Meetings Set On Handling Swine Waste

A giant step forward in the economy of Cochran county could result if the large number of gas wells believed projected for the northern rim of the Slaughter, Levelland and Buckshot oil producing fields come to pass.

J. Roy McCoy of Lubbock, Depo, Inc., of Odessa, and Adobie Oil Company of Midland are among independent operators who now are developing the gas reserves for use by Southwestern Public Service Company and El Paso Natural Gas.

Teresa Arteaga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vicente Arteaga, has been selected to be featured in the Seventh Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1972-73, the largest student award publication in the nation. Miss Arteaga is a senior at Morton High School and is active in the choir. She plans to attend South Plains College following graduation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Gipson of Morton celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary last Sunday with a reception in the County Activity Banquet Room. Hosting the event were their children, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Joe B. Gipson of Fort Knox, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. K.I. Neavitt of Houston, and their grandchildren, Zia Ann and Mark Gipson of Austin, Marcy Neavitt of Houston and Joe Neavitt of Lubbock.

Clovis R. Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie C. Hale of Rt. 1, Morton, has been promoted to major in the U.S. Air Force. Major Hale is a staff development engineer with the Aeronautical Systems Division at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. His unit is part of the Air Force Systems Command.

Teachers of the Bledsoe Independent School District will attend a meeting this week, August 30 and 31. They will attend an in-service training program at Smyer.

Nelson Burris, a recording artist, is now a resident of Seagraves. He says he has been mixed up with music since he was four years old. That's more than 40 years ago. One of his records is "Angel Eyes" on side one, and "Linda" on side two.

Shallowater School Board to Hold Open Meeting Tuesday

There will be an open meeting called by the Board of Trustees of Shallowater Schools, Tuesday, September 4, 1973 at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria, to discuss the upcoming bond election.

Please Attend.

Shallowater ROTC Cadet, Michael Lindsey, Attends Summer Camp at Ft. Riley, Kansas

Cadet Michael L. Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Lindsey, Route 1, Shallowater, received practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps advanced summer camp at Ft. Riley, Kansas, from June 16 to July 27.

Cadet Lindsey, a student at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, was one of some 7,200 students who attended Army ROTC training at five installations in the U.S.

The ROTC advanced camp provides an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate leadership capabilities in a field training environment. The instruction supplements theories and concepts which cadets learned in the classroom on campus.

Cadets normally attend the training between their junior and senior years. This enables them to better comprehend their final year of classroom work and to function as cadet leaders on campus.

His wife, Rhonda, lives at 1713-B 44th St., Lubbock.

Frenship Athletic Booster Club Elects Officers for School Year Monday Night

The Frenship Athletic Booster Club met on Monday night, August 20, after the ice cream supper, and elected officers for the 1973-74 school year.

The meeting was called to order by the 1972-73 president, Richard Pittman. New officers elected were Donald Preston, President; Coy Max Booher, Vice President; and Sam McKee, Secretary Treasurer.

The first meeting of the year will be held on Monday, September 10 at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Game films from the Hale Center-Frenship game will be shown at that time.

Dues for the Booster Club are $3.00 per family. About 25 families signed up at the first meeting. According to Coach King, there are 247 boys in junior and senior high involved in football.

There are 132 girls in junior and senior high school who are involved in basketball.

The varsity team had 22 seniors out and a total of 45 in all. There are 38 boys out for junior varsity, 41 freshmen, 65 eighth graders and 68 seventh graders.

If you have a child who is playing football or any sport, join the booster club. Come to the meetings and join in making this a great year sportswise for Frenship High School.

Hockley County 4-H Bean Supper is Success

by James M. Morris
Asst. County Extension Agent
Hockley County

For the 439 4-H members in Hockley County, the dream of having their own state 4-H and Youth Center is a lot closer to reality now than it was one week ago. You, the individuals and businesses of Hockley County have helped make it so by your support of the 4-H Cornbread and Bean Supper held on Saturday, August 18, 1973, at the South Elementary School cafeteria. Over 200 people enjoyed the supper and program. Several hundred tickets to the supper were sold and numerous donations received. Many hours of planning and work by 4-H'ers and parents contributed to the success of the event. While the supper was designed to raise money, the primary objective was to help the 4-H youth of Hockley County to learn how to work together, accept responsibilities, and develop individual leadership and citizenship awareness. With each such activity, successes and failures are experienced and the learning process advanced one small step. The 4-H road has many steps and with your support the 4-H'ers of Hockley County have advanced still farther.

The 4-H'ers of Hockley County accumulated a total of $664.30 in a united effort to sell tickets for the supper. $53.46 was the reward of the cobbler auction following the supper. And $153.00 was the result of donations and ticket sales at the door. The supper yielded a grand total of $870.75. With the $95.89 that had been raised earlier this year from 4-H activities, the Hockley County 4-H'ers have raised an impressive $966.64 toward the new State 4-H facility.

The 4-H Clubs of Hockley County and the State of Texas need this center. As proposed, the State Center complex will meet the needs of 4-H'ers and adult leaders alike by providing housing, recreation, and 4-H project facilities in which leadership clinics, camps, adult leader training meetings, recreation labs, shortcourses, and state and district-wide project activities can be conducted. The facilities are to be of permanent and durable construction with future expansion given full consideration.

Priority for use of the center will be on a state, district, and county basis. However, the facilities can and will be utilized fully on a 12 month basis making county utilization feasible. The center will be located on 78 acres of land on scenic Lake Brownwood making a Seven swine seminars throughout Texas this fall will focus on swine waste management in an attempt to increase producer compliance with state pollution control requirements.

Sessions are set for Lubbock, Sept. 4; Renner, Sept. 10; Waco, Sept. 11; Weslaco, Sept. 18; Brenham, Sept. 25; Uvalde, Oct. 8; and Seguin, Nov. 29.

"Although swine producers with more than 50 mature animals or 500 piglets in confinement have been required to register with the Texas Water Quality Board since August, 1970, less than 10 percent of those eligible have registered," says Dr. John Sweeten, agricultural engineer in waste management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A certificate of registration signifies compliance with state requirements for water pollution abatement and is generally in the owner's best interest. In many cases, registration can be attained with little or no further construction of waste control facilities."

At the seminars, such questions as who must register, what requirements must be met, and how can waste disposal be handled will be answered. Pollution control permits required by agencies such as the Environmental Protection Agency and the Texas Air Control Board will also be discussed.

The exact location and time of each of the seminars is available from the respective county Extension offices.

Information and permit application forms can also be obtained from district TWQB and TACB offices and the regional EPA office located at 1600 Patterson Avenue, Dallas, Texas 75201.

those occurring in earlier decades, he emphasized.

Texas producers are currently planning for next year's crop. Some are considering shifting "set-aside" acreage back into production which may be relatively expensive. A thorough analysis of the alternatives is recommended by Smith before growers make their final crop plans.

Hamburger Supper Will Precede Ropes Football Game Friday

There will be a hamburger supper preceding the football game with Meadow, at the Ropes Cafeteria. Serving hours will be from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. on Friday, September 7.

The supper is sponsored by the Ropes Lions Club and the proceeds will go to assist the youth projects of the club. Everyone is invited to come and partake of a good supper at a reasonable price just before the ball game.

Soybean Harvesting Tips Furnished

Soybean growers annually lose an average of 10 percent of their crop through improper harvest practices and management.

With October prices of $6 to $7 per bushel on the present soybean market, growers are anxious to harvest as many soybeans as possible, says R.J. Hodges, agronomist for the Texas

Grain Situation is A "New Ballgame" for Wheat Growers

Wheat producers are weighing some unaccustomed alternatives as they make decisions about what level of wheat acreage to plant in 1974.

The present grain situation appears to be a "new ballgame" for wheat growers, who are being asked for production expansion by the consumer at home and abroad, and by provisions of the new Farm Bill with producer income protection in case of over production and cost increases, says Dr. Roland D. Smith, grain marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Many farmers, he said, are viewing the situation with "cautious restraint" in an effort to prevent over production and price declines.

"Wheat producers are skeptical that prices will remain at profitable levels through the harvest of 1974. These growers vividly remember the mid 1960s when they were asked for maximum production which ultimately led to several years of depressed prices.

"Some major reasons for apparent changes in the world wheat situation include the opening of markets in the USSR and China, the changing international money values favoring U.S. products, and the rapid economic growth allowing more of the world's people to upgrade their diets. These factors are causing strong consumer demand for wheat and other products abroad," Smith said.

A key variable in regard to foreign demand is world-wide weather conditions, which could improve to the extent that foreign trade of wheat might decline significantly, Smith added.

The new farm program, with the target price of $2.05 per bushel for wheat, should help remove some of the risk of price declines similar to superb camp location. The land has been donated.

Texas has 13 4-H districts. Hockley County is one of the 20 counties comprising District 2. Each district and each county with these 13 districts have established their individual state 4-H center fund goals. The District 2 goal is $75,000.00. The Hockley County goal is $4,000.00 of which $966.64 has been raised. The 4-H'ers of Hockley County are dedicated to their goal and have and will work hard and long to its attainment. Thank you for your support of the Hockley County 4-H Youth and their State 4-H and Youth Center fund raising projects. Your support is truly appreciated. The leaders of tomorrow are you 4-H'ers of today.

Kennedy's Strategy?

Senator Edward Kennedy (D-Mass), the leading contender according to some polls for the democratic presidential nomination in 1976, is being connected to the grand design behind the Senate Watergate Committee.

The recent revelation that one of the committee's staff members had been a special consultant to the late President Kennedy raised suspicions, naturally enough, that he is now indirectly working for Kennedy interests.

Kennedy at one time was considered for the chairmanship of the Senate's special investigating committee but Senator Sam Erwin instead was selected. In view of his own scandal involving the death of his secretary one night, which he didn't report until next morning, he was not the best Democrat to head the committee.

Yet as one of the Democratic candidates, he obviously stands to gain if the Nixon Administration is completely discredited. And that is certainly a political possibility in 1976. Watergate could, conceivably, be decisive in bringing about Democratic victory in 1976, which might be the same as a Kennedy victory. And will Senator Sam be the second man on the Democratic ticket?

The Politics Involved

One reason the American public, and many writers, have had second thoughts about the fairness of the hearings of the Watergate Committee is the obvious and possible political motivation involved.

This is not to say the motives of committee members are improper. But elected politicians are, after all, politicians. And every committee in Congress is Democratic. And every Democrat wants to regain the White House in 1976. They should. The temptation here to act politically is obvious.

Secondly, the committee staff is really the group running the hearing, not committee members, whose time is stretched so thin. The chief counsel of the committee is Samuel Dash, who is at least suspect as being rabidly anti-Nixon.

Another staff member, Carmine Belino, is accused of having aided in the Democratic bugging of Nixon headquarters in 1960. Belino denies the three affidavits, but G.O.P. Senators asked he be removed from the Watergate committee. Chairman Sam Ervin refused.

All this, plus the hero behavior of committee members, reacting to the applause and exhibitionism of spectators, gives the hearing a less-than-impartial flavor. The committee's refusal to postpone its show at the request of Democratic investigator Archibald Cox, of the Justice Department, also indicates the politicians want the limelight.

They have put on a good show, members are now national celebrities, and much valuable information has been publicized and uncovered—but it nevertheless has been a partisan, political show to a large degree.

A New Farm Era

Because of world conditions and Republican farm philosophy the nation and its farmers are moving into a new era. The new era ends one begun by President Franklin Roosevelt, a parity price support system which has cost the nation varying billions each year, in holding down production and holding up prices, saving many farmers, however, in the early years.

It could be that the new farm bill passed by Congress and signed by President Nixon in mid-August is the most significant legislation produced at the 1973 session, for it changes the philosophy of the government from one of restricting production to encouraging all-out production.

Because today's worldwide demand for food is great and growing, and supply inadequate to meet demand, this is now possible without the federal government holding prices up. In fact, the government's support prices today for the major crops are below the market price.

Thus the cost of support to farmers is dropping drastically. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says four billions were paid farmers last year under the price support program but that this figure will drop to two billions this year and to only half a billion next year. This is refreshing news in times when every federal budget seems to grow and every dollar is needed.

Historically, the new law means the United States is taking a turn back toward its agricultural past, will become a greater farm products exporter, as in its early history. (Industrial exports are also likely to expand; the dollar's recent devaluations make American prices especially attractive to foreign buyers.)

Thus the American public is to save billions on price support payments annually—though higher market prices eliminating their necessity means higher food prices. Increasing farm exports will also help balance the nation's international payments and thus help stabilize the dollar. These interesting new prospects, plus the new maximum support payment limit to one farmer of $20,000 ending abuses, make the new agriculture program a welcome one.

Fall Fever

September brings with it (in most parts of the country) the first cool winds, school, football, burning leaves and nostalgia.

Why is it autumn produces such a tug on memories? Perhaps it is because growth and a summer are dying and the end of a life cycle is so visible. It is a beautiful death—red and yellow, brown and orange in the fields and forests.

But colder weather is coming on, the end of a year as well as a season, and naturally one looks back. All of which is good in our fast-moving world, when so few of us take time to remember the old days, the good friends, the great moments and the dear ones gone or far away.

Austin—The Texas Constitutional Revision Commission made key decisions last week on finance and legislative sections of the state's basic laws.

It will formulate recommendations September 6-8 on judiciary and education provisions. Sections on local government and general provisions will be reviewed September 13-15.

Final action of the 37-member body, which is studying changes needed in the state's basic laws, is scheduled September 27-29.

Meanwhile, a legislative planning committee for the January-May 1974 constitutional convention of lawmakers is moving ahead with preparations for the historic gathering.

The planners have voted to spend $33,938 on new chairs and desks to place in the House of Representatives chamber during the convention. Chairs, costing $165 apiece, will be replicas of those used by delegates to the 1876 constitutional convention. The desks, considerably more economical, will be made by state prison system inmates at a cost of $22.50 each.

The revision commission practiced some economies (of language) in shortening the recommended general legislative tax power section of the constitution from the present lengthy statement of limits and exemptions to the following:

"Taxes shall be levied and collected by general law for public purposes only, and shall be equal and uniform."

The 181 legislators who will be delegates to the convention will convene here December 6-8 for a briefing on details of the commission's recommendations. The convention will open January 8.

Child Care Rules Tightened—The State Board of Public Welfare is toughening requirements for licensing child-care institutions and has named former State Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews as temporary head of a licensing division.

Pendleton said the new division will shift role of the Welfare Department from urging facilities to comply with the law to active enforcement of the law and policing of facilities.

The Board also named a new six-member advisory council (with three alternate members) on child care administration to assist in checking credentials of personnel at child care facilities. The legislature this year required administrators to be licensed by January 1.

Farm Production Highs Set—Texas farmers and livestock raisers are setting new production levels this year, Agriculture Commissioner John White reported.

Records, according to White, are being tied or broken for wheat, cotton, grain sorghum, corn, peanuts, soybeans, oats, barley, rye and rice. Texas is first in the nation in cotton and grain sorghum and fourth in wheat production.

Texas cattle on feed total 2.3 million, said White, about 700,000 more than the second-ranking state, Iowa, and an increase of nine per cent over last year. White said cattle producers marketed more cattle during June and July than they did a year ago, proving that they are not holding back because of the price freeze on beef.

White predicted that removal of the beef price ceiling will not cause skyrocketing of meat prices and may even help bring them down.

He said there are warning signs consumer resistance to the rising prices of food products is stiffening.

Insurance Deals Targeted—New Insurance Board rules aim to halt rate discrimination and unfair competition in property and casualty insurance.

Board Chairman Joe Christie said some non-rate-regulated companies, including Lloyd and reciprocals, offer unrealistically low rates to prime risks with the intention of having ultimate liability assumed by a rate-regulated company.

Christie said the "brother-in-law" deals can result only in higher rates for the majority of policyholders.

"A farce has slowly but surely been perpetrated when a large company either forms a Lloyds, or even rents one by one scheme or another, for the purpose of evading this state's regulatory laws," Christie said.

Tourism Gains—Tourism gained modestly through July with attendance at attractions up one per cent and highway tourist bureau services up nearly five per cent for the first seven months of 1973.

LPG Gas Shortage

While talking to Don Hurt, owner of Wolfforth LPG Gas Company this week, I found out there is a critical shortage of butane.

Mr. Hurt said he was having a hard time finding butane to service his customers.

According to a report he showed me, the major oil companies have aggravated the fuel crisis by jumping exports by 50 percent.

The American Petroleum Institute says higher shipments were made at the request of the Nixon Administration as a move to increase the balance of payments situation.

Just about all the LPG exported, was shipped to Mexico and Japan.

The Texas Railroad Commission is supposed to make a ruling that the oil companies must sell butane to the dealers, so they can supply their rural customers.

Iron cookware should never be immersed in water, wipe clean with a damp cloth while the utensil is still hot.

Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock based cotton producer organization, have strongly commended Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz on his firm stand against government tampering with exports of U.S. farm commodities and submitted to him a position paper giving five reasons why controls on U.S. cotton exports are neither justified nor desirable.

In a letter to the Secretary August 24, PCG Executive Vice President, Donald Johnson said Butz's position as expressed in public statements "indicates a clear understanding of the fact that unrestricted exports are indispensable to the market oriented agriculture envisioned by your Administration and long sought by farmers themselves," and "It gives us great pleasure to commend you..."

The PCG statement on cotton exports, developed primarily for use in a Dallas meeting of the National Cotton Council Executive Committee where exports were discussed, termed the PCG stand against export controls on cotton "irreversible."

The American Textile Manufacturers Institute, which is advocating a "system of export licensing" for cotton, was responsible for getting the NCC Executive Committee together for discussion. The producer representative on the committee from the Plains is PCG Board Chairman Donnell Echols of Lamesa, who was unable to attend. At the meeting in his stead was Don Anderson of Crosbyton, a former OCG president.

The five reasons given by PCG for its opposition to any form of export controls are (1) the availability of adequate supplies of cotton to meet world and U.S. requirements, (2) the doubtful effectiveness of export controls as an aid to solving procurement problems of U.S. mills, (3) the necessity for maintaining export markets if U.S. cotton farmers are to maintain productive capacity and continue their contribution to the country's balance of payments problem, (4) the current trend toward increased cotton production and the danger to that trend that would be inherent in export controls, and (5) the fact that the newly-passed farm program will not work for agriculture or for the nation unless there is less government control along with less government aid.

PCG's figures show that the supply of cotton in the U.S. is higher than for any year since 1968 excepting 1972, and that the U.S. carryover has increased from 3.4 million bales on August 1, 1972 to at least 4.0 million on August 1 of the current year.

Also it was noted that total world supplies have increased from 74.0 million bales in 1970 to the projected 1973 supply of 83.3 million.

"The new result," the PCG statement concludes, "is that the world position with regard to cotton stocks has improved for each of the past three years, and the ratio of carryover stocks to offtake on a worldwide basis on August 1, 1973 is at least as adequate as it has been since 1967."

PCG points out too that U.S. cotton production in 1972 and 1973, assuming the accuracy of current 1973 estimates, will be about 35 percent greater than the average production for the previous five years.

"And," says Johnson, "unless there is unwarranted government action to destroy producer confidence in market prices, this upward production trend may well continue."

By the same token, Johnson reasons, government interference with market forces could bring about lower production in 1974, thereby increasing rather than easing the pressure on supplies.

Forgotten Foods

Food dollars may have quit "pinching" lately, and just plain gone to "hurting".

So take a hard look at what's placed in that shopping cart. Although highly nutritious, some foods which rate low on the food status scale get neglected.

Two such forgotten foods are beans and milk. Beans add variety as a meat alternate while providing protein economically. Twenty grams of protein from beans costs consumers about six cents compared to 19 cents for the identical quantity of protein from hamburger.

Milk, on the other hand, often is written off as just for babies or children.

Consequently, many consumers select cheese over milk to provide calcium in diets. With nonfat dry milk, the calcium equivalent of one glass of milk costs three cents. For that same amount of calcium from Swiss cheese, the consumer pays nine cents and 68 cents for cream cheese.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

By the ease with which the United States basketball team whipped Russia in the World University Games in Moscow, it appears that maybe, just maybe, we played the wrong game against Russia in the Olympics.

Hank Iba, veteran Oklahoma State coach, directed our Olympic efforts, which failed, 51-50. At least, that was the final score, although anyone watching the finish on TV knows that Russia got all the benefit of atrocious officiating.

Iba is famed for his "slowdown" style of play. It was one of the reasons why Madison Square Garden officials didn't want his college team in tournaments there. It was too slow. They wanted action.

Not that Iba wasn't a sound coach, nor a shrewd one. He was and his record attests to that fact. He was one of the greats. As head Olympic coach, he knew better than anyone else what material he had and what it could do. He made the decision to use the controlled game.

But in light of the World Games, this probably played right into the Russian's hands. The Russians are well schooled in fundamentals. They move the ball well, find the open man, hit the backboards well. In short, the Russians have come a long way in basketball.

What the Russians lack, though, is the innate basketball sense and skill of U.S. players on the fast break, the so-called run and shoot game. Here's where we have it all over them.

I, for one, feel encouraged about the future of the United States in international competition. True, this U.S. team had all the incentive needed to play well. The point is, when they played their type of game, they simply dominated the Russians.

In time, others may catch up, but it will take a long time. We've played hockey in this country for years and years, but we haven't caught up with the Canadians. We have the same edge in basketball.

Okay, so we did well in basketball and had another outstanding swimming festival, even without Mark Spitz. In track and field, however, we were less than elegant. We weren't even average.

If the truth was known, we stunk up the Moscow stadium. It was about as poor a showing as you imagine. Unfortunately, it followed right on the heels of a dismal showing in the Olympics, only this was even worse. What's happening to the U.S. in track and field?

The answer could be, as one or two suggested, that we didn't take the Games seriously. It could be, as others said, that our best didn't go to Europe. It could be, even, that other nations now have surpassed us in track.

If it's a matter of indifference, let's not compete. If our best didn't go, let's send more people for world competition. If other nations are stronger, let's go to work to build our program back to where it was. We never should be second class in sports.

Suddenly tight races in the American and National Leagues have begun to disintegrate. The Baltimore Orioles, Oakland Athletics and Los Angeles Dodgers have taken charge.

Only the eastern division of the National League is in doubt. The St. Louis Cardinals, who got off to an horrendous start, were flying high. Now they are locked in a battle with the Pittsburgh Pirates and it's touch or go.

As of this writing, unless something drastic happens in the next six weeks, it will be the Orioles and A's in the playoffs and the Dodgers. The only race left may be in doubt a long time.

The football people would like to believe that baseball is dying. Maybe it is, drowning in over-expansion. But you can't tell it by the crowds. And TV still has two games a week, which it wouldn't air unless (1) they got sponsors; and (2) there was interest.

It already has been predicted that this will be a good year for pheasant hunting in West Texas, but now comes word that the Rio Grande turkey is thriving and good hunting is expected.

Since 1950, 12,598 gobblers have been harvested in the Panhandle area, according to Parks and Wildlife Dept. phigure philberts. And these game experts say that sightings of hens with broods of young points to a bumper crop this fall.

Tis said it's the Year of the Horn,
That of Orange you should have been born;
Tech's loaded with hope
To fill full of soft soap
This dream that could be just Bull Corn!

PERSONALS

Thank You—We, the family of Otto L. Sims, wish to express our sincere thanks to our wonderful friends in Ropesville and elsewhere for every act of kindness during the illness and passing of our loved one. The many cards, letters, gifts, visits, prayers helped, so much, during his illness. It seemed God's will, that we be among old friends, during the last days. For every visit, words of consolation, gifts, beautiful floral offerings, attendance, and your prayers, will be treasured always. May God bless and keep you is our prayer.

He offers these harvest reminders:

- Begin harvest when moisture in the soybean seeds reaches 13 percent; higher moisture content may result in mold in the bin; lower moisture content will result in increased losses due to shattering, lodging and cracking. Your local elevator can probably arrange to give you a moisture test.
- Cut soybeans as close to the ground as possible. From a half to one-and-a-half bushels per acre are lost for every inch of cut above ground.
- A floating flexible cutter bar extension, mounted below and about 10 inches forward of the original cutter bar, will follow the square feet in an average area that has been combined and counting the beans left. For every four beans per square foot, there is a loss of about one bushel per acre," explains the agronomist.

For a better look at harvest efficiency, measure an area one foot wide and 10 feet long across the direction of travel of the combine. A count of 40 beans or less in this 10 square foot area indicates a good job, contour of the land and save more beans.

- A variable speed reel permits feeding the beans to the cutter bar with minimum shatter loss.

- A hydraulic reel height control to feed tall or short beans into the auger is necessary to lower or raise the reel while the combine is moving.

- Some combines use an automatic height control on the header. Its sensing fingers operate a hydraulic lift for controlling cutting height.
