

PEOPLE'S TICKET
FOR PRESIDENT,
William Henry Harrison.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
Francis Granger.
The bill introduced by Mr. CUTTING, to repeal the act of the Restraining Law as prohibitions the establishment of offices of discount and deposit, is defeated. Mr. WILKINSON's motion to strike out the enacting clause, prevailed by a vote of 63 to 36.

We deeply regret this result. The whole course of argument upon this bill has satisfied us that the public good would have been promoted by its passage. It was not opposed upon its merits. A cry was raised that it was aimed at the Safety Fund System, and this cry had the designed effect. Nor does the vote express the sentiments of the House. We know several Members whose convictions are decidedly favorable to the bill, but who were apprehensive that the public mind is not yet prepared for the change.

THE DEAF AND DUMB.—Within the memory of those who have only attained middle age, all of that class of our race which Providence, in its wisdom, had bereft of the faculties of speech and hearing, were left in their solitude without knowledge of the Author or the objects of their creation. But how changed is their present condition! The lights of instruction now penetrate the hitherto impenetrable intellect of the Deaf and Dumb. Their eyes now beam with an intelligence which gives animation to their countenance and imparts joy to their souls.

Several of the Pupils from the admirably conducted Institution at New-York, are now here, with their Principal, Mr. PEET, for the purpose of showing to the Legislature how eminently worthy it is of continued and liberal protection. Their exhibition at the Capitol was well attended and excited grateful admiration.

On Tuesday, Mr. PEET, with five of the mutes, visited our FEMALE ACADEMY, an account of which, written by one of the Pupils, politely communicated in the following Letter, will be read with interest:—

CITY HOTEL, April 20, 1836.
To the Editor of the Albany Evening Journal:
Yesterday morning, by invitation, I paid a visit to the Albany Female Academy, accompanied by five deaf mutes who are my Pupils. A full opportunity was afforded us to visit the different apartments, and witness the progress of instruction pursued in this excellent establishment. I have no recollection of ever being more delighted in seeing an object of curiosity, or any institution, than this, which does great credit to the liberality and intelligence of the people of this city, and reflects the highest praise upon the Principal and his associates.

On returning to our lodgings, one of the little girls wrote the following account, which she submitted, uncorrected, to your disposal:
Yours &c.
H. P. PEET.

An account of my visit to the Albany Female Academy—At 9 o'clock this morning, Mr. PEET went with five pupils, to the Albany Female Academy to visit it. After we arrived at it, we saw many rooms which were neat and orderly. We then came into a large chapel and seated ourselves. I thought that Mr. Alonzo Crittenton was about to explain some verses of the Bible to the young ladies who sat hearing him lecture. After he had done so, Mr. Robert McKee and the young ladies sang together to praise God for his goodness. After they had done so, Mr. PEET made a prayer, and then told them about the deaf and dumb. Then we put off our bonnets and cloaks, and came up to a state to exhibit them. Mr. PEET made signs to us to give our names and wrote on the slate to give a proof that they could understand and write to give a proof that they could understand to define some words and write compositions. I thought that the young ladies were much pleased to see all writing on the slate. After they had done writing, one boy came and stood and made signs, when Mr. PEET told them some words, and also told a story to them. I thought that some ladies perhaps understood him making signs. After we all had done so, we went about the apartments to see them for some minutes. We were much pleased to see the different classes, who were neat and nice. They conduct themselves as polite ladies. They appear happy and cheerful. Then we came down and Mr. Crittenton showed philosophical apparatus to us. Then we came and saw some painting and drawing which were very beautiful. The young ladies talked with us by writing with pleasure. So we were much pleased to converse with them by writing and spelling. I thought that they were desirous of seeing us writing and spelling before we came to the Albany Female Academy. Now it made them happy to see us writing this morning. I hope that they have been much pleased to see our exhibition. After we all had visited it we took leave of them and returned to the City-Hotel. We all are under much obligation to Mr. Crittenton, for his kind attentions. I have never seen the Albany Female Academy before—Now I am happy because I have seen it.

There is to be a public meeting in New-York in favor of a repeal of the Restraining Law. The call is signed by STEPHEN ALEXIS, SAUL ALLEY, ISAAC L. VARIAN, &c. &c. Let them come with all spirit, and the object may be accomplished. Mr. CUTTING's bill is defeated, but Col. Young's now pending in the Senate, may yet pass.

FIVE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.
By the packet SHELF, Capt. Allen, we have received London papers to March 8, and Liverpool to the 9th, both inclusive.

The President's Message to Congress, announcing the acceptance of the Mediation, had been received from France and England, and was considered as removing every possibility of a rupture.

The following is extracted from Galvani's Messenger of March 4th:
We have just received the important official intelligence of the acceptance of the mediation of England in the question at issue between this country and the U. States, brought by the French minister to London on the 10th of February. This important news, though generally expected from the tenor of the various private letters received by the previous arrival, will be hailed with general satisfaction, as putting an end to the anxieties which must necessarily have prevailed while a doubt remained on a subject involving such immense political and commercial interests.

One of the best attended public meetings which we recollect to have witnessed in New Orleans, was held last evening at Banks' Arcade to encourage, sympathize with, and support the Texians in their present struggles for liberty and national independence. William Christy, Esq. was called to the chair; and Messrs. Samuel Ellis and Henry P. Leonard were appointed secretaries.

The meeting was addressed by Messrs. Christy, Randall Hunt, Lavine of South Carolina, O. P. Jackson and O. de Santago; after which a preamble and resolution were adopted expressive of the sympathetic and generous feeling of the thousands assembled.

The sch'r. Florida, from Matagorda, brings the following intelligence:
The schooner Pelicano, Capt. Perez, which was cleared at this port on the 25th February by James and Zachary, with a cargo consisting of 200 barrels of flour, was captured by the Texian armed schooner Liberty, commanded by Lieut. Forsyth, while making her way to the coast, on the 10th of February. The cargo, however, was saved. In landing the flour, some of the barrels were stolen, and upon examination they were found to contain each three kegs of powder, intended to be shipped for the Mexican army.—N. O. Letter.

We give below an account of a friend, an officer high in command in the Texian service. The republic of Texas is now in a state of great excitement on account of the capture of San Antonio by the Mexicans.
MATAGORDA, March 12.
My Dear Sir—An express arrived here last night, bringing intelligence of the capture of the Mexican army, 1200 strong, in four successive assaults upon San Antonio. De Bexar, by the garrison consisting of 180 Texians only, who had been under the command of the late Gen. Crockett. It was a most glorious and decisive victory. We require all the assistance we can possibly procure, for now is the critical juncture of our fate. Will you aid our cause.

LATE FROM THE SOUTH.
By the steam boat W. Gibbons, we have Charleston papers to Saturday evening last. They bring the news of a fire broken out in the Palace in Madrid on the 24th ult., but it did not do any other damage than destroying 2000lbs. of wax. Some trifling advantages are claimed for the north of Spain, but they rest on slight authority.

will long remember the terrible fight of Bear, and the voice of fame, when she proclaims in future time, the names of the illustrious who shed in glory's arms, will not omit the heroes of the Alamo.

Col. Fannin with 800 men, was at La Bahia, and felt confident that in case of an attack, he could make a successful resistance. Gen. Houston with 1000 men, with a force of 2500 men, were at San Antonio, with a force of 2500 men. We should have stated above, that Mrs. Dickinson fell into the hands of the Mexicans, and in company with the servant above mentioned, was carried to the city of Santa Ana, ordered the bodies of the slain to be thrown in a pile and burned, as stated in the former account.
