

Personally Speaking

By E. M.

Hot days are here again! Heat waves have fairly been submerging our little town in their sizzling embrace during the past week. One wonders what it will be like when August and the dog days arrive. Possibly we'll be so thoroughly baked by then that even more oven-like temperature won't faze us.

One consolation—We still have with us cool nights and swimming holes! After all, what is more pleasant than paddling lazily about in a cool pool after frying and broiling in the heat all day long? Swimming really should be exalted to the rank of the fine arts.

Have you heard that song, "A girl friend of a Boy Friend of Mine."? And especially that line, "But she turned out to be a close friend of a Scotch friend of mine."? Well, whether you have or haven't, that song always reminds us of this little Scotch story—

"The closest friend I ever had was a Scotchman. He was so close he fried his bacon in lux to keep it from shrinking. He was so generous he would give you the sleeves out of his vest. He gave his girl a ring—over the telephone. He was invited to a golden wedding anniversary and took a gold fish for a present. He went to a continuous picture show and starved to death."

By the way, had you heard the Scotch theme song, "Writing Love Letters in the Sand," or the Scottish national anthem, "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby"?

We always appreciate jokes on the Scotch for somewhere back in the dim past there is supposed to be a Scottish branch on the old family tree. It was probably close to the ground.

This "colyum" of ours wouldn't be complete without some "poe-tree" or politics so we'll combine the two in this little number we cribbed out of the Kansas City Star.

The Rain

"It is not raining rain to me,
'Tis raining politics!
In every vacant lot I see
The signs of balliwicks.
A placard here, a picture there,
Stern visaged magistrates;
It is not raining rain to me,
'Tis raining candidates.

A hip-horray engulfs the day,
Free speech o'erwhelms the town,
It is not raining rain to me,
'Tis raining "sheriffs" down.
On yonder post a nominee
(Long may his tribe increase)
That picture on the maple tree—
"For Justice of the Peace."

It is not raining rain to me,
But fields of posters bloom
Where any constable may be Allowed a space to "boom."
A health then to the "party"
A fig for him who bets;
It is not raining rain at all
'Tis raining "Drys" and "Wets."!"

A. C. BUSS, PUBLISHER OF THE S. T. MARY'S (OHIO) LEADER, SAYS:

THAT the people of a community that is sold on advertising usually have something worthwhile to exploit. They are not backward in letting others know about it. If there is anything good to be shared, they are willing to share it with others. They let their light so shine that their neighbors about them may join in the benefits accruing therefrom. Considered in this way, advertising has an unselfish and altruistic purpose.

It stimulates trade and a stimulated trade is a blessing. It peps up circulation, the life-giving property to all well regulated systems of motivation. It is a doctor's prescription to keep the body healthy, so that the greatest efficiency might accede to the tasks undertaken.

Anything worth doing at all is worth doing well, and the greater the efforts towards tactful and methodical methods at sustaining the functional order of trade, the better will all fare. Inertia is disintegration and disintegration is death. The push required for the uplift 'of a prostrate form is an injection of vitality that will set the organs of life to natural office. A hypodermic injection or serum to help supply the sinews of resistance will help a lot. That serum is advertising.

When the gates of barter and trade are ajar, affording a ready exchange of merchandise at prices consistent with the times, results are far greater, even if returns are less, than if they were closed. Advertising keeps these gates apart beckoning all who enter into fields of action and life. To keep business active is tantamount to preserving the potentiality for endless possibilities. When business is performing in a natural way, all out-lying dependencies are in harmony with it. We are linked together in a great teeming cosmos of inter-relationship. The one cannot thrive without the other thriving with him.

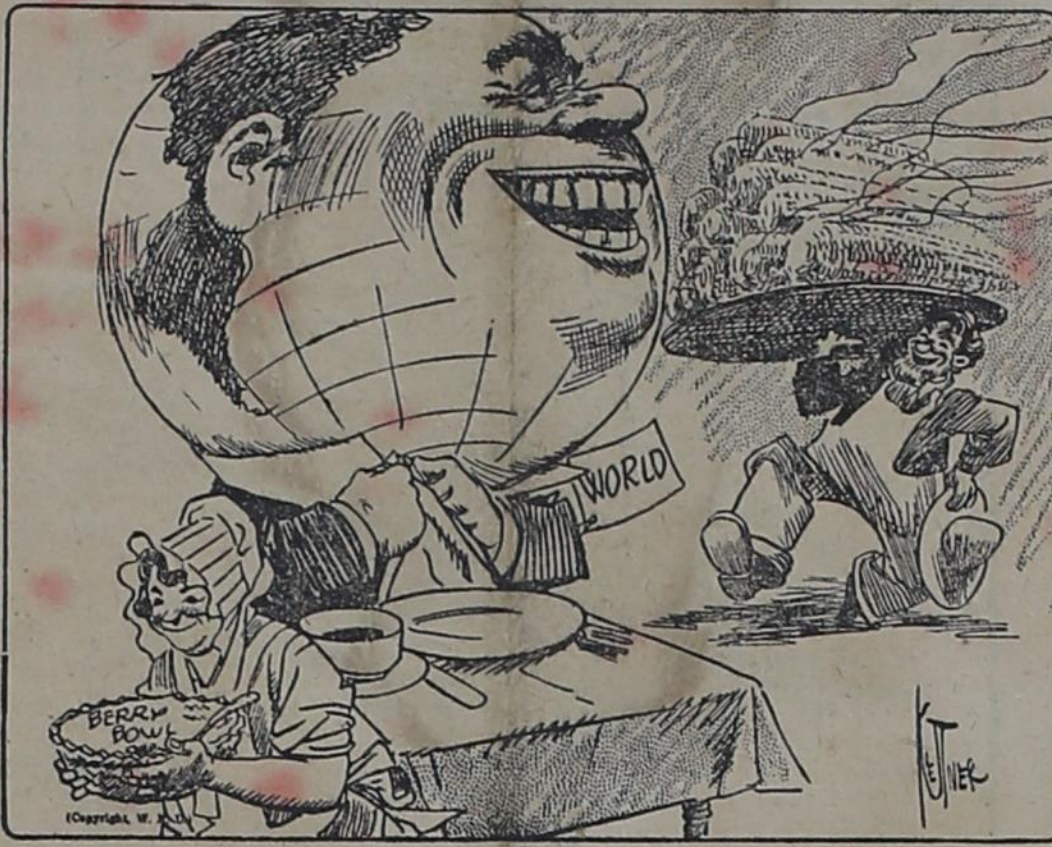

Business is dependent on the free interchange of commodity. We would never get anywhere by isolating ourselves from everyone else. The agency contributing to the happy condition of mutuality of consideration is performing a mission untainted by selfishness or greed and is ever watchful at the cross-roads of public weal. That agency is ADVERTISING!

Hot Weather And Politics Both "Torrid" According To Verse By Old Veteran

In these days of hot weather and politics, the following verse turned in to the NEWS by Mrs. P. J. Gheen is especially suitable to print for it deals with both topics. It was written by "Uncle Charley" Henderson of Gordon, Texas, who is the widower of Mrs. Gheen's cousin who died four years ago.

"Uncle Charley," by the way, is an old Confederate soldier and has lived in Texas over seventy years, coming originally from Mississippi. Altho he is 90 years old, he still writes verse and enlivens many of his letters with it, Mrs. Gheen says.

This selection is appropriately entitled

W. T. C. C. LAUDED FOR EFFORT IN REDUCING TAXES

THREE MAJOR POINTS OF WEST TEXAS BODY APPROVED BY TEXAS GOVERNOR

Strong and unqualified endorsement of its tax reduction program has been received by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from Governor Ross Sterling. In his letter to officials of the organization the governor says:

"Please allow me to congratulate you and, as Governor of this state thank you for the unselfish, effective and badly-needed work you are doing to bring about reduction in public expenditure. At the Sweetwater convention, I was impressed with the constructiveness of your plans, and the two institute meetings recently held, I believe, will contribute much to more economical government in the State of Texas. Frankly, I am impressed with your program because it is based on interesting the citizens of Texas in the methods, the procedures and the expenditures of government rather than in politics.

"I approve heartily your three major objectives, namely, budget making, administrative reorganization of the state, and home rule for counties. Nothing would give me more pleasure as Governor of the State than to see during my administration a complete reorganization of the state administrative and judicial functions. There is no doubt that we have let grow up in our state a vast number of separate boards, bureaus, etc., many of which can be consolidated and eliminated, but which cannot be done unless the organic law of the state is changed. A thorough going reorganization of the state administrative and judicial functions should save the tax payers several millions annually, while at the same time improve our administrative machinery. In my opinion, even greater savings to the tax payers can be brought about by some sort of home rule measure for counties, permitting counties to have more latitude in deciding for themselves the officers to

Wheat Harvest Is Almost Over; Plowing Slow

With the price of wheat at thirty cents a bushel on Wednesday, the market struck its lowest price here this season.

Altho some farmers north of town are still cutting, harvest is practically over, according to grain dealers. Fields south of town are finished.

Wheat is moving into elevators slowly this week and it is estimated that probably half of the wheat yield had come on the market so far.

The average yield per acre in this trade territory is estimated to be seven bushels per acre. The average range has been from three to -0 bushels per acre. Two exceptional fields near town have averaged sixteen and eighteen bushels, however.

Although the yield this season constitutes the first short crop in four years. In few cases will farmers have enough returns to pay for the cost of harvesting and putting in a new crop. A cut acreage for the coming year is expected.

Little plowing has been started yet. Rain is needed badly, farmers say, for the ground is too dry for plowing and sown feed and corn are burning up with the heat.

A Prayer For The New Poor

"I thank Thee, God, I can still rejoice!
"In the halcyon days of newly-made riches I felt little need to thank thee for the material gifts of civilization. My economic abundance, begotten by a machine culture, gave me a mechanic view of life. In the rapid attainment of greater riches and more "things" I lost the humble sense of rejoicing.

"Now I thank thee that thou are helping me recapture the elemental joys of life. That the hand of divine Providence is of greater force than man's scientific achievements and seemingly limitless power over environmental factors is an overwhelming revelation to me. I can still rejoice:

"That the world-wide depression need not dampen my youthful ardor to help create a new social order.

world's great treasure-trove of beauty.

world's great treasure-trove of beauty.

"That the ingratitude of fair-weather friends need not prevent my performing a generous act of service for worthy individuals or the whole of mankind.

"That the desertion of family and friends need not diminish the passionate love of a soul-mate.

"That the idling of my hands in these days of unemployment need not occasion the sluggish functioning of my brain.

"That the loss of my new automobile need not deprive me of the loveliness of an autumn day and the invigoration of a long walk.

"That the return to simple food need not impair my taste for a well-cooked omelet.

"That the giving up of social engagements need not dull my appreciation of good conversation, a lovely picture or a symphonic rhapsody.

"That my own heavy heart need not keep me from the joy of serving others more needy than I.

"With the crumbling of my fortune before my very eyes, I have been bewildered. Through it all I have learned to stand with the Lowly Carpenter in the shadow of the cross and say, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world."

"For the opening of my eyes to the lasting values of life, I am grateful.

"For the assurance that thou are in thy heaven and that all is right—or will come right—in thy world, is my trust.—Amen."

—By Raymond M. Veh from the Epworth Herald.

A New Crop For Texas

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station announces that Dr. P. C. Hangelsdorf, Corn Breeder for the Station has succeeded in imparting several of the best yielding varieties of Texas field corn by breeding work, the sugary qualities of the kernel of the northern-grown sweet corn, a poor producer in the South. Carload shipments of green corn are moved in season from several points and the green corn business is becoming an important industry. The consumption of corn can be greatly increased by this addition of the sugary qualities to the kernel, and Texas has a new crop with added money values in this Surcropper sugar corn and other adapted varieties to which the corn breeder has imparted the sugary kernel.

Texas heretofore has developed no extensive canneries of green corn for two reasons: First, she has not heretofore had the quality of corn most acceptable on the market, namely, a sweet-kernelled corn; and, second, the high temperatures in this climate tend to cause a reversion of the sugar into starch, especially during the first twenty-four hours after it has been picked. The first problem has already been overcome by Doctor Mangelsdorf, and the second is an easily surmountable one by the industrial engineer with the up-to-date methods of artificial cooling so that there is no serious obstacle to the development of a great sweet-corn canning industry in Texas where, with our better production yields especially under irrigation, we hold a great economic advantage over many of the other sweet corn regions of the United States. Many great sources of wealth, agriculturally and industrially, are as yet undeveloped in Texas, and this is one of the great economic advantages that this State holds if it will only develop fully its resources and opportunities.

A limited amount of seed of the Surcropper sugar variety was distributed this season and a large quantity is being increased under irrigation at the Winter Garden Station with a view of establishing this variety throughout the green corn growing regions of Texas.

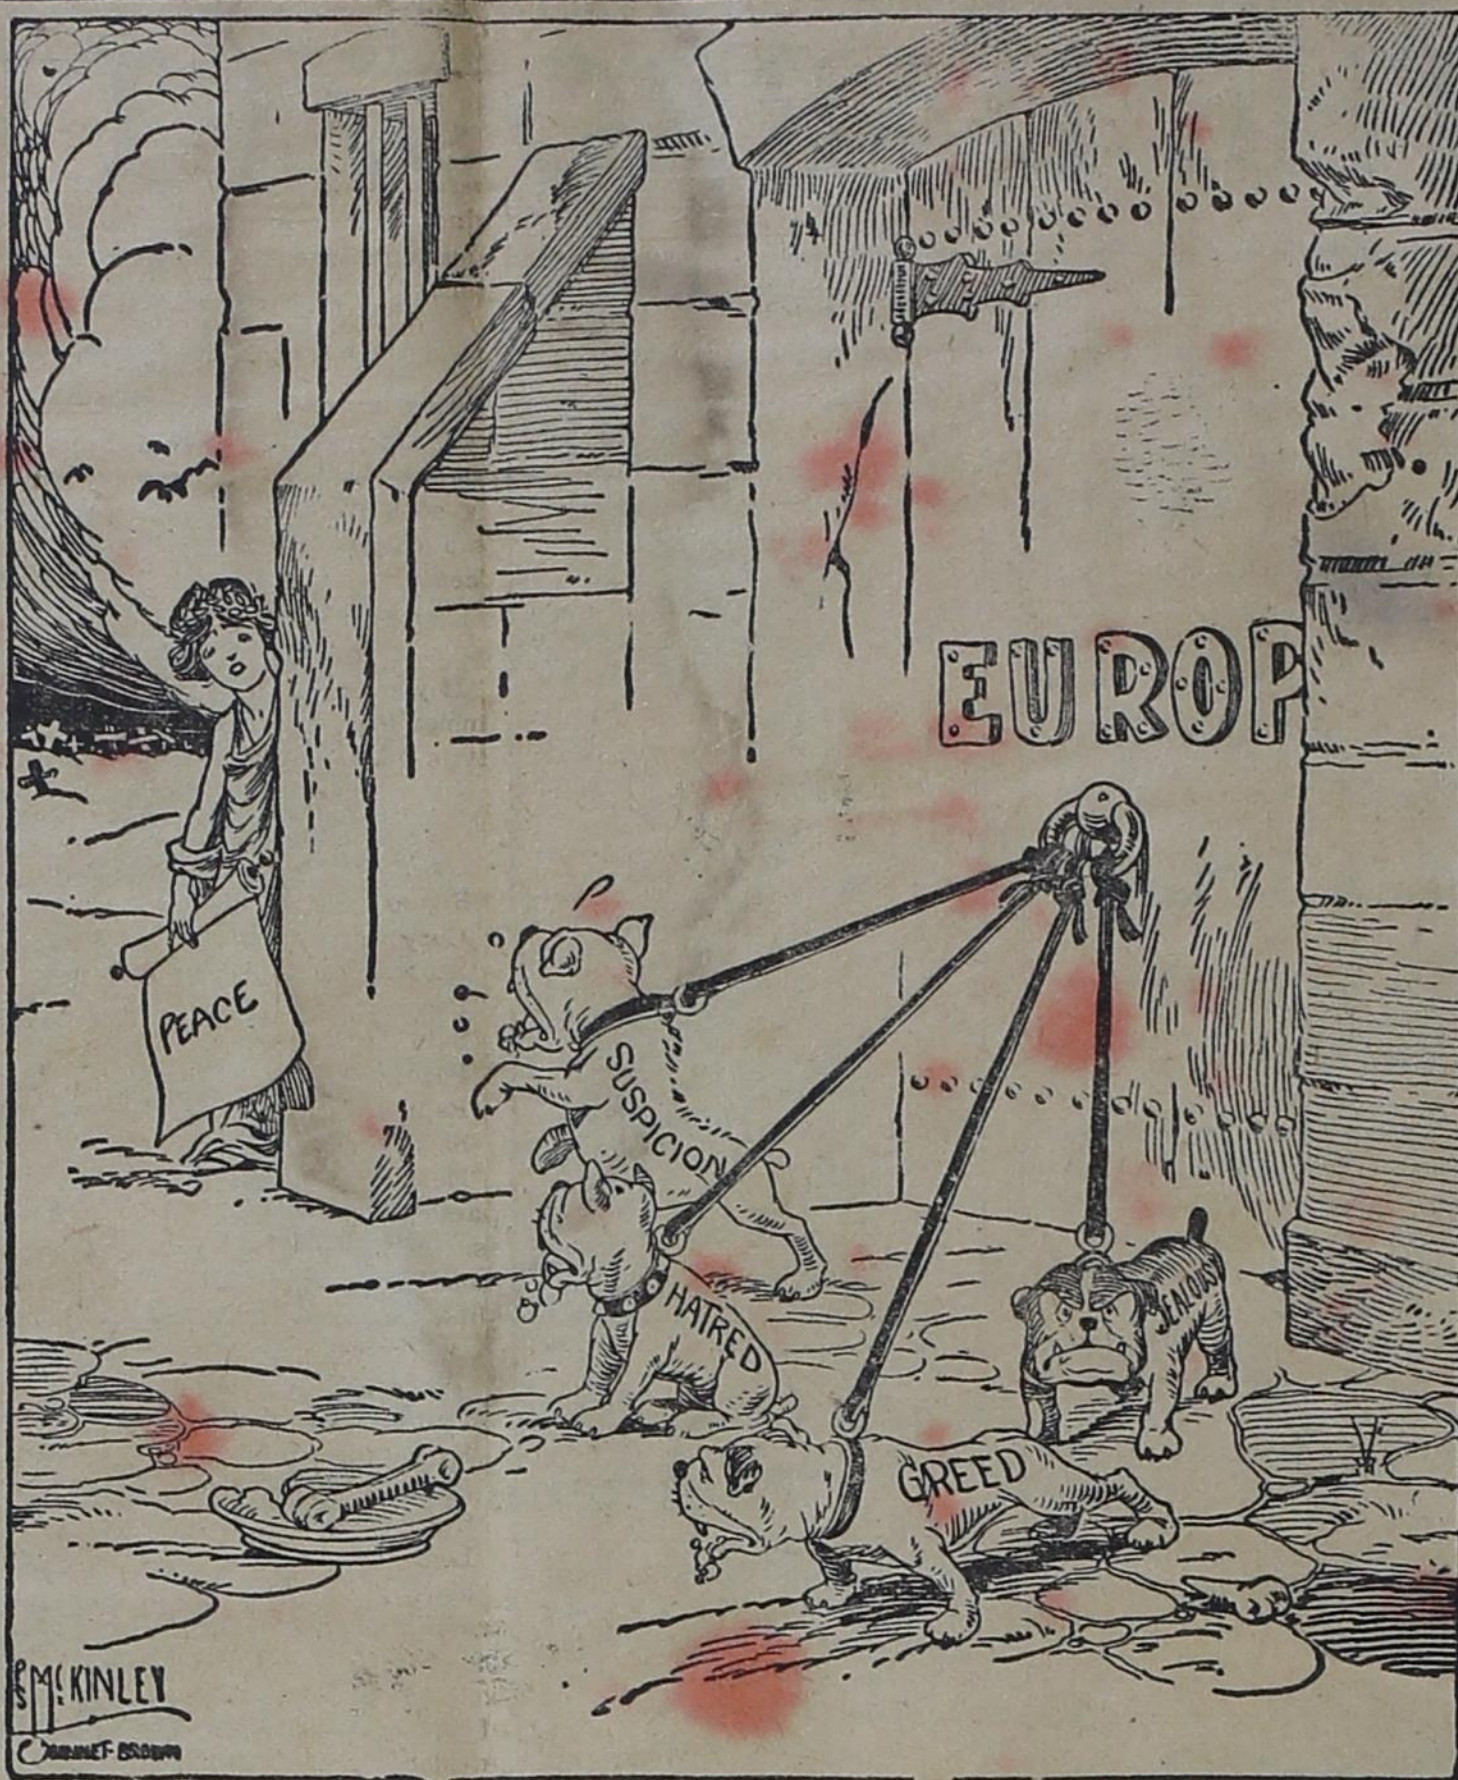

An idea of farm relief, thus far, may be obtained by looking at the price of wheat and cotton.

If all the bill collectors of the world were collected in one room we could tell them where to go.

Many men who are in love with their work are poorly paid, among them some of the best educated men and women. But they labor on, smiling in sacrifice and finding their richest reward in the assurance of a task well done. Money could never pay for their services: humanity is their eternal debtor.

Six turkey demonstrators and co-operators in McCulough county have raised from 90 per cent to 95 per cent of all hatched poults up to two months of age by following a system outlined by the county agent. Hens were fed mash beginning in December, and when the poults came off in the spring the hens were put in coops in cultivated fields and the young turkeys allowed to range in oat, wheat, barley and corn crops nearby. Coops were moved to fresh ground every three days. This kept the turkeys from getting wormy and away from red bugs, blue bugs and other harmful insects.

WHAT DRINK HAS DONE

by Evangeline Booth

SHE KNOWS

"Drink has drained more blood, hung more crepe, sold more homes, plunged more people into bankruptcy armed more villains, slain more children, snapped more wedding rings, defiled more innocence, blinded more eyes, twisted more limbs, dethroned more reason, wrecked more manhood, dishonored more womanhood, broken more hearts, blasted more lives, driven more to suicide, and dug more graves, than any other poisoned scourage that ever swept its death-dealing waves across the World."

The wets profess to want the 18th Amendment repealed because so many violate it. There are numerous other laws that are violated to a greater extent, yet they never mention those.

Hey there, you wet fellows! Why don't you begin a campaign for the repeal of the gas tax. In Indiana bootlegging gasoline is said to have suddenly become second most profitable racket. Surely that law is demoralizing the public (?)

The new income tax bill that was passed about the time he wrote his famous letter to Butler will more than double John D's income tax. Wonder if this wasn't the straw that broke the camel's back and made him wet.

Surrender this government to those who defy the law for the sake of booze and would nullify the fundamental law of the land to get it, and what kind of a government in general do you think we will have. Do you suppose that the rest of the lawless would have respect for their commands and demands?

One of the speakers in favor of the wet plank at the National Republican Convention, I think he was from Rhode Island, said that when the 18th Amendment came along, his state kicked it out the back door. Such talk and actions should be treason and be punished. Will Rogers was right when he said the 18th Amendment will never be repealed because the wrong kind of people want it repealed.

H. F. Ludlum returned Tuesday from the Fred Russell farm near Follett where he has been harvesting for the past month.

A Weekly SERMONETTE

PAY.

By Arthur B. Rhinow

A minister and a matron of an old folks' home conversed on salaries.

"Every one who does his work faithfully," the minister remarked, "contributes something which cannot be paid for in dollars and cents."

And that something is the ingredient that truly enables work. Let a man put his heart into his work and he becomes an artist, no matter how lowly his task may be. Let him sweep the street with a sense of duty and not merely with a broom, and the calculation of so much per hour and before long he will envision the city beautiful. More than that. True art is akin to religion. Sooner or later he will realize that he is working with the Almighty. We cannot be faithful without faith.

"Pay a man right and he will do his work right," is a current maxim. But it is not true. No doubt the worker is entitled to adequate wages, and no doubt adequate wages are an incentive to effort, but to do really good work the toiler needs the compelling force of a higher motive than so much money. He must believe in his job and love it; believe that his work is contributing to the welfare of humanity. It may be hard to feel that in these days of machinery, when the individual is but a cog in the wheel, but as soon as the cog realizes its importance to the wheel

Higher Mathematics Information For Depressed Farmers

The following from the Philadelphia Record is an exhibit of the kind of pamphlet literature sent out by the Agricultural Department at the expense of taxpayers:

"The pamphlet is Department of Agriculture Bulletin 1440, and is entitled 'Factors Affecting the Price of Hogs.' It is being sent to farmers for this stated reason: 'Fuller comprehension of what are the factors affecting hog prices should enable farmers to make a more rational control of their production.'

"All the factors affecting hog prices have been put into a single formula. The formula is presented to farmers as 'making a highly accurate mathematical basis.' The formula, in short, will tell the farmer how to raise and sell hogs, and when to market them. For the sake of those farmers whose taxes have left them without postage to write for the bulletin to the department, we reprint the formula, as accurately as the limitations of newspaper typography will permit:

"Log XII equals 0.09443 log X1 plus 0.5888 log X2 minus 0.21986 log 0.07250 log X5 plus 2.23777 log X6 plus 0.04759 log X7 plus 0.22659 log X8 minus 0.03036 log X9 plus 1.63099 log X10 minus K."

"We have been waiting a long time for the answer to the farm problem. But who, looking at the solution printed above, can say it was not worth waiting for?"

By gathering seed from little grazed spots along highways and railroads, Robertson county farmers conducting pasture improvement demonstrations have secured a start of the following desirable pasture plants: burr clover, Carolina clover, black medic, sweet clover, rescue grass and wild rye.

DALLAS—Plans for expenditure of $2,500,000 for new construction by subsidiaries of Central and Southwest Utilities Co. announced here recently.

HENDERSON—Atlantic Oil Producing Co. purchased Mills Bennett leases on W. J. Brightwell farm of 188 acres, including 10 completed wells in Rusk County, for reported consideration of about $400,000.

be elected, salaries to be paid, consolidation of city and county government, etc.

"These progressive and beneficial changes, of course, cannot be brought about unless there is a public sentiment for them sufficient to change the organic law of the state. It is for this reason that I commend the work of the West Texas committees and pledge myself to assist in every way possible to develop a public sentiment sufficiently strong to make effective this constructive program."

Commenting on the Governor's letter, Wilbur C. Hawk, President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said: "It is gratifying to know that the state's chief executive appreciates the fact that our organization is endeavoring to get right down to brass tacks in the matter of state, school, county and municipal taxes. By lending 100 per cent co-operation, as he has offered, it looks like our program should go through overwhelmingly. I am delighted at the Governor's attitude, and feel that his support means a huge stride forward toward real economy."

President Hyer Is Speaker at Opening Of Lions Convention

Los Angeles, July 19.—The president of Lions International, Julien C. Hyer, of Fort Worth, Texas, spoke out in the opening session of convention here today demanding that service clubs take a more active part in the affairs of city, state and national government.

According to Hyer the International Association of Lions Clubs has already adopted a plan known as the "Know Your Community" series of programs which are to be given not only through the medium of the 2650 Lions Clubs throughout the country, but also to be given over local radio stations to assist all citizens to know their communities and to stimulate their participation and interest in government. Hyer feels that interest in local government will be reflected directly into state and national government, will enforce representation of the people rather than of political hierarchies, and will work for strong national unity.

At the opening of Hyer's address the 5,000 guests and delegates in convention became unusually silent as he emphatically pointed out that "the day of the service organization participating only remotely in public affairs is over. The definite place of the service club in the civic and social life of the world today calls for a braver program in the years that lie ahead than it has dared to undertake in the past. Heretofore content with organization and influence, glorifying in deeds of unselfish service, and in charitable beneficences to the unfortunate in every community, Lionism must now gird its loins and face the future with a more determined sense of civic responsibility."

"No finer forum for the discussion of the local, state and national problems can be found than that afforded by the gathering of the community's leading business and professional men once each week in a non-partisan and non-political meeting. To hear both sides of leading questions discussed intelligently by careful students of facts and conditions, without endorsement or condemnation, will familiarize the average Lion with all of the elements that he must vote upon or form an opinion about, and permit him to intelligently arrive at a sane conclusion.

"Too many of the intelligent business and professional men of today are considering public problems without having the facts before them or being adequately posted upon the actual conditions that exist.

"The time will never come when partisan politics or individual political preference will have any place in Lionism, but the time is right for the laying aside of high-sounding generalities and reiterated idealisms for the realization of the responsibility of an informed citizenship."

Howard and Roy Phebus of Perryton visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Flock on Monday. Mrs. Howard Phebus, who has been visiting in Darrouzett the past week, returned to Perryton with them.

LOOK HERE

The vested interests and their puppets are making quite a fuss about the few cases of cantaloupes I stole on June 28, 1889. They say that a man who would steal a wagon load of cantaloupes would steal a herd of cattle and that a cattle thief wouldn't hesitate a minute to sell out his state.

I deny this absurd and dastardly attack upon my character with all the vehemence at my command. Moreover, since the matter has been brought out into the open, I wish to cite the court records. It is true that I was accused of stealing 423 cases of cantaloupes valued at $1934.75, on June 28, 1889; and it is also true that I was tried for the theft. But does the opposition tell you that I was completely exonerated by the trial court? No, the opposition does not tell you that I was exonerated by the trial court. But I refer you to the records of the court which will show that I was discharged from the custody and was completely exonerated on the grounds that I was non compos mentis.

Now, let me ask you, has the opposition for this office ever been exonerated for the dastardly crime of stealing cantaloupes. No, he has not. I repeat again, he has not been exonerated of the crime of stealing cantaloupes. You cannot find in any duly constituted Texas court a record of his trial, and if he did he sneaked into the courts of some other state, which was an unpatriotic thing to do.

So, my friends, will you send a man to the legislature who has faced his accusers and publicly exonerated of the crime of stealing cantaloupes? Or will you send a man who can produce no records of a trial that will establish his innocence?

I submit my candidacy to the people in absolute confidence that they will, as the courts did, will exonerate me. And I quote again from my principal slogan No. 2, which is: "Run the rascals out and let me in."

Candidately yours,
SIG.
