Tornados Have Field Day on Easter Sunday Average of One an Hour Sighted for Eight Hours-- Property Damage Runs into Thousands of Dollars

Few people on the South Plains will forget Easter Sunday, April 21, 1957.

It was a hectic day. The morning was more or less calm, but by noon the clouds were floating across the sky, borne to the west on a strong east wind, which had prevailed for more than 24 hours.

They banked to the west—peculiar clouds against a slate-blue sky—above a layer of dark clouds appeared to be a layer of red sand.

We believe it was the most peculiar appearing sky that we have ever seen. And, seemingly, the entire heavens and earth below were covered with a wall of mist. It appeared at first as a fog, but as it was observed closed, it was neither mist nor fog, but was evidently a thin coating of dust. By 5:30 automobiles were running with their lights on, and at a distance they were obscured by this strange curtain which was suspended in the air.

The first report of a turbulence came around 4 o'clock when it was announced by radio that Hobbs and Lovington, New Mexico, had a tornado alert. Then the announcer on KLLL, Lubbock, stated that there were heavy black clouds west of the city—rain was falling, and hail as large as golf balls pounding the earth.

Then came the first tornado.

It was sited west of Whitharral, moving in a north-westerly direction. While not reported at the time, it was wreaking untold damage. Houses and automobiles were demolished. At one place a couple driving along the road saw the approaching tornado, stopped and took refuge in a storm cellar. The monster of the sky roared down on them, destroying a chicken house containing 2400 chickens, and it is said that five cars, some belonging to Easter guests, were bent and twisted as tobacco cans.

Northwest of Shallowater a tornado demolished the A. W. Duncan home.

Mrs. Duncan saw it coming and called to her family. "I remembered the instructions about staying in the southwest corner of the house," said she. "That may have saved our lives."

The funnel roared by at 8 p.m. "It was about a city block wide and was making a terrible shaking noise,"

Hold Grand Opening Today

Today the Riojas Department Store opens with a gigantic grand opening sale in their brand new building on Main Street. A page advertising of free merchandise in an amount of more than $300, and a bunch of red-hot bargains, appear on another page of the Plainsman.

We join the citizenship of this community in offering hearty congratulations to Ralph Riojas on his opening and his confidence in the town and community—he has established here one of the most modern department stores to be found in this section of the state. Visit his store during this opening sale, which runs through Saturday.

JUNIOR PLAY ON FRIDAY NIGHT

The Junior class of the Ropes high school will present their play in the high school auditorium Friday night, April 26, 1957 at 8:00 o'clock.

The three act comedy, Miss Mischief, is based on the hilarious happenings at a summer camp for girls.

The students have carefully rehearsed this play and are working hard to make this presentation one of the outstanding events of the school year.

Emma Christopher stars as Dotty Harris, who is "Miss Mischief". According to statements by observers at rehearsals, Emma's talents as an actress are as outstanding as her ability on the basketball court.

Rosine O'Neal plays the part of Helen Sansome, Dotty's best friend. She is as full of life as a youngster, but as wise as a young lady.

The role of Imogene Thomas, a very pretty girl who thinks she is the center of all camp activities, is acted very well by Kay McAteer.

The part of Ann, Imogene's friend, is ably done by Jackie Whitlock.

Joyce Dozier, who plays the role of Barbara Carter, creates a perfect characterization of the lovely but stern camp director.

The kind, understanding, and charming young camp counselor, Marian Blake, is portrayed with realism and grace by Patsy Robertson.

James Martin plays the role of Joe Wilson, a young intelligent doctor who adds romance to the play by his interest in both Miss Carter, owner of the camp, and Miss Blake, the counselor.

As the official defender against evil, Leslie Lewis plays the part of Larry, a highway patrol lieutenant.

Lavoid Lowrie plays the part of the handsome, all-American, but shy boy that all the girls at camp admire. His name in the play is Ed Vinson.

Ronald Parker, who is described by "Miss Mischief" as, "The homeliest stack of bones a mother could love", is being portrayed by Joe Mayo.

OUR REVIVAL MEETING, which was conducted last week, was one of the best the church has had in some time. The interest and attendance were encouraging, and we are thankful for the nine new members received into the membership. Mr. Marvin Aubrey conducted the music. The evangelist was Pastor Carrol Holtzclaw of Shallowater.

The Pastor is preaching this week in a revival meeting at Shallowater.

NO BULLETIN NEXT Sunday since the Pastor will be in the Revival at Shallowater.

NEXT SUNDAY Brother Holtzclaw will be here to bring the messages. On Sunday, May 5th, we will have a ten minute testimony from a member of the Gideon organization at the morning service. At the SUNDAY SCHOOL attendance last Sunday was 273. We appreciate the good attendance, and would like to encourage each church member to take advantage of the opportunity of Bible Study evening service we will have with us Mr. and Mrs. Fite, missionaries to Brazil. They will show some pictures of their work in connection with their message.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE will be conducted at the school auditorium the evening of May 12th, beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

OUR VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL will be the next program for which we need to be making much preparation. We hope you will help us. New textbooks are available which will enable us to do better work.

OUR CHURCH VOTED in the last conference to sponsor and conduct a YOUTH REVIVAL this summer. We would like to ask the following people who work with our youth to serve as a committee to suggest the date and arrange the program: Mrs. Benton, Mrs. Hall, and Mrs. Armstrong.

MONTHLY WORKERS CONFERENCE has been changed to meet with Sunday church Tuesday night, April 30th. We would like to see a good number from our church at this meeting.

A BANQUET FOR THE SENIOR CLASS will be given by the ladies of our Church the evening of May 7th.

'SPOTTED' RAIN AND HAIL FALLS HERE

RAIN AND HAIL SPOTTED HERE

This memorable Easter Sunday did not bring to the Ropes community any violent storms, and the moisture which fell was only spotted.

The greater amount of moisture, it seems, fell in Ropes, where as much as an inch was reported. This was accompanied by a heavy-like marble-size hail.

While there was heavy hail to the west of us, the moisture was scanty. At the old Leon Rice farm about four miles west of Ropes, Charles Shannon tells us that hail of enormous size fell. This place is occupied by Howard Johnson.

"I was looking after the irrigation water on the place," explained Charles. "When I started the engine I noticed that the water was not coming out of the end of the plastic irrigation pipe. On examining it I discovered that hail had knocked holes in it, completely ruining the pipe."

About nine miles east of Ropes we found that only a trace of rain had fallen. The bar ditches were as dry as the fields.

While the Ropes community was alerted for possible tornadoes, at no time was the community threatened. Clouds passed over, but they were hurrying to join the turbulence to the northwest of us.

HUB CAPS RECOVERED

Constable Jack Ogle reports the recovery of four automobile hub caps which were taken in Ropes last week. The caps belonged to Myles Collins and J. R. Galley.

They were taken by teenagers who were released to their parents.

ON SICK LIST MRS. OTTO SIMS

Mrs. Otto Sims, Ropes postmaster, was ill with the flu the first of the week, but is now back on the job. Mrs. Bill Berry helped out during her absence.

LAVOID LOWRIE WILL HOLD AREA FFA OFFICE

Last Wednesday, April 17, 1957, the Hockley-Cochran

FFA District had its spring meeting. Records were checked and district nominees for Area and State offices were selected. Lavoid Lowrie was selected as the candidate for Area office by the delegates of the district. He will go to Amarillo on May 11, and will run for Area President. If he fails to be elected as president he will take one of the other offices, since each district in the Area has one officer each year.

Lavoid is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Lowrie, of Ropesville. He is a junior in Ropes high school, and has been active in many activities. He has been an outstanding member of the FFA, on most of the athletic teams, and has participated in many other activities. He was Star Farmer of the Ropes Chapter of the FFA this year, but was second in the race for Star of the District.

Jimmy King was a candidate for State Office, but he was beaten out at the district meet by Billy Car-said Mrs. Duncan.

The Duncan's house was of concrete blocks, and the father told them to lay down on the floor. Their son, Allen Wayne, crawled under a bed.

"It struck with a terrific crash," Robie, the Duncan daughter, said, "and the walls started falling down."

While Duncan's arm was being set by a physician, Mrs. Duncan told how she and her husband managed to lift a portion of the wall to free themselves and the children.

"I got them into the car outside—it had blown against the house—and I ran a quarter-mile to a neighbor's home for help," Mrs. Duncan said. "I was so scared I didn't know what to do."

J. M. Young, who lives in Shallowater, was one of the first to reach the Duncan home. He had been visiting at the home of Neff Preston, to whose place Mrs. Duncan went for assistance.

The tractor was on fire, a pickup truck had been blown up on top of what remained of the Duncan home and there were hot wires all over their yard," Young said. "The house was demolished—right down to the foundation."

Young, who had taken shelter in Preston's storm cellar along with members of the Preston family, rushed the Duncan family to West Texas Hospital in Lubbock.

"That twister went right near us," Young added, "After we went into the cellar, we heard an awful roaring noise and we could hear the cattle bawling—I never heard cows bellow so loud in all my life."

Duncan, who suffered abrasions and bruises in addition to a broken arm, was reported to be in good condition Monday night. The other members of the family, who sustained bruises, were treated Sunday night, and released.

At this place we saw the devastating effect of the tornado. One column, about five feet high, on the southeast side of the house, remained as a lonely sentinel to tell that here once a house stood. Trees, with trunks as large as a man's body, were uprooted. Other trees and shrubbery were either stripped of their foliage or "chewed up". A concrete shed was demolished, while by its side a wooden building was apparently untouched. There was no sign of bathroom fixtures, or furniture of any kind. Pipes which had furnished water to the bathroom and kitchen swayed drunkenly back and forth in a chilly north wind.

The curious came and went. Bleak was the day—and bleak was the scene.

A neighbor of the Duncans' told us, "All they saved was a few clothes."

It seems that one place was overlooked in the reports of the newspapers and radio broadcasts, and that was the destruction of the Suitor home, some three or four miles southwest of Shallowater. This structure, a brick veneer home, was unroofed, windows blown out and walls jerked loose. What once had been a porch was completely destroyed, and it appeared the walls had fallen inward, dropping the debris in a pile. In one room an electric clock stopped, registering the time at 8:15, at which time the tornado struck. Barns and outbuildings were destroyed, and the yard was littered with broken lumber, overturned farm machinery, many broken electric wires, and numerous other things. The Suitors had what was evidently a poultry farm, but there were no chickens in sight—the buildings which housed them being partially destroyed.

The door to a concrete storm cellar was blown off. In this underground room farm laborers had taken refuge. It was filled with home canned goods, a trunk and other items.

A son of the Suitors' told us, "There was no one at home. My parents were in Shallowater, and my fiancée and I were in Muleshoe. We knew nothing about it until we returned home. No one was injured."

Wreaking the greatest damage was a twister between Levelland and Littlefield. This whirling destroyer first touched the earth near the Opdyke Gin, about six miles east of Levelland, destroying the L. W. Hill home and a house occupied by a Latin American family. Neither family was at home.

Numerous sheds and barns were torn to bits and irrigation engines and pipe "simply disappeared".

The Reuben Mayes home also was destroyed, as was a tractor and a pickup on that farm. The family was not at home.

Continuing in a north-westerly direction, the tornado destroyed the homes of Ben and Walter Waters near Whitharral. Several motorists saw the tornado as they drove along the highway, and took refuge in the Waters' storm cellar. The blow reportedly picked up rive cars and a pickup truck, rolling them around like tin cans and hurling them down the road and into nearby fields.

Sheriff Clem, of Levelland, said that only one person was injured as the twister cut across rich farming land toward Whitharral, between Levelland and Littlefield. The victim was identified as Anastasio Guerea, who lived on the Ben Waters farm about one mile south of Whitharral. He was taken to Phillips-Dupre Hospital in Levelland with cuts and bruises.

Clem said that other homes destroyed included those of John Waters, Robert Avery and Myrtle Douglas, all near Whitharral; Joe Dominguez and another Latin American named Felix, near Opdyke; and at least one other.

An Avalanche—Journal reporter, Ross Short, who went to the area, also found the homes of Joe Pelfrey, Clyde Brock and Will Reding destroyed as the funnel ripped west of Whitharral about 6:30 p.m. Residents said there were two funnels in the vicinity which combined to form one huge mushroom.

A third twister striking in the Anton vicinity destroyed the David McVey home two miles east of there. The BIRTH OF A TORNADO occurs when a cold and a warm air mass collide, and the heavier cold air is deflected above the lighter warm air. In this topsy-turvy situation, a tongue of cold air dips into the warm air, which in turn moves upward to fill the void thus created. As the warm air rushes upward in a spiral motion, other warm air is sucked upward from lower levels, until the ground is reached. The funnel is made visible by condensing moist air, dirt and debris. As the twister leaves its trail, Red Cross, civil defense and other public services rush in to care for victims, while the Federal Civil Defense Administration stands ready with financial aid to assist in temporary repair of devastated public facilities in a major disaster. (Courtesy A. Leydenfrost and the New York Times Magazine) family went to the storm cellar about 8 p.m. when their lights went out. The twister hit 45 minutes later, jerking open the cellar door and blowing a tricycle into the cellar.

"It was an undecipherable noise that it made," the family said.

Although the walls of their home were left standing, the roof was gone and the house was otherwise damaged. Their garage was destroyed. There were unconfirmed reports that some occupants of a tenant house of the Youngblood farm one mile away were injured.

A funnel—probably the same one—also hit at Hart Camp, north of Anton and 10 miles south of Olton. A gin office and the home of the J. W. Wells family was demolished along with every other building on the farm. The family and visitors were not injured, having taken refuge in the basement.

Other homes in the area were damaged. Lonnie Neill, who lives nearby said he sighted four tornadoes at one time shortly after 10 p.m.

Still another funnel struck the Walker and Walker Ranch 15 miles west of Seminole, causing an estimated $500 damage and destroying two sheds.

The twister which came near hitting Lubbock was described to us by our son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whitfield, who live on 42nd Street, near Slide Road, their house facing a field.

"We had just returned home from Longview," they stated. "We were watching television when it was announced that a dangerous cloud from the southwest was moving toward Lubbock. We didn't think at the moment it was close to Lubbock, and going to the window we looked out.

"Hail as big as golf balls was falling, and rain was coming down in torrents. We saw an in-black cloud, and as we looked a tall came out of it, extending to what appeared to be a few feet, then went back up. In a moment another one appeared, dropped a little way, then went back up. This was followed by a third one which shot down to the earth. As it struck, dust belled upward, and then mushroomed out. It kept getting larger, and it was coming right toward us. For a moment we lost it in the rain, then it appeared a little farther to the west, still heading for our house.

"We got our children into the station wagon and tried to drive away from it. We just didn't know what to do. Then it went back up into the clouds. We did not see it again."

They said it was almost as dark as night, with a brilliant display of lightning, accompanied by heavy thunder. They could hear the roar of the twister.

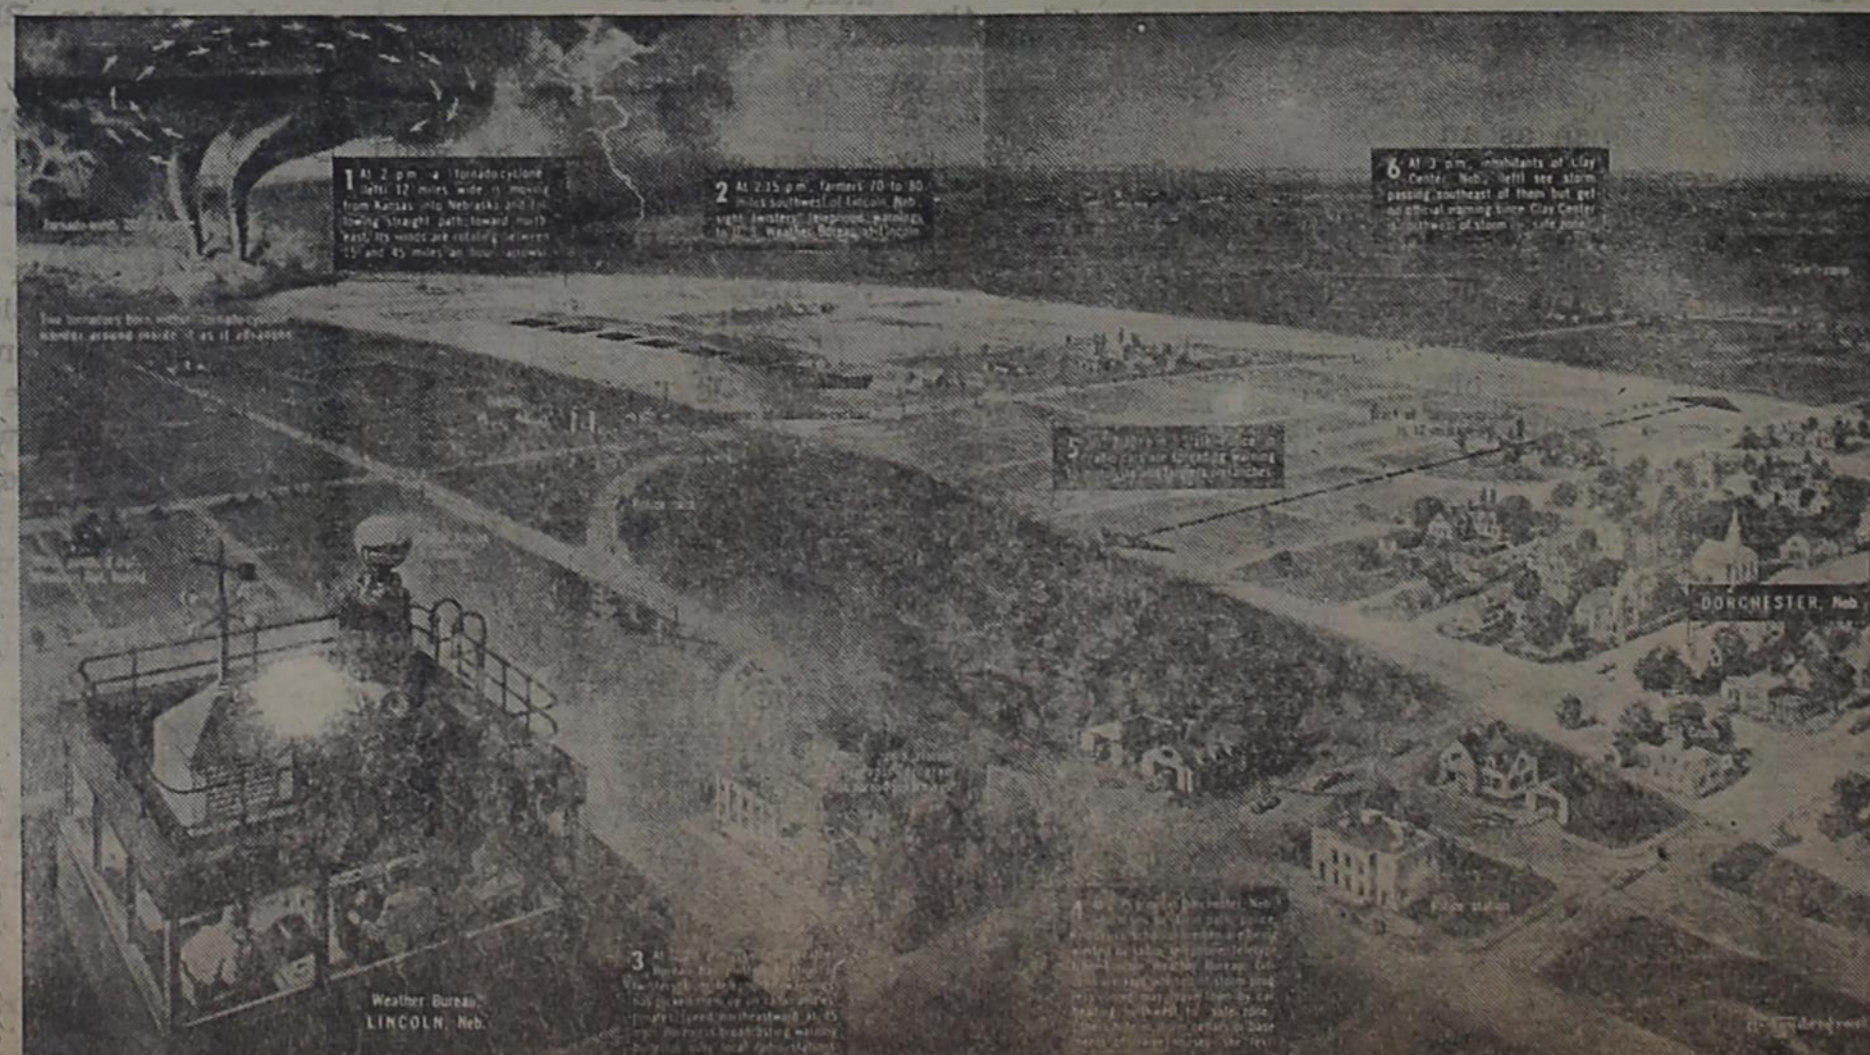

Another tornado was sighted on the west side of the Arnett-Benson addition, but it did no damage. This one was only a few blocks from where another daughter resides, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Thomas. They were in Ropes at the time, and the tornado was sighted by their neighbor.

In all, some fifteen or twenty tornadoes were reported between 5:45 and 10:45 p.m. The fact is, the sky was seething with them. On no other occasion that we know of has there been such turbulence on the South Plains.

TYPICAL TORNADO funnel sweeps across the plains near Manhattan, Kan., located in the worst tornado belt in the world, according to Weather Bureau records. Twisters such as this have figured prominently in the total of 75 major natural disasters in which the Federal Civil Defense Administration has directed relief since FCDA got the job of coordinating Federal assistance in January 1952. (U. S. Weather Photo by H. E. Dale)

TORNADO WARNING in time can spell the difference between heavy loss of life and light casualties when the twisters sweep into populated areas. Under the experimental Weather Bureau program for tornado tracking by radar and telephoned visual reports, adequate warning could be broadcast so that local civil defense, police and firemen could evacuate residents or advise them to seek cover in basements. This drawing shows how such a warning station at Lincoln, Neb., might alert the inhabitants of Dorchester, Neb., in the expected path of a twister. The twin funnels are an unusual phenomenon—most tornadoes occur singly. (Courtesy A. Leydenfrost)

SERVICE READ IN ROPESVILLE

In a double ring ceremony read at 6 o'clock Saturday night in the First Baptist Church, Miss Barbara Jean Odom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Odom, became the bride of Leroy Carothers, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Carothers of Afton.

The Rev. John Cole officiated. Mrs. Omer Dalton played wedding music. The latter also accompanied Mrs. Douglas Jones and Mrs.

Gwen Cullimore, vocalists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was designed with a low neckline framed with sequins and pearls. The fitted lace over satin bodice had long sleeves and terminated with a pointed waistline. From this, stemmed a skirt fashioned of net and strips of lace over satin and accented by rows of ruffles which extended into a short train.

Her net and lace veil was joined to a crown of sequins and pearls. The bride dal bouquet was centered with a white orchid and placed atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Bill Odom attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor and Miss Elsie Schoepf of Lubbock was bridesmaid. The attendants wore waltz-length dresses of pink net and lace over satin complemented by pink net veils attached to matching crowns studded with pearls. They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Candles were lighted by Miss Shirley Odom, sister of the bride, and Wade Gerner of Lubbock, the bride's cousin.

Best man was Bill Odom, brother of the bride. Allen Ray Smith of Lubbock ushered.

Following a reception at the church, the couple left for a wedding trip to Ruidoso and Carlsbad, N. M. As a travel ensemble, the bride selected a light blue suit with a white hat and blue and white accessories.

The couple will be home at 2409 7th St. in Lubbock where the bridegroom is employed by the Texas Highway Department. The bride was graduated from Ropesville High School and Draughton's Business College, Lubbock, and her new husband attended the Roaring Springs schools.

READ SUNDAY

Wearing a gown fashioned by her mother, Miss Anniece Marie Durham became the bride of Billy D'Wayne Willis at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 21, in the First Methodist Church at Ropesville. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Durham, Route 4, Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Willis, Route 1, Ropesville.

Baskets of stock, calla lilies and candelabra served as a background for a double ring ceremony read by the Rev. H. W. Gaston of Ropesville. Mrs. S. W. Williams played organ selections and accompanied Mrs. Gary Brownlow as she sang "Walk Hand in Hand" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride's princess-style gown was made of Chantilly lace over slipper satin and featured a neckline bordered by seed pearls. A four-pointed overskirt of lace accented the tulle and satin skirt. Her illusion veil was edged with lace and seed pearls and attached to a velveteen headpiece. The bride was given in marriage by her father and carried white roses surrounded by stephanotis.

Miss Karen Struve of Abernathy attended her cousin as maid of honor in a street-length dress of light blue cotton shantung styled along princess lines. She wore a matching headpiece and carried blue feathered carnations.

Bridesmaids Miss Peggy Reid of Dallas, Mrs. Bob Ivey and Miss Judith Cone were dressed in pink, beige and light green, respectively. Their carnation bouquets and headpieces matched their dresses.

Candles were lighted by Mrs. Betty Moss of Ropesville and Mrs. Dicky Townsend of Lovington, N. M., both sisters of the bridegroom. The bridegroom's nephew, Mike Moss of Ropesville, and the bride's cousin, Vicky Struve of Abernathy, carried the rings.

J. N. Willis served as his son's best man and James Chambers of Ropesville, Bennie Joe Durham of Fort Bliss and Donald Durham of Wolforth were ushers. Bennie and Donald Durham are both brothers of the bride. Mmes. Oly Hitt, Vic Struve, Don Smith, S. W. Williams, Billy Myers, L. A. Barnes, J. H. Reagan, Forrest Ogden, D. B. Edwards, Opal Bumpass and M. F. Dagley assisted in hospitalities at a reception which followed. The attendants' bouquets and a tiered wedding cake decorated the serving table.

After a wedding trip to South Texas, the couple will be at home on Route 1, Ropesville, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming. For traveling, the bride wore a three-piece suit of beige embroidered linen with brown and beige accessories.

The bride is a graduate of New Deal High School and attended Texas Tech two years. The bridegroom was graduated from Ropesville High School.

WHY GET LESS ?

When You Buy
Insurance Protection ?

Your property or liability insurance on your home or automobile may some day save you from severe financial loss. That's why it doesn't make sense to settle for second-rate protection—that is, coverage that doesn't really "cover" because it has not been planned by a professional to meet your needs.

You can't afford less than the best when your family's financial future may be at stake. Be sure of your insurance protection. Buy only through a trained independent insurance agent whose first responsibility is to you. That's the best buy you can get in insurance—the advice and service of an independent insurance agent.

HOW MUCH IS A CHILD'S FUTURE WORTH?

Mrs. H. W. Gaston
They're your children. . . enjoy them! If you are normal parents there will be times when you suspect that there might have been a mix-up of babies at the hospital. Be at ease. . . the chances are several million to one that the children are yours. It is just that sometimes they take more understanding than you bargained for.

If we parents would simply relax and realize that some things can best be cured by letting alone. We are filled with unnecessary fears.

Children pass through many phases and usually come through healthy and hearty. To an inexperienced parent it might be tempting to have a private line installed between his home and the nearest psychiatrist. They can assume any form, from slamming doors, throwing things on the floor, refusing to eat, unprovoked assaults on other children, unexplainable tantrums. Then there is the Lord Fauntleroy type of conduct that is even more worrisome.

There are lots of things that might amaze and confound the amateur parent. Take it from us who have weathered the storm several times. . . they pass on to other phases and stages. One parent had a nine year old boy who demanded the 75th reading of "Custer's Last Stand". They spoke to a friend who was a counselor. He said, "Don't worry too much, but if he insists on wearing his Davy Crockett hat on his first date, come to see me."

Here is something to hold on to when your mind begins to reel. As a rule, children give vent to these outbursts of perverse behavior only when they are with those they love.

Relax. Enjoy the symptoms of your children's increasing awareness of life's complexities while you can. The very things that you are sure will drive you crazy will become funny (in retrospect) and wonderful memories to chuckle over. Enjoy your children. They grow up too soon.

METHODIST REVIVAL NOW IN PROGRESS

The Methodist revival is on, and is gaining ground every day. Many things have been against us, but the interest and attendance is growing greater at each service.

Rev. Rosenburg of Asbury Methodist Church, Midland, is doing the preaching. We have been together in other revivals, and many were converted and received into the church. May the entire church rally to the cause, and receive a spiritual blessing that is so greatly needed.

The public has a very cordial invitation to attend. You will certainly receive a blessing by coming and worshipping with us. This revival will close Sunday night. Services are at 10 a.m., and prayer groups at 7:30 p.m., with preaching services at 8 p.m. "Come thou with us, and we will do thee good." Num. 10:29.

SEES HORSE IN AIR

A twister raked across the ranchland west of Lubbock—and was watched by hundreds of persons. Joe Christopher, foreman of the Spade Ranch, about 20 miles west of Lubbock, and guests at the ranch headquarters, stood calmly outside the "afraid hole" behind Christopher's two-story frame home and watched the twister move slowly toward them.

"I had just assured everybody that it was too cool for a tornado when I stepped out on the porch and there it was—big as life," Christopher said.

"It was seven or eight miles southwest of the house. There were two funnels at first, very small, and when they consolidated and hit the ground, they became very wide," he continued.

"It came to within about three-quarters of a mile of the house, and at one time was headed straight for us. Then it veered off to the northwest and went out of sight," Christopher said.

Then he reluctantly described one of the storm's strangest sights:

"We saw a horse up in the air," the foreman said. "It was too big to be a cow, he was all sprawled out in a diving position. He must have been about 30 feet up."

Others in his family and guests—about eight persons—all saw the horse in the air and told a reporter about it. "I might have been wrong," Christopher said sincerely, "but it sure looked like a horse to me."

(Even the storms come big in Texas).

Nita is going as voting delegate for the Ropes Chapter. Peggy will receive her state degree in Homemaking while there. They will return Saturday night.

Mrs. Achee announced that we will elect officers for the 1957-58 team at the next meeting. Everyone please be present.

JUNIOR NEWS

The Junior play will be held Friday night, April 27. It will start at 8:00 p.m. Admission price will be 50c and 35c.

SENIOR NEWS

The seniors met today and elected Mr. and Mrs.

Hall to accompany them on their senior trip. Ushers were also chosen for graduation. They are Rosine O'Neal, Joyce Dozier, Sylvia Exum, Troy Witherspoon, Leslie Lewis, and Lavoid Lowrie.

The seniors would like to sincerely extend their appreciation and thanks to the junior class for such a lovely banquet Saturday night. We can truly say it was one of the best ever given.

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

Grade 3B — Marie Cole
We enjoyed our Easter egg hunt last Friday in spite of the dust. We would like to thank our mothers for giving us this nice party.

Those making one hundred in spelling last week were Marilyn Chitwood, Sue Sosebee, Charles Cesari, Mary Garza, Janet Ream, Calvin Seymour, Lupe Garza, Maria Cortez, Gloria Leyva, Rosa Castaneda, Donnie Blackman, Francisco Flores, Ofelia Torrez, Robert Fores, Lorraine Gutterrez and Nancy Achee.

GRADE 1

Mrs. Dodd's first grade would like to extend their thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Means for the four dozen lovely Easter eggs she gave to the class. The children certainly enjoyed them.

Also, they are looking forward to the pre-school children attending school Friday. While they are visiting the first grade will take a train ride to Brownfield.

Grade 4A — Mrs. MacKenzie

We would like to make some corrections on last week's honor rolls. One pupil was left off both "A" and "B" honor roll. Left off the "A" honor roll was Cynthia Forbis. Carol Conatser's name should have been included on the "B" honor roll.

SENATOR PRESTON SMITH

It takes only a quick glance at the calendar to raise an important question.

How is the 55th Legislature going to finish all it has to do by May 7, the last day of the pay period?

It is unknown just how long the lawmakers will work without pay, and taking a look at the list of things still demanding attention we see the big squeeze as follows:

Still pending is the $2,084,349,515 appropriation bill, in conference committee for adjustments between House and Senate versions.

Pushing closely behind is the teacher pay bill which calls for approximately $67,818,400 in state funds for the 1958-59 biennium.

Behind-the-scenes maneuvering indicates that the Legislature will go all out to see that the public school teachers get the largest pay increase possible without a tax bill.

Even with the best of teacher pay increases, there will still be about 450 teachers in the middle of the state educational system that will not benefit from the current pay-raise efforts.

They are members of the faculties in state - assisted junior colleges, having enrollment this semester of approximately 14,000.

A proposal for a percentage boost for college and university teachers is included which will furnish assistance to Texas Tech. The money to increase college faculty salaries would come from increased tuitions in those colleges.

All these problems are yet to be completely discussed by the 55th Legislature. Meanwhile, time is slipping away.

TORNADO SAFETY RULES

1. There is no universal protection against tornadoes except caves or underground excavation. When time permits go to a tornado cellar which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas, or debris and equipped with pick and shovel.

II. If you are in open country: (1) Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour. (2) If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

III. If in a town: (1) Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from the windows! (2) In homes: The southwest corner of the basement usually offers the greatest safety. People in houses without basements should find other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar, or a ditch. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Doors and windows on the north and east sides of the house may be opened to help reduce damage to the building.

IV. If in school: (1) In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly supported roofs!

V. Keep calm! It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. The chances of a tornado striking one's home are slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that only a few places in a warned area are directly affected.

VI. Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.
