint Creek on Feb. 9. The game will be played on Paint Creek's court and will start at 7:00 p.m. Everyone is urged to go to Paint Creek and help support our team to a District Victory!

"FEATURE WRITING" By Marsha Shaver

At the beginning of school this year, at our high school, there was a lot of talk about school spirit. Most of the organizations on our campus agreed that our school activities weren't so much fun and so successful as they used to be because of the lack of support and enthusiasm. But it seems that "talk" was as far as we went and as much as we got done.

School spirit takes in many things. It not only depends on the students, but also the teachers, the parents, and the community. Our school is the center of our community because our town offers little else in recreation for teenagers. It follows then, that since the school is the center of our town, the people would be interested in the students and back them in everything they do.

Sports play a big part in our school and football is one of our biggest sports. The football boys lost several games this season, but they had a winning season compared to the amount of spectators. Even against our oldest rival town, the crowds were small. Because they were losing the boys became discouraged, and then they really needed backing. What is the matter? Are we only behind the kids when they're winning?

The students are as much to blame as anyone. Some band members are in the band simply because of the trips. Support of the football team and the name of our school are the furthest things from their minds. They don't care if they do their part well in the half-time show, for after all, what does it matter?

We talk about "something to do" because our town doesn't have anything for teenagers. Why not attend the sports events? It is basketball season now. This is probably a shock to some students because they haven't attended a single game all year and very few games, if any, last year. What loyalty to our school! I'm sure they're simply loaded with lessons but those kids playing basketball have the same lessons and probably more to do after the game, because they're the ones who can be depended upon and who do extra work. It is strange that these same kids who never attend a game brag about it and then expect honors because they are such fine students. Being a good student is much more than attending classes every day.

How can a student feel that anything is worthwhile if even his parents give no backing? Parents are busy but it seems that a large part of their responsibility is their children. Don't they care enough to find time to see what their child is doing?

Some people of the community seem to think that since they attended the activities when their children were in school, now they can sit at home and grow old. Growing old is what they are doing. One's responsibility to his community, to the school, to other people, is never ended. Just because their children have graduated is by no means a reason they should not take part in building the lives of other students.

A few students, or a teacher cannot create "school spirit". It takes everyone — the students, parents, teachers, and people of the community.

Our school is not what it used to be. It seems that when we were in the lower grades, high school was the most fun that one could possibly have. The students that were in high school then were busy because they were interested in everything and they enjoyed every minute of it. I know it seemed like this partly because we were young and the thought that high school and the kids in it were the greatest. One is disenchanted when he enters high school and it's "new" has worn off. This would be so in any school. But the life-lines and the enjoyment of attempting and accomplishing are not there and it's our fault. Those high school students back when we were smaller, had fun and learned at the same time because they cared and they were supported and encouraged.

We're going to fail in some things that we try, but you did, too. When we fail is when we need that enthusi-

Taxpayer's Do's, Don'ts

Some payments received by a taxpayer on account of illness or personal injury are not taxable income for Federal tax purposes, Arthur E. Fogle, Jr., Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue for the Abilene office, said today.

The law allows (subject to certain limitations) a taxpayer to exclude from income amounts received under a wage continuation plan financed by his employer, when he is absent from his job due to injury or sickness. In this case the taxpayer must attach a statement to his return showing computation of the amount excluded, the dates of absence, and whether or not he was hospitalized.

Other types of payments that are not taxable are those made:

1. For damages under a suit or in settlement of a claim under Workman's Compensation Acts, and under an accident or health insurance policy on which the taxpayer pays the premiums.
2. On account of a taxpayer's contribution to an accident or health plan jointly financed by him and his employer.
3. Under an employer-financed plan covering sickness or injury to the taxpayer or his dependents, if received as reimbursement for medical care, or as compensation for the permanent loss or loss of use of a member or function of the body, or for permanent disfigurement.
4. As pension, annuities, or similar allowance to an individual for injury or sickness resulting from active service in the armed forces of any country, or in the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, or in the U. S. Public Health Service, or to his beneficiaries by reason of death.

Document 5016, which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

this is an opportunity which many young people need and will not want to miss.

I will have spreading recruiting materials throughout this area and part of Knox County, as others have in the rest of the areas, as a service by the Haskell Chapter of the American GI Forum. We've had a few interested people inquire and answer some of the opportunity cards, but not many. This will give young people a chance to express their interest in the Job Corps and to be considered for selection by the Corps. I have other information for anyone interested. So will you, act, now? Help the unemployed, the school dropouts, the young lowskilled men and women of this area.

To inquire, answer an opportunity card, these will not obligate you in any manner. All cards will be answered.

astic support even more. We have good material with which to work in our school, but it is going to waste because the students don't push themselves and no one else seems to care.

Attend and support your school. Show the teams that you have school spirit. A few students or teachers cannot create school spirit. It takes everyone — the student body, parents, teachers, and people of the community.
