THE STATE PRISON MURDERERS.

SENTENCE OF DEATH.

Special Superior Court, May 18.—For some time before the hour appointed for the opening of the Court, the square, the area within the State House, and the avenues to the Court room, were filled with spectators, assembled to witness the last judicial movements relative to the Prisoners, and as soon as the doors were opened the immense concourse rushed in, literally occupying every square inch in the floor, windows and gallery of the room. Order having been restored, prayer was offered by Dr. Hawes, and during its delivery, the prisoners stood up, evidently much affected.

State Attorney:—May it please your Honors, I move that the Court now proceed to pass sentence upon W. Teller and Caesar Reynolds, under the indictment found against them by the Grand Jury.

Clerk:—You, Wm. Teller, otherwise called John Scott, and you, Caesar Reynolds, may remember, that before this time, you have been legally indicted for the crime of murder by you committed and done—that on said indictment you have before this Court been put to plead, and you severally pleaded not guilty; and you have been tried severally by the country, which country has found each of you guilty; and now what have either of you to say for yourselves why sentence should not be pronounced against you according to law, to suffer the pains of death.

Cæsar Reynolds—I have something to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon me. I am not guilty of the crime charged against me, and for which I have been condemned. In the first place, the law says, that no man shall be convicted of murder unless upon the testimony of two or three witnesses, or that which is equivalent. Such testimony has not been produced. I ask the Court whether three witnesses have testified that I had any hand in the murder. I put it to the Court whether I have been proved to be guilty by two witnesses. I put it to the Court, whether one witness even has appeared to prove my guilt. Others committed the murder, but the stain does not rest on me. It is true, that blood was found on my clothes, but was it proved how that blood came there? No, it was not. My clothes were taken forcibly from my cell after the blow was struck. Was there the slightest evidence to show that the blood came there by my means? The Court knows there was not. Is it to be presumed, that I took those garments and dipped them into the man's blood, or that I wiped it up with them from the dust? It has been said that a felony was committed in trying to break out of State Prison, but it has not been proved that I participated in the felony in the least degree. Is there any testimony to prove it?—I say none. Yet I have been convicted of the murder. Others were concerned in the murder, but they have escaped, because they have too many respectable friends. If I had as many respectable friends as they, I might also have escaped. I am not guilty either of the murder or the felony—whether I ought to suffer death for others' crimes, judge ye.

William Teller—I have been convicted of murder by the laws of the State, but I am not guilty of wilful murder. My special order was not to take life—not to kill the guard at any rate. The guard was not killed with malice aforethought—We did not know who would come on watch. It is fixed so as we can't keep track of it, and can't tell who is going to be on the watch. I had nothing against him, and told them not to kill him; and I did't know he was dead till after I felt of his pulse—and then I told 'em they had gone too far. Others did the crime—God knows who did it—and there's a God on high who knows I am not guilty of the murder. I tried to get out, to be sure, but I did'nt kill him. I think the Court charged the Jury too strong—there was no evidence of wilful murder. Others have escaped who are worse and have done more than I did. There is a man now in State Prison, who worked in the same shop that I worked in, and he was put in for killing a person, and was only put in for three years and fined $500, and my case is not within ten points so strong as his was. Why then was I convicted and he let off?—I've got twelve years and a half to serve now in the State Prison. It's hard to go back, but at the same time it's hard to die. Death is the king of terrors. I should be willing to go back, and then I could make my peace with God and man. I think the Court charged the Jury too hard against me. I don't think there was any evidence to prove a wilful murder. We did'nt mean to kill him. There were others engaged with me in trying to get out. We were charged with aiding and abetting others to escape. Why were not the others tried? They are as guilty as I am, and yet have'nt been tried, while two of us must die. But I am willing to die for my fellow prisoners—but if I must go to the gallows and die, I shall trust in God who reigns on high, and knows that I am not guilty, for that hope and salvation and mercy which is denied me here. In God I trust, and before him I declare, that I am not guilty of wilful murder, and I shall leave my fate with the Court and with God. I have nothing more to say.

[The above speeches were taken down almost verbatim as they were delivered. Teller's was confused, and somewhat incoherent, and probably appears better on paper than it did when pronounced, but it manifested a strong and feeling mind.—Caesar's astonished all who heard it, as well for its correct grammatical construction, as for its cautious and guarded manner, and the firm tone and manly style in which it was uttered. After they had concluded, the Chief Justice solemnly passed sentence upon them in the following words:—]

William Teller, alias John Scott, and Cæsar Reynolds.

You stand convicted before this Court of the great crime of murder—a crime at which humanity revolts, and which by the numerous prohibitions of sacred writ, seems peculiarly offensive to God.

Such is our mild system of laws against crimes, that no person can be convicted of an offence punishable with death, except by the concurring voice of twenty-four disinterested and impartial citizens. Twelve, at least, of the Grand Jury must have agreed to find a bill of indictment against you, and the whole twelve of the Jury of trials must have united in a verdict of guilty.

Not one of these persons probably had ever seen your faces before. Certainly they had no prejudices or unfriendly feelings towards you. They must have been fully satisfied with the proof of your guilt; and the Court concur entirely in their decision. Counsel, of your own choice, were assigned by the Court to assist in your defence, and they have done all that industry, talents, and eloquence could do in your behalf.

On the night following the 30th of April last, you, with others, confined in the State prison, entered into a wicked combination to effect your and their escape. Having broken the doors of your and their cells, it became necessary, in your view, to kill Ezra Hoskins, who was on duty as one of the Guards. With a bar of steel which you had contrived to bring into the prison, and there secrete, you inflicted several deep and deadly wounds, and thus most inhumanly murdered an innocent and unoffending fellow creature who was stationed for the security of the prison, and who was then in the performance of his duty. You shed his blood.

You thought, unhappy men, that the deed was done in secret, and that no eye saw you. You forgot that the eye of an omniscient God was upon you, and that the darkness of midnight and the light of noon day were alike to Him; and you little thought that the deeds of that dreadful hour would be so soon proclaimed in a Court of Justice, to your condemnation. You disregarded also that divine declaration, "though hand join in hand, the wicked shall not go unpunished."—What an appalling spectacle has been presented on this trial, of unmixed depravity—of the great wickedness of the human heart!!!

You, William Teller, otherwise called John Scott, at the early age of 28, according to your own account, have been a tenant of the Penitentiary of New York for 3 years, on a conviction of the crime of burglary. Three years since you was sentenced by this Court to our State Prison on five informations for passing counterfeit bank notes, for the term of fifteen years, twelve years of which remain unexpired. It has appeared on this trial that you possess talents of no common order, which might, if suitably directed, have fitted you for distinction in mechanical pursuits, and made you an eminently useful member of the community, but alas, how have you prostituted them to the most fraudulent and wicked purposes. You appear wise to do evil, but to do good, to have no understanding.

You, Cæsar Reynolds, at the age of 30, have been convicted three times of the crime of burglary, and for the last offence are now under sentence of imprisonment for life, according to our law. Finally, the career of crime of each of you has ended in the deliberate and barbarous murder of an innocent man who had given you no just cause of offence. You fell upon him at the hour of midnight, in a moment wholly unsuspected by him, while faithfully performing his duty, and with a four square bar of steel, broke his skull, and caused his instant death. Your garments are still stained with his blood; and its still deeper stains rest upon your souls. Surely the blood of Hoskins in deep and solemn tones calls from the ground for vengeance. You killed him too in the twinkling of an eye; you sent his unembodied soul to the tribunal of God, without allowing him a space to utter a single cry for mercy—a single prayer for the pardon of his sins.

What a spectacle do these trials and convictions shew of daring transgression, against the law delivered from Mount Sinai with all the terrible ensigns of majesty, "Thou shalt not kill;" and how just is that penalty annexed by Jehovah himself, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." Do you not feel that the way of transgressors is hard?

By this deed also you have attempted to defeat the salutary laws of this community, in their most vital part, in the execution of the sentences of Courts of Justice against offenders, by attempting to escape yourselves, and aiding others to escape from the State Prison.

The Government, whose laws you have thus defied and broken, do not treat you as you treated the unhappy victim of your malice. Time will be allowed you to seek, by faith and repentance, the pardon and forgiveness of your sins. A few days will remain to you between going from this tribunal of justice to the gallows and the grave, and what is of more tremendous import to your souls, to the bar of the Judge of the quick and dead. Spend, we entreat you, spend these days, in preparing to meet your God. Solemnly ponder on your past lives—solemnly reflect on the great crimes which have brought you to the condemnation of death, and oh, may you not die eternally!!

To assist in this great concern, you will be permitted to have the advice of such of the clergy in this neighborhood as you may desire. They will tell you not to spend the remnant of your days that remain to you on earth, in vain wishes to escape from justice, or in expectation of pardon from an earthly tribunal. They will tell you, and let the truth sink deep into your hearts, that, without repentance, no murderer can inherit eternal life—that though you have defied His law and the laws of your country with a high hand, yet, if he shall smite you, you will be smitten indeed, and that you cannot resist his Almighty arm. They will warn you not to make light of your condition, for that you may stand on the brink of endless perdition. Regard them as saying these things not to give you unnecessary pain, much less to drive you to despair, but regard them as the messengers of the gospel of peace to you in your guilty condition. They will tell you that without a deep and sincere repentance of your sins, and a pardon of your God, you must go from this tribunal—this sentence of death, to an infinitely higher tribunal, to hear a sentence to ceaseless lamentations in the world of woe—a sentence of eternal death. But they will also tell you that with God there is forgiveness that he may be feared—that, though he punishes like a God, like a God he forgives—that by faith and repentance, you may look away from the blood you have unkindly shed on earth, to that blood which was shed on Mount Calvary that sinners might live; and when they thus speak, hear them as for the life of your undying souls!!

The Court have nothing more to do with you They are not at liberty, if they were disposed, to alter your condition. They may and do most heartily commiserate your case—they lament that there should be occasion to disclose such scenes of guilt, and that such a foul murder should stain the records of our Courts, but the deed is done, and this Court can only deliver you over to the sentence of the law provided for the crime of murder. Before this shall be done, unhappy men—the Court will express their fervent wishes that when your bodies shall die on the gallows, and the grave shall cover them with the darkness of death, your spirits may ascend to the light and life of Heaven.

You will now attend to the sentence. You John Scott and Cæsar Reynolds, are to be taken from this place to the prison whence you came, there to be kept till the last Friday in June next, when you will be removed by the Sheriff of this County to the place appointed by law for execution, and there between the hours of eight and ten in the morning, be hanged by the neck till you are dead. And may God have mercy on your souls.

[The Court then adjourned sine die, and the unhappy men were remanded to prison. By our laws capital punishments must always be inflicted either in the jail yard or some other enclosure, aside from public view. Whether the prisoners will remain in Jail or in the State Prison, during the short time they have to live, and where they will be executed, is impossible for us to say.]

LAFAYETTE INSTITUTE—Corner of Ninth st and Broadway.
WM A. TAYLOR respectfully gives notice that the above Institution opened on the 1st inst. as a Boarding and Day School, in the spacious mansion known by the name of the Snug Harbor. The edifice contains about thirty apartments, and the recitation and sleeping rooms are comfortable, spacious, and airy; and the play ground extensive and pleasantly located. The scholastic course of the Institution embraces the study of the Greek, Latin, French, Spanish, Italian, and English languages, together with the Mathematics, History, Geography, Astronomy, the elements of Chemistry, and Natural Philosophy, Book-keeping, Elocution, &c. A gentleman, a graduate of Yale College, of ripe and varied scholarship, acquainted with the best modes of education, is engaged as an assistant. The most experienced teachers in the French, Spanish, and Italian languages are also engaged. The Principal, a graduate of Yale College, has many years experience in the business of instruction; and solicitous as well for the moral, as the intellectual improvement of his pupils, he will exercise a parental vigilance over them in their hours, both of employment and relaxation. Provision is also made for a juvenile department for boys under 6 years of age. The building will be opened by the 10th day of April, when Parents and Guardians are invited to visit the establishment. Applicants are respectfully referred to the President and Professors of Yale College, and for more particular information to the following Gentlemen.—

ROCHESTER HOUSE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The undersigned desires to inform the pnblic, that he contines the lessee of the above spacious and well known establishment. During the past year, a commodious brick barn, with suitable sheds and carriage room, have been added, and those who travel with their own carriages will find good accommodations for their horses.
In accordance with the often expressed wish of many highly respectable individuals, as well as by a desire to further those great and important objects which have for their end the total disuse of distilled liquors, no ardent spirits will in future be kept in this house. With many persons, the undersigned is fully aware, this is an unpopular measure; but to all the friends of temperance, to those who believe that the daily use of ardent spirits does good to none, but is the fruitful cause of ruin and premature death to many, he confidently looks for countenance and support.
A variety of pure Wines will at all times be kept, and by long experience, the subscriber hopes to make the calls of visitors at his house pleasant and satisfactory.

BODWELL & CO'S. IMPROVED EUROPEAN HATS.—The subscribers, aware of the superiority, in many respects, of the Hats manufactured in Europe to any others, have been induced to visit some of the first manufactories there, and to obtain a knowledge of their art of manufacturing, and being persuaded, on a more thorough acquaintance with the European Hat, of their excellence in point of color, durability, elasticity, lightness and flexible adaptedness to the head, owing to their peculiar method of felting, they have been induced to procure some experienced workmen from the most distinguished foreign manufactories, and by the utmost care in the selection of their Furs, and by the most indefatigable exertions, together with the improvements which they have made from their practical knowledge of the American Hats, they have been enabled to bring the manufacture of this article to the highest degree of perfetion.
Gentlemen are invited to call and examine these Hats, in Pine street, one door above William st. where they are offered at $7 each.
They will also keep a constant supply of Imitation Beavers, of superior quality, at $4½, maufactured with the other Hats, under their immediate inspection

NEW YORK JOURNAL OF COMMERCE

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 23.

Correspondence of the Journal of Commerce.

WASHINGTON, 20th May, 1833.

From the contents of all our papers, you will readily perceive that a great political stagnation exists here. But for the conflagration of the Treasury Department, the contemplated changes in two of the executive offices, and the Randolph affair, we should have had a leaden time of it since the adjournment of Congress. Mr. Livingston is now probably in New York, and may not return here before the President and his suite shall proceed on their Eastern tour, which it is said will be about the first of June.

I suppose you and your readers will have been pleased that the late modification of the Cabinet Proper has so little marred its claims upon the confidence of the country. Mr. M'Lane will make a good Secretary of State, and his successor in the Treasury Department is qualified well to conduct it. I do not know what his present opinions may be in relation to a Bank of the United States; but formerly he was decidedly opposed to such an institution. Considering, as I do, that the government can not well dispense with a Bank, I have been somewhat apprehensive that Mr. Duane might be found in opposition to the renewal of the charter of the present Bank, and as much opposed to the chartering of any Bank. As I have above stated, these apprehensions arise from a recollection of the opinions of Mr. Duane in years gone by. Other opinions may influence him now. His old friend, Stephen Girard, was a staunch advocate of the present Bank; and to get it into operation, subscribed to its stock more than three millions of dollars. The business of Mr. Girard was so heavy and extensive, that no one could better estimate the advantages of such an institution. It was under the influence of his clear sight and long experience, that upon the demise of the first Bank of the United States, he purchased the banking house, and with his own means and credit, set up a private Bank with a view of operating upon the currency of the country, to preserve it from total derangement; and he would have succeeded to a great extent, if the government had given him the public deposits. With such an example in the conduct of his friend and patron, it is to be hoped that Mr. Duane may have changed his former notions. If he has not, I think one year in the Treasury Department will have converted him to the good old and well established Treasury faith.

We have been not a little amused here by reports of diplomatic jealousies and intrigues at our Court. I do not in the smallest degree vouch for their truth. I do not even say that I believ them. They, however, run thus When Sir Charles R. Vaughan returned to the United States, he found that Mr. Serrurier, the Minister of the French, through the marriage of his brother-in-law to a protege of the Court, might acquire an influence to the prejudice of his government; and having no immediate relations through whom he might obtain an equal footing, he availed himself of a small derangement in the kitchen cabinet proper, and so managed as to have his former steward and another domestic received into the service of the President; so that his Britanic Majesty's new knight may suppose, that he is likely to come to the knowledge of our Court secrets, with as much accuracy as the amiable representative of the King of the French. I give you the story for what it is worth. It may be a fable, and that a very ludicrous one.

THE CHOLERA.—By a paragraph in another column, it will be seen that the Cholera has re-appeared at Vicksburgh, Mississippi. From the 20th to the 29th ult. there were 20 cases and 7 deaths. This, for so small a place as Vicksburgh, is a great mortality. It would not be strange if the disease should again invade the Atlantic cities. We advise all to be prepared for it, so as not to be taken by surprise if it should come. We in New York know enough of the Cholera, not to expect that it will be guided by any intelligible rules in its approach. It may be here in a day—it may be in a month—it may not be here at all. Not one of the many theories which have been advanced concerning its laws of progression, has proved to be correct.

When we first heard of it in India, every body supposed it was a disease peculiar to hot climates—and no anxiety was felt concerning it. Several years passed away, and this ill-founded security was not disturbed. Suddenly we heard that the Cholera was in Persia,—then that it had crossed the Wolga,—and soon that it was raging in the frozen climate of St. Petersburgh in the dead of winter.

Thus was one theory knocked in head, but it was very easy to frame another. So it was concluded to blame the Russian government for admitting it into their territory, instead of keeping it out, as they ought to have done, by means of quarantines and military cordons. Well, the quarantines and military cordons were tried; they were tried indeed before it had reached St. Petersburgh; and were found to be of as much efficacy in resisting its progress, as stubble in resisting the progress of a hurricane.

People now began to suspect that it might travel over continental Europe; but England, on account of its insular position, was considered in a good degree safe from invasion. Yet before a single case had occurred in Holland, Belgium, France, or Sweden, it was announced that the Cholera had broken out in England.

Then we entrenched ourselves behind the wide Atlantic; and deemed it incredible that the disease should travel over such a vast expanse of waters. While trusting to this theory, in a few weeks it was announced that the Cholera had made its appearance in Quebec and Montreal.

These towns being far inland, a new theory was broached, viz. that towns situated in the immediate vicinity of the ocean were not liable to its influence. And those who thought otherwise, were challenged to produce a single instance where it had prevailed to any extent in a town so situated. Soon it came down in terror upon our own city, and that theory was exploded.

It was said also that blacks were exempt from the disease. This opinion at one time gained a good deal of currency. The result has proved that blacks are, if any thing, more liable to the disease than whites.

It was next maintained that Yellow Fever countries were not exposed to its ravages. And an appeal was confidently taken to the history of the past. Spain, Havana, New Orleans, and every other place where Yellow Fever was wont to prevail,— not a case of Cholera had occurred in any one of them. And even in New York, what was called the Yellow Fever district, had suffered much less than any other.

After this conceit had been indulged sufficiently long, news arrived that the Cholera had made its appearance in New Orleans, and that people were dying there by thousands. More recently Havana has drank its full share of this cup of woe.

Now what is the inference from all these theories, and their being all successively exploded. It is, that man is ever inclined to reduce the operations of nature and Providence to certain laws; but that in the present instance he has waded beyond his depth. There doubtless are certain laws which regulate the progress even of Cholera; but it would seem as if one of them was,—that it should proceed in such a way as utterly to balk all human calculation.

WIDENING OF WILLIAM STREET.—After long and patient hearing, investigation and rehearing, the Commissioners on the widening of William street from Pine to Wall have brought their labors to a satisfactory close. A slice is to be cut from the Bank Coffee House and the Bank of New York, five feet wide on Pine street and eight and a half feet on Wall. For this those two estates receive as follows:

Bank of New York, ...	$35,139 30
Bank Coffee House, ...	6,836 10
	$41,975 40

This sum is assessed upon the estates fronting on William street, from Stone to John, including the corners on the North side of John; those in Wall from the Phoenix Bank on one side, and Merchant's Bank on the other, to Hanover street. On the estates in Pine, from Nassau to Pearl, and upon ten or twelve lots on each side of Cedar both above and below William.

These facts, we state partly on account of their intrinsic interest, and partly because we wish to make them the basis of two or three mathematical problems for the instruction of the Street Inspector and any other person whose business it may be to see that street accommodations purchased at so great an expense, are preserved for the purpose to which they are designed.

The sum paid for widening William street for one block, is five thousand dollars a foot. The space in Wall street at its junction with Pearl, is at least as valuable. What then is the fair estimate of the expense of permitting an orange cart to occupy its breadth, or five feet of that space. The value of the ground at the price stated, is $25,000;—the annual interest of which, at 7 per cent, is $1 750.—What would the salary of the street inspector be, if that sum were deducted for his negligence, or he in any other way called to account for permitting a foreigner, who, we will suppose, is not even naturalized as an American, and never did and never will pay a cent of taxes, to take and hold possession of $25,000 city property? In the narrowest part of Wall street to which we allude, there is room for two vehicles to pass when there is no obstruction. When the orange cart is on its stand, two cannot pass; so that the cart virtually occupies half the street. At what price would the City sell half Wall street? At no price, unless the men should unhappily recover power who plotted the sale of the City Hall. Yet we have seen Wall street choaked with coaches, gigs and drays, which could pass in no direction on account of this cart, while all the time the orange man, leaning over his cart, seemed as unconscious and self-possessed, as if he had been a Georgia squatter on Cherokee lands. The composure of the orange cart had become so sacred by prescription, that no one thought of driving over it, or even asking to have it moved.

This kind of calculation will enable some individuals to ascertain of how much they defraud their fellow citizens, by the obstructions which they daily and without excuse of business, place on the sidewalks, or carriage ways. Particularly we recommend the owner of a horse which occupies eight feet of the side walk near the Merchant's Exchange, during the busiest hours of the day, to make such a calculation.

COMMERCE AND MANUFACTURES.—The ship Commerce sailed yesterday for Valparaiso, with a very valuable cargo, consisting of a thousand packages domestic cotton goods, silks from canton, drugs from Asia and Europe, &c.-&c. Such a cargo (and there are hundreds such) illustrates the manner in which all branches of business sustain each other, and how a free intercourse between all parts of the world promotes the welfare of every part. The expediency of such a voyage d pends very much on the facility with which all the articles composing the cargo can be obtained, and in the desired quantities. But for the silks and the drugs, the domestics could not be shipped, nor the silks but for the domestics and drugs. But for an assortment, nothing could be done. Our commerce is feeling already the enlivening effect of a perfectly free system in this most important particular. Free goods can be exported in the quantities desired; but dutiable goods must be taken in fixed quantities, often much larger than are desirable, in order to secure the return of duties. Free goods can be sent on ship board at any moment, and just before the vessel sails, whereas in the case of dutiable goods it is necessary to get an inspector, make entries, swear at the Custom house, and a dozen other things, which cause great delay and expense. Upon the whole, we are getting along admirably; and all the while learning a most excellent lesson upon the benefits of cherishing indiscriminately all sorts of industry.

IMPROVEMENT.—Accommodations are preparing on the Hanover street side of the Post Office, for the delivery of all but boxed letters. This will relieve those whose time is precious, from many long delays. As the arrangment now is, it often takes longer to find out that Miss Meggy McFlickery and Patrick O'Flangawhang have neither of them a letter from the auld country, than it would to deliver twenty merchants' letters. Yet the merchants, whose letters are in sight, must wait until those who first come, are first served.

DOW vs. THE TRUSTEES OF THE HOPE INSURANCE CO.—This was an action on a policy of insurance upon goods on board the ship Braganza to Batavia, and the proceeds thereof back to the United States. The ship proceeded to Batavia and landed her cargo, but owing to the then unsettled state of political affairs, (1825) the goods in question could not be sold. They were therefore reladen and returned in the ship; but on the voyage homeward were so badly damaged that the assured abandoned them to the underwriters: who refusing to accept the abandonment, the goods were sold at auction; and this action brought to recover the difference between the amount of the sales and four thousand dollars, the sum valued in the policy. The company insisted that the very goods shipped outwards could not be the proceeds of themselves; and in all the trials their position was sustained, until the case came before the Supreme Court of Errors. There, the cause was remanded with orders to the Court below, to permit the plaintiff to prove mercantile usage as to the meaning of the word "proceeds." Upon the trial under these orders, more than forty witnesses were examined, and the Jury found a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, for the sum claimed, with interest at 7 per cent. and costs. Sullivan, for the plaintiff. Ogden, for the defendants.

DEATH BY LIGHTNING.—During the thunder storm on Tuesday afternoon, the lightning struck a building in Avenue D, where a school was kept by Mr. Abraham K. Van Vleck. A child about eight years old, by the name of Robert Harman, whose father, a ship carpenter, resides in Sixth street, was killed by the shock.—Although the room was full of children, none of the others received any injury.

The African Repository states that a purchase has been made, in behalf of the Colony at Liberia, of a valuable tract of country on the south side of St. John's River, containing from 150 to 200 square miles, including the river and principal town, which the chief insisted should be included in the colony, as he desired to become a part of it. This land is the best timbered in the colony, and it is said has several mill-seats on it. The settlement commenced there, appears to be in a prosperous condition.

The latest accounts from New Orleans are to the 5th inst. Letters of that date speak of the existence of Cholera, but that no particular anxiety exists about it.

FURTHER FROM SMYRNA.—On Tuesday last, we published two or three brief extracts of letters received at Baltimore from Smyrna to April 6th. The Baltimore Gazette, brought by the mail of yesterday, contains more detailed accounts. The latest advices from Constantinople, via England and France, are to March 20th.

SMYRNA, April 6, 1833. * * "The information relative to 10,000 Russians being at Constantinople, turns out to be untrue, though many letters were received here from that place, stating that such was the case. The people here are in the midst of hundreds of rumors from day to day, relating to the state of the country; nothing certain is known, but it is believed that the European powers have the case before them for arrangement; this will cause the procrastination of a question, which, so far as relates to the three parties (Egyptians, Turks and Russians,) would otherwise be soon terminated. Mahomet Ali is very decided in his tone, and Ibrahim Pacha, who remains with his army as Kutich, will most assuredly obey his father's orders."

The Journal de Smyrne, of the 24th March, in mentioning the fact that Mahomet Ali had refused to accept the last proposition transmitted to him from Admiral Roussin, the French Ambassador at Constantinople, states that the Pacha had been reported to say that he had hitherto lived with honor and would not tarnish the lustre of his name by an act of imbecility—that he would sooner perish than yield to the conditions which were demanded of him.

From the Journal de Smyrne, of March 31.

The European powers, particularly France and England, desire the re-establishment of tranquility in the Ottoman Empire, and appear fully determined to employ all means, even force, if necessary, to attain their object. This determination is the natural consequence of the system of policy which has been pursued in Europe for many years, and which may be considered as uniting the several nations into a kind of republic, of which the members are independent, but connected by a common interest, and ready to co operate for the preservation of order and tranquility. It is this system which produces what is termed the balance of power, or a political arrangement, according to which no power is permitted to become predominant, or put itself in a condition to dictate laws to others. The surest means, therefore of maintaining equilibrium, is to remove any pretext for the further aggrandizement of a nation already too powerful, and it will be accomplished by preventing Russia from interfering in the actual contest. But, as Russia has, so far, manifested no ambitious or hostile intentions, it is not against her that Cabinets ought to unite, they should merely render her intervention useless, by removing the cause upon which it would be founded. It is from these considerations that Europe ardently desires the cessation of war in the east, and they certainly appear sufficient to justify her solicitude and the firmness of her language.

It is a matter of public notoriety, that the French Consul at Alexandria had received orders to make arrangements for suspending all intercourse with Mahomet Ali, if the latter should refuse to accede to the propositions which were made to him through the channel of the French Ambassador. Mahomet Ali has refused; and we shall no doubt soon hear that the functions of the French Consul at Alexandria have ceased: and as the English Consul had at the same time received similar instructions we may infer that he has acted in concert with his colleague. As to Austria, although it is the desire of that power to avoid coercive measures, we are convinced that she supports the steps taken by France and England and that she has marked out a corresponding course of conduct for her agent in Egypt.

These demonstrations are of a nature, we think, to cause serious reflections in Mahomet Ali; for it is almost certain, that if he should persist in his refusal, the port of Alexandria would be immediately blockaded by the European naval forces. It would be disagreeable to be compelled to resort to this extremity; but if it is the only means of prevailing on Mahomet Ali to make peace, it will be adopted without hesitation, as the restoration of tranquility to the East is the paramount object. Whatever hopes his success may have inspired him with, the Viceroy would not venture to enroll himself with the maratime powers of Europe; he will yield to necessity, and we may now look upon the speedy conclusion of peace as certain. As he has no other alternative, he will accept the propositions which are offered to him, and as for the future, new events will give birth to new measures on the part of the European Cabinets. The great and essential object, now, is to have peace, and to have it immediately.

It is therefore an erroneous view of things, which induces some persons to regard the turn which negociations are taking, as likely to eventuate in a rupture between Russia and other European powers. The policy of Europe at present is altogether pacific. The recent example of Holland is a convincing proof of it; and if the employment of military force to compel King William to acknowledge the independence of a country which had been united with his States by a sovereign treaty, has failed to bring about a general war, we may rest assured that Mahomet Ali will not be permitted to dismember the Ottoman Empire at his pleasure. It is against Egypt alone that rigorous measures will be employed if the Pacha obstinately persists in disturbing a system which it has cost Europe so many sacrifices to establish firmly, and which would be overturned by any attempts to weaken the Turkish Empire still further.

The propositions made to Mahomet Ali may probably not have been of a nature to accord with his ambitious views; and it is to be presumed that he believes himself entitled to more advantageous terms. This is a matter which we shall abstain from considering. We are not advantageously situated for a thorough examination of certain questions, and none of our readers will be surprised at the cautiousness which we have manifested in the present discussion. We shall, therefore, confine ourselves to the remark, that as it is decidedly the general interest of Europe to put an end to the war which now desolates the East, Mahomet Ali will be compelled to yield to a determination far stronger and more powerful than his own.

The Grand Seignor, on his part, may reap immense advantages from the re-establishment of peace in his states, for it is only during peace that he can effectually occupy himself with his projects of civilization and reform, which will hereafter be the only means of causing an oblivion of the evils which have afflicted the nation.—In diffusing instruction and information among his subjects, the Sultan will not forget that it is also necessary to secure their welfare; and commerce and industry, protected by equitable laws, and relieved from the burdens which oppress their exertions, will receive a new impulse, and contribute speedily to the restoration of comfort and happiness to the country.

THE FLOOD.—We continue to receive accounts of extensive damage to buildings, bridges, &c. by the late flood.

The Glenn's Falls Messenger says, "the Hudson rose higher than it had been in 35 years. More than 10,000 saw logs, besides large quantities of hewed timber, boards and plank, have passed this place adrift. The grist mill and fulling works at Little Falls have been swept away; at Adams, a double English mill and two dams have shared a similar fate. At Saxonville three dams have been carried away. The grist mill and saw mill of Mr. Wickes at Sandy Hill have likewise gone off.

On the Pulmey river, not a vestige of machinery is left. At East Granville the cotton factory and grist mill have been entirely swept away. At Middle Granville the woollen factory and trip hammer shop; and at West Granville, a saw mill, grist mill and fulling works.

WATERTOWN, May 16th.—Every boom across the river has been destroyed, and many thousands of saw logs, together with timber, bridges, mills, factories, barns, dwelling houses, &c. &c. &c. have been swept away to the mighty Ontario. In this village, the stone tannery of Messrs. Holt and Bleecker is demolished, and the principal part swept down the river; hides, &c. are saved. The wagon makers shop of Messrs. O. & C. Colwell, was undermined and nearly ruined. A stone building, belonging to Levi Beebe & Co. containing machinery to a large amount, has been swept entirely away, together with a large quantity of wood, and a portion of their breakwater. The furnace belonging to Messrs. Smith and Gage, on Beebe's Island, nearly destroyed. The woollen factory of Mr. Lovell Kimball, is very materially injured.

The bridge across the river, leading to Sewall's Island, is one half destroyed; and on the island, a part of the tool shop of J. Lord, Esq. and the bulk head and flume to that and the paper mill of G. & N. Sturtevant, is carried away.

In BROWNVILLE, the large building erected by James Wood, for a woollen factory, has been swept entirely away, the river making a fair breach over its side.

The bridge at Lockport, a few miles above this village, and one at Carthage, we understand, are also "among the missing."

COOPERSTOWN, May 20th.—In this neighborhood the destruction of property has been very considerable. The mill dams upon nearly all the streams in this vicinity, have been much injured or swept before the flood.

A letter from Elmira, Tioga county, says the Chemung Canal has been very seriously damaged.

The Editor of the Argus says that the condition of the inhabitant's on Patroon's Island is such as to require the attention of the humane. Some dozen families residing upon this island derive their whole support from the choice and early vegetables which its genial and prolific soil produces. Their gardens have been entirely destroyed, and their hopes utterly blasted, by the recent flood. Their loss is estimated at from 4 to $6000.

In VERMONT—The bridges over East Creek and Otter Creek, in East Rutland, were swept away. It is stated that the destruction of property on Otter Creek is supposed to be immense.

ALBANY, May 22.—The Erie Canal.—We are gratified to learn that the breaches in the canals have been all repaired, and that the entire line of the Erie Canal is now navigable. The packets arrive at and depart regularly from Schenectady. Much credit is due to the superintendents of repairs, for their activity in preventing and promptitude in repairing injuries by the late rain. Under their supervision, the amount of damage to the canals, compared with what might have been anticipated, is very trivial.—Argus.

From the Charleston Courier.

STEAM PACKET DAVID BROWN.—The great advantage which would accrue to the citizens of Charleston, as well as to the whole country, to the south and south west of this city, were the mail transported by this vessel, are so apparent, that we are surprised the Postmaster General did not at once accede to an arrangement which we understand was offered by the proprietor of the David Brown, through the Postmaster at New York. The present mode of demanding freight for letters must be unpleasant both to the proprietor and to the public; but as long as the vessel continues to run, so long will it be necessary for business men to despatch their letters by her; it would therefore, it seems to us, be advisable to get up petitions in this city, as well as at Savannah, Augusta, and even Mobile and N. Orleans, requesting the Postmaster General to enter into a contract, to have a mail between Charleston and N. York despatched, whenever the David Brown leaves either port. This contract, we are authorized to say, can be made for a very small consideration, and would give us an opportunity of availing ourselves of a line of communication which shortens the distance between N. York and the southern cities, at least three days, without being subjected to additional postage, to which, under present circumstances, the proprietor of the boat is certainly entitled. We observe that the Department has made great exertions to facilitate the transportation of the mail at the North, and even established extra stages, and we have a right to expect that the interest of the South will not be neglected in this instance.

NEW ORLEANS, May 4.—We learn from the Vicksburgh paper of the 1st inst. that the Cholera has reappeared in that town. From the 20th to the 29th of April, 20 cases and 7 deaths had occurred.

ATHENS, Geo. May 11.

MANUFACTURES.—Some of the good people of our immediate vicinity seem determined to nullify, or at least to divide hereafter, the profits which the Eastern monopolists are appropriating to themselves, by the manufacture of Cotton. The new factory at this place is in a state of considerable forwardness, and will, we understand, go into operation in a few weeks.

We further learn that a company of gentlemen belonging to our town, have bargained for the mill seat of Mr. Prince, situated within 2 1-2 miles of this place, where they intend erecting another. We will then have three distinct branches of the "American System," or as John Q. Adams would say, "Palaces of the Poor," located in our immediate vicinity. Old England has her Manchester—New England her Lowell, and why should not Georgia boast her Athens?

"What a name,
To fill the sounding pomp of [manufacturing] fame."

Yet maugre the inappropriateness of the name, we predict that between her machines for sharpening the intellect and those for spinning cotton—between the classics and the mechanics, she is destined to rise as rapidly in wealth and population as in learning and refinement.—Banner.

EXPEDITION AGAINST TEXAS.—Extract of a letter from Matamoras, dated April 22d to a gentleman of this city.—"The threatened expedition against Texas, is now forming in this place. During the last week, four vessels arrived from Vera Cruz, with about 350 men and a number of officers. The Commander, Gen. Filisola, is daily expected from Monterry with about 1200 men, and 8 pieces of artillery—cutters are to be fitted out to blockade the ports of Matagorda and Brazoria. It is said that Gen. Filisola (who is an Italian by birth) will try conciliatory measures before he proceeds to force. The Colonists are divided amongst themselves and in a state of anarchy. A most injurious contraband trade is carried on by them by land, to the Northern States & provinces, through the Indian territory, which will be the principal aim of the General to put a stop to. Several of their convoys have been lately attacked by the Indians, among the rest one with an amount of $60,000 in goods, escorted by 30 men, of whom all but one were cut down. In the same manner, a transport of money was lost between Chiahu and St. Louis, Missouri.—Mer. Adv.

The Hon. John Randolph reached this city on Sunday afternoon from Washington, and proceeded to Philadelphia yesterday morning. He travelled in his old fashioned English coach and four, with a postillion on one of the leading horses, and Juba on the box. We learn that his passage through Pratt street to the City Hotel was the occasion of some little inconvenience and irritation to him. His remarkable equipage came leisurely along that street just about the time of the arrival of the steamboat Kentucky, and thus attracted the attention of the crowd of persons who were in waiting to witness her arrival, as well as the hundreds who had just landed from her, at the intersection of Light and Pratt streets. It was soon generally understood that Mr. R. was in the coach, and curiosity on the part of some, and the force of the example on others, immediately induced numbers of the spectators to follow him. By the time he reached the Hotel, learn that the crowd was so dense in front of it that his entrance at the principal door was impossible; at length the equipage proceeded to the private door on Fayette street, and he was conveyed from the coach to the Hotel in the arms of Juba. Mr. R.'s appearance is said to indicate an extremely delicate state of health.—Balt. Am.

From the Philadelphia Herald of yesterday.

The Hon. John Randolph is reported to have arrived in this City and taken lodgings at the City Hotel.

A WESTERN PRODUCTION!—Mr. Benjamin B. Prichard, a native, we believe, of Mason County, but for many years past, a citizen of Montgomery, tarried a short time in Maysville last week, and created no little curiosity, particularly among the children, because of his enormous bulk. He is 42 years of age, six feet one inch high, and weighs 483 pounds He is communicative, gentlemanly in his deportment, and appears to be well informed His health is good; but his superabundant flesh has become burdensome, and he has gone in pursuit of a physician to deplete him.—Maysville (Ky.) Eagle.

From the Oswego Palladium, May 15.

MYSTERIOUS.—On Saturday last, Mr. —— Hitchcock, a respectable inhabitant of Palermo, in this county, came to this village, and obtained from the Bank about $400, since which he has not been heard of. His friends and neighbors entertain the most fearful apprehensions as to his fate. He has hitherto sustained a reputable character, is in independent circumstances, and no good cause can be assigned for his unexpected absence.

On the 25th February, His Holiness the Pope, in a special congregation of the Cardinals of Propaganda, held in the Vatican Palace, nominated the Rev. John Bapt. Purcell, D. D. to the vacant Bishopric of Cincinnati: and having erected a new See at Detroit, in Michigan, nominated the Rev. Frederick Rese, D. D. its first Bishop. The new Diecese comprises Michigan and the North West Territory. The Diocese of Cincinnati is now confined to the State of Ohio.

There are 1681 Canal Boats that ply on the Erie Canal: 300 of these are said to belong to Cayuga Lake alone.—Alb. Adv.

Died.

On Wednesday morning, after a severe illness, Mrs. Catharine Nesbitt, aged 49 years.

Her relatives and friends, and those of her sons James and George F. Nesbitt are respectfully invited to attend her funeral this afternoon at 4 o'clock, from her late residence No 9 York street.

On Tuesday, 21st inst. Harriet, daughter of Elisha Peck, aged 16 years.

The friends of the family are respectfully requested to attend her funeral this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at No. 220 Fourth st. without further invitation.

On Tueday evening, of a pulmonary complaint, Robert S. Gibson, son of Mr. Thomas Gibson, piano manufacturer of this city, aged 18 years.

On Monday, the 20th inst. Mr. Charles Gillespie.

On Sunday last, after a short but severe illness, Mrs. Sarah Whitson, aged 71 years, formerly of Long Island, where her remains were taken for interment.

At Louisville, (Ky.) on the evening of the 8th inst, Capt. Daniel E. Burch, late of the United States Army, aged about 37 years.

The Rev. Joel Parker, recently from New Orleans, will preach at Dey st. Church, corner of Dey and Washington streets, this evening. m23 1t*

IRON CHESTS—C. J GAYLER'S Patent Double fire proof wrought Iron Chest, Book Safe and Money Chest Store and Manufactory, 248 Water st. near Peck slip, and 102 Water street, near Wall street, New York.

The improved double fire proof Chests have been fully tested, and offer complete resistance to fire, and are fitted with locks that cannot be picked. They are preferable to vaults for the use of banks, &c. as they are perfectly safe and free from damp. They are more convenient for use—being set up in the office, and can be easily removed from one building to another.

C. J. G. has built the largest Iron Chest ever made (wt. 11,000 lbs.) and many others of large dimensions for banks and merchants; he is prepared to execute orders for Chests and Safes of any dimensions, and has an assortment of single and double fire proof Chests always on hand.

CAUTION—"Gayler's Patent Improved Chests," can only be legally purchased in this city at his Stores, as above and in other places from his authorized agents.

COMPOUND TOOTH LOTION—For cleansing the teeth and mouth, and removing a disordered state of the gums; also, giving a peculiar sweetness to the breath. By J. B. Wheat, Surgeon Dentist

This wash, when judiciously used, will be found exceedingly useful to Teeth, producing a healthy state of the gums, and is almost indispensable in treating diseases of the soft parts about the mouth. It being prepared from vegetables, is free from acid and corroding properties which enter into most compounds for the teeth, together with the ingredients which this wash contains, gives it a decided preference to all the preparations of the kind now in use. Numerous testimonials in its favor can be given from the first physicians and dentists in the country; but the high standing which Dr. Wheat sustains as a Dentist, needs no further recommendation to introduce it to the public as safe and valuable remedy for a disordered state of the teeth and gums. Sold wholesale and retail by INSURANCE BROKERAGE.—The subscriber renewedly offers his services as an Insurance Broker, for the procuring of Marine Insurance, or Reinsurance, and for the settlement and collection of losses in BOSTON.

A comparison of the provisions in the Policies of New York and Boston, touching the rules of average, will shew that the latter offers decided advantages to the insured over those of the former. For example, in New York policies, bar and sheet iron, iron wire, tin plates, Tobacco, hempen yarn, cotton bagging, carriages, furniture, and looking glasses are warranted free of average, unless general; while in Boston all these articles, except tobacco, are subject to average, if actually damaged, five per cent; and tobacco, if damaged, seven per cent. Coffee and pepper, in bags or in bulk, are excepted from loss under ten per cent., while in Boston they are excepted only under five per cent.

Partial Losses on Cargo are adjusted in both places by the same rule of comparison of the sound, with the damaged value, and it is presumed with equal promptness and impartiality.

The rates of premium in Boston in general are as favorable to the applicant, as in New York, and on some voyages of risks, they are much more so.

Commissions for effecting Insurance on vessels one fourth, and on property one eighth of one per cent. upon the sums insured. Orders addressed to him by mail or otherwise, will be attended to.

Please refer in New York, to Messrs. G. G. & S. Howland; Brown Brothers & Co., and F. & N. G. Carnes; Wheelwright & Bartlet.

FOR SALE—A Farm containing about one hundred acres of excellent land, lying in the County of Westchester, about one and a half miles north of McComb's Bridge on the White Plains road, and about 10 miles from the City Hall. The land is well adapted for grazing or grain, with a fair proportion of wood and meadow. The Farm is well watered. Bounded westerly by the Harlæm River and southerly by the lands now owned and occupied by Mr. Robert Morris. Said Farm is under a tolerable state of cultivation, but will require some improvement, as the buildings consist of not much else than an antiquated stone House. There are two very fine building sites on the premises, commanding a view of Harlæm and Hudson rivers. It offers a peculiar advantage to any Gentleman who wishes to locate in a pleasant and handsome situation near the city. The New York and Harlæm Rail Road, when completed, will pass immediately in the rear of said Farm. Title made perfectly satisfactory. Inquire of J. J. STEWART, 172 Greenwich st. tf m8

PURE WATER.—JOSEPH PARKES, returns his sincere thanks for the extensive patronage he continues to receive. Having considerably enlarged his stock of FILTERING MACHINES, he solicits the attention of the public, to some of the most elegant patterns that were ever offered for sale, either in the United States or in Europe.
PURE WATER is so indispensable that the health of every individual depends upon its use: THE PATENT FILTERS are therefore necessary in every private family, boarding house, and hotel; as by them rain water from wells and cisterns (which holds in suspension decayed animal and vegetable matter) is freed from all deleterious and noxious qualities: being rendered PURE and BRILLIANT, it is then superior to any spring water that can be obtained.
The prices of the Patent Filters are from $8 to $20, will yield from twelve to forty gallons of Pure Water per day: and are to be obtained only at the store of the patentee, 4½ Wall street, New York. They can be carefully packed and sent to any part of the world.
N. B. Filtering machines repaired, and Cisterns fitted up to yield from 100 to 5000 gallons of pure water per day.

COAL.

TO CONSUMERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL.
NOTICE.—The subscribers having secured to themselves their supply of the same celebrated Peach Orchard, mined this season, which gave such general satisfaction last year, beg leave to acquaint their friends and customers, and the public generally, that they have just received a cargo, which they will dispose of—
From the vessel, ... $7,00
Clean lumps from yard, ... 7,50
Broken and screened, and delivered, ... 8,50
Warranted to be inferior to none that can be had in the city, and free from slate. They will be thankful for a share of public patronage. J. & R. DAVIES, m4 Eagle Coal Yard, 28 Oak st.

GREENWICH COAL YARD, corner Hudson and Leroy streets—The subscriber offers for sale at the yard as above, or the office No. 8 Maiden lane, all the various kinds of Anthracite and bituminous coal, usually sold in this city, viz: Schuylkill, Lehigh and Lackawana, Liverpool, Nova Scotia and Virginia Coal, of the best quality and lowest price. Orders will be received at Mr. Floyd Smith's Store, No. 12 Maiden lane.
a26 GILBERT M. MILLIGAN.

ANOTHER REDUCTION!!—The subscriber has made arrangements to receive a large supply of the best quality Peach Orchard and Schuylkill Coal, cargoes of which he expects to arrive every week; and now gives notice that he will deliver from vessels on their arrival, at any part of the city, Peach Orchard and Schuylkill Coal at SEVEN DOLLARS per ton, free of cartage.
The subscriber is enabled to do this in consequence of the present low freight. He solicits consumers to send in their orders immediately, so that cargoes may be distributed as they arrive.
Public opinion is the best test of the quality of Coal, and the subscriber has but to assert, that at a difference of 2 dollars per ton in favor of Lackawana Coal, there has been sold in this city the past season, about in the ratio of 40,000 tons of Schuylkill Coal to 10,000 tons of Lackawanna. The above price is a difference of one dollar per ton.
Office No. 6 Merchants' Exchange—Yard corner of Rutgers slip and Cherry st. WALTER M. FRANKLIN.
N. B. Men will be sent with the carts to break up the Coal, at two shillings per ton, if required. tf a15

THE REAL PEACH ORCHARD COAL, MINED THIS SEASON.
THE subscribers announce to the public, they have just received by the schr General E. Doughty a cargo of this very celebrated Coal, the increased demand for which is the surest proof of its superiority. When they state that (of this coal alone) they have sold during the past season nearly one-fifth of the whole of the anthracite retailed in this city, and more by one half than all the Lackawanna retailed—(which by reference to the weighmaster's returns to the corporation may be seen)—they think it needs nothing further to recommend it.
The present price of Peach Orchard Coal, mined this season, is—
From the vessel, 7 dollars per ton.
Clean lumps, from yard, $7,50.
Broken and screened, $8,50.
At which low prices they will deliver in their usual good order, free of cartage.
They beg to renew their sincere thanks for past favors, and to assure the public they continue to be the Sole Venders of the real Peach Orchard Coal, which is from Spohn's mine only. Apply corner of Murray and Washington an corner of Murray and Canal sts.
a22 tf SAMUEL B. REEVE & CO.

PEACH ORCHARD COAL N. W. WEST offers for sale at his Coal Yards, corner of Albany and Washington streets, a supply of the above Coal, of the best quality, at the lowest market prices. tf a8

TO THE INHABITANTS OF BROOKLYN—The subscribers respectfully inform consumers that they will deliver their best PEACH ORCHARD COAL from SPOHN'S mine in Brooklyn at New York prices, viz. $7,50 per ton coarse, $3,50 broken and screened, no charge of cartage or ferriage. SAM'L B. REEVE & CO. or to m23 tf G. C. LANGDON, Steamboat Hotel; Brooklyn.

SCHUYKILL COAL.—The little Schuylkill Navigation, Rail Road and Coal Company, have removed their Office in this city, to No. 6 Front street, and are now ready to contract for the delivery of any quantity of Coal, at the Company's wharves in Philadelphia, at the low price of four dollars and seventy five cents per ton cash, or interest added for time. The very general satisfaction which the Tomaqua or Little Schuylkill Coal has given the consumers, induces the Company to believe that they will be sustained by the public, in the effort they now make to supply the city with fuel at a uniform price, and as it is believed that freights are now less than they will be at any time during the summer, Consumers will find it to their interest to lay in their supplies. a3

SCHUYLKILL COAL AGENCY—Price reduced below all former rates of Schuylkill Coal.—The Little Schuylkill Coal Company, having appointed the subscriber agent in this city, now offer this very desirable fuel, delivered free from cartage, at Six Dollars per ton.
As the company do not expect to be able the present season to send a sufficient quantity of Coal to this market to supply all the consumers, those interested will make early application to JEDEDIAH ROGERS, No 22 Merchants Exchange, or at the Yard, No. 1 Laurens st. near Canal.
Orders may be left at No. 6 Front st. a23

DR. HULL'S PATENT TRUSS,—For the Relief and Cure of HERNIA, or RUPTURE.—The curative and surgical effects of this instrument are too well known to the public to require an explanation. The exclusive right to this surgical instrument has been secured to Dr. Hull by letters patent, for the term of fourteen years for the last improvements from 1823.
The following distinguished Surgeons and Physicians have given their decided preference to Dr. Hull's Truss.
Valentine Mott, M. D. } Professors of Surgery, Med
Alex. H. Stevens, M. D. } College, N. Y.
George Bushe, M. D.
David Hosack, M. D. } Late Professors in Rutgers
John W. Francis, M. D. } Medical College, N. Y.
Cyrus Perkins, M. D., late Professor of Surgery in Harvard Medical College
The several Professors in the Medical Colleges in Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Haven, and Cincinnati, have introduced DR. HULL'S TRUSS into their practice.
In addition to the above names, Dr. Hull has the satisfaction to subjoin that of Mr. Surgeon Skey, Surgeon General of the British army, who during his recent visit to the U. States, took occasion to examine into the merits of these instruments. He was so forcibly convinced of the novelty of their construction, and the superiority of their surgical powers over all others in use in Europe, that he procured models and samples for the purpose of introducing them officially into the entire British army.
Dr. H. has also invented a very simple and improved suspensory bag and belt.

☞IMPOSITION AVOIDED.☜
WHITWELL'S only true and original OPODELDOC, one bottle of which contains more than three times the strength of the hard kind. Externally applied, it may be considered as infallible in bruises, sprains, gout, rheumatism, cramp, numbness, weakness or stiffness of the neck or loins, chilblains, chopped hands, stings of insects, &c. &c. and is useful both to man and beast. Internally used, it is extremely beneficial in cases of jaundice, cholic, headache, flatulence, hysterical affections, &c. &c.
N. B. Beware of Imitations of every description, especially of those bearing fictitious name comprising half my real name, as Whit-man, Whit-ney, Whit-ing and about fifty others; all of which can only be forced into the market at reduced prices, and under an impression of the consumer that it is the genuine article.
☞"Prudence in all cases is a desirable virtue, but the saving of a few cents in a vial of medicine is pitiful economy, and may lead to more consequences than the loss of money." "The idea of preferring a physician because he was a cheap one would be considered a mark of insanity. To prefer one medicine to another solely because it costs less, is equally adverse to sound judgment and common sense; in both cases life and limb are at stake."
A hint to Country Traders.—Those who purchase to sell again, will be supplied on such terms that they can realize more profit by vending the original Opodeldoc, than by dealing in any imitation; and also, have the satisfaction of supplying their customers with a true and genuine article.
TEST OF THE ONLY TRUE KIND
1st. See that the Certificate of the late Dr. Samuel L. Mitchell, L. L. D. of the city of New York, is on the inside direction paper.
2d. That my name is stamped on the bottle.
3d. That the retail price is not less than thirty seven cts for a single bottle—all others are but base imitations.
