Cats Meet Melvin In First Grid Game

The Eastland Mavericks, rated next to Albany in their class A district, may have been sluggish after several scrimmages, and not expecting too much, but whether or not that was the case, the Mavs made the Rising Star Wildcats look very good indeed in the first scrimmage of the year for the Rising Star boys last Saturday morning at Eastland.

under actual game conditions remains to be seen, Coach Hill said. They will get a chance to answer that against Melvin at Melvin Friday night of this week.

The coaches have not yet settled upon their starting lineup. "It all depends upon how the boys do in scrimmages this week," said Coach Hill. He is assisted by Homer Putman.

The local kids scored twice more, one by Quarterback Johnny Jones and a third by Dicky Morrow, using mostly short yardage running gains with a few passes mixed in.

RISING STAR INDUSTRY. Booster plant of the Coastal States Gas Producing Company near Okra which will boost natural gas from this area into a 12-inch Lone Star Pipeline for transmission to the Lone Star's big utilities system.

25 More Wells To Be Drilled By Coastal Here

The Coastal States Gas Producing Company's new booster plant on the Judd farm, four miles east of Okra, has been completed, except for the steel building which will shelter it.

The plant, with a capacity of 10 millions of cubic feet of gas daily, will take gas from the Coastal States leases east of Rising Star and deliver it into a 12-inch line building by the Lone Star Gas Company and linking with the Lone Star's main pipe line at Thurber.

The compressor station will be automatic in operation. It will be under the supervision of O. L. Burns of Rising Star, the Coastal's field superintendent here.

The company plans another 25 wells most in a drilling campaign to be started before the first of the year. A number of these will be exploratory in character designed to define the reservoir.

The gas and oil production is from the Marble Falls pay, and many of the gas wells are rated at 3 to 6 million feet per day. The supply is more than enough to keep the plant going at capacity, and the reservoir is estimated to be good for 20 years or more.

The office in charge of the district is at Abilene where Kenneth Deberry is superintendent. Luther McClung, formerly of Fort Worth, started the program here when he began leasing acreage some three or four years ago with a gas drilling program in mind.

Coastal States activity in this area has stimulated leasing and oil and gas development by a number of other organizations. If further development, as planned, is successful, there will no doubt be more of this activity.

Gas, it seems, is replacing oil as the chief mineral resource of this section, although a good market for gas will make possible the operation of wells drilled in by an excessive ratio.

Best Peanut Yield In Years Forecast

One of the best peanut crops, in point of yield per acre and quality of nuts, in many years was in prospect in the Rising Star section this month.

Results of survey being made by the Southern Peanut Growers Ass'n and other agencies concerned with the agricultural picture show that good crop conditions are general except in a few areas where there was not enough rainfall.

This will hold true if weather conditions will continue favorable and the marketing season comparatively favorable.

At the moment there is high optimism among the farmers who look over their fields as the harvest season pictures in appearance as any ideal harvest scene.

Timely August rains were the answer this year to the farmers hope for a good crop. When it rains in August, they say, you can look for a good peanut crop.

do well upon the rains of the winter and spring.

But then the vines mature and reach the fruiting stage, the crop requires rain and immediately. That is because the vine needs moisture to flower and set its nuts.

That condition seems not to have occurred this year. Most of the crop, stimulated by early August rains, has fruited to maximum and the nuts are maturing evenly and well.

Late feed crops, as well as pastures, have been equally benefited by the moisture. Fields of grain sorghum and other feed crops, mostly striped with peanuts in this section, resemble the heavy yielding fields of the high plains country where maize is the principal crop.

All in all the agricultural picture in this area has a brighter color than in many years.

MONDAY WILL BE HOLIDAY HERE

Pioneer Man, 85, One of First to Get SS Checks

Benjamin I. Marshall, 85, of Pioneer is the only Eastland county resident among the six in the Abilene district and the 5488 in the nation who received a social security check for January 1960, the first month any such checks were payable.

H. L. Weatherly of the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration, field representative for Eastland county, talked with Mr. and Mrs. Marshall recently and secured written permission to use their names in this matter.

Mr. Marshall is a retired pumper, chiefly for the Texas Co., and came to Eastland county some 85 years ago as an infant. He was born Sept. 3, 1874, married Miss Fannie Pittman on Dec. 27, 1895, and the couple made their home in various parts of Eastland county throughout their married life of almost 64 years.

Mr. Marshall's benefit rate of Jan. 1940 was $27.19; this was raised for September 1950 to $50.30; for Sept. 1952, to $56.60; for Sept. 1954, to $61.60; and most recently, for January 1959 to $66.00.

Weatherly says Mr. Marshall was still quite spry, stopping his chore of burning up the yard and cleaning up the yard to talk with him.

Precinct No. 3 of Eastland county—the Rising Star precinct—enjoys the best financial position of all four precincts, according to the monthly report of the County Auditor issued as of July 1.

According to that report, the precinct has on hand in both its road and bridge fund and lateral road fund, a total of $26,025.56 in cash.

Precinct 4, the Cisco precinct, comes nearest to match No. 3 with cash amounting to $22,456.71 and an indebtedness of $12,500.

The county as a whole is in excellent financial position with a cash balance in all its funds amounting to $244,518.42.

The City of Rising Star, the highway contractor and Special Officer R. C. McKeehan are due commendation for the way in which traffic was handled at the intersection of College and Main streets during the heavy hauling incident to reconstruction of Highway 36.

Not a single accident of any consequence took place during the two months and no one was hurt. With big gravel trucks turning from South Main into College at the rate of one every three minutes and returning empty by the same route, there was ample opportunity for serious mishaps during the two months that the hauling of gravel was underway.

occur, despite the heavy traffic, is due to the safety measures observed by the contractor, the forethought of the city in employing a traffic officer and regulating the stop and go light at the intersection and the efficient way in which traffic rules were enforced.

Even under normal conditions, considering the extremely heavy truck and intersectional motor traffic it bears, the intersection is dangerous. It was a good job.

Mr. McKeehan said that everybody was very cooperative in observance of the traffic regulations and he appreciated it very much. "That was the main reason the situation was handled without accident," he said.

Increase Shown In Registration At Schools Here

The 1960-61 term of school in Rising Star got under way smoothly Monday morning with a full schedule of classroom and related activity.

For the first time in several years the enrollment of the school showed an increase over the preceding year, Supt. Sam Jones reported.

First day registration at the High School totalled 112 and at the elementary school 224, making an overall total of 336 students in attendance.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

DIVISION OF ESTATES EXPLAINED

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property — cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants) who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parent survives, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors. And if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

Starting Teacher Salary of $4,000 Will Be Sought

AUSTIN.—A beginning salary of $4,000 for Texas public school teachers will be requested at the next session of the Legislature, a spokesman for the Texas State Teachers Association announced today.

This and other TSTA proposals are in line with recommendations made two years ago by the 254 county Hale-Aikin committee, and costs have risen since then, TSTA Pres. Mary Alexander of Palestine said.

Mrs. Alexander made these points:

—The Gilmer-Aikin Minimum Foundation School Program has not been changed since 1949, except for two modest teacher pay raises, and cost factors then are unrealistic now.

—State increases in Texas teacher salary in the last ten years are the lowest in the nation.

In one proposed bill, TSTA will ask the Texas Legislature to strengthen the three basic parts of the Gilmer-Aikin program—teacher pay, transportation, and maintenance and operation—as follows:

—Provide an annual salary of $4,014 for a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree (now $3,204) and $4,239 for an M.A. degree (now $3,429).

—Annual salary increments of $108 per year (now $54) with ten increments for bachelor's degree teachers and 17 for the master's degree.

—Add $380 per school bus to help pay increased transportation costs for school children.

—Increase to $500 per teacher the allowance for maintenance and operation of school plant and program (now $350-$400).

Larger cities, and other areas with rapidly expanding population, would especially benefit from another TSTA proposal, to allot State aid for teaching personnel on the basis of the current year's attendance instead of last year's. This would save local taxpayers at least $8 million the first year, Mrs. Alexander noted.

Other legislative requests by TSTA call for: five days sick leave annually for teachers, cumulative to 30 days; additional special service teacher and principals; and regional film and audio-visual libraries.

Total cost of these proposals to strengthen the school program is estimated at $100 million annually, of which the State would pay approximately $80 million and local districts $20 million.

"Texas schools are as good as they are largely because local districts have steadily increased their financial support of dedicated teachers continue to perform efficiently at a personal sacrifice in income," the president declared.

Children are to receive a "vacation," she added, "so that teachers must not be

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

Quite a few Pops still worry every summer about how much money Junior makes during vacation. At one time Pop lost his income tax exemption for Junior if Junior earned over $600 during the year. However, since 1954 this is no longer the case. Pop doesn't have to worry about how much money Junior makes. A father who furnishes principal support for his child can claim an exemption for a child under 19 years of age, or for a bona fide student, over 18 years of age who was a full-time student for 5 months of the year, even though the child files his (or her) own income tax return and takes his (or her) own personal exemption on his (or her) return. This is the one case where you can take a double deduction for the same exemption.

West Central Texas Ass'n Seeks More Markets for Gas in This Area

By SHERWYN McNAIR Reporter-News Oil Editor

The West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association has launched a program to expand the natural market in the area it serves.

The immediate goal is to help promote outlets for gas from wells currently shut in for lack of market. Dozens of such wells have been drilled in recent years, mainly on the eastern and southern sides of the territory.

If demand can be created for gas already available, association spokesmen agree that new capital for increased exploratory and development drilling could be attracted into the area.

Committee Named

The first step in the campaign came Friday at a special meeting held at the Abilene Petroleum Club when Association President Sam Robertson appointed a five-man Natural Gas Committee to survey the gas reserve situation. The committee initially will concentrate on the area covered principally by Palo Pinto, Parker, Stephens, Erath, Young, Comanche, Eastland, Brown and Coleman counties.

The committee will seek information from operators concerning the number of uncommitted shut-in gas wells, amount of proven acreage, wildcat acreage, and gas reserve estimates.

Chairman of the committee is W. N. (Bill) Tindell of Abilene, district geologist for Mayfair Minerals Corp. and a vice president of the association.

"We will need the cooperation of every gas producer or potential producer in the area to make our study complete," Tindell said.

Cooperation Urged

At the Friday meeting, which was attended by about 15 association members, Tindell explained how drilling activity was lagging in a number of potentially good gas producing counties because pipeline connections are not available.

"A number of us believe the time has come when an improved market situation can be brought about by working together instead of individually," he said.

The committee's first action will be mailing out questionnaires in an effort to contact operators in the counties involved. The accumulated information then can be used to show prospective gas buyers what the area has to offer.

The territory involved in the study was called "a vast area of potential gas reserves" by Hamilton Rogers of Fort Worth, executive vice president of Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co., one of the area's oldest operators. He estimated that more than a million acres of land are under oil and gas leases.

If gas producers could be assured a reasonable payout, the subsequent drilling campaign would be a "terrific boon" to the entire economy of the area, Rogers said. All the drilling so far, he explained, has been done by companies who can afford to drill $40,000 wells, shut them in and hope a market develops.

Buyers 'Interested'

W. M. Jarrell of Houston, an independent operator with production in the district, said inquiries he had made convinced him that buyers can be attracted if sufficient reserves can be proven. A number of prospective customers have indicated interest in the area, Jarrell said, but the market usually has not increased in recent years.

Tindell's committee will explore three types of potential markets: sales out of the area, both intrastate and interstate; sales for use by local industry; and sales for use by new industries that can be attracted into the area.

Members of the committee are Stanley P. Davis Jr. of Fort Worth, chief geologist for Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co.; P. W. (Bill) Eber, Brecken-

Cecil and Bob Shults See New Line of Tractors

Cecil and Bob Shults of the Shults Implement Co., were given an opportunity this week to see firsthand just how many independent businessmen a major manufacturer needs to sell and service its products throughout the United States and Canada.

Along with some 4,500 other independent businessmen who have John Deere dealer franchises in the United States and Canada, they went to Dallas, Texas, for the biggest sales meeting of its type ever held.

Sixteen United States and Canadian airlines cooperated in airlifting the 4,500 dealers and 1,500 other persons to Dallas within a 24-hour period. It was the first time any manufacturer utilized as many airplanes, reserved as many accommodations, and arranged for as many meals for a single group at one time.

The meeting was called to show dealers the new line of John Deere tractors and equipment. Announcement was made this week that the new tractors will be put on the market in late September.

The Rising Star dealers, father and son, went to Dallas Tuesday for the meeting. They were to return to Rising Star Wednesday.

Announcement of a local showing of the new line of John Deere tractors will be made later, they said.

John Deere dealers in the area include Lester Clark, Breckenridge independent, and R. Denny Jackson, manager of Fletcher Oil & Gas Drilling Corp. in Abilene.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

The September issue of the Texas Health Bulletin, a monthly publication of the Texas State Department of Health, is devoted to matters of school health.

All articles in the Bulletin were written by persons with wide experience in their respective fields including school nurses, environmental engineers, teachers and a physician.

There are many hints that will come in handy for parents as well as school personnel.

A common problem is estimating the ideal weight for a child. The solution suggested in the September Bulletin says multiply the child's age in years by seven, and add one-half pound for each month past that year.

This will hold true from ages six through 12.

For example, boys and girls who are eight years and eight months old will average close to 60 pounds. Eight times seven is 56—add a half-pound for each of eight months and it totals 60 pounds.

Of course there is no set rule that a child has to weigh 60 pounds at that age because build and current rate of growth must be considered.

All information which pertains to the health or growth of a student should be kept in a permanent record all through school.

Items such as immunizations, sickness, sight or hearing handicaps, as well as teacher observation reports should be included.

The importance of teacher observation of children for physical disorders and handicaps should be a routine procedure, because in addition to catching a physical disorder before it becomes serious, the teacher is often able to uncover emotional difficulties at home.

How school environment affects the learning activity of school children as well as their health is discussed in a key article.

Lighting, campus grounds, toilet facilities, heating, cafeteria cleanliness—all are carefully scrutinized by highly trained inspectors.

Indeed, school health is more than a few shots in elementary school—it is the consideration of the whole child all the way through school. (A weekly feature from Public Health Education Division, State Health Department.)

Mrs. Elgie Crisp, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ed Grisham, and her mother's sister, visited three days in Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Groce of Austin visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Groce, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Turner, here during the week end.

Mrs. West Writes Interesting Account Of Vacation Trip Through Eastern U. S.

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following account of a vacation trip this summer by Mr. and Mrs. Marion West was written by Mrs. West. The account will be published in two installments. We believe you will find it interesting.

We went from Rising Star to Dallas, then to Brokenbow, Okla. Here is found the world's largest cypress tree. The chief industry of this town is farming and lumbering.

From here we drove to Hot Springs, Ark. Here is found "Hot Springs National Park", famous health and pleasure resort, with 47 hot springs. The springs are believed to have been visited by De Soto in 1541, and were a favorite stopping place for the Indians. Early settlers made pilgrimages to the springs and the first bath houses were built in 1830.

We traveled next to Little Rock, Ark., capital of the state, located on a high bluff near the Ozark foothills on the edge of the gulf coastal plain. Near Little Rock are extensive bauxite mines, which provide 90 percent of the country's total supply of bauxite. (This is the principal ore of aluminum). This city is the seat of several institutions of higher education, including the University of Arkansas School of Medicine.

Our next stop of importance was Memphis, Tenn., the largest city in the state and the most important commercial center and distributing point between New Orleans and St. Louis. It is situated at the head of deep water navigation on the Mississippi River. Memphis is the world's largest inland cotton market and producer of cottonseed products, and one of the nation's biggest hardwood lumber markets. Memphis is the seat of many institutions of higher learning, which includes a State Teachers College, the colleges of nursing, medicine, pharmacy and dentistry of the University of Tennessee.

From here we journeyed to Nashville, capitol of Tennessee. It is located in the heart of the blue grass region.

Leaving Nashville, we took a toll road to Louisville, Ken. This city has for decades been the largest manufacturing center south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers. It is one of the nation's ranking distributing centers for liquors, especially bourbon whiskey, and about one fifth of the country's cigarettes are made here.

Our next visit was at Frankfort, Ken., the capitol of the state. Here we drove to the cemetery and visited the grave of Daniel Boone. This city is also the home of Miss Hanna Ennis, the beloved aunt of our neighbor, Mrs. Alice Graves.

From Frankfort we drove through the blue grass region crossed the Licking River, here to Georgetown and Paris. We saw the Blue Lick Battlefield, where was fought the last battle of the Revolutionary War.

We crossed the Ohio River at Mayesville, Ky., into Aberdeen, Ohio. From here we took highway 41 north which took us over a winding road that showed destruction from recent floods caused by a hurricane.

From Rainbridge we took highway 50 to Chillicothe, where we took Super Highway 23 to Columbus, Ohio, capitol of the state. It is noted for its Greek revival style of architecture, is surrounded by a 10-acre park that includes a group of bronze statues honoring the seven U. S. presidents from the State of Ohio.

Leaving Columbus, we drove to Mansfield, Ohio, some 75 miles away. We drove from here to Akron, Ohio. This is the largest rubber manufacturing center in the world, developed after the establishment of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. in 1898. This city also has large cereal mills. Extensive clay beds in the vicinity, supply large sewer pipe plants.

Our next stop was Cleveland, Ohio. This is the largest city in Ohio, and seventh in population in the United States. It is located on the South shore of Lake Erie, at the mouth of the Cuyahoga River. This city is one of the most important iron ore markets, and steel producing cities of the world. It is spread over a plateau of approximately 80 square miles. The average annual temperature is 50.02 degrees F.

Following Interstate Highway 20 we drove to Erie, Pa. This city is located on the south shore of Lake Erie. Thousands of vessels enter its port annually, hauling cargoes of coal, lumber, petroleum, grain and iron ore. Principal manufactured products of this city include refrigerators, electrical equipment, hospital and sterilizing equipment.

We traveled from here to Buffalo, N. Y. This city is at the east end of Lake Erie, and at the head of the Niagara River. This city is 20 miles south of the Niagara Falls. This is a great commercial and manufacturing center.

From here we had a very enjoyable drive to Niagara Falls, N. Y. This city is a well known resort for tourists, and is one of the electrochemical and electrometallurgical centers of the world. This city's principal products are chloride products, bleaches, calcium chloride, cereals and many different chemicals. This city is headquarters for thousands of visitors who come to see the Falls.

We crossed over Rainbow Bridge into Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada to view the falls from the Canadian side. Here we took a trolley car to the river docks where we got on a boat "Master of the Mist". We were fitted with rain coats and caps to protect us from the water spray from the Falls. We were taken on a complete trip to the foot of the falls.

We next went to Princess Elizabeth Building. Here we sent picture postcards of the falls back to friends and relatives at home.

Our next journey was by elevator 120 feet into the earth where 650 feet of underground tunnels lead to three separate close-up views of the Falls. Only 25 feet above the river level, the observation plaza offers a distinctive vantage point from which to view or photograph the falls and river. Behind the mighty curtain of water, two observation portals bring Niagara's cataclysm literally to the fingertips of the visitor. You'll never forget the thunder of the Falls as you stand at the observation portals on the observation plaza. You can feel its power, sense its grandeur as 114,000,000 gallons of water a minute cascade into the gorge a few feet in front of you.

After we finished this underground trip it was time to view the falls by night. To view the Falls of Niagara by night is to be wide awake in a land of dreams. Twenty-four 36-inch searchlights, each of which emits 35 million candlepower, totaling approximately one billion, 320 million candlepower, turn beautiful Niagara in Fairyland. They reflect every color of a rainbow. These falls are 160 feet high. We now returned to the United States over the Rainbow Bridge.

From here we drove to Batavia, N. Y., which is almost mid-way between Buffalo and Rochester. Here at this city is found factories producing farm implements, shoes, paper, metal products and television sets.

Continuing our journey, we next stopped at Syracuse, N. Y. This city spreads over 25 miles of territory, embracing a beautiful scenic section of six natural hills bordering Onondaga Lake. Two streams wind thru the city, and wide boulevards have been built on the beds of the abandoned Erie and Oswego canals. Syracuse is the seat of Syracuse University.

Following Highway 90 along the Mohawk River, we traveled through a beautiful valley, dividing the Catskill Mountains to the South and Adirondacks to the North.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Allen, of Snyder, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Witt during the week end.

"I GIVE YOU TEXAS"

Bailey Jones, who has lived in Austin for a long time, was the star slugger of the Brady baseball team back in 1921, when I used to see him in action.

He always has a good story—for instance there was the time that Brady was playing Rockwood. The visitors were at bat and a line drive hit with great power, bounced off the glove of the centerfielder—(call him Williams). Jones was playing right field and had raced over. The ball struck his glove, but he knew he couldn't hold it, so he knocked it back to the centerfielder, who held it for the out.

As if that wasn't enough, in that same game, Jones figured in another remarkable play. He had started toward the diamond from right field to advise the pitcher what kind of pitch to throw to the batter, a veteran whose strength and weakness at the plate Jones was familiar with.

But the pitcher didn't see Jones coming in and went ahead and threw. Jones was of course away out of position. The serve was to the batter, liking and Bailey saw the ball hit with great force toward right field. He turned and ran in that direction but didn't see the ball. Meanwhile he bumped his teammates and, amazingly, they were going in.

He became aware of a weight in his glove, looked down and there was the ball. He must have instinctively thrown up his hand at the crack of the bat and had caught it without knowing it!

The catch had been made before he moved out of his tracks. Had he been in his proper place, it would have been a clean hit.

The batter, as they passed each other, growled, "You are sure lucky." Jones grinned and replied, "Shucks, anybody would know where to play for you."

Signs:
In Knoxville: "See bean first; his tires last."
In Memphis: "You call; we haul—Duvall."
There was once a plagiarist who entitled his book, quite appropriately, "Under False Colors."

Use of Chemicals to Control Insects Can Make Lawns More Enjoyable

COLLEGE STATION. — Insect infested lawns can be a nuisance to people as well as pets. Chiggers, fleas and brown dog ticks are usually the culprits when a lawn is avoided instead of enjoyed. C. F. Garner and R. L. Ridgway, extension entomologists, say that if proper control measures are used, however, these pests can be eliminated with a minimum amount of work and expense.

For the control of chiggers, the specialists recommend the application of dusts or sprays of chlordane, toxaphene or lindane to infested grass and ground litter. An emulsion spray usually gives the best results. For treating small areas, use a compressed air or knapsack sprayer and apply 2 1/2 to 3 quarts of spray per 1,000 square feet. If dust is used, apply 5 percent chlordane at 40 to 50 pounds per acre, or 20 percent toxaphene at 10 to 15 pounds per acre (approximately 1 pound per 1,000 square feet).

Fleas usually enter the home on dogs, cats, rats and other animals. They deposit eggs loosely on their hosts, and these eggs fall onto the ground, into cracks in the floor, or similar places. Since fleas spend their early developmental stages in the soil, they often become a nuisance on the lawn and around outbuildings. These places should be treated with a 2 1/2 percent malathion spray or with a 4 percent malathion dust. Garner and Ridgway say that dogs should be dusted thoroughly with 4 percent malathion dust or dipped in a 1/2 percent malathion water solution. A commercially prepared 2 or 2 1/2 percent malathion solution is recommended for control of fleas in the home.

Diazinon has been approved for the control of fleas and chiggers in outdoor areas, and this material may be substituted for any of the previously listed chemicals, the specialists continue. Brown dog ticks, which are resistant to chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides, also can be controlled with diazinon. This material can be purchased in a 25 percent wettable powder or in a 25 percent emulsifiable concentrate. Lawn pests can be controlled by mixing two quarts of emulsifiable concentrate with 25 gallons of water, and applying this mixture at the rate of one gallon per 1,000 square feet of infested area.

To mix smaller amounts of spray, use 2 1/2 fluid ounces (5 tablespoons) of the emulsifiable concentrate to one gallon of water. The 25 percent wettable powder may be used at the rate of 4 pounds of powder to 25 gallons of water. For dog tick control only, spray the area of the lawn that the dog frequents. Ticks are not usually found in areas that are free of shrubbery. Sprays should be applied underneath shrubbery and on grass growing next to buildings. Infested kennels and other quarters should be sprayed thoroughly. The specialists say that it may require two applications at ten day intervals to completely control the ticks. Do not use this material on animals, they warn.

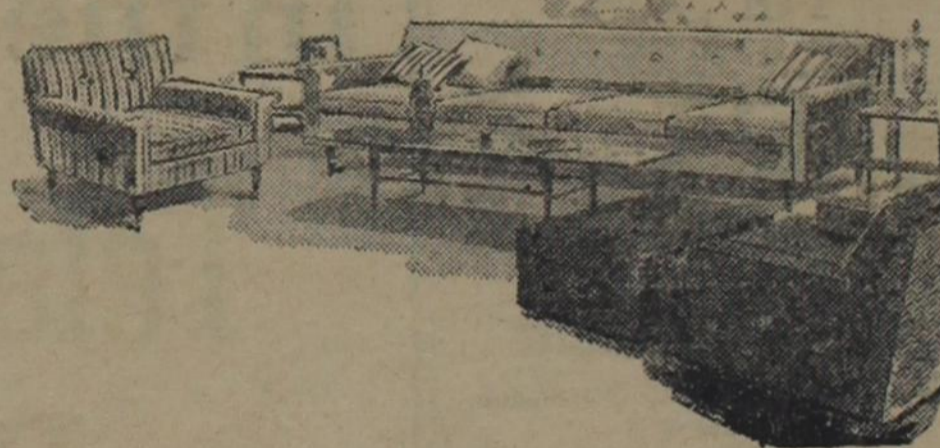

The specialists conclude with a few words of warning. Most insecticides are poisonous and should be handled with care. Read the manufacturer's label and follow directions when mixing and applying insecticides. In using any insecticide, avoid contact with the skin and eyes, wash thoroughly after handling the material and avoid contamination of feed or food stuffs. Children should be kept away from treated areas for several days after application.

We Like to Talk About Abstracts—

... because making abstracts has been our job for many years. And it's an interesting subject. Every day people come to us with their title problems. Some cases are tragic. Take the example of the couple who have spent their all for a home to find out later they have no title. Most title problems are simple and the abstract helps to make them simple. So before buying real estate better talk to us about the title.
