Brother Shot Brother, at Vernon Sunday Evening

James G. Hall Died Monday From Gun Shot Wound, Inflicted by Younger Bro.

The Fort Worth Star Telegram brought the information here Monday morning that Jim Hall, a well known Vernon boy was shot and dangerously wounded by his younger brother Houston, in that city Sunday evening. Later news was to the effect, that the elder Hall died Monday morning about four o'clock and was buried that evening.

Jim, as he was familiarly to the people of this county, was a young widower about thirty years of age, with two small children. He was reared to manhood in Vernon, and served the citizenship of this county two years as tax-collector. Besides his two children, a widowed mother, three sisters, and four brothers survive him.

The Reporter at this time has been unable to learn full details of the trouble that existed between the two brothers, but confirmed reports have been brought here from Vernon, that Jim had been under the influence of liquor several days, and had given his brother no little amount of trouble during the time.

Houston, who was some two or three years younger than the brother whom he killed gave himself up to the officers, soon after the shooting and was released on bond.

J. A. Scott and wife of Memphis are visiting their son L. L. Scott. These good people formerly lived in Jackson Springs neighborhood, but moved away about twelve years ago. They are charter members of the First Baptist Church of this city organized in 1889. He is an old friend of the writer, and it was a great pleasure to meet him and good wife once more. Their talk at prayer meeting last night was inspiring and uplifting and done us all lots of good.

Says He Found Fifty Potatoes Under 1 Vine

A. C. Flowers Tells Us About Remarkable Growth of Potatoes He Raised

A. C. Flowers, one of the Odell community's well known farmers was a caller at the Reporter office last Saturday and related to us for publication a big sweet potato story.

Mr. Flowers is cultivating one of the T. H. Holloway farms and resides at the old home place where Mr. and Mrs. Holloway lived when they came to this county.

Near the farm house is a little sub-irrigated patch, which farmer Flowers has used this year for his garden. There he set out his sweet potatoes and while digging them the other day discovered that some of the plants had made a very prolific yield. Under one hill in particular, he tells us, there were fifty potatoes. Some large ones and some small ones—but all of them potatoes and not roots.

The Reporter editor does not doubt in the least the truthfulness of Mr. Flowers' assertion regarding the potatoes. Because the pencil power of this paper knows that a little plot of Wilbarger dirt will do wonders, when given the proper moisture. But farmer Flowers suggested that we tell the readers of this paper that another party helped him dig the potatoes and that they made a careful count of them after they were dug. Furthermore he would like to hear of the man in this community or anywhere else, who has unearthed more potatoes under one hill than he has.

Card of Thanks

To our neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during the sickness of our son, we take this method of thanking each and every one of you and pray that God's richest blessings may rest with you all.

Dray Line Here to Change Hands 1st. of November

J. M. Fulmer to Turn Business Over to John Taylor, of The City

In a deal that was closed last week between J. M. Fulmer and John Taylor of this city, the latter became the owner of Mr. Fulmer's dray business and residence property in Odell.

We understand Mr. Taylor is to take charge of the dray line sometime after the first of next month and with the assistance of Down Nave, who is employed with the dray, will continue the business along the same line.

Mr. Fulmer has been connected with the business here some time and has many friends in Odell who regret to learn of his intention of leaving a good town.

Just where he will go from here he has not yet fully decided, but will probably locate on a farm in Oklahoma.

Clyde Kimes, a young man employed at the Odell Gin, slipped away from here Sunday evening for Corsicana and returned Wednesday with a pretty bride. His wife was Miss Allyn Sheets before her marriage. The newly wedded couple we understand have engaged rooms at Mrs. Belle Holloway's and will make this city their home this winter.

Rain This Week

As the Reporter stated one time before, it seems that the weather man determined early in the year, not to let the ground in this part of the State, get into a dry condition, while 1915 reigned.

Monday night a good rain fell and moistened the earth after a short dry interval. This rain checked the gathering of corn and cotton crop a day or two, but the farmers are again in the fields, and both corn and cotton are being hauled into town.

Buy Residence in Odell

The J. M. Fulmer residence, located in the south west part of Odell, which he traded to John Taylor the first of last week, changed hands again on Friday following. The last deal was made through the Square Deal Realty Company of this city, a new real estate firm just organized with R. N. Coffey and J. B. Ross as members. Mrs. J. E. Motley, a widow lady of Omaha Texas, bought the property and we understand it is her intention to move here and make this place her home.

A Nice Supper

The supper served by the Ladies Aid Society last Saturday evening, was indeed a rare treat.

Two long tables were arranged in the Judge Hart building on main street, and they were loaded down with something of most everything good to eat.

The ladies were busy for two hours or more waiting on their customers and we have been informed the net proceeds of the supper amounted to twenty-eight dollars after all expenses were paid.

Prof. Eldridge, the new principal for the Odell school came in this week from northern Kansas and is now making preparations for the opening of school the 25th of this month. His family will arrive here from Kansas in a few days.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

C. E. Schaff
On Railway Investments

President Wilson recently referring to our railroad problems said in part: "They are indispensable to our whole economic life and railway securities are at the very heart of most investments, large and small, public and private, by individuals and by institutions."

There is no other interest so central to the business welfare of the country, as this. No doubt, in the light of the new day, with its new understandings, the problem of the railroads will also be met and dealt with in a spirit of candor and justice.

When the first citizen of the land stresses the importance of understanding and dealing justly with the railroads, certainly the American plowmen can venture upon a careful study of the problem. C. E. Schaff, president of the M. K. & T. railway company, when asked to outline the relation of the public to railroad investments, said in part:

"It may be said that the railroad world is encumbered with a lot of phantoms which exist only in the popular fancy. For instance, because there have been a few so-called 'railroad magnates' whose names have figured prominently in finance, many people have come to believe that the railroads of the country are largely owned by a few rich men. As a matter of fact nothing could be further from the truth. Out of the colossal sum of twenty billion dollars of American railroad securities, less than five per cent is now, or ever has been, in the hands of these men who have figured prominently in the newspaper headlines—while the other 95 per cent is in the hands of over two million investors, large and small, who in many instances have put the modest savings of a life time into these securities in order that they might lay away a competency for old age. When, therefore, the value of these securities is depressed or perchance destroyed, the hardship is a hundred-fold greater upon thousands of every-day citizens, than upon the handful of millionaires, good or bad, who have figured prominently in railroad circles.

Hundreds of millions of dollars of the assets of our great life and fire insurance companies, savings banks, trust companies, educational and fiduciary institutions are invested in railroad bonds—and the moment, therefore, that the soundness of these bonds is called into question the financial solidity of these myriad institutions—directly effecting the welfare of millions of policyholders and bank depositors—is gravely menaced. During the last several years, many millions of dollars representing depreciated values, have been charged off the books of concerns like those enumerated above. American railroads have become a vital part of the very woof and fabric of the nation. Their continued efficiency is absolutely essential to the smallest community in the land.

In blindly striking at the railroads our blows fall not merely upon thousands who have committed no wrong, but, in the last analysis, upon ourselves. We should remember how interdependent we have come to be in this mighty republic of ours—that each is in truth becoming more and more his brother's keeper, and that we need to act and think circumspectly, lest in our mistaken zeal we destroy those who, like ourselves, need whatever of this world's goods the toll and sweat of years has bequeathed to them."

him hard hit, and he at one time left his present in a Chicago jewelry store to float a $4000 loan. To regain possession of the trophy, cost him $5,300. The belt is said to be made up of 350 diamonds and contains four pounds of gold.

Winter time is coming and where will I do my fall trading, is one of the questions that is uppermost in the mind of lots of the people now. Odell stores are now all stocked with a heavy line of merchandise and the people of this community would do well to investigate the goods and prices before consulting some mail order catalogue. Mail order houses are slick advertisers and know how to catch a customer with shoddy stuff. We do not mean to say they do not carry a nice line of goods in stock—but you always pay for them when you get them. Trade at home where you can see what you are buying and not the picture.

The police department of Chicago, "the windy city," report less arrests were made in that city Sunday than any day the department can recall in its history. The policemen say the few "pinches" were due to the City Mayor's proclamation ordering all saloons to be closed on Sunday. Out of 7,152 saloons in Chicago only 28 were found to have violated the closing order. Sixteen arrests were made Sunday for drunkenness, compared to 47 on Saturday when the booze house doors were open. The facts of this case is a strong argument for the "Drys" to make, who say, a curtailment of the sale of liquors will prohibit crime when enforced.

Rent Contracts

In making rent contracts for next year land owners and tenants should remember that the soil must have just consideration if the crops next year and the years that follow are to be profitable. Since both parties are dependant upon the land for whatever revenue each is to derive from the transaction, it would be good business for each to do his part in practicing a safe, rational and intelligent system of cropping, with a view of increasing the yield.

The system in the past has considered only the interest of the tenant and the land owner for one year. This has left the land poorer and caused the tenant to move on, seeking richer land and a better contract.

No tenant can be blamed for refusing to stay on a farm that has been run down in fertility and in buildings till the land does not yield profitable crops and when the buildings do not afford shelter and protection for the family, teams and implements. If each tenant could be assured that, so long as he will stay and help improve the soil, the contract would be renewed and made to compensate him a larger crop and better buildings doubtless there would be longer contracts.

The interest of land owner and tenant are mutual. The soil is a source of wealth for both. When one prospers the other prospers in a proportionate manner. The rent contract is a partnership for two parties, the land owner and the tenant; each has his part of the contract to fulfill; both will prosper in proportion to the manner in which each does his duty.

After Four Years of Discouraging
Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave
Up in Despair. Husband
Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women in its 30 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him.
