Publishing a small weekly newspaper is a difficult job, mentally, physically and financially, as some hundreds of editors faced with a never-relaxing task of creation and production to a deadline, will attest. A newspaper plant represents a composite of many human activities. A great many readers, not to their blame of course, have little conception even of the physical effort and costs involved in the production of the metal forms from which the newspaper is printed.

Add to that the hard work and skills required, the mental and creative problems of gathering, writing, designing and selling the contents of the paper, and you have a task that very often in the late and hurried hours of nearing press time seems impossible of being done.

Anyone who thinks that printing a newspaper is as simple as turning out a type-written page should spend a week in a newspaper shop. It would be quite rewarding and perhaps a sobering experience for some of our critics.

But, even so, it has its compensations. Now and then there comes a word of appreciation, a kind and generous comment that makes our day lighter, and lets us go to sleep behind a smile.

Such this week came from a former resident of Rising Star, Mrs. O. T. Savage of Wichita Falls.

I can surely be forgiven for publishing her comments here and saying "Thanks, very much indeed, Mrs. Savage."

"Thank you for the notice," she wrote in sending her money for another year's subscription to the Record. "My roots are deep in Rising Star — great-grandparents, grandparents, father, mother, step-father and step-father's first wife lived and died there. News from that community always interests me. Besides, what other community weekly provides such good editorials! Best wishes. Mary K."

Such nice words of appreciation make the job of publishing a lot easier and more rewarding.

It doesn't take a great deal of experience in a public office, dealing with the legal and civil rights of people to discover how inadequately educated many otherwise well informed and intelligent people are concerning one phase of the environment in which we live—the law. It is a part of that environment which grows increasingly more complicated and demanding as our society becomes more and more complex.

A great many people indeed have a very limited understanding of the functions and responsibilities of a court, and an even more limited concept of their own rights and obligations in relationship to the law and the operations and restraints of government.

The secret of good, happy living is in great part a thorough understanding of the disciplines so essential to the orderly functioning of society and the ability to accommodate our individual activities to those necessary restraints.

But in all the emphasis being placed upon the education (Continued on Page Two)

Faces That Will Face the Wildcats Across the Scrimmage Line Friday Night . .

The Dragons Will Have Plenty to Face, Too.

Wildcats and Dragons Open District Play Friday Night

The Rising Star Wildcats, 14-6, fresh from their first defeat of their season—a 28 to 0 lacing by the potent Ranger Class A Bulldogs—will open their district football campaign with the Bangs Dragons at Bangs Friday night.

The Cats will go into the contest in fair physical condition despite some injuries in the bruising Ranger contest.

The Dragons at the start of the season were rated about even with the Wildcats for district honors. Season records of the two teams are about on par. The Dragons by virtue of narrow wins over teams which the Wildcats have tied, may be said to have slightly better of the statistics. Their record for the season is three wins over two losses. They have won over Rochelle and Early by 6-0 scores, teams that the Wildcats tied 0-0, and they have lost to Robert Lee, 48-6 and to Lometa, 14-6. Although the Dragons defeated Rochelle, they can credit the win more to Rochelle's errors than to their own superiority. The Hornets were on top of the Bangs goal for a greater part of the evening but were unable to retain possession at critical points and left the game scoreless.

The Rising Star team will pit and a good fundamental running game against a Dragon of Terry Geye, Rising Star's sense that is similarly described, nor quarter can run and pass with the best in the league, while Kenneth Butler's power running will put the Dragon defense to plenty of test.

Against Rising Star defense that is admittedly strong the Dragons will pit the passing off Travis Hallford and Bruce Mullen, alternate quarters, and the strong running and good pass receiving of Pete Ramsey rated their best offensive man.

In weight the two lines are about equal at around 165-pound average, while the Wildcats may have somewhat the heavier backfield.

The game will begin at 7:30. Next week-end the Wildcats will entertain the May Tigers at Rising Star Friday night.

In the Ranger game last week, the Bulldogs did most of their scurrig on long break-away runs with good blocking.

The Wildcats made seven first downs to nine for the Bulldogs, gained 53 yards to 181 for Ranger on running plays, completed nine out of 17 passing attempts for 96 yards.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Keel have purchased and now occupy the Boatman residence.

Mrs. C. W. Weathersby was visited by her son, Jim, and her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Moore of Austin.

Rising Star Soldier Helps To Build Orphanage for Vietnamese War Orphans

A Rising Star man, Master Sergeant Joseph R. Walker, is one of the American soldiers responsible for the building and maintenance of an orphanage in Vietnam which has rescued hundreds of homeless war orphans from disease and starvation, according to a dispatch from the U. S. Army Support Command at San Francisco.

The orphanage was established at a place called Tan Son Nhut near Saigon in Vietnam after a French priest had appealed to the U. S. Army for food and clothing for 150 or more homeless waifs.

"If each man coming to Vietnam would leave his mark on the children of that country, we could win a nation to peace," said Army Cap. Donald Simmons, a dentist who was another man to help with the project.

After the appeal the Americans investigated, and what they found moved them to take full responsibility for the orphanage. Officers and men of the detachment went to work. They sacrificed their week-ends and even their money to

May Exes Homecoming To Be Held Saturday

The May High School Exes Homecoming will be held Saturday, October 24, with a full day's activity planned for the event, including a football game between the May Tigers and the Blanket eleven, and a dance.

Mrs. Faye Medley is president of the Exes association.

The program will begin with registration at 10 a.m. in the Home Economics cottage, followed by a luncheon in the school lunch room from 11:30 to 1. Registration will continue until 2 p.m.

At 2 o'clock there will be a parade through the May business district followed by a business meeting at 3 p.m. when a homecoming queen will be chosen.

A football game between May and Blanket, which will be district contest, will begin. The Homecoming events will conclude with a dance at 10 p.m. at the Camp Bowie Field House at Brownwood.

Over 200 Signed For Membership In Club Project

With more than 200 citizens of Rising Star, Cross Plains and neighboring communities already signed up for memberships at $5 per month, the total membership needed to insure the success of the Lakewood Country Club family recreation project was within sight, according to members of the sponsoring committee.

"We need just a little more effort, a little more cooperation and faith in our communities, and we'll be in a position to push final application for the development funds," said Bill Tyler, First State Bank president and a committee member.

"This project," said Mr. Tyler, "is a big thing for our towns. It will bring in notes of new business, increase the value of all property in the area, and afford good, wholesome family-type recreation to thousands of people here and in other towns, too. It will be a big asset in keeping our young people wholesomely engaged in sensible recreation, rather than wasting their time in idle and mischief-making activities. It will be a big health benefit to all of us. I think it is one of the biggest and finest projects, and one of the most attractive in community building that we have ever attempted."

"When completed it will pay its own way. Those who are signing up for membership are obligating themselves for only one year and their payments do not start until the project is completed. After they have paid their first year, if they don't want to continue their memberships, they are not obligated to do so. But, to be perfectly frank, I think most of them will want to continue. What we have planned for Lakewood will offer them too much in pleasure and wholesome leisure living.

"The names of those in Rising Star who have already signed up are published in an advertisement in this issue of the Record. Read them, and if you haven't put your name on the list. I hope you do at once. You will be in good company, and you will have a part in building better communities, making healthier citizens and happier kids."

Junior Teams Blank Santa Anna Elevens

Both the A and B teams of the Rising Star Junior High defeated similar teams from Santa Anna Junior High at Santa Anna Tuesday night.

The B team won 6 to 0 while the A team gained a 24-0 decision on strong offensive and defensive play.

Ronnie Green intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards for one score and made the extra point. He next tackled a Santa Anna back in the end zone for a safety.

Dalton Hughes ran over two touchdowns on end sweeps.

Harvey Harris also stood out in the Rising Star defense that held the Santa team scoreless.

The Kittens will play the Goldthwaite Julors here next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Record Begins 76th Year With This Week's Issue

With this issue the Rising Star Record begins the 76th year of its existence.

The Record was established in 1890, and the first issue was dated August 9. A hiatus or two in the sequence of publication accounts for the fact that the birthday of the paper now falls in late October.

The following article by Charles Dickens Spann, which Doc Sellers printed in a special edition on August 26, 1937, gives a brief history of the founding of the Record.

The name of the paper was changed to The X-Ray shortly after the introduction of the X-ray machine, but in 1924, when Mr. Sellers purchased it, the original name was restored.

Mr. Spann's article:

In midsummer of the year 1890 a twenty-one year old printer-boy resigned his job as foreman of his father's newspaper and print shop in Brownwood, loaded up his few household belongings, bought a cheap buggy and a blind horse, and drove, with his young wife and twin daughters of about two months of age, up to the village of Rising Star, and embarked upon his first venture in business by establishing a newspaper which he named the Rising Star Record, the first issue of which was of date August 9th, 1890.

The first newspaper was an all home-print six-column weekly that was printed on an Army hand-press, from type set up by hand, and this Brownwood printer-boy served as editor, printer, pressman, devil and all other positions connected with this newspaper and printing enterprise, until he annexed the youngster named Oran McClure, the son of the Rev. J. A. McClure, pastor of the Missionary Baptist Church in Rising Star, which preacher's boy said printer-boy taught to "play the devil" and thus started him off in the printing and publishing game, which he pursued the rest of his life.

At the beginning The Record was housed in a 10x12 office of plain boxing plank, pine shingle roof, with no ceiling — which together with a two-room dwelling of the same material, which housed the aforesaid prolific beginning of a family belonging to the said poor young printer-boy, constituted the initial "plant" of Rising Star's first newspaper enterprise. It was located on a lot donated by Dr. J. R. Lyon, one of the pioneers of Rising Star, and among its most well-beloved and enterprising citizens, who like many others of his class there, has long since passed on to his much merited reward, but the memory of his many good deeds in a large area over which he practiced his profession with self-sacrificing and marked success will continue to follow in the hearts and minds of many generations of people of that section.

RUBBER STAMPS AT THE RECORD

It's the Law in Texas

VOLUNTARY RISKS

When does a person act against his will? Hazel Hotcha was in an automobile crash while riding in Fred Fast's car. Hazel met Fred at a club dance. Both had several drinks. Fred bought a bottle of whiskey, and Hazel with two other couples piled into Fred's car to go to another party.

As they drove away Fred did not seem drunk. But when Fred drove faster and faster, Hazel asked him to slow down; in alarm she asked him to stop and let her out.

Fred said, "Don't worry, Hazel, all is safe." Soon afterward Fred struck a parked car injuring all his passengers, Hazel badly.

Hazel sued Fred. Since she was riding with Fred as a guest for her own pleasure, she could not recover damages from Fred unless she could show that Fred was drunk, and that she did not know it. Otherwise she would have "assumed the risk" of riding with him, and would have no claim to damages.

Hazel did show that she was not in Fred's car willingly, and that, therefore, she had not legally assumed the risk of his speed and drunken driving. A person can be an unwilling occupant, and as such, neither a guest nor a paying passenger.

How does a person show that he is riding against his will? By protesting and doing what he reasonably can do to get out. This Hazel had done.

Nobody expects a person to jump out of the moving car, nor to get out in the middle of the road. So what is reasonable? That depends—on the time, the place, the driver, the choices open to the occupant and other such things.

The rider has no claim if he knows the risks he assumes, and that the driver is drunk.

But sometimes a person takes risks though he knows nothing about them. He may accept a free ride in a car with defects which even the driver knows nothing about. The driver and he may take the same chances. Everyone is expected to know a little bit about some activities, such as common sporting events, which involve a certain element of risk. For example a spectator at a baseball game is expected to be aware of the danger of being hit by a ball and to take precautions.

To assume a risk legally, the person has to have a free choice. Thus if the way to a town is over a defective dangerous highway, the driver has no free choice. In one case a driver caused a crash. In it the husband, thrown free of the wreckage, saw the car burning. He ran into the fire to save his wife. Though he was hurt by the entry into the fire the court found the husband had no other real choice, since he could not let his wife burn, there is no assumption of risk there.

tion of youngsters in our schools, there seems to be very little appreciation of the rapidly growing importance of legal duties and rights and the impact of law upon all phases of human life and welfare.

I should think that a thorough course in this subject, and in the basic philosophy of the law would do much good, both in conditioning the student for life in a complex society and in curbing tendencies and resentments which eventuate in delinquency and crime.

A 'Shocking' Lesson in Fire Prevention

Junior Fire Marshal Stanley Livingston, holding frayed electrical cord, gets a lesson in fire prevention from his TV dad, Fred MacMurray, star of ABC-TV's popular "My Three Sons." Stanley, who plays the role of "Chip" in the series, is one of 4.5 million boys and girls who will qualify as Junior Fire Marshals by inspecting their homes for fire hazards such as this one during National Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 4-10). The year-round school Junior Fire Marshal program is a public service of The Hartford Insurance Group and its agents across the country.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

The Internal Revenue Service Statistics of Income contains these interesting figures: During 1962, almost 5 million Texans signed their names to individual income tax returns. These voluntary taxpayers reported some $15,439,451,000 in adjusted gross income. The biggest part of this—some $12,237,916,000—came from salaries and wages.

On a nationwide basis, some 99 million Americans signed tax returns, showing an adjusted gross income of $348,700,728,000—some 283 billion of this also came from salary and wages.

Officers for Term Eighth Grade Names

The Rising Star eighth grade elected the first term officers for their '64-'65 History Club, based upon, "Our United States—A Bulwark of Freedom." The officers are: Dallton Hughes president; Linda Hubbard, Vice President; Jimmy Roach, Secretary-treasurer; Bess Lee, Reporter; and Tony Geye, Safety Chief. The program committee is Coleen White and Beverly Fisher. Their teacher is Mrs. M. B. Shook.—Reporter, Bess Lee

Some 200-man years of research have gone into the development of a new man-made breathable shoe upper material now available at many markets. "Corfam" is an entirely new material for shoe uppers, a product of intensive chemical research.

Produced in three effects—smooth, grained, napped—this material breathes through a micropor and permeable construction that absorbs and transmits normal foot moisture. While its porosity lets water vapors pass from the inside to the outside, it repels water trying to enter the shoe.

The material dries without stiffening or cracking. When not in use, Corfam tends to return to its original shape.

Up keep for the smooth and grained finishes is simple. It requires just a quick wipe with a dry or damp cloth—and a new-shoe look is restored. The uppers may be polished if desired. The napped effect resists rubbing off, fading, discoloring and permanent water spotting. It, too, can be wiped clean with a damp cloth or sponge.

Shoes using the new material are being made by 31 manufacturers of men's and women's fashion footwear. Proper initial fit in shoes of Corfam is important. One does not need to allow for them to stretch into shape later, for they will fit comfortably from the first wearing.

Corfam should not be considered as a "replacement"—for it had been engineered specifically to meet the needs of the shoe industry for a uniform upper material of the highest quality. It, like man-made fibers, takes its place on its own merit with natural materials.

"REMEMBER THE ALAMO" - the cry that fanned Texas' defeat to victory!

In March 1, 1836, thirty men from Gonzales broke through the lines of Mexican Army Commander Santa Anna to increase the Alamo's defenses to 187. This little band of heroes held the Alamo against overwhelming odds for five more days in one of the most heroic struggles to be found in the annals of man.

On March 6 Santa Anna with over 4,000 troops stormed the Alamo, and the last of the heroic band of Texans died fighting. Names like William Barret Travis, James Bowie, Davy Crockett and James B. Bonham became immortal.

The massacre at the Alamo inspired General Sam Houston's men at the battle of San Jacinto. Crying "Remember the Alamo!", the Texans sprang upon Santa Anna's soldiers and in a swift bloody fight won Texas its freedom.

WHEN WILL I BE EDUCATED?

One cannot reach a conclusion as to how far he is along the path of education without some idea of where he is headed and where he started. No one ever finishes his education. It begins at birth and continues throughout life. The person who thinks of high school or college graduation as the end of his education will never be more than half educated.

Your education is divided into two forms, formal education gained through an organized program of schooling and that education gained through experience and observation. The most important thing about education is the effect it has upon how you think, how you feel and what you do.

No person is truly educated unless he knows enough about all things to have some understanding of them. He should specialize in at least one study and work to be a true scholar in that field. A general knowledge of many subjects helps you to better understand mankind and the world in which you live.

An educated person must develop the habit of studying, evaluating, understanding, and reaching his own decisions regarding important issues. He must recognize and respect the differences among people; an educated person can differ without fighting.

Education is more than ac-is not educated unless he cares. He must care about people, what happens to them, and what can be done to improve the world. You are not truly educated unless your education has helped you to achieve a sense of personal responsibility and concern for the welfare, rights, dignity, and feelings of all men.

Those who learn the most develop the greatest need for more learning. They realize that education is a process, as you are willing to learn. Some people learn only when they are forced to learn; the person who wants to become an educated person is a selfpelled learner. When you have become this kind of learner, you may not know how to answer the topic question; but you will have the satisfaction of knowing you are on the right path.

KNOWLEDGE COMES BUT WISDOM LINGERS

The senior class has begun to think about the class trip, and we are bringing in all sorts of ideas and suggestions for making money.

The senior English class is busily working on term themes of famous English authors. Everyone is enjoying his work and trying to do his best. The class is also joining history and literature in stories of Puritans and Cavaliers. We are also whitening short themes to improve our self-expression.

The chemistry students are now studying valence and bonding. It seems the boys are able to catch on easier than the girls.

The senior girls have all recovered from their football game and regret this was their last time to show the boys how football is supposed to be played!

"LIVE AND LEARN"

Hello, Readers! Excitement fills the halls and every room. Why, it's because the Wildcats will play their first conference game Friday night. Those who did not see the game last week missed a very exciting one. If you follow the Cats to Bangs, you will see on just as good if not better.

This week the Junior class is taking achievement tests given to us by Mr. Goleman. Because of these, we are having very little homework.

Did everyone attend the Powder Puff ball game? If you did not, you missed a very exciting game given by our female Wildcats. I hear from the grapevine that the Sophomores took in a good amount.

That's about all the news for this week.

"FROM THE WILDCAT DEN"

This week the Wildcats will begin their district play. The first district game will be played against the Bangs Dragons. This game will be played in the Bangs stadium. Even though Bangs has been rated as the top team in this district, they have shown to be weak in some respects. Since this game will be an important one for the Cats, you can really bet they will be out there fighting all the way for a victory.

These next three games, following the game this week, will be played against May, Blanket and Gorman.

One of the things that helps to build up that old Wildcat spirit is for all the fans to come out and back them all the way. So everyone come and back the Cats to victory.

F.F.A. NEWS

The two Angus heifers we received have been given to two of our chapter members. The boys are Travis Ford and Bret Griffin. They are both classified as Greenhands. They will be bound by contract to return to the chapter a heifer of about the same age and quality. We wish both boys good luck in their new projects.

The heifers were donated by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the business men of Rising Star.

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

We received our new year-books last week and the two main objectives for our programs are "Discovering Myself and My Worth to Others" and "Strengthening My Education for Future Roles." Many of our programs consist of panel discussions on values, demonstrations, gifts, decorations, hobbies, Mother-Daughter banquet, and many others. Some of our main projects are secret little sister, Christmas cards for state homes, kind deeds for someone else, the Area F.H.A. meeting, and F.H.A. week. As you can tell, we are very busy trying to make this year's F.H.A. a very successful one.

The second and third year girls are really getting down to brass tacks with their sewing. Many have nearly completed their garments.

The first year girls had another lab course last Friday. Their meal consisted of some type muffins, a main dish, salad a vegetable, and dessert.

That seems to be all the news for this week.

Signing off,

Pam

"BUILDERS OF TOMORROW"

Our sets for Biology have finally arrived, and we dissected the starfish this morning. The World History students are discussing the sixth chapter, which is about the Romans. We are up to date in our notebooks, so I presume we will have a test presently. The English II class has been occupied with memory work from "Julius Caesar"; we have recently finished the play. The sixth period Health pupils are preparing fire safety posters for Fire Prevention Week. The Homemaking girls are having trouble with everything from setting hems straight to putting in pleats. Seventh period, the basketball girls scrimmage, and those that do not compete are allowed to play tennis or any other activity within limits.

The school ground had an addition of sidewalk stumps and tree pipes last Wednesday; they were contributed by the ambitious high school boys.

NOT FINISHED; JUST BEGUN

The candy we are selling is going fast; although, we still have more to sell and lots of nuts.

In Algebra I, we are finding out why things can be done the way they are. We have learned the properties that explain why we can do things the way we do.

In Biology we did our first dissection. We dissected a starfish and found the external and internal parts. It was a lot of fun, but there was an odor! The hardest part was the write-up of what we saw.

In Ag. I, we are practicing parliamentary procedure. We are taking problems from the district and area chapter conducting contests and trying to solve them. But what a mess! So long 'till next week.

NICE TEACHERS

According to many students' opinions, a nice teacher is one who allows you to do the least with your ability but will still give you a passing grade. Really, this is not a teacher at all.

To me, a nice teacher is a person who is truly interested in you as a person; one who cares whether or not you are trying your hardest and doing your best.

Many times when a person makes a low grade and a classmate makes a better one, he blames the teacher for his low grade, saying that the teacher is "petting" the classmate. You will seldom find this to be the true case.

A teacher's job is really one of the most difficult to fill. A teacher must be a very versatile person—he must be strict but in such a way that he does not seem grouchy to his students. Quite often this is hard to do. There will usually be at least one person who will be displeased, no matter what.

A teacher should also have the ability to be a friend to a student; one that a student can trust and with whom he can discuss his personal problems.

We, as students, should remember that our teachers are here to help us to learn all we can. They can help us only as much as we help ourselves. If we do our best, they will give us what we deserve.

We should also remember that they are people, and we should be nice to them and treat them with respect. If we do this, we will find that the favor will be returned.

I am sure that each student has a different set of qualities for a nice teacher. We should all remember that a teacher is not perfect; he also has faults. We should be able to look over these faults and remember only his good points.

By supporting a project which will give this community and area one of the finest recreation facilities in West Texas. Each of the citizens named below has agreed to purchase a year's membership in the

LAKESWOOD COUNTRY CLUB

Their memberships and financial support — a very small amount each month for a year — and similar memberships at Cross Plains, will give the necessary financial basis for a long term loan from the Farmers Home Administration to finance the building of an area recreation center on the club's land at Lake Phil-Pe-Co — a center for family recreation and including a fine golf course, swimming pool, miniature golf course, club house, boating docks, etc.

Such a center would not only benefit our own communities and attract more citizens, but would bring thousands of sportsmen, golfers and picnickers annually to the club. If your name is not among those listed, won't you put your shoulder to the wheel for the bigger development of your community by agreeing to take out a membership at the small fee of $5 per month? After the club is built the income from the golf course and other recreation facilities will take care of the operation costs and loan payments. You do not have to continue your membership payments if you don't want to do so. The membership fee will not start until the project is completed.

Do your bit! Help us get this project started and you'll be proud you did.

Wildcat Tales--

BLOOMERS BEAT WARRIORS!!!

Laughter rang high from the bleachers in Wildcat Stadium Saturday night as the Mountain Bloomers met the Watusi Warriors in the annual powder puff football game. The first touchdown came from a long run by Sara Schmitt of the Bloomers but was called back for holding. This did not stop the Bloomers because Anna Ezzell crossed pay dirt for a touchdown and again for the extra points. Before the first quarter was over Ginger Bishop had brought the Warriors back into the race by scoring a touchdown and running for the two points.

During the second quarter the Bloomers pulled out in front and gained a strong lead. The second touchdown was run by Carolyn Stover and Terri Chambers followed up with the extra points. The last touchdown of the game came when Markie Roberts intercepted a Warrior pass. Once again the Warriors scored the extra two points to make the score 24-8.

The third and fourth quarters proved to be stronger on defense. The most exciting play run in the fourth quarter was when quarterback Anna Ezzell, took the ball from Bloomer center, Sandra Teague, and faked a punt, then moved down the field for about 15 yards.

Captains for the Warriors were Ginger Bishop and Linda Ezzell. They were coached by Frank Gray. The captains for the Bloomers were Anna Ezzell and Sandra Teague and they were coached by Weldon Hill.

4-H Friends, Members Join Forces, Expand Enrollment and Training
 Members, leaders, friends of 4-H and the Cooperative Extension Service are joining forces to expand 4-H Club membership in every county and state in the nation. A concerted push is being made to offer 4-H training to more boys and girls between 9 and 19 years of age.
 Current enrollment is around 2,224,500 members in 94,700 clubs.
 The Cooperative Extension Service heads the program, and is assisted by 362,000 men and women who serve as unpaid volunteer leaders. Added to these are more than 130,000 older 4-H youths who have been trained in junior leadership.
 During the last decade 4-H Clubs have been established in urban and rural non-farm homes which today account for 52 per cent of the total membership.
 Science Added
 Consequently some 4-H programs have been revised to meet the needs of off-the-farm members. More scientific exploration now is carried on in nearly all projects. Training in economics including production and marketing have been introduced along with home and farm management.
 Business firms which contribute financial support to the various programs have assisted greatly in bringing about this modernization, reports the National 4-H Service Committee.
 New programs and sponsors have been added in an attempt to bring to 4-Hers areas of learning that will aid them in making vocational or higher educational career choices.
 Some business firms and foundations provide funds only for college scholarships and for recognition of individual members. Among them are: California Chemical Company, Ortho Division; Homelite, A Division of Texttron Inc.; Massey-Ferguson Inc.; Pyrofax Gas Corporation; Edwin T. Meredith Foundation; Sunbeam Corporation and The West Bend Company.
 Incentive Awards
 Educational trips, scholarships and awards for outstanding work in specific projects are given by other 4-H backers. They include: Allied Chemical Corporation, Arcadian Products Dept.; Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., Farm Equipment Division; American Forest Products Industries, Inc.; Carnation Company; Chicago Board of Trade; Cities Service Oil Company; E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, Inc.; Elgin National Watch Company; Eli Lilly and Company; Heisdorf & Nelson Farms, Inc.; Hercules Powder Company.
 Others are: Humble Oil & Refining Company; Ford Motor Company Fund; International Minerals and Chemical Corporation; Moorman Mfg. Co.; Oliver Corporation; The Pure Oil Company; Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc.; The Singer Company; The S&H Foundation; Standard Brands Incorporated and Standard Oil Company (Kentucky).
 If there is no 4-H Club in the community, parents or prospective members should write or call their county extension office for information, advises the Cooperative Extension Service

Married Here In Rites At Church of Christ

Mrs. Clara Green and Anzie
Kidd were married in an informal ceremony at the Church of Christ parsonage in Rising Star
Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.
H. McDonald, minister, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Kidd is the only sister of Mrs. Leonard Harris and has been living in Lubbock. Mr.
Kidd is a rancher and stock farmer in Mason county.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Harris home. Those attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Emory
Kidd of Mason; Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Hubbard of Fredonia;
Mr. and Mrs. Abb Harris of
Cross Plains, and Mr. and Mrs.
Leonard Harris.

The bride and groom are on a wedding trip to Abilene and Lubbock after which they will make their home in Katemsy, Texas.

Band Looks Sharp In Appearance at Fair

The Rising Star Wildcat Band went by school bus to the State Fair at Dallas Wednesday. They were accompanied by members of the Band Booster Club as as well as the director, Alton Roan.

The band played a concert at the fair and marched in the parade Wednesday afternoon.

"The kids looked mighty well and they sure looked sharp in the parade," said Bill Medley, one of the club members. "We were the smallest band in the lot, but the kids got a big from the crowd and drew lots of attention. We were proud of them."

Mrs. Beuna Gracey celebrated her birthday at the home of her daughter in Fort Worth Friday, Oct. 16.

Breaks 40-Year Precedent

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—Pretty precedent-breaker is Martha Toshner of Milwaukee, first girl to qualify and be enrolled in the Allis-Chalmers cooperative training program for student engineers since it was initiated 40 years ago at the firm's plant here. Martha, 20, is a junior in electrical engineering at Marquette University. She alternates a semester in the classroom with one of on-the-job training at Allis-Chalmers. Towering behind Miss Toshner is a 40-foot impulse generator. It simulates lightning surges of up to 4 million volts and is used to test electrical equipment manufactured by Allis-Chalmers.

Father of Mrs. Ruby Murdock Dies Monday

Word has been received of the death of James S. Runkels who passed away at Coeur D' Alene, Idaho, Monday, Oct. 19. Funeral services will be conducted in Spokane, Wash., Thursday at 4 p. m. with burial to follow in a cemetery there.

He is survived by three sons and five daughters and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Mrs. Ruby Murdock of Rising Star is a daughter, as also is Mrs. Bob Smith of Cisco.

Vietnam Orphans—

"It was filthy," said Sergeant Walker. "Littered with garbage and trash. We had the area 'sanitized' and spread sand in the yard. We also made the children take showers."

Lieutenant Hall drew up a set of plans for the orphanage, which at this point consisted of one wooden building, 50 yards in length, two floors, and holding 150 otherwise homeless children. Lieutenant Hall's plans included a dispensary, latrine, shower, sewing room, well, store room, and kitchen. All of this has been completed.

"This has been a joint effort," said Sergeant Walker, shortly before he returned to the United States. "We've had help from everyone. Army, Air Force, US Operations Mission (USOM), and students from the Vietnamese - American Association. We've even had Vietnamese soldiers helping us haul water."

None of the material needed was easy to get. "We had to scrounge," said Sergeant Walker, smiling. "We begged and borrowed anything we could get our hands on that might do the job."

"There was a great deal of vitamin deficiency and fungus infection when we first started," said Captain Franz H. Stewart of Miami, Fla., officer in charge of the 129th. "But with proper care and improved sanitary facilities, such as the latrine and showers, the only major problems we now face is TB," he added.

Captain Stewart's parent organization, the 145th Aviation Battalion, is planning a big Christmas Party for the orphaned children. Lieutenant David H. Medaris of Bloomington, Ind., project officer for the 145th, reports that plans are already underway to have the American Santa Claus stop by to bring gifts.

"It's a wonderful thing," said Captain Simmons, as he performed oral hygiene on one of the children. "These children never make a sound when you use the needle. It hurts and they bleed red blood like anybody else. They know that we are here to help. We do the best we can for them."

These men, in a quiet, routine way, are making their mark. They will help a nation to peace.

Miss Carol Harrell is visiting her sister in Midland and working in an office there.

Hallow'e'n Sheets For Cancer Bandages

Mrs. Weldon Hill's "Starliter" girls will "trick or treat" on Hallow'e'n for old sheets or pillow cases to be used for cancer bandages. The people of the community will recognize these little spooks by the wand with a star on it, which all who represent this group will be carrying, sponsors of the Starlites said.

"Please have your old sheets ready when the little girls knock at your door Hallow'e'n for their treats as well as the things you might have for use in making cancer bandages," said Mrs. Hill.

Girls in this group are Nancy Agnew, Shirlene Botts, Debbie Chambers, Donneita Croan, Cynthia Hounsel, Mary Jane Kizer, Cindy McCutcheon, Betty Fay Phillips, Barbara Richter, and Avelon Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Dale Wolf and children of Midland spent the week-end here with his mother, Mrs. Otis Wolf. They were accompanied home by his grandmother, Mrs. B. G. Elliot, who will visit them in Midland. She will also visit her children in Odessa, Crane and Seagraves.

REMEMBER WHEN?

"Oh brother, is this contraption ever a monstrosity! Can you imagine finding space to put one of these, or even actually using it? This old 1901 Peck-Williamson water-heating stove and clothes dryer can't hold a candle to the modern, automatic, flameless electric clothes washers and dryers. Besides being completely automatic and flameless, they save so much time and energy. The electric dryer alone saves 3 hours weekly of the housewife's valuable time which she can spend with her family and clothes come out so soft, fluffy, and easy to iron, there's no telling how much time is saved just on the ironing board."

Sixty-three years sure makes a lot of difference. Visit your electric appliance dealer or the nearest WTU office."
