Star Pride Speaks to Citizens

DEAR CITIZENS
As you may already be aware, a new organization has been formed that is dedicated to the preservation and beautification of our town. This organization is called "Star Pride."

We have a huge task ahead of us, and it will require considerable work and cooperation if we are to succeed. What we need now is cooperation!

We would like to ask anyone with property in the downtown area or alongside our main highways, who would welcome having that property beautified by our organization, to please contact Tonya Killion at 817/643-1018. Although a donation would be greatly appreciated, and is much needed, this service is free.

Although this will be an ongoing effort, we are striving toward an initial goal of noticeable improvement before July 4 when the citywide Freedom Festival will take place. If you are interested in this effort, and want to have a part in it, whether by allowing us to beautify your property or by working with us, please contact us; if we work together, we can make a difference.

Star Pride members as to what can be picked up, call City Hall at 643-4261.

you have any questions for husband and wife, you can become members of Star Pride. See or call LaQuita Lucas at 643-3050 for membership.

If you want to help in beautifying Rising Star, call Janell Caudle at 643-7533. She will work out a schedule that will best suit you and your time frame.

Donations to Star Pride may be made at Peoples State Bank, P.O. Box 67, Rising Star, 76471.

Locals Named to The Super Team

K-TAB TV and TV Texas sponsored a Super Team Banquet Friday night at the coliseum in Brownwood.

The Super Team is the recognition of outstanding young people in the Big Country. It features the athletes who thrilled hometown fans and brings to the limelight other champions, the ones who excelled in the classroom; but The Super Team is more than just an honors program for our top performing students and athletes. It's an attitude and way of life that makes the Big Country one of the most attractive places in this nation to live. It's a salute to the special breed of people who have great pride in their children and their communities. It's that type of pride that has created this area's fantastic public school system.

The Super Team is a tribute to those great schools, the teachers, coaches, staff and administrators who have given so much to this area.

The Super Team is a way of saying thank you! It's a thank you to a school system that is the heartbeat of 72 small communities. It's an appreciation of those towns and the people who live and work there. While the metropolitan areas are making the headlines with public schools that are facing drug, alcohol and discipline problems, The Super Team is a way of saying, "Look at us, we've got the best kids in the world, right here in the Big Country!"

Nominated for the Administrators Super Team was Rising Star High School Principal, Robby Stuteville. Mr. Stuteville was in the top eight finalists; a former Rising Star teacher, coach, principal and superintendent, Frank Gray, won the top award. Mr. Gray is currently at Santa Anna.

Coach Dan Goodman was a finalist for Football Coaches Super Team.

A senior, Wendy Green, was a top finalist in Girls Basketball Super Team and the Academic Super Team.

Senior student, Jimmy Evans, was a top finalist in the Boys Basketball Super Team.

Brandon and Wendy were named in the top 26 out of 247 students listed in the Academic Super Team. This gave them the distinction of being in the top 1/2 of 1% of all high school students in Texas.

Dean and Jeannine Bailey represented Pioneer Farmers Cooperative, a major sponsor of The Super Teams, and also presented awards.

USDA Announces 1991 Crop Peanuts Type Support Level

The average support levels by type, quality and location for the 1991 peanut crop were announced today by Keith Bjerke, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The figures are based on national price support levels of $642.79 per short ton for quota peanuts and $149.75 per short ton for additional peanuts.

The quota support level by type for an average grade ton of 1991 crop peanuts will be:

- $638.14 for Virginia-type peanuts;
- $647.60 for runner-type peanuts;
- $601.37 for Spanish-type peanuts;
- $638.14 for Valencia-type peanuts from the Southwest which are suitable for cleaning and roasting; and
- $601.37 for other Valencias.

The method of computing the price support levels for 1991 crop peanuts and the grades within the types is the same used for the 1990 crop.

For each percent of sound mature kernels in a ton, including sound split kernels, the support level will be:

- Virginia-type peanuts, $9,402;
- Runner-type peanuts, $9,218;

- Spanish-type peanuts, $9,172;
- Valencia-type peanuts in the Southwest suitable for cleaning and roasting, $9,565; and
- Other Valencias, $9,172.

The loan value for additional peanuts will be 23.30 percent of the applicable quota rate. This factor represents the ratio of the $149.75-per-short-ton national support level for 1991 crop additional peanuts to the $642.79-per-short-ton national support level for 1991 crop quota peanuts.

As with the 1990 crop, the price support rate for 1991 crop peanuts on which a growth regulator was used will be discounted by 100 percent from the price support rate that otherwise would be applicable.

The actual price support level for an individual lot of peanuts will depend on the percent of the various sizes of kernels in each ton of peanuts and other factors.

...NEWS RELEASE! COMPENDIUM of Early MOHAWK VALLEY FAMILIES, by Marilyn B. Penrose, C.G., A.S.I., with a foreword by Henry (Hank) Z. Jones, Jr.

Twenty-five years in the making, the Compendium of Early Mohawk Valley Families is nothing less than a complete and concise record of every family known to have lived in New York's Mohawk Valley in the 18th and early 19th centuries.

Under each of the families listed, the Compendium presents abstracts of all genealogical records pertaining to every individual of the surname, with the data deriving from primary record sources - marriage, birth/baptism, death, probate, land, military, pension and census records. Systematically, under the heading of each of these record classes, it identifies every person of the surname of whom there is any mention in the records, then gives all relevant genealogical details (date, place, nature of event, etc.), and concludes with a precise citation to the source of the information.

Across-index at the end of the Compendium lists individuals with different surnames who have a collateral relationship to those enumerated in the records. Indeed, nothing is left wanting in this giant of a work, which also includes two absolutely invaluable appendices: "Tryon County Militia" and the "1790 Federal Census of Montgomery County."

Finally, to give the reader a visual representation of the various places mentioned in the text, each volume contains a map showing details of the five historic districts of the Mohawk Valley: Canajoharie, German Flats, Kingsland, Mohawk and Palatine. Originally all this area was in Tryon County, then, from 1784, in Montgomery County. An important region of New York, originally settled by Dutch, English and Palatine families, the Mohawk Valley now encompasses the counties of Fulton, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Madison, Montgomery, Oswego, Otsego, and St. Lawrence, with portions of Schoharie, Oneida, and Delaware counties.

From the Foreword by Henry Z. Jones, Jr.: (Mrs. Penrose) has gathered her information from the oldest records in the area, some of the data being long-buried and difficult to obtain. By carefully and scrupulously citing her sources, she has given us the wonderful gift of a book we can trust, a compendium which will honor the shelves of any library. Here, readily accessible in two volumes, the histories of all the first families of the beautiful Mohawk - English, Dutch, and Palatine German - are

This is an excellent opportunity for every angler to invite anyone out for a day on the lake, tank or stream for a fun day of "Fishing Outdoors."

Area lakes are showing use that the summer bite is already here. Blacks are giving us all that familiar Peck-Peck-Peck. And at Leon anglers are having to wait until the fish moves the line before setting the hook. Leons bass are best in the main lake area in 10 feet of water.

Catfishing is picking up on cut shad on trotlines.

Leon's level has risen to about 3 inches below full and it looks like some more rain is on the way.

Weatherization Funding

Gov. Ann W. Richards announced this week that the Texas Department of Community Affairs has awarded Central Texas Opportunities, Inc. $169,212 in funding for their weatherization assistance program.

Central Texas Opportunities, Inc. is one of 51 agencies, representing all of Texas' 254 counties, to receive funding. The organization serves Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, McCulloch and Runnels counties.

Part of the funding derives from a $2,730,229 grant recently awarded by the U.S. Department of Energy to be used specifically for the statewide Weatherization Assistance Program (WAP).

The program helps eligible low income households, particularly the elderly and handicapped, save money through weatherproofing their home. By installing materials such as caulking, insulation and other minor home repairs, households can reduce their utility bill by 30 to 50 percent.

The average amount spent on weatherproofing each house will be $1,648.

For homes which require additional repair, up to $1,500 more is available under the Enhanced Weatherization Assistance Program. Enacted by the 71st state legislature, it is a two-year companion program to the WAP.

The program, funded by fuel overcharge funds, facilitates and protects improvements already rendered under the weatherization program. In addition, it also allows for structural repair not included in the weatherization program.

Weatherizing homes not only benefits residents, but also contributes to the creation of jobs. Crews often employ participants in the Job Training Partnership Act and local school dropouts.

In addition, the program supports economic development through the use of community suppliers and manufacturers of weatherization materials. For more information on these programs, please contact your local organization or TDCA at (512) 457-3800.

Pioneer Patchwork

by Irma Miller

The community was saddened Wednesday by the news of the sudden and tragic death of Noah Hutton, son of Laverne and Cowan Hutton of our community. We extend our deep-felt sympathy to the Hutton family.

The quilting ladies finished the quilt called Juanita's Star and worked on the 50 States quilt. They also put into the frames a Double Wedding Ring.

Pioneer Baptist Church honored their graduating high school seniors Friday night with an ice cream supper with a generous supply of cakes and pies to go along with it.

This community is already looking forward to our school reunion which, being on the second Saturday of each June, falls this year on June 8.

Frankie and Oliver Smith went to San Angelo on Thursday to see Oliver's doctor, who gave him a good report. Oliver, Frankie and Jean Fore visited with Frankie's father in Ranger Saturday.

John and Irma Miller visited in Coleman with relatives and friends who had seniors in the Baccalaureate Service on Sunday night.

Jean and James Alexander participated in the Friday night banquet for the FFA in Clyde, of which James is an honorary member. Sunday, James and Jean were in Breckenridge with the Jo and Wallace Cullars family, whose children were there visiting with them from various areas.

Nell and Joe Fleming's visitors Friday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Brown of the community. Billy Watson and his two boys of Lubbock visited Monday morning on their way home.

Ruby and Lynn Daniel were taken to Sunday dinner at Cook's Fish Barn by their daughter and her husband, Barbara and Jim Athens of Lake Brownwood.

Monday morning Bob Powell was transferring his bluebonnet patch by taking the seed pods (some had already popped!) to an area he wants them to grow next year. Also, according to his wife, Barbara, he waters the seeds in the winter, to secure better production.

Sipe Springs News

The Volunteer Fire Department barbecue supper was enjoyed by all Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Millwee, Billy, Josh and Edd Millwee attended Margaret Millwee Estrado's graduation exercise at Tarleton State University at Stephenville Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Barton also attended.

Water Quality And Conservation News Series

CONSERVING WATER IN THE BATHROOM

Conserving water in the bathroom is the third installment of Water Quality and Conservation News Series. The answers to the questions in part two are at the end of this article.

The bathroom may be the smallest room in the house, but that's where 50 to 75 percent of a family's water use takes place. From 26 to 45 percent of a family's water use flushes the toilet, and 23 to 30 percent is used for bathing and grooming.

A typical shower without a water-saving shower head uses five to ten gallons of water each minute, so keep the length of your shower to five minutes or less. A kitchen timer can be used to remind you when it's time to turn the water off.

Turning the water off while you soap up or shampoo also saves water and energy. Shower heads with a cut-off button can be used to shut off the water temporarily without turning off the water faucets. This allows you to maintain the preferred water temperature without keeping the water running while you shampoo. You can purchase a flow cut-off valve which can easily be installed on most shower heads.

Shower heads with water-saving flow restrictors can reduce water use. These limit the amount of water which can flow through the shower head.

If you prefer baths, don't fill the bathtub too full—one fourth of a tub should be enough. Every inch of water in the tub uses about 4-1/2 gallons of water, so a half-filled tub uses about 25 gallons of water. Put the stopper in the drain before turning on the water. Waiting for the water to warm up before stopping the drain wastes water.

Don't forget about saving water when you brush your teeth, too. Don't let the water run the entire time you brush your teeth because each minute that the water is on, up to five gallons of water are running down the drain.

Conserving water in the toilet is easy. Cut the top off of a plastic gallon or half-gallon jug. Add a few clean stones to the jug to weight it down, and place it in the toilet tank away from the flushing mechanism. Inexpensive toilet tank inserts also can be purchased to reduce the amount of flush water by one to two gallons. These inserts actually dam up part of the water in the tank, preventing it from flowing into the bowl.

Each time you flush, you save the amount of water that remains in the jug or bottle. This method of saving water neither reduces the water level nor the force of the water needed for flushing. Don't use a brick, though, because it can crumble and damage plumbing and fixtures.

Water conserving toilets are now being manufactured which use only about 3-1/2 gallons of water per flush.

The answer to the questions in part two were as follows:

GFWC Saturday Club

The club ended its 1990-91 business year May 15 with the regular spring luncheon held at the First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall. A very lovely and delicious luncheon was served pot-luck by club members, the decor theme was red, white and blue.

The club hosted the graduating senior girls, we were very honored to have them as our special guest. School Counselor and Home Ec. teacher, Linda Webb introduced each student and some outstanding achievements about each one. We are proud of our young folks and wish them a very happy and successful future.

We want to thank Rev. and Mrs. Andy Fowler for their presence and Mrs. Fowler for giving the invocation.

Our hostesses and Coordinators for this event were Olena Ezzell, Frances Agnew, Anna Barnes, Jean Bryan, Glenda Harding, and Dicie Adams. We appreciate the good work ladies, you did a wonderful job! Be ye kind! Be ye gracious! Be ye considerate and above all Smile! Have a great summer. We will resume meeting in September.

Dental Dialogue

by Cone C. Rice, D.D.S.

All Work Together

Q: I've heard that doctors no longer consider a child's thumb-sucking to be a major concern. Is this also true from a dental standpoint?
A: Thumb-sucking is common among young children, who use it to comfort themselves when afraid, in pain, or otherwise under stress. Dentally speaking, it's a habit to be discouraged. The real cause for concern develops when thumb-sucking continues after eruption of the permanent teeth, since this can lead to orthodontic problems. Although permanent teeth don't usually appear till the child's about six, thumb-sucking can be a very difficult habit to break, so it's best to start early. Patiently and gently discourage the child from sucking by distracting him or her. You can also encourage the child to develop other coping mechanisms, and consult your dentist for further advice.

Bank President Grover Hallmark; 'You've Got To Like What You're Doing'

Recently Eastland National Bank President Grover Hallmark took time from a busy morning to reflect on his career, the Eastland Bank, and general changes in banking.

He remarked on the stacks of paperwork waiting at the big desk in front of him.

"It used to be that a handshake was as good as signing a note," he said. "There's too much legal work now."

"But I will have to say that one reason this Bank has been successful that we have kept up with the times, especially in the use of computers."

"What would you say are some of the main qualities a Bank President needs these days?" Grover Hallmark was asked.

He glanced from his office across the spacious building, past employees and their desks, to the teller's windows and the flow of Eastland County citizens.

"You've got to enjoy what you're doing," he answered. "I guess it's the same way in any line of business."

Then he listed other very important ingredients of a successful Bank President: 1. Compassion for people, 2. Good common sense, 3. The ability to manage a business in accordance with sound business principles, and 4. The ability to learn new things and adapt to change.

Those who knew Grover Hallmark would say that "learning" has been part of his life as far back as they can remember.

For there is more than one way to become a Bank President - and he took a long, detailed route.

Hallmark learned about various departments by working in them. He added to practical training by graduating from the Southwestern Graduate School of Banking, Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

He has also attended many seminars and workshops, one two weeks ago in El Paso.

Hallmark began his work at Eastland National Bank Nov. 1, 1956, "filing checks and sweeping floors."

"I'd like to give my credit in banking to Tom Wilson," he said. "He was the Eastland National Bank President at that time, and also my loan officer." He chuckled. "I was farming south of Carbon - married for only three years to my wife, Ruth (Beaty) - trying to support a family during a seven-year drought."

"Yes, my father had been a successful farmer, and I thought I could be just as successful as he was. So after graduating from Carbon High School in 1950 I began farming peanuts and raising hogs."

Hallmark achieved the National Farmer Degree in 1953, and this was awarded to him in Kansas City. But by 1956 he was working two days a week in Eastland to buy groceries, and trying to farm at the same time.

Once in his banking job, Hallmark found that he "enjoyed the work, and choose to stay with it."

He was appointed an assistant cashier Sept. 1, 1959, and promoted to cashier in 1963. He was elevated to Vice President and Loan Officer the next year, and named Senior Vice President in 1972. He was elected to the Board of Directors in Jan., 1973, and made Executive Vice President in September of that year. Grover Hallmark became President of Eastland National Bank on April 8, 1976.

Hallmark points out that Tom Wilson has reminded as the Chairman of the Board of Directors, and his service have been very important.

"Our Board of Directors, Officers and employees have carried this bank through the difficult times of the 1980's," he says. "They are all honest, caring people, and actively involved in the community."

He is also proud of other aspects of the bank, including the spacious building, which was first occupied in Oct. 1980.

Grover Hallmark, Eastland National Bank President, keeps up with changes in banking.

Previously the bank had been located at 114 S. Seaman, a site occupied since 1918.

The customer service, computerized systems, motor bank facilities and innovative programs are part of banking at First National.

In Dec. 1990 Eastland National Bank received a Five Star Rating from Bauer National Reports Inc., a nationally known research firm. A Five Star is the highest rating this firm gives, and signifies that the institution is one of the safest, most credit-worthy in the United States. The bank has received this rating in six of the last seven quarters.

"The economy here is on the upsurge," Hallmark says. "It is not a very rapid comeback, but a slow growth."

"We don't need a boom growth again. That led to the conditions after the oil prices dropped, with an effect on all service-related industries."

"We thought of ourselves as being rural, ranching, until oil was found. We hadn't really realized it was a solid rock under the economy - until the rock broke!"

Hallmark says the agricultural economy is basically strong now, and this has a good effect on banking. Good local industries have also contributed to financial stability.

The main thing he is worried about is political decisions and regulations, he says.

"Would you believe that 360 bills that affect banking are trying to be presented to the Texas State Legislature? About 350 of these are reported to be detrimental to banking."

"The banking environment is changing faster month by month than it did the previous 20 years!"

Hallmark was asked how a young person could get into banking.

"Well I wouldn't advise him to try my route, simply because I don't think it could be done anymore," Hallmark replied.

Richard Kurklin Becomes Member Of Missionary Team Leaving June 1

Former Eastland County Newspaper reporter Richard Kurklin will be a member of a missionary team which will be leaving for Central America the first of June.

Around twenty temporary missionaries will form three teams which will be working in Belize. Mr. Kurklin's team is to go into the rain forest or jungle of Southern Belize to minister to the Indians who live there.

Plans call for the team to complete a mission church, hold Vacation Bible School for the children, hold crusade services and Bible studies, witness, and distribute Bibles.

English is spoken in Belize, often in addition to native Indian languages or Spanish. But disease is a problem in the poor "third world" country, so team members have been vaccinated and a medical doctor is a member of the team.

Organizing at a church in East Texas and working in cooperation with Southern Baptist foreign missionaries, who report areas of need, the teams have been flying to Belize each year for the past eight years. During that time more than four thousand of the people ministered to by the teams have become Christians.

Many of the people in Central America haven't heard about Jesus and are eager to hear the gospel. Some have seen people who have become Christians, and would like the same change for the better in their lives also.

The trip to Belize is costly for the volunteer temporary missionaries, who pay their own way, sometimes with the help of friends. But they are giving up their time and savings, according to Mr. Kurklin, because they want to lead people to Jesus Christ and because they have a dream that Belize will one day become a Christian nation in a troubled part of the world that is important to the United States.

Mr. Kurklin also says that he would like to see some local people get involved in the missionary work in Belize, by next year. If you would like more information or if you would like to contribute toward the trip expenses, you may contact Richard Kurklin through the Calvary Baptist Church in Cisco at 442-2183.

About the Rising Star High School Building ...

School Scoop

by Wendy Green

BEWARE FAITHFUL READERS!

This is the last week of School Scoop. And as sad as it is for me to say, this will be my last School Scoop ever to write. I can't believe it, but I'm gonna miss it!

This last weekend was very motivating. All the seniors are preparing for graduation. Soon enough our parents will leave us in the cold to fend for ourselves in the REAL world. As seniors, we know and have the determination to do it!

Congratulations to all my fellow classmates and best of luck!

This is a warning to remind anyone who is out Friday night after graduation to stay off the sidewalks. Rising Star High School is letting a very sacred and very wild bunch loose that night and for the wellbeing of everyone involved, I feel this would be a wise decision.

The Last Scoop

Who's been playing the weekend warrior? You probably couldn't tell by his disguise!

What senior girl had an anniversary Tuesday? I'm sure she got a bouquet of flowers!

What ex Wildcat doesn't want anyone to know his real name? RSM, I won't tell anybody!

What senior guy stares at every girl that goes by? It doesn't even bother him that his girlfriend is in the truck!

What senior guy was a crybaby Monday; let's do hope it's just a phase!

Was that TR posing as Coach Jackson Monday morning? I see they have the same taste in clothes — and shoes!

Is a certain teacher starting rumors again? She never seems to know when to shut her mouth.

What senior guys are major gripes - hey, BB and LH, just pay for the pictures - that's what you get for ordering them!

Don't worry about us seniors, some will be living it up in RS while the rest of us will be catching the rays at Puerto Vallarta, Mexico.

Hasta la vista, baby!

Jr. Athletes

by Racheal Coleman

Hey guys and girls, this is the last day of school! Hope you enjoy it. The eighth graders will be moving up into high school in the fall, then it's all downhill from there. The seventh graders will still be here to play for Jr. High another year.

I talked with Coach Browning and he told me they would be handing out uniforms during the first week of school. When the athletes receive uniforms, they will begin practice.

The school is fighting real hard to get the No Pass, No Play rule at the end of the 6th week. They haven't gotten it passed yet. If they do, seventh graders who play football next year, be on guard!

Coach Browning said "The football will be a little tough, but basketball and track will be OK. We can have a good football team, but they will have to pass and stay out working hard. I hope we can improve."

I wish the eighth graders good luck in high school, and I wish Jr. High good luck in football, basketball and track. I hope you all can win and make everyone proud. See you in the paper next year!

Letter To Editor

In recent weeks, many concerns have been expressed in connection with the new building facility that has been proposed by the Rising Star ISD board of trustees. I would like to take just a few minutes of your time to dispel some of the fears associated with its construction. We evidently have a petition in circulation for the purpose of stopping the construction of the facility. This petition has been misrepresented to the public as being a petition to stop the increase in taxes and to gain more information concerning the facility. Some people that have signed this petition have signed it unknowingly for the purpose of stopping construction. These deceitful measures only add to some of the confusion already in existence.

This project, the new school facility, was not something the board thought up a couple of months ago. Approximately ten years ago the board started saving money for a building fund so that the Rising Star ISD would never be caught in a situation where the economy would dictate the closing of our school because of substandard facilities. Through watchful eyes, the past and present boards and administrations, have kept a cost-conscious attitude toward their spending; and as a result of this have been able to build a new lunchroom in 1979 ($118,480.-) and build a new resource and ag classrooms in 1985 ($57,000.-) for a total of $175,480.- with no opposition voiced concerning the construction of these facilities. The boards made these decisions to spend and build these facilities because that is part of the responsibility of a trustee. To assure the tax payers and students of adequate facilities and proper maintenance of existing structures.

Letter to Citizens

As you may already have heard, the destruction of the Rising Star High School building is scheduled to begin on Saturday. Do you know the reasons why this destruction is to take place? Do you know that to destroy and replace this building will cost three-quarters of a million dollars? Has anyone told you why we need a new building, or why the public has been bypassed in making this decision? If you have been told these things, then you are the exception.

A large portion of the citizens in this town, their great number verified by their signatures on a petition asking for a reappraisal of this grave decision, has shown basic doubts about the veracity of our board's decision to destroy something that was here before they were even born. These citizens, both rich and poor, want only to understand why such a drastic step should be taken. Almost to a person, they agree that if our school is unsafe, if it is so structurally unsound as to pose a threat to our children, then indeed we should build a new one.

But these same people, your friends and neighbors, are doubtful as to whether we do need a new building. Many of them have read the Texas Education Agency reports that cited only minor physical problems with the structure of the building, problems due to lack of maintenance, and problems easily and cheaply solved. They have also discovered, from the same source, the cited lack of funding and educational resources made available in order to educate our children.

These problems, so evident in the TEA reports, make many people wonder about the good use of the money they work so hard for in order to pay their school taxes. And now that the time grows close for the devastation of a historical landmark, even more people are doubting the wisdom of this decision.

A letter dated May 20, 1991 from the Texas Historical Commission, also shed doubt on this verdict. They have stated that this building, a structure dedicated in 1926, which has seen in its time the passage of many citizens of this town through its learned halls, is eligible for listing in the National Register of Historical Places. In addition, the building is important for its historical association for development of education in the community. Furthermore, the building, due to its historical significance architecture, has been cited by them to be a typical and historically important example of Prairie School Architecture.

If the above were not enough, all it would take for this precious building to be eligible for a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark designation, a great honor in itself, would be the replacement of the windows and doors, a fairly cheap operation under any circumstances.

It is obvious that one of this town's most historical buildings is a candidate for even more meaningful honors. A listing in the National Register is an honor roll of properties significant in our country's history, architecture and archaeology. With little work, and some maintenance that is long overdue, this building can be recognized as the existing monument in time it really is. But if we destroy it on Saturday, not only will this opportunity be lost, but so will a large part of our own pride. A less philosophical, but equally important reason to save this building, is if it is officially designated a historic site, a happening very likely, then we will become eligible for state and federal grants designed to preserve this structure, while at the same time allowing it to be used for the education of our children. Not only will they give us money, they will give us architects and engineers schooled in the techniques of making history efficient and usable. This will cost us nothing, but will give us much, not only in the comfortable idea that we have saved something worth saving, but in a community wide swelling of pride in our ability to recognize what is important. History is not only a record of what was, it is a resume of what we are capable of. History is an accurate record of our civility and common sense, if we fail the present, we fail our children's history not only in content, but in reality. It is evident that we need education; it is far from evident that we need a new building. If we allow this atrocity to occur, with no input or discussion, engineered by an elected council who represents only an infinitesimal blip in this community's history, then we will have failed what is not only right, but logical. If we do this, then Dr. Johnson is right: "In an unquestioning democracy, people usually get what they deserve." We cannot let that happen. Not only is our pride and civility at stake, so is our reasonable concern about the educational welfare of our children. We are not animals, nor are we drones for people who betray our collective wisdom. We are people who think, and people who care. If you care, then now is the time to act. Let us spend our money on our children's education, not on a possibly unneeded building that if not required, costs us the money we have strived for to give our children a hopeful future. To do less, for any reason other than their immediate welfare, is to forfeit not only our own historical teaching, but the history they will leave for their own children. To do this is criminal.

Letter To Editor

Am I missing something here? A few things have been brought to my attention lately. First off, that there should have been a public vote on the new school. Why? I thought that when I went to the poll to vote for school board members, I was supposed to choose someone that I thought was the best (to their capability) at making decisions for our community. If the public should vote on everything, why do we need just a selected few to sit at the tax office every second Monday, into the wee hours of the morning? Wouldn't they rather be home with their families?

I've been told the school board rushed into building this new school and did not let anyone know about it until it was too late. Well, I thought I had read about it in the Rising Star paper, and my son came home from school talking about it, I also understood some high school kids drew up drafting plans, and even in this year's annual the kids mentioned that in March they knew a new school was being seriously considered. Boy, this was a secret well kept.

A 1989 TEA report (Texas Education Agency) was also brought to me. There were several major problems here.

A. Inadequate learning material. I've been asked, "Don't you think since we have all this money, shouldn't we be using it on getting what our kids need to receive a good education instead of a new school?" Well, I've checked this and more, like computers in every room in grade school, computer labs in both grade and high school, and the tie-in network that enables the kids to take any type of classes they would like, were purchased and in-

Women To Benefit From New Social Security Rules

Recent changes in Social Security law respond to the growing concern over how the program treats women. The changes, effective January 1, 1991, affect disabled widows, divorcees, and spouses of invalid ceremonial marriages. The changes also apply to men, of course, but are more important to women as a group because they are more likely to qualify for such benefits.

One change makes it easier for disabled widows to qualify for disability benefits by expanding the definition of disability for them. Under the change, widows may now qualify for disability benefits on the same basis that they qualify based on their own work. This means that the effect of their age, education, and work experience on their ability to work also will be considered.

Under the old rule, disability was evaluated solely in terms of medical findings and vocational factors were not considered.

Under another change in the law, women who marry - and later find out that their marriage is invalid may now qualify for a benefit on the worker's Social Security record on the same basis as the legal spouse. Under previous law, these "deemed" wives could receive Social Security only if no legal spouse received benefits. The change also applies to widows and divorcees.

Under this change, a divorced spouse whose good faith ceremonial marriage turns out to be invalid may get benefits as well as the legal spouse if the marriage lasted at least 10 years. The amount of benefits one spouse gets has no effect on the amount of benefits another spouse can get.

A third change makes it possible for a woman whose husband was receiving spouse's benefits before she and her husband were divorced to receive divorced spouse's benefits without waiting the 2 years usually required.

These changes represent a continuing effort to make the Social Security program more responsive to the changing needs of women. However, they are not intended to address the broader concerns raised by various groups... issues involving homemakers who lose Social Security coverage and women workers whose earnings, and thus benefits, are generally lower than those of men. These concerns are being studied by a Women's Issues Task Force, appointed several months ago by Social Security Commissioner Gwendolyn S. King. The Task Force is expected to report recommendations

USDA Issues Interim Rules For Peanuts, Requests Comments

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is inviting public comment on interim rules it has issued for farm poundage quotas, warehouse-stored price support loans, and contracting for additional peanuts for the 1991 through 1995 peanut crops.

The interim rules include changes that are required by the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990 and by the Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990.

The provisions addressed by the interim rules are:

-the method for determining basic farm poundage quotas;

-the method for which a tenant who leased a farm and produced additional peanuts may share with the farm owner in any increase in the farm's poundage quota based on the tenant's production of additional peanuts on the farm;

-the method by which quotas will be reduced for nonproduction;

-the method by which farm poundage quotas which are reduced for nonproduction or are permanently released will be allocated among quota and non-quota farms within a state;

-the method for determining "considered produced" credit if the farm's production of peanuts is less than the farm's basic farm poundage quota;

-the method for administering a special provision for allocating, in Texas only, any quota increase and for reallocating any quota reduced for nonproduction and any permanently released quota;

-the collection and transmittal of marketing assessments, as required by the Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990;

-the release and reapportionment of poundage quotas;

-the temporary and permanent transfer of poundage quotas, including "Fall Transfer" of poundage quotas;

-the determination of undermarketings;

-the contracting for additional peanuts for exporting or for crushing;

"shrink" allowance;

-disposition credits for contract additional peanuts;
-warehouse-stored price support loans;
-"immediate buyback;"
-loan pools and distribution of pool profits, if any;
-handler registration and operating requirements;
-the issuance of peanut marketing cards;
-marketing;
-penalties for violation of program provisions; and

-recordkeeping and reporting requirements.
The interim rules appeared in the April 19 Federal Register. Written comments must be received by May 20. Send them to: Director, Tobacco and Peanuts Division, USDA-ASCS, P. O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013. Comments will be available for public inspection in Room 5750-S of USDA's South Building during regular business hours.

More Wind And Less Dust

Farmers in the area are doing a good job of complying with the provisions of the 1985 Food Security Act according to Ron Bailey of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS). "We had more blowing wind this spring than we have had in the past several years," said Bailey, but there was less dust in the air. "This is due to better management of sandy soils by the farmers. We can't control the wind but a good cover on the land sure reduces dust," Bailey said.

Most of the farmers leave the peanut residue on the land following peanut harvest and almost 100 percent of them plant a cover crop of rye.

"And they delay the seedbed preparation for the next crop for a shorter period and this leaves the land bare for a shorter period," Bailey said.

All the SCS offices in the Great Plains region of the United States monitor wind erosion from November through April each year and keep records of acres damaged by wind. "We realize you can't stop 100 percent of the blowing dust when you are cultivating the land but it has sure been reduced in the past few years," Bailey said.

Kathy Bush Named Cisco's Postal Volunteer of the Year

POSTAL VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR
 Kathy Bush accepts a Certificate of Appreciation from Cisco Postmaster Melvin Wende.

Kathy Bush, a Rural Carrier Associate for the Cisco Post Office, has been selected the local postal Volunteer of the Year. Postmaster Melvin Wende presented Kathy with a certificate of appreciation signed by U.S. Postmaster General Anthony M. Frank during a ceremony at the Cisco Post Office, on Friday, April 26, 1991.

Bush, a 2 1/2 year postal employee, is being honored for her time and commitment to the following activities: 4-H volunteer adult leader, project leader in foods and nutrition, leadership, and citizenship; First Baptist Church, Rising Star, choir, Sunday School teacher; community benefits, such as community Christmas Dinner; 4th of July activities, clothes for the needy, fire victims, etc.; member of a community service group working to beautify Rising Star through volunteer work on the park, cleanup of town and planting of flowers; nursing home volunteer; and performing and supporting school related activities and other youth functions.

The award and similar presentations made at post offices throughout the country, are intended to honor the spirit of volunteerism during National Volunteer Week, which was April 21-28. "The Cisco Post Office, like all of our post offices and thousands of our postal employees nationwide, is committed to volunteerism and community service," said Wende. "Through Kathy's dedicated service, we feel she truly represents what volunteerism is all about. On behalf of the Postmaster General and the Cisco Post Office, I salute Kathy for contributing her time to her community of Rising Star, TX."

The Postal Service joined hands with ACTION, the federal domestic volunteer agency, in paying tribute to volunteerism nationwide. Posters designed by ACTION urging every American to "Put Your Stamp on Your Community" were on display at all post offices.

PECAN NUT CASEBEARER CONTROL

The time to be looking for pecan nut casebearer is here. This is one insect you really need to look for before you try to control it.

By using a computer model and weather data Extension Entomologist try to predict when the first significant nut entry will occur. The closest reporting location to Eastland is Stephenville. The first significant entry is predicted to occur May 24th in Stephenville. This prediction is simply an aid to help you to know when to look for eggs.

The adult moth deposits the eggs on the tips of the nutlets. The newly laid eggs are greenish white in color and are just visible to the naked eye. The egg will turn brown before the larva hatches. The larva hatches from the egg in 4 to 5 days.

Nut entries can be easily seen by the bits of frass and webbing projecting from entered nuts. A single larva can destroy several of the nutlets in a cluster.

The general recommendation is to examine 300-

400 nutlet clusters for the greenish white eggs. Treatment is needed if 1% or more of the nutlet clusters have casebearer eggs or have been tunneled by casebearer larvae. Spray trees thoroughly when egg hatch is occurring.

There are several products available to homeowners to control the casebearer which includes diazinon, Cygon, or malathion. Commercial pecan orchards also have products such as Lorsban, Asana, Thiodan, Guthion or Cymbush available to use for casebearer control. Check the label of the product you are using closely for any restrictions if there is a chance of drift onto a vegetable garden or pasture area where livestock will graze. Read and follow label instructions when using any pesticides.

You should inspect nutlets 5 to 10 days after the first application may be required if the first generation is split.

Control measures of the second generation pecan nut casebearer should be applied 42 days after the first casebearer spray.

TIRE CARE

How long should a tire last? A lot longer than most of them do, says Car Care Council. Most tires land in the junk pile before their normal life expectancy because of neglect: underinflation or overinflation, incorrect wheel alignment of balance. Take a good look at your tires. Maintaining them costs little, replacing them can be expensive.
