"LIVING ON VELVET" WITH KAY FRANCIS BOOKED BY PLAZA

"Living on Velvet" a First National Picture which is heralded as a powerful drama with a most unusual romance, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Plaza Theatre, Baird, Saturday night at 11:00 and Sunday and Monday.

It has an all star cast, headed by Kay Francis, who has two leading men in Warren Williams and George Brent. The story tells of two men in love with the same girl, each of whom tries to give her up for the other man.

Brent, portraying a dashing dardevil, whose mental attitude toward life has been warped by a terrific airplane accident in which his parents and his sister are killed, and he escaped, considers himself the same as a "dead" man, and rushes from one mad escapade to another, trying but unable to forget.

He is always saved from the consequences of his rash acts by his friend, a part played by Warren Williams, who stands by him like the Poet of Gibraltar.

When Brent falls in love with the woman his friend is hoping to marry, he rushes away. But Kay Francis, who has the role, is also infatuated with the aviator and sends the one friend she can always depend on, Warren Williams, to find the irresponsible youth and marry him in spite of the opposition of her family.

NOTICE WITH REGARDS TO REGISTRATION OF MOTOR VEHICLES

On mid-night of April 1st, was the dead line for registering your car, without paying a 20 percent penalty. Also for driving your car on any highway, rural, public or any road maintained by the County or State, with any license plates displayed other than the present year (1935).

It is the duty of my department to see that this law is enforced. Therefore I am asking the cooperation of the people of this county to see that you have the proper license plates on your car before driving same on the road.

You will remember the money paid in for the registration of automobiles is to be spent in this county each year for the upkeep of our lateral roads, as this county gets to keep the principal part of the registration fee paid in. You should remember this when you go to register your car and register your car in the county in which you live. It is a violation of the law to register your car in any other county other than your home county, punishable with a fine up to $200.00.

I am expecting the cooperation of the people regarding this matter, as we have had in the past. Any reports coming to this office will be investigated at once.

Respectfully yours,

CHILD HEALTH DAY

AUSTIN, Texas—"Texas will unite with other states" throughout this country on May 1, in the celebration of Child Health Day," stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. The flag flown from government buildings the other 364 days in the year all symbolize some activity of or in behalf of grown-ups. They pledge loyalty to the government, commemorate great historical events, or the deeds of national heroes. But—in accordance with the Act of Congress under which Child Health Day was made a national day—for this one day the star spangled banner is displayed on public buildings as a reminder of the obligation of all citizens to care for and maintain the health and well-being of the children and young people of the nation, those upon whom the duties and responsibilities of citizenship will rest in the future.

"The purpose of the Child Health Day observance, national and State," Dr. Brown said, "is to focus attention on the inherent right of every child to health, happiness, and intelligent care; to opportunities for normal growth and development, physical, mental and spiritual, and to community responsibility for seeing that such care is available for all children. Child Health Day is not an end in itself. Instead, it marks the beginning of the year-round activities of all forces charged with the maintenance and well-being of the children and young people of this State.

"Some of the things to which attention should be given in connection with the observance of Child Health Day include:

"The right of every mother to adequate care, before, during, and after the birth of the baby.

"The right of every child to adequate care.

"The right of every young child to be protected against diphtheria and

FROM THE EDITOR'S WINDOW

We received our usual weekly sandstorm on Wednesday this week, the day the editor works in Baird. Nevertheless we enjoyed our visit and being with the people of Baird. They are unusually progressive there. A photograph was made of their rodeo parade, which appeared on the front page of the Abilene Reporter-News. An immense crowd was in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Everett, Mrs. A. B. Everett, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Everett and son, Pinto, visited in the home of their old friend, L. H. Harris of Oplin, Sunday. W. W. Everett said of all the good eating, there was no better anywhere than that at Oplin. He said there was plenty of good food and that it surely did taste good. He says he likes the Oplin territory very much.

Mrs. F. A. Hollis says she thinks Brother Hollis is going to move his bed to the church soon. He and Willie Culwell have been working until after 12:00 nearly every evening for two weeks. This work certainly looks neat and will be of great benefit to the church. We would have made these improvements a long time ago, but somehow we didn't think of them. Everyone feels as if they are going to church in Fort Worth or some other city now.

The Adult School enjoyed a spelling match recently. Those standing the longest were Mrs. J. S. Yeager and Miss Vella Sandlin. The words are of practical benefit and taken from the seventh grade book of the current text used in the public schools. Many intelligent people need practice in spelling. The adult school furnished this practice and also furnished many good laughs and a nice recreation period.

The class in English has been diagramming legal sentences of about half a page length. Some of them take nearly the entire wall of the room for their frame, but they surely illustrate English rules. The schools are teaching diagramming again and it is one of the best methods of teaching English. If a person can diagram any sentence of the English language he knows English, for that is making a jig-saw puzzle of the language, taking it apart and putting it together.

Those who are not attending the school are missing some of the cooperative fun of regular school days.

Miss Rena Ball is getting from one place to another by the use of a new Ford V8, purchased recently. We suppose she watched the Fords go by, and then decided to buy.

THE BONUS BILL

The Patman Bonus Bill before the house of representatives seems to be the most plausible way to pay the bill, since it does not increase our indebtedness; as there would be issued enough currency to pay the bill or in other words issue non-interest bearing bonds instead of selling bonds at a high rate of interest. However the Vinson bill does not propose to pay the bonus, but only authorizes the payment and it may take as long after it is passed to get an appropriation to pay the bill as it has to get the bill passed; as the Vinson bill does not propose how it shall be paid, but leaves it to the treasurer as to how the money is to be paid and the administration opposes paying the bonus, so we can readily see what the veterans would be up against in that instance. We will quote a part of a speech delivered by Honorable Joe Eagle, representative from the Houston district in which he says in part:

"The first question is whether the bonus certificates should be paid now or postponed until their maturity date in 1945. My own position is that if the government can put out as it has done by act of congress billions of dollars as grants, as gratuities, as loans, on doubtful security and a blessing to corporations to which the government did not owe either legal, financial, or even a moral obligation, why not anticipate the time of payment of a real debt already existing, especially when it affects 3,500,000 veterans who went to war and took the sacrifice of that noble adventure? Especially when these veterans now need their adjuster pay as much if not more than any railroad or bank or insurance company or building and loan association or any other business enterprise ever needed the money, and are far more entitled to it than any such were ever entitled to the grant, loans, and gratuities we, in the congress, accorded to them the last two years of panic and depression. Under the Patman bill there will be immediately issued treasury notes to the extent of about 2 1/4 billions of dollars found in the gold in the treasury even more than dollar for dollar, and such treasury notes will be paid directly to the 3,500,000 veterans that will cancel a debt the government already owes the veterans. Under the Patman bill there would be no bonds issued by the government which would require additional taxation on the public for interest and ultimate redemption nor would there be any taxes levied for the purpose of raising such 2 1/4 billion dollars in lieu of a bond issue, but there would be an increase in the outstanding volume of the circulating medium in the form of treasury notes."

The News thoroughly agrees with the above quotation from Mr. Eagle and sees no reason why the Patman bill should not be passed as it does not increase our liabilities; as we already owe the debt and under this bill it would only be paying 10 years before it is due but it would not cost us any more than to pay 100 years hereby paying with non-interest bearing bonds.

Under the Vinson bill it would be quite different if it were to pass as there is no provision for paying the veterans. This bill only authorizes payment and there would have to be levied a tax sufficient to pay this outlay else they would have to sell interest bearing bonds to get the money and the interest would possibly amount to more than the bonds by the time it was paid. Those congressmen who are voting for the Vinson bill know that they are not giving the soldiers anything but are only dodging the issue and are really against the payment and realize that they can tell their constituents back home who favor paying the bonds that they voted for the bonus and the majority of the veterans do not realize the difference between the two bills. Every ex-soldier should inform himself and see who really is in favor of paying them and the adjusted compensation that congress voted some years ago as a vote for the Vinson bill was a vote against the payment of the bonuses.

THE COTTON SITUATION

No one knows just where we are in the cotton business, or what is going to be done by the government or what the market will be the coming season as there are so many things to consider. The trade had been under the impression that cotton could not go below twelve cents but it has been demonstrated that it can since mid-ling 73 is only worth about ten and three quarters now, and it may go lower as if we watch the future market when it reaches eleven cents or a little above, the trade will sell it down again. The reason seems to be that traders are afraid or have lost confidence in the government's ability to artificially hold the price of American cotton above the world's market.

The Doxey bill which proposed to exempt the small farmer who raised three bales or less from the application of the Bankhead law, is apparently dead but there is considerable interest aroused. The bill sponsored by the Senator of North Carolina has the intention of placing agriculture on an equality as to prices paid and prices received, by farmers; with all other means of producing annual wealth. Second, to provide that the price farmers receive for general commodities, as example, clothing, equipment, goods, fertilizer and the like shall not be in excess of price by them of sales of their products, to restore the export markets of the farmers.

The measure provides for the payment of bounties to exporters of farm products "in sums equaling the difference between the world price and the parity price in the United States currency thereof, such world price to be determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Secretary of Commerce from data gathered in the market in which farmers purchased the necessities of life, such as implements, and equipment, with due regard being had to taxes paid by them, to interest rates which they are required to pay, and to all other items of payment in ordinary course of living operations." It is proposed to set aside $500,000,000 dollars from the $4,880,000,000 appropriation just passed to meet these payments of bounties. However it is indicated that a similar plan may be adopted contemplating the payment of a flat sum, say $10.00 per bale, on cotton exported from present stock that is stored, and held by the Farm Commodity Credit Corporation.

By analyzing this proposed legislation we find that should it pass it gives the Secretary of Agriculture, with the assistance of the Secretary of Commerce complete control of the production and the sales and prices of farm commodities. In other words the farmer would be in the same position that the Irish hod carrier who was carrying mud and lime up on top of a tall building, and some one asked him how he liked his job and he replied that he liked it alright as the man on top of the building did all the work and he only carried the mortar up for them. If this bill becomes a law all the farmers will be supposed to do is make the crop and gather it and there will be a crowd at Washington that will do all of the work, and the farmer will have nothing to say but to grow.

It looks at this time that the world will not consume much more than ten million bales of American cotton this season, as world's consumption the first half of the year is only 5,700,000 bales and it would be necessary to consume 4,300,000 bales more if consumption reaches ten million bales while the indicated consumption is only about 3,800,000 bales, and unless consumption picks up from now on it will hardly reach ten million bales this season, which would leave a carry over as much as we had last season. The American crop has been reduced 8,000,000 bales in the last two years while the world's carry over has only been reduced by about 1,300,000 bales. While we reduced, foreign countries increased their production at the expense of the American farmer.

If the present program is continued it will only be a short time until we will be on an American mill basis, and it is doubtful if they use five million bales this season, and when it gets down to five million bales, and this prorated among the growers, giving them about one half as much allotment as they now receive, we will be in the same position that the Brazilian farmer is in today. They had been hundreds of years building up the coffee industries and the government came along just as they are doing in this country and told them, "We are going to stabilize the market for coffee by law," and they undertook to fix a price on coffee above the world market. The rest of the world said, "We will buy coffee from some other country," thereby putting a number of other countries in the production of raw coffee that would have been content to have let Brazil raise the coffee but it gave other countries a chance to make money as they thought they could raise coffee cheaper than Brazil. The consequences and they lost their markets and are trying to rehabilitate at the present time and are digging up their coffee trees and planting it to cotton. This country is now trying the same experiment and we are fast losing our foreign markets to other countries that were satisfied to let us produce the cotton until we put them in business by destroying our crops over here and fixing a price above the world market on our cotton, whereby they could raise cotton and make plenty of money. Every one who is reading and keeping up with conditions realize that we are fast losing our foreign markets and in a very short time we will have destroyed an industry that we have been more than a hundred years building, leaving us with several million people unemployed and many of them on relief, and then we will be ready to rehabilitate and what are we going to substitute for king cotton, is the great question. None of the Brain Trusters have offered a suggestion. So if we hear one of these paid agitators talking, we should ask him how he proposes relief for the situation.

Many a motorist goes on and on throwing away money not realizing how much spark plugs that are more than a year old or 10,000 miles old are costing them. Of all the cars on the road, it is conservatively estimated that only those less than a year old get the full value from the gas they use.

A QUICK WAY TO BETTER PAY

The most important objective in any educational program is the ability to earn a good living. For in this modern age when there are so many things that require a substantial income, such as a car, good clothes, pleasant vacations, and facilities for entertaining friends, money has become more than ever a symbol of success.

Business as a career offers the shortest route to these laudable rewards. It provides early incomes, congenial surroundings, association with successful people, and broad opportunities for development of talent and culture.

It has therefore been the life-work of Draughon's Colleges to make it possible for young people to step into good incomes at the earliest possible time and begin the accumulation of a bank account that will gratify the wholesome desires of a happy life.

A new booklet, "Planning Your Future," describes today's inspiring opportunities in business and a proven method of securing good starting positions for graduates. Clip and mail for your copy today. Address nearest Draughon's College, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Abilene, or Lubbock.

NONE GREATER BORN

John the Baptist saw his own disciples go away from him to follow Jesus, and, unselfish as he was, we may be sure that it was not easy.

Even he did not realize perhaps how fast his following would diminish, nor how soon the authorities would think it safe to seize him without precipitating a popular uprising.

Suddenly he found himself in the darkness of Herod's prison, no contact with the outside world except through a handful of still faithful disciples. These brought him disquieting news. Jesus whom he had hailed as the Messiah, to whose upbuilding he had sacrificed every personal opportunity and interest, this Jesus was not acting the role of a prophet. He did not fast; He did not withdraw into the wilderness; He did not denounce men for carnal sins. On the contrary, He was feasting in the homes of publicans and proceeding happily from village to village, surrounded by the laughing children and a nondescript mob of undesirables.

Tortured by such doubts, he sent two of his disciples to demand an explanation. They found Jesus surrounded by enthusiastic crowds, they sought a private audience and insisted on the truth.

Art thou he that should come, or do we look for another? The inquiry must have cut Jesus to the quick. He did the only thing possible; He pointed to the results, hoping that they would carry convincing testimony.

Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see: The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them. Did the answer satisfy John? Did he die with the inspiring assurance that his short life was in the noblest sense successful, that he had delivered

Class Poem—Go Straight to Your Goal.
You can't make a real success without making some enemies.
You can't hold a strong position without strong opposition.
You won't seem right to any if you don't seem wrong to many.
A useful life can't be entirely peaceful and carefree.
You must do your duty as you see it. Every earnest man in every generation has paid the price of individuality.
You can't dodge.
The greater you are, the farther you go, the wider your range, the more you increase the point of contact with which you must reckon, and, therefore, you multiply your battles against misconception and slander and malice.
You can't avoid or evade your allotted destiny—you can only hold down your share of trouble by holding back.
In every sphere men gibe and sneer.
So long as you aspire, others will conspire—so long as you try, others will vie.
You'll have hostility to face in every place and at every pace.
So long as your conscience isn't ashamed to acknowledge you as a friend, don't give a rap for any enemies.

JUNIOR JIBES

Well, folks, we're back with you this week with a smile on our face, most of the time.
This week every class has organized a base ball team and each class has to play the other. We have not played a game yet but you need not worry about the results because I am going to tell you how the games are bound to come out. The Junior class is bound to win. Why? Well, we will tell you. Mr. Jessie G. Overton, have you ever heard of him, is playing on our side. He is our pitcher.
Our tennis club is running along smoothly but for a few debts on tennis balls, but what club doesn't have some kind of a debt.
The Junior class got in trouble all around Tuesday. We did not know our English and guess what happened. We have to memorize the "Man With the Hoe," by Markham. It's a swell poem but we had rather not memorize it.
Spring training has begun for the football boys. Some are glad and others are kinda sad. We are hoping that Putnam high school has a good football team next year and I am sure they will if they stay in the game and fight. It really is not the size of the players but the attitude and the spirit that is taken in the game.
Coach is giving us a little memory work too, whether it is for not studying or something else you will never know. We have to say the Gettysburg address.

Debate

We went to Breckenridge to debate tournament last Friday, which was the final one this year. The towns represented were: Dublin, Eastland, Mineral Wells, Haskell, Breckenridge, Moran and Putnam. We debated Dublin girls in the first round and won. Then, in the second round, we beat Eastland. At 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon we met the Breckenridge girls in the finals. We were defeated in this debate, but we were glad that we won second place in the district.

This year we have debated ten times. We have won eight debates and lost two. We have entered three tournaments. The Abilene tournament, the county tournament at Baird, then the district tournament at Breckenridge.

We are hoping that next year the Putnam high school debaters will go higher, and here's hoping that they have lots of luck and success.—Frances Sprawls, Betty Mercer.

Justified—Johnnie was gazing at his one day-old brother, who lay squealing and wailing in his cot.
"Has he come from heaven?"
"Yes, dear."
"No wonder they put him out!"

"Well, it is a method of worrying before you spend instead of afterward."

The three words most conducive to peace in this world are: "Yes, my dear."

A Gentle Hint

They had been sitting in the swing in the moonlight alone. No word broke the stillness for half an hour until—
"Suppose you had money," she said, "What would you do?"
He threw out his chest in all the glory of young manhood. "I'd travel."
He felt her warm, young hand slide into his. When he looked up she had gone. In his hand was a nickel.

He: "But doesn't my devotion arouse in you some sort of feeling for me?"
She: "Yes—the kind of feeling that prompts a person to take a tonic in spring."

Patrick, gazing at plane aloft: "Faith, and I'd hate to be up there in that thing."
Mike: "Shur, Pat, and I'd hate like the devil to be up there without that thing."

Co-ed (at baseball game): "Oh, look, we have a man on every base!"
Another Co-ed: "That's nothing, so has the other side."

Maid: "Please, ma'am, will you come up to the bathroom at once? I can't make out whether your husband is scalding to death or singing."

Lady, to waiter: "There's a fly in my soup."
Waiter: "I wouldn't worry about that, Madam, the fly wont drink much."

"The modern girl adores springing wheels, but she wants four of them and a spare on the rear."

Mrs. Smith: "I often think that women are more courageous than men."
Mr. Smith: "Yes, where would you find a man who was brave enough to stop in the middle of a busy street and pull out a mirror and doll himself up before a crowd?"

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

L. Charles E. Dunn
CHRIST THE SAVIOUR
Lesson for April 14th. John 3:14-17.
Golden Text: John 3:16

Luther called our Gold Text the "little gospel," meaning that it briefly summarizes the whole glorious message of the Christian revelation. "For God loved the world so much that he gave his only Son, so that no one who believes in Him should be lost, but that they should all have eternal life."—Here we read the Good News of a Saviour.

What do we find in this Saviour? First of all we discover the world's most satisfying idea of God. To Jesus God was infinitely good, merciful, patient. Such a God dignifies and glorifies life. For if God is good, then life is good.

Secondly we find in our Saviour the world's most satisfying idea of man. What a faith he had in his fellow men, even the most unpromising! Browning accidentally picked up an old yellow volume from a book stall in Florence, and was inspired by its cruel tale to write his greatest poem. Jesus did something more momentous. He took simple fishermen, and many a soul bruised and beaten in life's battle, and made them over into precious servants of God.

Then, too, we detect in the life and teachings of the Saviour the world's loftiest ideals of conduct. His ethical principles are the noblest we have. "Attempt to reach righteousness by any way except that of Jesus," wrote Matthew Arnold, "and you will find out your mistake."

We discover also in this Saviour the world's most impressive exhibition of unselfish sacrifice. There is a noble devotion exacted by war. Yet the soldier, alas, must turn his soul with evil. The sacrifice of Jesus, by contrast, was pure as the morning dew, utterly unselfish.

Finally, we find from our Saviour a new life, life that is eternal, independent of the flesh, not bounded by the accidents of time, we call birth and death. He it is who brings life and immortality to light through the everlasting gospel.
