Campaign for Old Clothing

From March 24th to March 31st the Red Cross will conduct a campaign for used clothing. Ten thousand tons of clothing are needed. Of this amount one thousand tons are allotted as the quota of the Southwestern Division. This is just double the quota allotted this division during the Belgium clothing campaign. The need for this clothing is so acute that the actual lives of the men, women and children in our allied countries depend upon a prompt shipment. If you have on hand any clothing of any kind which you can spare, take it to the court house in Hansford and give it to the Red Cross. Those old clothes which you will probably never use again may save the life of a man, woman or child.

The Red Cross work is here. Women's skirts, forty of them, very easy to make, and sixty skirts for little girls. If each woman who can will make a few of these garments, we can get them off very soon and the task will not be great for anyone. Mrs. Caldwell has yarn for children's stockings and sweaters. Miss Ruby Smith has been assisting with the work at the central telephone office this week. Miss Ruby is a splendid "hello" girl and her work at the switchboard gives entire satisfaction.

W. A. Trawick of the Guaranty State bank was taken sick with the flu while enroute home from St. Louis last week and was delayed at Guymon several days as a result. He came on to Hansford Tuesday, looking a little the worse for wear, but still in the ring.

J. H. Gruvier came from Lockney last week to look after business interests here. Mr. Gruvier has placed his son Clarence in charge of his hardware store at Lockney and will devote his time and attention, for the present at least, to his fine farm sixteen miles northwest of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom McMurry went up to Guymon Saturday to meet M. B. Wright, who was returning from Los Angeles, California, where he and Mrs. Wright spent the winter. Mrs. Wright is now visiting with her daughter, Mrs. J. Y. Grubbs at Wellington, Kansas, and Mel is here, watching his wheat grow and planning another trip.

Gray Sparks made a business trip to Guymon Monday.

W. R. Holt was in from the Holt community Wednesday.

Dr. L. C. Blackmer and I. E. Cameron came from Guymon Tuesday and remained until Wednesday noon, looking after banking interests.

Bert O. Cator came from Texhoma Saturday and spent Sunday with his family in Hansford. Bert says the prospects for a big wheat crop are good, over all the north Panhandle.

Doc Majors was in the city Wednesday, suffering from an injured eye. Something lodged in his eye during the wind storm of Tuesday, and has been causing him considerable trouble.

Joe Welsh and George Hays made a business trip to Canadian Monday, returning Tuesday, and Mr. Welsh left Thursday for Baca county, Colorado, to look after a bunch of cows he has on pasture up there.

Word reached Hansford yesterday of the marriage of Harry Davis to a Dallas young lady on Wednesday, the 19th inst. His many friends here wish for Mr. and Mrs. Davis a long and happy life.

Made to measure suits, strictly Taylor-tailored. Order today without delay if you want your suit for Easter day. Exclusive rights to sell Taylor made clothes in Hansford are vested in SID CLARK.

Their many friends in this county extend heartfelt sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Woodring, whose little baby girl, Winnifred Louise, died of pneumonia at Clarendon on the 10th inst. The Woodrings have just recently moved from their farm north of Hansford to Clarendon.

Several of the Hansford ladies have recently received a letter from Mrs. B. Walsh Franklin, now of Weatherford, Oklahoma, who was surprised and greatly pleased when a short time ago she received a box containing articles "too numerous to mention" for her little war girl, now three weeks old. Mrs. Franklin speaks of being lonely at times, but is determined to be patient and brave while Mr. Franklin is away in France as she knows his experience over there will mean so much in his work after returning.

Mrs. J. P. Winder received a letter from her son Sargeant Clarence H. Winder the first of the week, in which he stated that he had been transferred from France to Russia. Sargeant Winder is now with the engineers and it is supposed that he has been sent to the land of Bolshevism and vodka to do railway construction work. Clarence expected to be discharged and sent home in May, but has no idea now how long he will be kept. His rapid advancement shows that Clarence has made good in the army, and Hansford county is proud to know that he is one of her own.

WRITES INTERESTING LETTER

Dough Boy Tells of Travels With the Army

Bernavil, France, Dec. 11.

Dear Brother:
I have lain off to write you several times, but something would happen every time and I would fail to do so. Lack of time prevents me from writing much to anyone. I have managed to write to father and mother pretty regularly, as I felt that I was due them letters above everyone else.

I am happy to say that the war is over. I think I can speak from experience as to what war really is. It is hell any way you take it.

We left Camp Bowie July 7, 1918. Were on the train four days and nights on our way to Camp Mills, L. I., New York. We went through the central states and Canada via Detroit. Stopped long enough at Niagara to see the falls. Passed through Pennsylvania and New York to Jersey City, crossed over to Long Island and stayed at Camp Mills four or five days, when we moved to Hoboken, N. J., where we boarded the boat. We sailed on the evening of July 18 and landed at Brest the evening of July 30. We were on the water 12 days and had a very calm voyage. Very few of us got sick and we enjoyed the trip over immensely. The boat that brought us across was the Antigone, an old German boat. There were 12 in the convoy, the George Washington being one of them. We had landed at a port of the long talked of European country, France. On the morning of July 31 we walked over the gang plank and placed foot on French soil. Maybe you think we were not proud to be on solid earth again.

It was a different country to what we had left. The buildings, people, their language, customs and everything was different. The women dressed differently; wore black dresses, wooden shoes and most of them carried baskets containing nuts or some other little article to sell to the American soldiers. Some of them were pushing wheel-barrow. The men used one-horse, two-wheeled carts for drays. We were moved to a camp about five or six miles from the port. We named the camp "Camp Mud" because it rained every day we were there and we had to live in pup tents. When we left this place we marched back to Brest and took the train. The cars of our train were made up of 1st, 2nd and 3rd class box cars. The cars are about one-half as large as the U. S. cars, and their capacity is forty men or eight animals. The bunch I was with loaded into a third class car. The train pulled out. We had gone about 100 miles when we were transferred to a box car, which I really liked better, because we were not so crowded. We had no place to sleep; no room to lie down. We had a few cans of tomatoes, "canned Willie" and a few loaves of bread to eat, and were on the train two days and nights. Traveled northeast to Batsur-Aube, a town in the department or state of Aube; unloaded and hiked about seven miles to a little village by the name of Spoy, where we trained about four weeks. All the people live in the small villages or in the larger towns. No one lives in the country, as in the United States. Here the people looked and lived similar to those I have described above. One can scarcely see any young people, as the young men are in the army and the young women are at work in the munition factories. The French people are very slow and have a crude way and manner of doing things. One American can turn off as much work in the same amount of time as about six Frenchmen. Have seen some beautiful country, but can't say much as to the quality. All the farming land has to be fertilized every year. Some grain is raised but the making of wine is the principal industry of this country. One can buy most any kind of drink anywhere. We have a few drunks, but most of our boys stay sober most of the time. The French people certainly hold us up for everything we buy from them. Very few of us speak their language. All they have to do is to take all the francs they want when we hold it out to them. I have learned to speak enough that I can get nearly anything they have to sell.

I must tell you some of my experiences on the front. On the evening of September 9, the 11th engineers loaded on the train at Bar-sur-Aube and started for the front. September 19 we unloaded at a little town, Froward, located about 5 miles, or 8 kilometers from Nancy. We marched to a body of woods about ten miles from the front that afternoon and camped. This was on the St. Mihiel sector and the drive started there about 1:30 a. m. on the morning of the 11th. We could hear a perfect thunder of guns and could see the light flashing continuously from them. The next morning we continued the march, at 6 a. m., to the front. It rained on us most of the day. We met some 1500 German prisoners being escorted in by two or three American guards. We learned that the Americans had driven the enemy back, hence it took us until late in the evening to get to where the fighting was going on. Just as we were halting we saw an airplane battle above us and to our right. The American plane was brought down. We ate supper and went to bed very tired. Had been in bed about two hours when we were called out to go up about three miles to repair roads and help get ammunition, artillery and supplies through. We worked all night, came in next morning, made our packs and marched all day to where we were needed worse. We were on the go about this way for six days in the St. Mihiel sector. We had been made corps engineers and attached to the First Army Corps. We were taken away from the 36th division. When we were taken out of the St. Mihiel sector we rested one day and started out that night and marched for six nights. On the morning after the sixth night we found ourselves near another front. We were ready for the drive through the Argonne forest. Here the company rested one day. Twelve of us were put on guard at two mines and a saw mill. We remained on guard about 20 days. The company followed up the drive through the Argonne forest. I joined them again. Most every night we were shelled and were in machine gun range a part of the time. Were on the front 61 days without rest; were shelled about 50 days out of the 61. We came off the front Nov. 11. Several of our men were sent to the hospital from sickness. Have had two or three wounded but none killed. Men have been killed all around us but we have been pretty lucky. We hiked ten days from the front to this place, a distance of 215 miles. We hope to be going home soon. I hope you like your new home. Let me hear from you again. With much love.

Souvenirs From France

Jos W. Jones was in from the ranch up the Palo Duro Monday and was proudly exhibiting a couple of interesting souvenirs sent by his son, First Lieutenant J. C. Jones, from France. They were a helmet taken off a dead German infantryman and a shell from the French "75's", which Lieutenant Jones says was fired the day the armistice was signed. The souvenirs will make interesting keepsakes and Mr. Jones is proud of them. Lieutenant Jones was recently transferred from the 35th division, in which he was commander of Ambulance Co. 133, to the base hospital at Bordeaux, where he is assistant surgeon to Col. Cabot. Joe was glad to make the change as he now has an opportunity to practice his profession under old and thorough physicians and surgeons. His many friends in Hansford county are glad to learn of Lieutenant Jones' promotion.

Fordson .. Tractor

In developing the FORDSON Tractor the aim has been to produce a small tractor which will be low in first cost, reliable, and above all—efficient.

Being small, light and economical the FORDSON tractor is adapted for use on small farms as well as on the largest. It will pull all farm implements and do the work generally done by horses on the farm. In addition, by its belt pulley the tractor will drive farm machinery such as a thresher, ensilage cutter, etc., making the FORDSON a truly universal tractor.

Experience has pointed to the small, light tractor as being the one machine which will fill all varying conditions satisfactorily.

13. I will make Thrift a happy habit and a solid business which secures continuous profit from the spending of money wisely.
14. I will remember that Thrift is one of the great lessons taught by the war.
15. I will not set aside my newly-acquired habits of Thrift and Sacrifice, but will "carry on" with greater zeal and enthusiasm than ever before.
16. I will keep a written account of what I buy, study it weekly, and try to reduce my foolish spending, and increase my ability to buy wisely.
17. I will look ahead and not allow my impulse to spend thoughtlessly, rob me of some big opportunity or advancement which may come in the future; I will save for a "Turn Around Fund" which will enable me to meet an unexpected need, or better, an unexpected opportunity.
18. I will save—not through miserliness or to support future laziness—but to live well now and in the future.
19. I will conserve my time, my energy, and my money that I may work without financial worry, with a clear head and fresh vision.

Pledges made in 1918 to invest in United States Government War Savings Stamps, but which, for any reason, could not be met by December 31, 1918, may be fulfilled and the Government expects that they shall be fulfilled by the purchase of 1919 War Savings Stamps.

ESTABLISHES PUBLIC INFORMATION BUREAU

STATE TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM HAS CORRESPONDENCE COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

SERVICE OPEN TO ALL ALIKE

Estimates Economic Loss to State at Ninety Million Dollars Per Year From This One Cause.

For the benefit of those who have tuberculosis, and for agencies interested in the stamping out of the disease the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, located at Carlisbad, Tom Green County, Texas, maintains a Bureau of Correspondence and Information for the dissemination of knowledge on the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis. The matter is primarily one of education and, recognizing this, the Thirty-Fifth Legislature made an appropriation of $20,000.00 to be used by the Sanatorium, "For lecturing in colleges, schools and public gatherings, publishing pamphlets, books, and literature to be circulated, including general work to educate the public, and prevent as much as possible the spread of tuberculosis."

Service to the Tuberculous.

The Bureau obtains names of the tuberculous from physicians, anti-tuberculosis societies, ex-patients of the Sanatorium and others. To the tuberculous, and others interested, are mailed pamphlets bearing on the treatment and prevention of tuberculosis. A special effort has been made to get in contact with Texas soldiers discharged from army camps on account of tuberculosis.

Service to the Physician.

Once each month a carefully selected article on methods and treatment is mailed out to all the physicians of the State and it is believed this service is appreciated. Tuberculosis is one of the most curable of diseases provided treatment is begun in time. If this was not true half of the population or more would die from it.

Importance of Instructing Children.

It has been said that if all children could be protected from infection, tuberculosis would be stamped out in a decade. This somewhat exaggerates the truth, but it is now believed by competent authorities that tuberculosis is rarely, if ever, contracted in adult life. The infection takes place in childhood and later usually in young manhood at a time when the system is weakened either through disease, excesses, mental or physical strain, the breakdown comes.

Fortunately, it is not a difficult matter to protect the young. To do so requires only that those who have active cases of tuberculosis be required to avoid infecting others. Practically the only way of spreading infection is through the sputum therefore if the sputum of consumptives was carefully collected and destroyed, one of the main sources would have been controlled. Those consumptives who fail to protect the public in this way should be placed in special institutions just as lunatics or criminals. Other common ways of infecting others are: through kissing, and coughing and sneezing without covering the face. Where children are exposed to infection in the home the consumptives should be isolated from them as much as possible. Separate utensils should be provided—or at any rate all dishes used by the consumptives should be boiled after use.

No Danger to Others.

A careful consumptive is not a danger to anyone and if this fact could be borne in mind much mental anguish, much persecution of those who can least stand it would be avoided. This unreasoning fear of the consumptive is known as phthisophobia.

Service of the Bureau Open to All Alike.

If, as has been estimated, the economic loss to the State from tuberculosis is Ninety Million Dollars per year, this alone should prove a cogent reason for active steps being taken to control the disease. It was for the purpose of arousing the people of the State to action, so that more active combatting of the disease might be entered into, that the Bureau was established. There was no thought of supplanting or hindering well established agencies and the Bureau's service is open to all; to physicians, anti-tuberculosis societies and others, and particularly to the tuberculous. The main function of the Bureau will be to encourage the establishing of county sanatoria and preventoria, to furnish sputum cups and supplies to the tuberculous at cost, and to give information on the subject of tuberculosis, its prevention and treatment, to anyone who will receive it. To obtain such service address R. E. Luhn, Jr., Director, Bureau of Correspondence and Information, State Sanatorium, Carlisbad, Texas.

FOR SALE—THE EARTH

If your farm or your ranch is for sale, and your price and terms are right, I can sell it. Write me a letter giving me a full description of your property, section and block number, kind of improvements, and if I don't sell it you are out nothing, as I do a strictly 5 per cent commission business, no sale no pay. The longer time and the least amount of cash you have to have as first payment, the easier it is to sell.

It's my business to get the buyers and I know how to get them, and if you don't get in on the deal it's your fault not mine. Have just sold $60,000 worth of Hansford County land in the last thirty days, but can't sell yours unless you list it with me.

DEFY FATHER TIME SOLDIER BOY KICKS AGAINST Y.M.C.A.

Passing Years Need Not Bring Uselessness,

California Writer Arises in Wrath to Deny That Seventy-Two Should Be Considered a "Ripe Old Age."

A newspaper item, a few days ago, stated that a certain man named So-and-So died "at the ripe old age of seventy-two."

Commenting on this the Los Angeles Times says that seventy-two is not a ripe old age and adds:

A ripe old age is an age when the person who has attained it is ready for old Father Time to come along and pluck him from the tree of life. If you will take a bird's-eye view of the activities of the world at the present hour, or even if you will look about you in your own community, you will see that men and women of seventy-two are among the foremost hustlers everywhere.

Active heads of great nations, big business men in the biggest businesses, leaders and go-getters of all descriptions in every direction you look have passed the seventy-two mark and are still going strong.

Why, a man should be about at his best at the age of seventy-two. And it is at that age that woman should really begin to enjoy life in high-heeled shoes, short skirts and a hat with roses all over it.

Cato did not begin the study of Greek until he was eighty years of age, and it was at the same age that Plutarch began the study of Latin. Hobbes, the English philosopher, published his best book when he was eighty-seven, and Chevreul, forever immortal in scientific research, was busy as a bee at his work in his one hundred and second year.

One of the most active lawyers of the Los Angeles county bar is past his ninetieth year, and we know of another Los Angeles man who has just been appointed cashier of a new bank at the age of seventy-four.

In short, the cold fact is that seventy-two is very far indeed from being "a ripe old age."

On the other hand, of course, a man can let himself be old at most any age. There are lots of men who are old at thirty, but it is a state of mind with them and not a physical condition, even though they may not be in good health.

As to women, we very well know that it was the fashion for them to be old and fear ruffled caps at forty. But that isn't the case now, by any means. Think of Lillian Russell, Sara Bernhardt and Schumann-Heink, merely to mention some of the more prominent women of our time.

We would go so far as to say that age is a question of what way we look at it. "That 'a man is as old as he feels and a woman as old as she looks," is, indeed, a very good saying. A man is a fool not to feel all right, and a woman may be trusted never to "look" old if she is the woman she ought to be.

It is a great idea for a man when he is anywhere between fifty and seventy to mentally start all over again as though he had set out, like a boy, upon the great adventure of life.

Instead of spending his time then in vain regrets, let him resolve to attain all that he has missed. Let him, above all things else, renew his enthusiasm. Let him go to the circus again and buy peanuts for the elephant; let him go, starker, into an old swimming hole; whenever he hears a band let him follow it till he has lost the way home.

It shall be just as we think about life. We are to remember that we shall live only once on this earth, and that we will be a long time dead.

His Achievements.

"I have been in business here at the old stand for thirty-four years," admitted the proprietor of the Right Place Store in Petunla. "During that time 27,050, in round numbers, fresh young drummers have tried to talk me into buying rare bargains that I didn't want, and 13,525 well-meaning lunkheads have left the door open when it ought to have been shut. I have listened with a crocodile smile to something like 43,743 old stories and no more than two dozen new ones. I have furnished settin' places for all the prominent and influential loafers of the community, and have had two tons of prunes, cheese and ginger-snaps set up by 'em. I am thirty-four years older than I was when I began, and very little wiser or richer. I have trusted almost everybody who has asked me to, and some of them cheated me and others didn't. So, speaking biologically, I s'pose I don't think any worse of my fellow citizens than they do of me."
—Kansas City Star.

Mount Ararat Now a Republic.

The announcement of the formation of "the Independent Republic of Ararat" will brush away the fallacy which regards Ararat as just a mountain instead of a country, albeit the very mountain on which the ark rested when the waters of the Deluge began to abate. Genesis is explicit enough to have prevented the mistake. It might be thought; it says quite distinctly: "The ark rested upon the mountains of Ararat." In its day, Ararat was a great power, holding sway far to the east and to the west. But to western Europe Ararat has long been known as the place where the dove first plucked the olive branch and returned with her message of hope to the Ark.

Serves it on Toast With a Garnish of Scotch Blessings, but the Captain "Stumps" Him,

"If every klick and knock against the Y. M. C. A. service overseas could have been handled as an American captain I know treated one case in his company there would be more in the air of what the 'Y' did and less of what they failed to do," said John M. Currie of Melrose, Mass., who is just home from operating Red Triangle huts in the Calais and Ypres sectors. The censor one evening came across a letter from a boy to his folks back home, in which the "Y" was panned and served on toast with a garnish of all the Scotch blessings and reverse English the boy had on hand. Now the censor is a pretty tired man, and I should not have blamed him if he had let that letter go. But there was an extra strong touch of exaggeration in it that roused the censor's sense of justice.

So he sent the letter to the captain of the boy's company and the captain called the boy in. This is the conversation that followed:

"Did you write this letter?"
"Yes, sir."
"Read it over—is there anything there you'd like to change before it is sent?"

"No, sir."
"Then there was a short pause, in which the captain studied the boy and the boy set his jaw stubbornly. Finally:

"Where did you get this letter?"
"The 'Y,' sir."
"Who gave you the paper?"

"The 'Y,' sir."
"It's warm and cozy, and something like home there, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir."
"Where do you get your cigarettes, candy, etc.?"

"The 'Y,' sir."
"You're always sure of finding what you want there?"

"Yes, sir."
"You go to the movies and a real show occasionally?"

"Yes, sir."
"Who runs them?"
"The 'Y,' sir."
"Doesn't cost you a cent, does it?"

"No, sir."
"There was another pause, and the boy's face was redder and his expression softer. Then:

"If you don't mind, sir, I'd like to see that letter again."

Without a word he took it from the officer's hand, tore it once across, and dropping it into the basket made his salute, turned on his heel and walked out.

MAYBE THE SOLDIER DOESN'T GO TO CHURCH

But These Figures Will Prove Illuminating to the Skeptic—Only 4,523,343 Attend.

If every man, woman and child in the state of Texas, plus the entire population of New Orleans, La., were to unite in going to church on one Sunday the mobilization would still be less than the attendance at religious meetings in the Army Y. M. C. A. buildings in the Southern department from May, 1917, to December 31, 1918. The total attendance at 24,700 such meetings in the "Y" huts was 4,523,343, according to figures compiled by the religious work department of the Army Y. M. C. A. at San Antonio, Tex.

At these meetings 74,457 soldiers requested prayers—a number greater than the population of Oklahoma City. The number of Christian decisions made by these soldiers was 69,929—more than the number of people in El Paso, Tex. Christian purpose renewed by soldiers at such meetings reached the big total of 60,581.

The number of personal Christian interviews which the "Y" secretaries were able to have with the men as they visited the buildings was 318,240, or equal to the combined populations of Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston, Tex. These secretaries also secured from the men a number of other forward-step decisions, including the following: To read the Bible, 111,163; to pray, 34,997; temperance, 4,886; anti-profanity, 9,342; personal purity, 19,500; and gambling, 6,925.

Records from November 1, 1917, to December 31, 1918, show that 1,850 Bible classes were organized with a total enrollment of 43,012 men. These classes held 15,995 sessions and had an attendance of 345,598. It was not until May 1, 1918, that records were made of the number of teachers used at these classes, but from that time to December 31 there were 1,446 soldier teachers and 1,333 civilian teachers engaged in conducting the classes.

Copies of the Scriptures distributed to soldiers reached 539,083, or one each for every person in the states of New Mexico and Arizona. Religious literature given out from June 1, 1918, to December 31 numbered 569,249 pieces.

Visiting sick soldiers was a part of the duty of religious work secretaries, and for the period for which records were kept the number of such visits made was 996,192, almost equal to the population of Colorado with most of the people in Kansas City, Mo., thrown in to balance the measure.
