HUSBAND RESCUED
DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.
The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.
At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."
If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Plant More Hogs

Uncle Sam Advises Texas Farm Boys.

The Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture has just issued a communication to the farmer boys of Texas between the ages of 10 and 18 years, urging them to plant more hogs. The Texas farmer lost $21,000,000 last year because he failed to produce enough pork to supply the local demand and the communication advises his sons to raise enough hogs for home consumption, and if possible, a surplus for the market. Some of the points which the Department advises the youthful hog raiser to bear in mind are:

1. The feeding and care are as important as the breeding in producing a good hog. Plenty of feed and good care will make a good hog out of a runt, but lack of it will always make a runt out of a good pig.

2. To make pork cheaply a permanent pasture and forage crops must be used.

3. Young pigs must have a dry fed and plenty of sunshine.

4. Begin feeding the pig as soon as he will eat, and keep him growing until he is mature.

5. Always keep plenty of clean, fresh water where the hogs may drink at any time.

6. Quarantine all newly purchased animals for three weeks.

7. Never keep a female for a brood sow, no matter how well bred she may be, if she will not produce more than four strong pigs at a litter.

8. The more milk a sow will give the faster her pigs will grow.

The latest census reports which relate to January 1st, 1914 show there are 2,618,000 hogs in Texas with a total value of $22,515,000. This is an increase over the previous year of 125,000 head and $1,574,000 in value. At every census during the five years prior to 1914 a steady decrease in the number of Texas hogs is shown. The values, however, have steadily increased. A decade ago the Texas hog was worth $1.68 per head, but Uncle Sam's latest valuation is $8.60 per head.

The growing demand for young Texas raised pork has become so strong that he is going to market a year earlier and at the weight of 219 pounds, while a quarter of a century ago the average marketing weight was 275 pounds.

INEXPENSIVE FARM HOME.

Department of Agriculture Furnishes Free Plans.

The farm house is the most important building on the farm, and money judiciously expended in its planning and construction is well invested. The United States Department of Agriculture, through its Bureau of Farm Management, has been investigating conditions in the rural districts and in many instances found that the living apartments were inconsistent in cost with the value of the farm, and very often in striking contrast with out-buildings and farm machinery.

The Department of Agriculture is not only striving to make the business of farming more remunerative, but is also endeavoring to make farm life more attractive. A series of plans for the construction of farm homes has been prepared. In designing these homes, service, economy and attractiveness have been combined in a frame structure which can be built for $800 in a community where average prices for material and labor prevail.

The specifications call for a simple four-cornered structure. There is but one chimney and one outside entrance. Another door may be provided by sacrifice of wall and floor space or by increasing the size and cost of the house.

The government experts in planning these homes realized that the comfort and convenience of the farm woman was paramount. They drew their plans accordingly. The kitchen is the most pleasantly located room in the structure. It opens on a screened porch where a large part of the work may be done in the summer.

The water problem has also been carefully considered. Cistern water may be drawn from a bucket pump in the back porch or from a pitcher pump in the sink. Hot water is provided by a reservoir connected with the kitchen stove. The sink with only a drain pipe to be provided, has been found too expensive to be omitted.

The living and dining room is combined and affords sufficient space for the longest table the harvest days will ever require. It has two routes to the kitchen which are convenient for serving a large number of workmen. The Bureau of Farm Management is trying to help the farmer and will gladly furnish free plans to farmers contemplating building homes.

Thinks Mr. Ne- gro, Been Here Long Enough

White Crowd Appeared at Negro Home and Left
Them Orders to
"Hike"

The colored race from down east has been a great help to the farmers of this western country in assisting them to gather their cotton crop this year. So valuable has been their service along, the Reporter is of the opinion, that had not Mr. Negro been persuaded to come west and helped to gather the fleecy staple; hundreds of acres of cotton in the country would have been unpicked at this hour.

The biggest portion of the cotton is now gathered and the negro should be given credit for two things. He has helped the farmer to save several hundred bales of cotton that would have otherwise probably wasted. And has served in a way toward holding the price of cotton picking down to reasonably low wages. For no doubt had not the negro showed up in the country this fall, with the scarcity of white labor here, cotton picking would have gone to over a dollar a hundred.

But with all this, there seems to be some few people in the country, who think Mr. Negro has been in the neighborhood long enough and wants him to get his banjo and dice together and "hike." On Monday night of this week, it is reported some seven or eight parties appeared at the home of a bunch of negroes who had been picking cotton for W. B. Bucy, and ordered them to be gone by sun down the next day. The negroes left. Some of them were gone at sun-up the next morning. The remainder left that evening.

We do not know who were in the white crowd, nor do we know what induced them to order the negroes to leave so suddenly. But we do know as long as a negro stays in a negro's place, he ought to be treated respectfully.

A large number of the Masonic members, whose membership is with the lodge at this place enjoyed a banquet at the Owl Cafe Saturday evening.

Mr. Charles, Ross
Odell Texas,

Dear friend;

I received your letter of last week, we are all well and getting along all right. I am getting along fine in the office, but they are keeping me very busy these days. Of course I want the paper. I want to hear from my friends up there and I want to encourage you in running your paper to. I hope you and all of the people up there will have a prosperous year, and I believe you will for that is one of the best countries in the world and some of the best people in the world live in it.

I often think of you people up there. I am sending you a check for the paper. We are having some fine weather now. I want to plant corn next week. It should have been planted before now. But we have had so much wet weather that we got behind, so will be a little late this year; have a very nice garden, will soon have strawberries come down and I will give you strawberries to eat. With best regards to all and wishing every body a prosperous year.

I am your friend,

W. M. Stalcup.
