Remembering the life of Wes Burnett

Walker Burnett, publisher of the Rockwall County News and whose career spanned more than 50 years, went to be with the Lord on March 28, 2013, following a sudden illness.

Born Jan. 19, 1941, in Bonham, Texas, he grew up in South Texas and his passion for journalism through two years of service to a high school newspaper, The Screaming Eagle, at Brownsville High School.

Following graduation, he moved to Dallas to attend Texas A&M University where he majored in journalism. He was an Air Force cadet in the Air Force for two years.

was time for them to strike out on their own.

In 1982, the family moved to Post, Texas, just south of Lubbock, to take over the operation of The Post Dispatch newspaper. There, they put down deep roots, making Post their home for more than a quarter of a century.

"I told him I gave him the first half of our marriage. He gave me the last half. He gave me 26 years in Post," Pat said.

The Dispatch was a strong community paper when the Burnetts took it over and Wes worked to make sure to continue that tradition.

While in Post, Wes not only nurtured the community newspaper, but developed an interest in the community's Garza Theatre, where he acted in several plays.

"He loved it," Pat said. "We had lots of fun there. And he made a lot of good friends there."

The Burnetts remained in Post until 2008, when Wes decided he wanted to experience the challenge of operating a newspaper in a larger market. The couple purchased the Rockwall County News in Rockwall and quickly assembled a staff that would help make the paper successful.

"I recognized Wes as being a very, very good teacher and a person who had the ability to remain calm, even in adversity," said Mike Moore, an advertising representative for the Rockwall County News. "He had a God-given gift to be patient - a calming presence. I really respected him for that."

"Wes was always smiling whenever I walked into the office," said Susan Allen, who also serves as an advertising representative for the paper. "I am not a technical person, so Wes handled all of my computer issues, whether it was sizing ads or resetting the borders on my screen. He was always helping me and smiling. It's that smile I'll miss. It was hard to stay in a funk with Wes smiling at me."

Tom Richmond is relatively new to the RCN, but the advertising representative already had developed a deep respect for the publisher. "What impressed me about Wes was his openness and trust," Richmond said. "Even though our contact was brief, I sensed working with Wes at the paper was going to be an uplifting experience."

"Wes Burnett was one of the finest men I have ever known," said Millie Jean Coppedge, a RCN reporter. "I learned from him the true meaning of having pride in all I do, say and write. Wes had devoted his life to honesty, loyalty and being the best he could be. My grandfather always told me that one's handshake was a sign of one's character. ... Wes not only had a strong, compassionate handshake, but I never met him or departed from him without receiving a meaningful hug."

Wes remained active in the newspaper business until his final days. During his lifetime, Wes was an active member of the Presbyterian church and enjoyed several hobbies. In his early days, he collected and worked on Kaiser and Studebaker cars. He was a history buff and always enjoyed taking time off from work to take his bride to see the new releases at the theater. He also was an active genealogist, working to track and record family histories, and always had great stories to share with his granddaughters.

"Family was very important to him," Pat said. Throughout his years in the newspaper business, family always was involved in putting out the news product. Pat helped out whenever and wherever she could, proofreading and writing Memory Lane columns, and the Burnett children often came in to help insert advertising pieces or deliver the paper.

"When the boys would deliver in New Iberia, Kim wanted to help, but she was so little," Pat said. "So we fixed her a bag and put six or seven papers in it. She delivered them on her tricycle."

Wes's son, Tim, also worked closely with his father at the papers in Post and Rockwall. Today, Tim continues to oversee operations at the Rockwall County News.

"He loved writing," Kimberly Dolberry said of her father. "When he sold advertising, he was one of the best. He was a salesman, he did photography, he did darkroom work, but he loved writing."

Tim noted that his father was a journalist who saw the industry transition through many changes. "He started in the industry at the time when they were still doing hot type (typesetting)," Tim said. "Then the industry moved on to wax-and-paper paste-ups before switching over to on-screen layouts made possible through computer technology. He witnessed the newspaper industry undergo a lot of growing pains."

Wes also seemed to have an uncanny ability to anticipate upcoming changes within the newspaper industry. He adopted multimedia journalism even before the newspaper industry began its convergence to online publications. While in Post, he used local cable access to deliver live broadcasts of Post Antelope football games and rebroadcasts of games and local government meetings.

"In a way, he was pioneering something that many other small communities weren't doing at the time," Pat said. "He was always looking ahead."

Wes's passion for the business, though, was firmly rooted in community journalism. What was important to him, his family agreed, was keeping people informed and keeping the government honest.

"He was always proud of his opinion page," Pat said.

It also was important to Wes to be a good member of the community. When other newspapers began charging to publish obituaries, weddings and engagements, Wes refused to follow the trend, saying such items were the meat-and-potatoes of a community newspaper. He also was generous in handing out his newspapers, giving away stacks of them to proud grandparents or grieving family members who wanted extra papers that contained stories about their loved ones.

"That's just the way he was," Tim said. "He had a lot of love in his heart. People would come in for newspapers, but sometimes they got more than that. He would listen to people, let them cry on his shoulder and pray with them."

"He loved his family, his children and his grandchildren," Pat said, "but he also loved the people who worked with him. He was very giving, very caring, very community-minded."

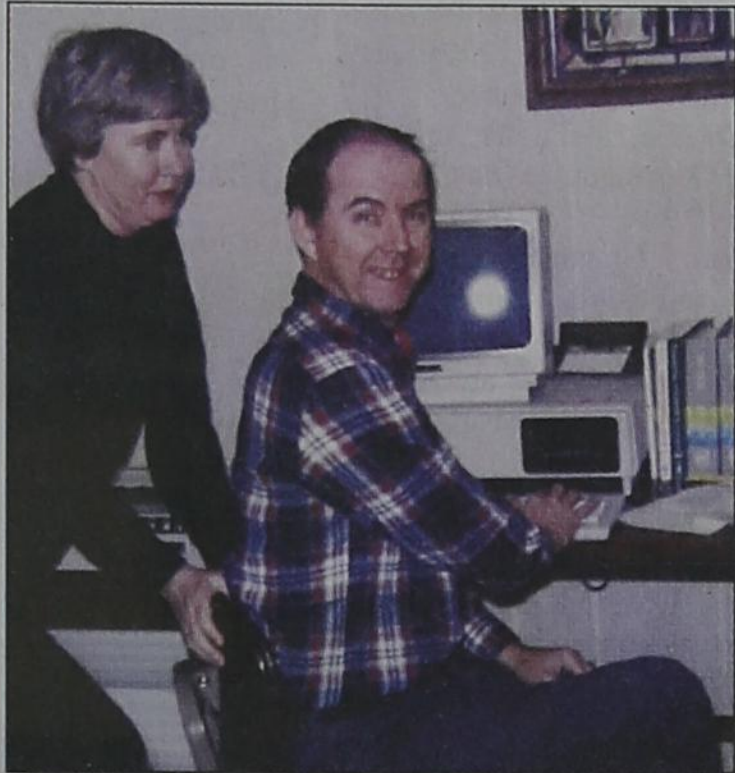

"Wes was an investor. He invested in people - whether it was a family member, an employee, a customer or a member of the community," said Sheri Lewis of Lubbock, who had worked with him since 1996. "Wes always had the best interests of the community in mind, of course, but he also was the ultimate cheerleader. He always had encouragement and a smile to deliver, and people like that are rare. I'm so very, very glad our paths crossed and I could count him as a friend."

A memorial service for Wesley Walker Burnett was conducted at 11 a.m. March 30, 2013, in the First Presbyterian Church in Rockwall with the Rev. Cheryl Taylor officiating.

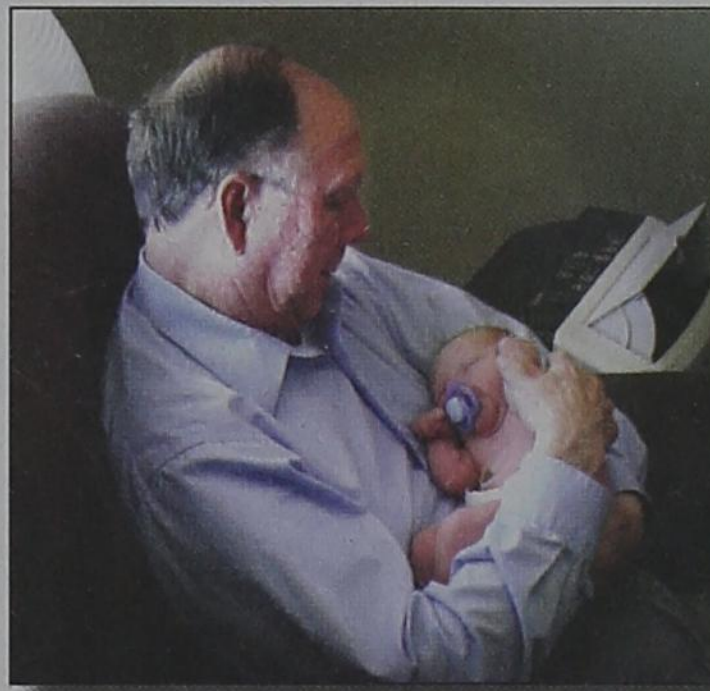

A second service was conducted at 2 p.m. April 6 in the Combest Funeral Home Chapel in Lubbock with the Rev. J.M. Miles of Fort Stockton, Texas, a longtime family friend, officiating.

Wes is survived by his wife, Pat Burnett of Rockwall; his sons, Timothy Walker Burnett of Rockwall and James Wesley Burnett and his wife, Gail, of Austin; his daughter, Kimberly Joy Dolberry, and her husband, Allen, of Mesa, Ariz.; his brothers, Jerry Burnett of Ladonia and Roy Burnett of The Colony; his sister, Beverly Bolton, and her husband, Ron, of Wichita, Kansas; his grandchildren, Alyssa Hopper, and her husband, Michael, of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Cailee Hope Dolberry, Whitney Faith Dolberry and Lindsey Noel Dolberry, all of Mesa; and a great-grandson, Anighus Pierce Hopper.

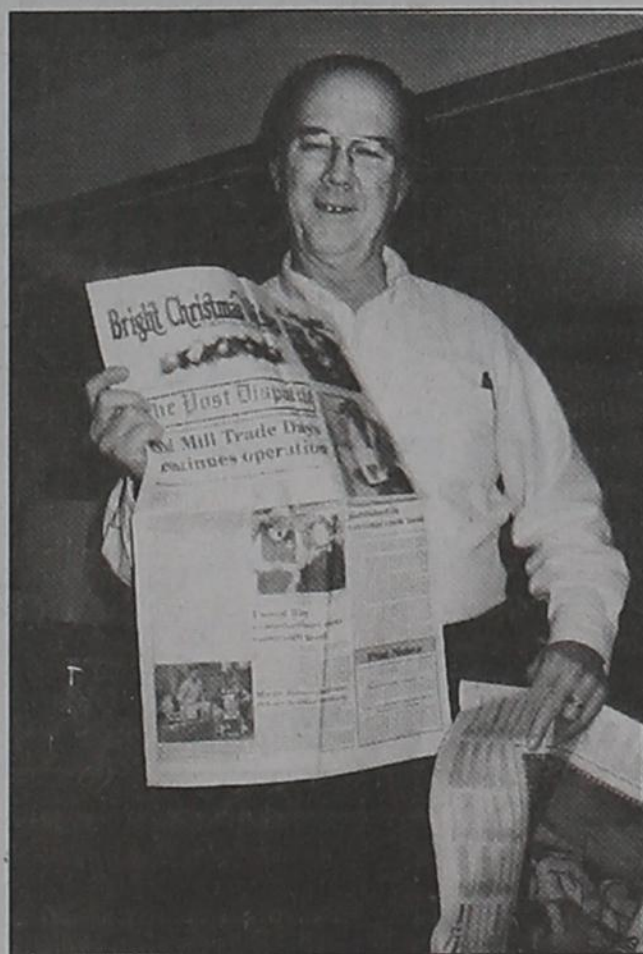

He was preceded in death by his parents and grandparents. Memorial contributions may be made in his name to the First Presbyterian Church at P.O. ## Meek and lowly in heart ... learning Living life is essential to true learning. This applies not only to everyday life experiences, but also to learning about spiritual life in Jesus Christ.

Jesus understood this perfectly as seen in Matthew 11:29, "Come unto me all that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and you shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

The word "learn" was translated from the ancient Greek word manthano which meant to learn or be appraised. The Greek word was also used in the Septuagint reference to a taking or capture (see also Greek-English Lexicon Strong's number 3129).

Learning is different from being educated or instructed. It involves laying hold of, or capturing the knowledge, toward application.

Manthano is also used in different parts of the Epistles.

Colossians chapter one includes the following in verses 3-7, "We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you, since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which you have to all the saints, for the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof you heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel; which is come unto you, as it is in all the world; and brings forth fruit, as it does also in you, since the day you heard of it, and knew the grace of God in truth: as you also learned of Epaphras our dear fellowservant, who is for you a faithful minister of Christ; who also declared unto us your love in the spirit."

Notice the details such as faith in Christ Jesus, love to all the saints, hope which is laid up in heaven, bringing forth fruit, knowledge of the grace of God in truth; all of which was as they learned of Epaphras.

Each of the above details are detailed in other parts of the Epistles.

Galatians 5:22-25 reveals the fruit of the spirit which are love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance. It does not say that the fruit is brought forth by being educated, instead it says, "If we live in the spirit, let us also walk in the spirit."

In 1 Corinthians 4:6 Paul said, "And these things, brethren, I have in a figure transferred to myself and to Apollos for your sakes; that you might learn in us not to think above that which is written, that no one puffed up for one against another." Paul was teaching them to the example seen in Apollos and himself.

Paul's letter to Titus included, "And let ours also learn to do good works for necessary uses, that they be not unfruitful," is fulfilled in practice and use, and results in either fruitful or lives in the spirit.

Philippians 4:9-13 sums it up beautifully, "Those things which you have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do the same things, and the peace of God shall be with you."

Verse 11, Not that I speak in respect of want: for I know how to be abased, and I know how to be full: in whatsoever state I am, to be content. I know both how to be abased, and I know how to be full: every where and in all things I am instructed to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need. I can do all things through Christ Jesus which strengthens me" (verses 11-13).

Talking about our Lord Jesus Christ, Paul said, "Who in the flesh, when he had offered up prayers and supplications with crying and tears unto Him that was able to save him from death, was heard in that he revered. Though he were a son, yet he learned obedience by the things which he suffered" (Hebrews 5:7-8).

Returning to Jesus' words in Matthew 11:29, "Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart."

Heritage Christian Academy softball, baseball teams fall

Heritage Christian Academy's softball team lost a close game Saturday. The HCA baseball team wasn't anywhere near as close in Monday's game. The Lady Eagles fell 10-9 to Crowley Nazarene Christian Academy. The boys' team had just five hits to eight for Nazarene – including a home run, triple and double.
The Heritage boys lost 12-0 to Tyler East Texas Christian Academy at the Rockwall Indoor Sports Expo. ETCA, the district leader at 4-0, pummeled the Eagles. The Tyler team wrapped up its run-rule victory in the fifth inning when seven runs turned a 5-0 game into 12-0.

ISD Roundup: RHS clinches playoff berth, Lady Hawks close

Rockwall-Heath continued to be the front-runners in District 12-5A. Tuesday's game against Mesquite Horn 8-0 in the district playoffs ahead of the Lady Hawks (6-2 in the district, 14-8 overall) with four to play. The Lady Jackets were 12-5A's only team that clinched a playoff berth.

Lady Hawks' victory was a 16-3 triumph over Longview Saturday at RHS. The game field Monday, RHHS rallied from a 2-0 deficit to defeat Tyler in the final nine innings against Sarah Stewart, who won her 12th career win. The game, postponed from Friday, was moved to RHS' home field as the Lady Hawks' home field was wet from being watered over the weekend.

Rockwall-Heath scored its first run on doubles by Lauren Archuleta and Ally Brandvold in the fourth inning, and tied the game in the fifth on singles by Veber and Ally Brandvold. The game was tied in the bottom of the 10th, Archuleta singled, stole second and scored home with the winning run on Tunnell's infield hit.

Lady Jackets had a much easier time against Longview. They defeated pitching pitcher Emily Cowan, who pitched a four-hitter, with 15 strikeouts. The game was a triple by Kindal Sauter and doubles by Hayley Baker in the fourth.

INDIAN FIELD: RHS placed fourth and Rockwall-Heath tied for 15th among 15 teams in the Rockin' R Relays at Wilkerson-Sanders Stadium. RHS placed second in the 800-meter run in 1:56.9 seconds; Jonny Lee in the pole vault at 13 feet, 6 inches, and in the long jump at 21-0 1/2.

Rockwall-Heath placed second in the high jump (6-4). The girls' team placed fourth in the triple jump (41-5 1/2). Will Herrscher tied Kinsey in the pole vault. The boys' team placed first in the pole vault at 11 feet. She also ran the third leg on the third-place 4X400-meter relay team with Maiya Collins, Jordyn Pettigrew and Emily Drewery in 4:08.79. Collins finished fourth in the 800 in 2:27.66.

GOLF: Rockwall and Rockwall-Heath finished 1-2 in the District 12-5A Championships Monday and Tuesday in Canton. Both will advance, along with third-place Tyler Lee, to next week's Region II-5A Championships.

RHS' Dylan Yarbrough placed second among individuals with 153 for 36 holes, three shots off the lead.

SOCCER: Neither Rockwall team could find its offense Friday night in an Area round doubleheader at Allen Eagle Stadium.

As a result, both District 12-5A champions were eliminated from the playoffs. The Lady Jackets fell to host Allen 1-0, and the boys lost 2-0 to Jesuit College Prep of Dallas.

Boys' head coach Troy Williams said, "I don't think we've seen a team as fast as this one. Against them, you don't have time to get the ball and tee it up for a kick."

The Rangers scored 6 minutes into the game. Rockwall goalie K.C. Nkalari stopped one penalty kick, but couldn't stop Jesuit's second PK chance in the second half. RHS finished 2-4. Williams said, "We don't see it right now, but we'll be able to look back and see how well we did."

The Allen girls controlled the ball for almost the entire second half but didn't score until the 64th minute. The Lady Eagles were down one player after they received a red card, but that was just for the final 2 minutes and the Lady Jackets couldn't take advantage.

Rockwall took three major awards in All-District voting. Niki McKnight was the Defensive Most Valuable Player, Miranda Larkin the Goalkeeper of the Year and head coach Melissa Garcia the Coach of the Year.

Joining them on the All-District first team were four-year varsity players Berkley Talley and Maddie Bertrand, along with Kendyl Pirkey and Sarah Salom. The second team included RHS' Katilin Ross, Bailey Wooten, Makaela de Laura and Avery Talley. RHS' Honorable Mentions were Nicole Myers, Lauren Garrison and Haley Gates.

Garcia said, "The season was a very successful one. The team won its third district championship in as many years. The loss at Allen was very disappointing, but everything is a learning experience. Berkley, Maddie and Miranda were the only three to play on varsity for 4 years. The remaining seniors made a great contribution! With a large graduating class such as this, their departure will be felt, but the JV program has been successful in producing very productive and successful players."

The All-District girls' team also includes eight Rockwall-Heath players. Taryn Wheeler and Bailey Bacon were voted to the first team. On the second team are Jayden Wheeler, Ashton Hierholzer and her sister, Bailey Hierholzer. Receiving Honorable Mention were Amber Logue, Lindsay Gardner and Megan Cook.

ALUMNI: Four of Rockwall's seven professional baseball players opened their season last week. Three 2012 draft picks out of high school - RHS catcher Steve Bean (St. Louis Cardinals organization) and shortstop Spencer Edwards (Tampa Bay Rays), and RHHS pitcher Jake Thompson (Detroit Tigers) are in extended spring training, and will likely be playing for short-season minor league teams beginning in June.

Outfielder Roger Kieschnick (Rockwall '05) started quickly in his second season at Triple-A Fresno in the World Series champion San Francisco

Bow Wow Meow Bingo raises funds for animal shelter

The first Wednesday night of each month is a special night at The Well Coffee Lounge in downtown Roysce City. It's bingo night.

All ages start arriving early to get a good seat. Several people commented that the place was full every bingo night. Many come a little early to eat before the games begin.

There is definitely no age limit as players Wednesday night ranged from about 4 years old to one excited patron in her 80s.

The bingo cards cost $5 each and 100 percent of the money collected goes to the assist the Roysce City Animal Shelter with daily operational expenses such as feed for the animals and medical expenses.

A list of things the Roysce City Animal Shelter needs is placed on each table to enlighten those in attendance of some of the needs of the shelter. At the top of the list is dog treats, leashes, collars, dog food (Purina, Iams or Beneful) and dog crates. The list also includes dog toys (no cloth), cat food (Purina or Whiskas), cat treats, toys and collars, laundry detergent, trash bags and some office supplies.

The shelter located at 1101 N. Josephine St. is run by appointment only. Anyone wishing to volunteer or needing more information regarding the shelter may email Kellye Robertson, Roysce City's Animal Control Coordinator, at kellyerobertson@hotmail.com.
