

THE WIFE'S FIRST LOVE.

"I pray you, my dear," said the husband.

Adelheid, hearing her husband's approaching footsteps, listened to extinguish the little taper that was burning on the table, and, adjusting her corset and collar before the mirror, unlocked the door and stepped into the passage.

"Comment! ma belle Hermine, toujours un boudoir! I was looking for you at the Thuilleries this very day. Truly, my incomparable, I shall begin to grow weary of this boudoir, and I shall begin to 'enquire you so often.' As De Morier playfully spoke thus, he drew his Adelheid affectionately towards him, but she complained of a slight indisposition, averted her face, and, without a word, she turned and went to her room.

Adelheid, rich and young and lovely, was, when she was of the age of seventeen, had been introduced to the Count de Morier, a Frenchman of family and distinction. He became deeply enamored of her beauty and simplicity. The offer of marriage was graciously accepted, and he brought her to a magnificent hotel in the Faubourg St. Germain, where, notwithstanding the little dissensions that a difference of national tastes and prejudices is apt to occasion, they lived in every plenitude and perfection of conjugal concord.

They had been married about a year and a half when De Morier fancied he saw an alteration in his wife's habits and manners. It appeared to him that she was no longer the same person, and he was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

then, said the landlord, "this dog, which belongs to no one, is in the habit of attaching himself to travellers passing between this place and Geneva. He has often been at my house, and I have seen him at yours."

"I pray you, my dear," said the husband. Adelheid, hearing her husband's approaching footsteps, listened to extinguish the little taper that was burning on the table, and, adjusting her corset and collar before the mirror, unlocked the door and stepped into the passage.

"Comment! ma belle Hermine, toujours un boudoir! I was looking for you at the Thuilleries this very day. Truly, my incomparable, I shall begin to grow weary of this boudoir, and I shall begin to 'enquire you so often.' As De Morier playfully spoke thus, he drew his Adelheid affectionately towards him, but she complained of a slight indisposition, averted her face, and, without a word, she turned and went to her room.

Adelheid, rich and young and lovely, was, when she was of the age of seventeen, had been introduced to the Count de Morier, a Frenchman of family and distinction. He became deeply enamored of her beauty and simplicity. The offer of marriage was graciously accepted, and he brought her to a magnificent hotel in the Faubourg St. Germain, where, notwithstanding the little dissensions that a difference of national tastes and prejudices is apt to occasion, they lived in every plenitude and perfection of conjugal concord.

They had been married about a year and a half when De Morier fancied he saw an alteration in his wife's habits and manners. It appeared to him that she was no longer the same person, and he was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

He was constantly in the habit of finding scraps of paper scattered about the floor, for the appearance of which she accounted for in various unsatisfactory ways. He more than once surprised her in the act of writing, and he was told that she was writing to her father, Karl, a German domestic, who, having lived in her father's service since the period of Adelheid's infancy, had on the event of her marriage requested to be allowed to accompany his young mistress to the Continent.

Another Insurrection on the Spanish Main.—A Ship from the Norfolk Beacon, says "Captain White, of the ship 'Sylph,' arrived at Port Spain, on Saturday, the 14th day of Nov. from Port Spain, (Trinidad,) informs us, that an insurrection had broken out in Maine, and that the inhabitants were fleeing in every direction for safety. About 500 men were reported to have been killed in a few days previous to the departure of Capt. W. H. M. from the island.

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 5, 1836.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Table with columns for names (Friend Humphrey, Jeremiah, William, John C., Ashbur, Moore, Daniel, Dornel) and numbers.

Boacoe.—Mr. Davis, who went out to England in the pilot boat John D. Aymer, in pursuit of Mr. Bowen, has returned in the ship Virginia, which arrived here on Monday, and has been successful in the object of his mission.

The Detroit City of late date says.—We regret to learn that a highly respectable riot broke out in Detroit, on Monday night, in the house in which the Acting Governor lodged was assailed, the windows of his chamber broken; and to search himself from their missiles, he was obliged to remove a part of his bed to the floor, where he slept till morning.

Telegraph between London and Paris.—A line of telegraphic communication between these two cities is in progress of completion, for the parliament has just passed a bill, which, if carried into effect, will first be confined to transmitting the prices of the funds, it is intended hereafter to apply it to the conveyance of other important news, and it will be conveyed from London to Paris in an hour and a half.

Melancholy Accident.—Four Lives Lost.—On Saturday evening, the 27th inst., a party of five on a fishing expedition. In the darkness of the night, the boats parted company, and three of them put into Salmon Island, where they remained for the night.

Reconciliation brought about by a Dog.—There were two friends, one living in London and the other at Paris, who were on terms of great intimacy; and it was a well known fact, that the London family to pass the Christmas at Guildford, and their uniform practice was to arrive at dinner the day before yesterday.

From Buenos Ayres.—We have received Buenos Ayres papers to Sept. 6th. The following are extracts:—Buenos Ayres, Sept. 5. It is reported that Colonel Francisco Reinafe, brother of the Ex-Governor of Cordova, had collected a force with which he approached the city of Cordova, and twenty or thirty men, who attacked and defeated him.

Imprisonment for Debt.—The Legislature of Massachusetts, at its last session, virtually abolished imprisonment for debt. In the revival of the Laws, during the present session, the clause has been introduced restoring the old narrow Jail provisions. This clause has received the veto of Acting Governor ARMSKONG.

Melancholy Occurrence.—A young man, who was in this City, lost his life, on Sunday morning last, at Seneca Falls, in a generous effort to extinguish a fire. He had ascended to the top of the building, and in pulling off a burning board, fell backwards to the earth, and survived but a few moments. The deceased was a worthy, industrious young man. He was engaged at the West in purchasing Produce.

THE CANADAS. The provincial Parliament assembled on the 27th ult. and Lord Gosford the Governor delivered a long SPEECH. It commences thus:—The Government of the Legislative Council, Gentlemen of the Assembly.

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Montreal Herald.—Lord Gosford has just given such an answer to the question, which your Petition presented to the Legislative Council of Quebec. His Excellency, it is true, did not say "My speech is finished; so much the worse gentleman, for my speech is finished; but he did not refer to the constitutionalists in his answer, and he did not refer to the constitutionalists in his answer, and he did not refer to the constitutionalists in his answer.

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

From the Commercial Advertiser.—DOINGS AT TAMMANY. "O what a row, what a rumpus and a rioting," as the song goes. By the following Bulletin from Tammany, it will be seen that the Kilkenny party, who were the origin of the row, are now evening—affording a beautiful specimen upon the homogeneous materials of "the Democracy."

was about to descend, when a voice from the sons of the gentleman at whose residence the girls were, had obtained a pair of pistols, without the knowledge of their parents, and were snatching them in the courtyard, at half past noon, with a view of frightening the girls, and lightening the merriment of the party. About six, however, one of the pistols which was aimed directly at one of the girls, went off, scattering her face very badly. The other pistol was thrown into the adjoining casement. From the position of the child, and the severe burning of the side of her face by the powder, the ball must have passed, miraculously, within an eighth of an inch of her face. The other pistol was then examined and also found to be loaded with ball, and when we consider that both were snatched repeatedly in the midst of the little party, it is wonderful that nothing fatal happened. As it was raining, the girls were all wet, and the girl who was injured, which is profusely imbedded in the skin of the left cheek and neck, has suffered much, and is likely to suffer still more.—Norfolk Beacon.

TRANSIT OF MERCURY. On Saturday the 7th of November, the planet Mercury will pass over the sun, the planet being in the afternoon of that day in inferior conjunction and very near its ascending node. The transit will be seen in all parts of the world. The last Venus took place in 1769, and the first of Mercury, that of May 1799, was the only one that might have been viewed in New England—as those of 1802 and 1842 happened in the tropics. The last transit, May, 1842, was rendered invisible by clouds. Indeed, it is uncertain whether the first of the series was observed. Even if the day was fair, it probably attracted little notice, as without the aid of a telescope the transit is scarcely magnifying power it could not have been seen.

The two transits of Mercury next after that now approaching will occur in May 1845, and November 1845. Venus will pass over the sun in 1847 and 1842. The transits of Venus are of much less frequent occurrence than those of Mercury, but they are of the greatest value to the astronomer, by affording the best and most accurate method for ascertaining the distance of the planet from the earth, and thence the distance of the planets, and the dimensions of the solar system. Since the discovery of the telescope, they therefore attracted the attention of astronomers, and have been observed with the greatest care, by suitable persons placed for the purpose, at various points of the earth, from which they may be seen. The distance of Mercury from the earth renders its transit of little use for ascertaining the parallax of the sun, but from the great precision with which the transit can be observed, and the slight change in the time of its beginning and ending, in a large extent of the globe, the best means determining the longitude of any place on the surface of the earth. In the approaching transit, the transit will be seen in all parts of the world. The last Venus took place in 1769, and the first of Mercury, that of May 1799, was the only one that might have been viewed in New England—as those of 1802 and 1842 happened in the tropics. The last transit, May, 1842, was rendered invisible by clouds. Indeed, it is uncertain whether the first of the series was observed. Even if the day was fair, it probably attracted little notice, as without the aid of a telescope the transit is scarcely magnifying power it could not have been seen.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

was about to descend, when a voice from the sons of the gentleman at whose residence the girls were, had obtained a pair of pistols, without the knowledge of their parents, and were snatching them in the courtyard, at half past noon, with a view of frightening the girls, and lightening the merriment of the party. About six, however, one of the pistols which was aimed directly at one of the girls, went off, scattering her face very badly. The other pistol was thrown into the adjoining casement. From the position of the child, and the severe burning of the side of her face by the powder, the ball must have passed, miraculously, within an eighth of an inch of her face. The other pistol was then examined and also found to be loaded with ball, and when we consider that both were snatched repeatedly in the midst of the little party, it is wonderful that nothing fatal happened. As it was raining, the girls were all wet, and the girl who was injured, which is profusely imbedded in the skin of the left cheek and neck, has suffered much, and is likely to suffer still more.—Norfolk Beacon.

TRANSIT OF MERCURY. On Saturday the 7th of November, the planet Mercury will pass over the sun, the planet being in the afternoon of that day in inferior conjunction and very near its ascending node. The transit will be seen in all parts of the world. The last Venus took place in 1769, and the first of Mercury, that of May 1799, was the only one that might have been viewed in New England—as those of 1802 and 1842 happened in the tropics. The last transit, May, 1842, was rendered invisible by clouds. Indeed, it is uncertain whether the first of the series was observed. Even if the day was fair, it probably attracted little notice, as without the aid of a telescope the transit is scarcely magnifying power it could not have been seen.

The two transits of Mercury next after that now approaching will occur in May 1845, and November 1845. Venus will pass over the sun in 1847 and 1842. The transits of Venus are of much less frequent occurrence than those of Mercury, but they are of the greatest value to the astronomer, by affording the best and most accurate method for ascertaining the distance of the planet from the earth, and thence the distance of the planets, and the dimensions of the solar system. Since the discovery of the telescope, they therefore attracted the attention of astronomers, and have been observed with the greatest care, by suitable persons placed for the purpose, at various points of the earth, from which they may be seen. The distance of Mercury from the earth renders its transit of little use for ascertaining the parallax of the sun, but from the great precision with which the transit can be observed, and the slight change in the time of its beginning and ending, in a large extent of the globe, the best means determining the longitude of any place on the surface of the earth. In the approaching transit, the transit will be seen in all parts of the world. The last Venus took place in 1769, and the first of Mercury, that of May 1799, was the only one that might have been viewed in New England—as those of 1802 and 1842 happened in the tropics. The last transit, May, 1842, was rendered invisible by clouds. Indeed, it is uncertain whether the first of the series was observed. Even if the day was fair, it probably attracted little notice, as without the aid of a telescope the transit is scarcely magnifying power it could not have been seen.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

Price appeared on the stage, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time, and he was the first man that got an audible word out for the first time.

ALBANY MUSEUM.

EXTRAORDINARY ATTRACTION. Every evening this week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at 8 o'clock.

THE PROPRIETOR, JAMES B. BLANCHARD, IN HIS OWN AUTOMATIC FIGURES, which together with the most accurate and beautiful in the science every respect worthy of the public attention. Exhibition to commence at 8 o'clock.

CASTOR OIL.—3 lbs. first rate Castor Oil, for medicinal use, to be had of J. B. BLANCHARD, No. 111 Broadway, New York.

AMERICAN GIFT BOOKS.—The work of the American Gift Book Co. is now ready for sale. It will be found to be a most desirable and useful addition to the library of every family.

PAINT MILLS.—The subscriber has just received a supply of New York's best paint, which will be sold at New York prices. J. B. BLANCHARD, No. 111 Broadway, New York.

"By the bye, are you a marrying man?" said Charles Russell to his bachelor friend, Frederick Somerville, as they discussed a cool bottle together at the Star and Garter, at Richmond.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOV. 4, 1885.

Whig County Whig Ticket

FOR ASSEMBLY.—JEREMIAH SCHUYLER, of Waterloo; ASHER MORSE, of Waterloo.

The nomination of Judge Winters, for President, was concurred in by the Senate of Tennessee, by a vote of 23 to 3, instead of 23 to 21, as stated yesterday.

Pennsylvania Election.—Official returns show that Ritten obtained 94,017; Wolf, 55,873; and Muhlenberg, 40,642 votes. The Harrison electoral ticket will receive 15,000 Whig Missouri votes which Ritten did not receive.

A Sign in Virginia.—Col. John Patriot has been elected to the Senate for the Western District of Virginia, in place of the late Col. McCoy, a Jacksonite. Col. P. is a staunch Whig—so that the Whigs thus gain two votes in the Senate of Virginia.

At a late meeting of the Board of Managers of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, Mr. HOWARD NOTT, of the firm of H. Nott & Co., New York, was elected to fill a vacancy in that Board.

American Almonds.—Mr. Ira Stimpson, of Gates, near Rochester, has raised this year, nearly a peck of Almonds from a branch of that fruit tree engrafted in a peach.

To the Ex. Com. of the New York State Temperance Society.—Gentlemen,—You were asked through a correspondent of the Evening Journal, "of last evening, who you have not noticed the resignation of Mr. Archibald Campbell, as an officer of your Board in the Periodicals of your Society—do you allow, or do you not allow, that Mr. Campbell did, and for the same reasons?"

"But tell me, my dear Russell, do you know any thing objectionable in her temper or disposition?" "No, nothing, upon my word, Fred. No woman is perfect, and Ellen has her failings; but, despite certain eccentricities and peculiarities, I do believe you would live very happily together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

"I am sure you are right, but tell me, if you will, what you think of her?" "I think she is a very nice girl, and I think you will be very happy together."

Fatal Assault.—A fellow by the name of Dermot Hays, was brought up in custody of Smith, the officer, charged with having committed a deadly assault on William Hagan, of 87 Fulton street, under the following circumstances: Hagan was a journeyman shoemaker in the employ of Kegan, and addicted to drink. He had on Saturday last bought a bottle of rum, which he placed on a table in his room, and was at work this morning, he found the bottle emptied of its contents. Exasperated at this, he swore revenge against those who had taken the liquor. Unfortunately some words ensued between him and the Post Office, and he was written by the latter, requesting him to use his influence in extracting them from a confinement and state of degradation of the most revolting character, in the event of his refusal to do so, on the 1st of June. The gentleman immediately consulted a few friends on the subject, and it was concluded to give information to the police of the city, and they accordingly repaired to the Grand Jury, and related the circumstances. A warrant was determined to be proceeded promptly to the place designated, and ascertain the correctness of the statements made in the letter; and several gentlemen, headed by an officer of the Guard, entered the house of Hagan, suddenly, and before the inmates had time to prepare for their reception. They found the room on the lower floor lighted up, and a man just in the act of striking a tune on the violin, while on benches straggled around the room, sat seven females and some eight or ten Sailors, apparently preparing to go to a dance. The keeper of the house came forth, and inquired of the object of the gentlemen in visiting his house. He was told that it was necessary that the females on his premises should be questioned, and that without his presence, and they were therefore requested to leave the premises. He refused to do so, and they did so, and without opposition from him. In answer to the question proposed, whether they wished to be liberated from duress, six of them unhesitatingly answered that they would do so, and the other two, who were the wife of some one attached to the house, and did not wish to leave. After ascertaining this fact from their own lips, they were informed that they were to be taken to the police station, and were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

[From the Charleston Courier, 28th ult.] SHOCKING DISCLOSURES.

On Friday evening last, we witnessed a development of human depravity, the existence of which, in this city, we could scarcely have credited, had it come to us in any questionable shape—and we feel it to be our duty to communicate to our fellow-citizens, the details of this heinous and disgusting crime, should no longer be tolerated even in the purview of our city.

On Friday evening, about dusk, a gentleman received an anonymous communication, through the Post Office, purporting to be written by a female, requesting him to use his influence in extracting them from a confinement and state of degradation of the most revolting character, in the event of his refusal to do so, on the 1st of June. The gentleman immediately consulted a few friends on the subject, and it was concluded to give information to the police of the city, and they accordingly repaired to the Grand Jury, and related the circumstances. A warrant was determined to be proceeded promptly to the place designated, and ascertain the correctness of the statements made in the letter; and several gentlemen, headed by an officer of the Guard, entered the house of Hagan, suddenly, and before the inmates had time to prepare for their reception. They found the room on the lower floor lighted up, and a man just in the act of striking a tune on the violin, while on benches straggled around the room, sat seven females and some eight or ten Sailors, apparently preparing to go to a dance. The keeper of the house came forth, and inquired of the object of the gentlemen in visiting his house. He was told that it was necessary that the females on his premises should be questioned, and that without his presence, and they were therefore requested to leave the premises. He refused to do so, and they did so, and without opposition from him. In answer to the question proposed, whether they wished to be liberated from duress, six of them unhesitatingly answered that they would do so, and the other two, who were the wife of some one attached to the house, and did not wish to leave. After ascertaining this fact from their own lips, they were informed that they were to be taken to the police station, and were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

It seems that these miserable beings had been employed by the same man, and that they would come to this city, they should be well treated and sent back again in a short period, but on their arrival, they were immediately taken to the police station, and were placed in a room, and were severely brought out and examined in the presence of the officers of the Guard, and the result was as follows:—A tale was unfolded of the most horrible character.

[From the Journal of Commerce.] LATER FROM EUROPE.

By the packet ship Virginia, Capt. Harris, we have London papers to Oct. 7th, and Liverpool to the 8th, both inclusive. The Charlemagne, from Havre, left that port Oct. 4.

The London money market has become much easier. Recruits for the Spanish service continued to depart from different parts of the United Kingdom. The accounts from Spain are more favorable to the duration of the Queen's authority. The Provincial Juntas seem generally to have been satisfied with the new appointments at Madrid. The new ministry was, however, not entirely completed.

Mr. O'Connell arrived at Dublin on Sept. 30, having been detained by adverse winds. The procession got up in his honor was much superior in splendor in consequence of this unexpected delay.

The Duke of Sussex has written a letter to Mr. Salomon, an Israelite, congratulating him on his election as one of the sheriffs of London, which the Duke pronounces a great triumph of civil and religious liberty, over silly prejudice.

N. P. Willis, Esq. of the U. S. was married Oct. 1st, to Miss Mary, daughter of Wm. Stace, Esq. of the royal arsenal, Woolwich.—Mr. and Mrs. W. immediately after the ceremony, set off for Paris.

The London Standard says that Earl Spencer (Lord Althorp) has been refused by Lord Melbourn to take office, but refused, alleging that he would have no connection with Mr. O'Connell.

The Morning Herald says that the Lord lieutenant, chief secretary, attorney general and prothonotary of Ireland, are filled by nominees by Mr. O'Connell.

The Vestal steamer was at Limerick on the 31st of Oct. having on board five commissioners appointed to survey the western coast of Ireland, and select a harbor suitable for a packet station to communicate with America.

The London Times announces that measures for the establishment of steam communication with India, are in progress with renewed activity. Agencies or depots are about to be formed at Alexandria, Cairo and Suez, and the operations on this part of the route are expected to be completed by the end of the present year. It is anticipated that when all the arrangements are complete, the whole journey from England to Bombay will be effected in 60 days during eight months of the year, and in 25 days during the monsoons. Shippers of machinery &c. for the rail-road across the desert, are going on with great rapidity. This portion of the road, eighty miles, is to be travelled in eight hours.

Back has been specially promoted to the rank of post captain, by an order in council, in consideration of his extraordinary services.

Great alarm appears to exist in the agricultural districts of England on account of incendiary fires, which are said to have even more frequent occurrence than in the end of the present year. Col. Fairman, the grand secretary of the Orange Lodges, has commenced actions for false imprisonment against the speaker of the House of commons, the sergeant-at-arms, and the sergeant-major.

Measures are in progress for the establishment of a telegraphic communication between London and Paris, and which tidings are to be conveyed in an hour and a half. There are to be nine stations between London and the English coast, and between the French coast and Paris. The undertaking is got up by those concerned in stocks.

The king and queen of Belgium arrived at the city of England at Windsor, the duke of Edinburgh at Windsor Castle, and the duke of Cambridge at St. James's Palace, on the 7th of October. No authentic intelligence has reached Bayonne from the seat of war in the northern provinces of France. The despatches of Gen. D'Almeida and Lord Evelyn, and Colonel Wylde, on the 25th ult. from Bilbao.

The report of a battle also in the neighborhood of Pavia, on the 27th ult., is not confirmed. It is not probable that anything of the sort could have taken place, the letters from Bilbao of the 22d ult., at so short a distance from the present seat of war, would not have been so late as they were.

THE CONGRESS OF SOVEREIGNS. TOPAZ, Sept. 23. The diplomatic corps has nearly completed its organization, and the Emperor of Austria is not expected until the 26th, and the Emperor of Russia on the 29th of this month. The Kings of Bavaria and Wurtemberg, and the Grand Duke of Baden, who were on the list of Royal invitants, have not yet arrived. The Emperor of Austria, the meeting of the Sovereigns will be of a shorter duration than at first anticipated, but it is probable that our monarch will be able to persuade the other Sovereigns to remain in Prague for a few days to Prague. The crowd of strangers arriving here increase from day to day.—The usual ceremony of inscribing their names on the visitors list, is still adhered to, and even the most distinguished observers are obliged to do so as private individuals. The Emperor and Empress of Austria were entered under the number 2,642 and 2,643. Several strangers have been invited to the necessity of seeking lodgings in the surrounding villages, as the apartments in the town are all taken.

PARIS, Oct. 5. In the churches of the metropolis yesterday, and in the chapels of the dissenters, the "Reformation" and its chief events, as narrated in the King of Holland. It is to the decisive result of this double proposal that the extreme fluctuations of the money market in Paris, during the last few weeks, are to be attributed. The speculators having several days before been in possession of correct information on the subject. Public confidence has been further confirmed by the proceedings of the councils-general in the various States, which have all been held in a satisfactory test of the general prosperity which prevails throughout the country.

GREECE. A letter from Toulon of the 26th ult. has with the following:—"The sloop Corone has arrived with important despatches from Admiral Marescaux de Clerval, touching the present posture of the war in Greece. At the instance of the King, several engagements had taken place between the insurgents of Romania and the Bavarian troops sent in pursuit of them. The latter were defeated, and the insurgents are rallying for ever." A letter from Salamis of the 7th ult., states that "the Bavarian troops and National Guard, sent to the island of Salamis, have raised the standard of revolt in the western provinces, have been beaten. Intense agitation exists in every quarter, and great irritation prevails against the Court of Athens. The people desire the King to abdicate, and to place in his stead, a Prince of the House of Bavaria, who would be their native land—therefore send us money very speedily."

Another letter from Salamis contains the following:—"Greece is in insurrection. Colette has quit on board the Nelson. He remained until the latest moment, in expectation of a revolution in Greece. He neglected to drain the marshes, and fevers prevailed; six thousand persons are sick. The diplomatic body has been overtaken by the Austrian Ambassador, who has concluded a separate treaty with the Government of Greece. The three powers, in return for the loan of 60 millions, desired the establishment of a foreign tribunal for their respective subjects who might commit offences in Greece. The Greek Government, by not rejecting the point, has insinuated himself into the good graces of the Greek Government. The annual expenses continue to exceed the revenue by six millions, and nothing is done."

MARRIED. In New York, on the 31st ult., by the Rev. Dr. Minor, Mr.

