Lions Plan for New Year

The Ropes Lions Club held their regular meeting on January 7, 1974. Several items of business were discussed including plans for a turkey shoot in the near future, the All-American football game, and a possible trip to the Lions Camp for Crippled Children.

Zone Chairman, Billy Fisher, was guest and covered activities expected to take place and answered questions. He was accompanied by Fred Adams and Andy Howsley. All three men are members of the Rosebud Lions Club of Lubbock.

Lion boss, Pete Pettiet, read a letter from Girlstown, U.S.A. thanking the Ropes Lions for their Christmas gifts to Girlstown.

Ropes Senior Citizens Meet

The Senior Citizens met at the Community Building Monday, Jan. 7th. There were 10 attending from Ropes and 9 from Brownfield. They all brought covered dishes and enjoyed a real nice dinner.

They also enjoyed playing Dominos and 42. The next meeting will be February 4. Everyone is invited to come and have fun with us.

Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show Set to Begin this Month

Combining scattered increases from livestock breeds which showed last year and a good representation from exhibitors of first time breeds, plus an anticipated good entry among rabbits, pigeons and poultry, predictions are for another outstanding 10-day run for the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

The 78th edition of the Stock Show is scheduled Jan. 25 through Feb. 3. Entry deadlines for rabbits, pigeons and poultry are Jan. 15. Other livestock entries have closed and are being processed and counted.

"We are encouraged, with an anticipated good showing in the small stock division, that entries this year could exceed the record breaking 13,000 head catalogued during our 1973 show," said W.R. Watt Jr., Stock Show general manager.

The Brown Swiss breed, new this year in the dairy division, will be well represented, Watt commented. "Adding these cattle to other dairy breed increases, in both junior and open classes, this division is showing quality and strength."

Gains in junior beef breeding heifers entries have expanded judging in this division to two days each. A strong showing also is indicated in junior steers, barrows, breeding sheep and lambs. "Having so many young people exhibiting their animals is an encouragement to what the future holds," Watt said. "We are glad to provide a competitive showcase for these farmers and ranchers of tomorrow."

Strong showings are apparent for Brangus breeding cattle, returning to the Stock Show after several years of absence; and for the National Centennial Angus Show, noting the 100th year since the black English breed's introduction into North America. Turnout among returning beef breeds appears mixed, Watt said.

Morgan Horses, making their Fort Worth Horse Show debut, will offer a strong show according to Douglas B. Mitchell, horse show manager. "Overall, horses will present a good turnout, with several new classes scheduled," he said.

Rodeo tickets are available by mail at P.O. Box 150, Fort Worth, Texas 76101, or from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. daily, including Sundays, at the Rodeo Box Office in the lobby of Will Rogers Coliseum.

Search Underway For 1973's Rural Hero

The Rural Heroism Award, sponsored by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, is presented annually to some deserving person who has performed an act of exceptional bravery during a time of crisis, according to Ben Bullard, Council vice president and assistant safety director for the Texas Farm Bureau.

All entries must be submitted by March 1, 1974, to the Rural Heroism Award Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, P.O. Box 489, Waco, Texas, 76703, according to Bullard.

The heroic act or deed must have occurred in Texas during 1973 and must be related to farming or ranching operations.

Nominations should include a written account of the incident and the names of all persons involved. Newspaper clippings and pictures should also accompany the nomination, if available.

FFA Tractor Mechanics Contest Set

Paul R. Chilen, Department of Agricultural Engineering, Texas A&M University, met with service representatives of leading farm machinery manufacturers last week in Fort Worth to confirm the rules for the 1974 FFA State Tractor Mechanics Contest. This contest, with over $20,000 worth of mechanics' tools as prizes, is held each year at the Southwest Farm

R.O. (Raymond) Dennis

Hockley County Clerk, R.O. (Raymond) Dennis, announces his candidacy for re-election, subject to action of the Democratic Primaries, to be held in Hockley County on May 4, 1974. Mr. Dennis will make a formal statement at a later date, concerning his bid for re-election.

Show in March. Ten FFA districts from throughout Texas hold elimination contests to determine which chapter will go to Fort Worth for this most competitive final event.

This year the competition will get underway Saturday morning, March 9, in Tarrant County Convention Center with preliminary judging and finals being held in the Tractor Pull Arena at 5:30 p.m. the same day. Winning teams will be announced and awards presented to the winning team prior to the Tractor Pull at 8 p.m. "We are proud of the job the State is doing in training young farm boys to work on equipment," said Red Ewald, of Red Ewald, Inc., Karnes City, Committee Chairman, "I am impressed with the ability shown by these young men after this training."

Odis Echols, Sr. will be the guest speaker at the 12th annual Morton Area Chamber of Commerce Banquet January 19th.

The banquet will be held in the

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—Legislative leaders expressed optimism for success of the state Constitution Convention which opened at noon Tuesday (Jan. 8).

Planning committees have worked out a fast-paced 81 day schedule which may, or may not, hold up.

Optimists see at least a 50-50 chance of success, noting that of 12 constitutions offered voters in other states during the last 12 years, half were rejected, frequently on a single issue.

House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., projected presiding officer of the historic convention, the first since 1875, hopes to have committee hearings started by January 16.

Preliminary briefings by corresponding committees of the 37-member Constitutional Revision Commission will precede the committee hearings.

Daniel claims the convention, composed of 181 legislators, will be successful because delegates have a down-to-business attitude and are the best prepared group (thanks to work of the Revision Commission) ever to undertake such a task.

Such controversial issues as right-to-work inclusion in the constitution, legislative pay raises and appointive appellate judges, under Daniel's plan, would be submitted to voters as separate issues. That procedure, the speaker maintains, would prevent jeopardizing a largely non-controversial document because of a handful of hot potatoes.

Eight substantive committees and five procedural committees are proposed to handle the initial hearings and study starting next week.

Political Season On—Major candidates are getting in place for the 1974 primary races.

Attorney General John Hill announced for a second term. Agriculture Commissioner John White announced for a 13th.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe revealed his plans (back in late October) to seek a second term.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby will be doing the same. Others already on the starting blocks include Railroad Commissioners Jim Langdon and Mack Wallace, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and Treasurer Jesse James (although some haven't announced formally).

Comptroller Robert Calvert remains a question mark. Whether or not he retires, former Secretary

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

Despite the relative ease with which Texas Tech defeated Air Force Saturday night, Coach Gerald Myers wasn't all wreathed in smiles. He was pleased, yes, but not overjoyed.

Gerald had gotten a chance to play a lot of subs, men who might have to take up the slack at some point in the tough conference race. He thought that they might have done better, played a little more smoothly together.

"It's going to be real rough," he opined, talking about the league slate. "Texas looked pretty strong today (against Missouri) and SMU looks strong. They'll all be pointing to us."

It begins to look as though Grady Newton and Don Moore will round out the starting team for the conference campaign, but look for Grant Dukes and Phil Bailey to log considerable time, along with Steve Dunn. The latter might even be at forward.

It's a difficult team to analyze. There's good inside strength in Rick Bullock and William Johnson and there's good guard play in Richard Little and Moore. But it's not a balanced attack and there's need for more scoring at the other forward spot.

Gerald is concerned about other teams using a zone against Tech—"name me one good outside shooter on our starting team"—and he would like to have a little more speed on the club.

Bailey is a consistently good outside shooter, but he has other weaknesses that keep him from being a starter. Dunn has the speed to go with Little on the fast break, but he also has weaknesses that keep him from being a starter.

Moore played better Saturday night, but his scoring isn't strong. Dukes has the potential, he lacks experience. There are a lot of spot players, but not the balanced attack Gerald would like going into a rugged conference round.

Nebraska proved what people have felt—Texas isn't as strong and can be had. The Cornhuskers shut down the wishbone in the Cotton Bowl until it was downright embarrassing.

The Longhorns managed only three first downs in the first half and were little better the second half. They did have one tremendous goalline stand and sports writers felt that this, just before the half, would spark the Horns. It didn't.

I talked to the Nebraska players after the game and one of them said that he thought Nebraska had to have the greatest defensive coaches in the nation.

"Texas didn't run a single play that we didn't know or expect," he said. "Even the reverse. We worked on that just two days before the game."

Marty Akins was stopped on the option. Roosevelt Leaks, admittedly far from full strength, was stopped. And when Texas finally passed, as it had to to open up the defense, the passing game was not a threat.

In the final analysis what beat Texas was muscle, the same thing that Texas is famed for using to beat everyone else. John Bell did a tremendous job at noseguard, although Bill Wyman blocked him consistently. Still, the Nebraska line backers were free to plug the gaps. Along with Bell and the linebackers, Nebraska got strong play from the tackles and ends. So, when it was all over, the Cornhuskers had shutdown the running and forced the Horns to do what they don't do well, pass.

The Hall of Fame sports luncheon, as usual, was a great affair. Everyone likes it, but everyone goes away saying "it was a great show, except that it ran too long." And every year the writers say, well, we've got to shorten it—and every year it never changes.

You can't shorten a dinner that honors great athletes. This is their day and they deserve the tributes and attention. Morris Frank was a tremendous emcee, as usual, and his quick wit kept the affair from lagging, as much as any one man can.

For the first time in 12 years or so the Cotton Bowl fell short of a sellout. There were a lot of empty seats and tickets were a dime a dozen. But Nebraska underlined what Tech Coach Jim Carlen has said about support being a key to a team's invitation.

There were Nebraska fans everywhere. As a wild guess, there must have been 15 to 20 thousand Nebraskans in Dallas. They were in the hotels and motels, on the streets, in the stands. You saw far more red than you did orange. They backed the Cornhuskers.

The Roundup—A big sign on the Cotton Bowl wall said: "Happy New Year-Chris-Bud-CBS-from UT." That was fine, except it was NBC doing the game!...Enjoyed talking with Tom Brookshire, who worked with Lindsey Nelson on the telecast. The former Hubber was interested in the WT-NM Assn. and in Bobby Layne....J.D. Hufstедler took in the Hall of Fame luncheon and the Cotton Bowl. He was about the only Lubbock man I saw....Jim Reed, former Tech basketball great, is the Phillips distributor in Brownfield, but did you know his brother, Ragan, is also in business there?....Jones Ramsey, Texas SID, is quick with a quip. It was alleged that Darrell Royal was asked if he would take the New York Giants coaching job and he replied that he couldn't talk about it until after the bowl game. Jones said that there was a report that he was going to marry Liz Taylor, "but I can't talk about it until after the bowl!" Darrell said that he had not been approached and that he was not interested....And after waiting over an hour to see the Hula Bowl, we never got to see Joe Barnes.

George Mahon Announces For Re-Election

George Mahon announced Monday that he is a candidate for re-election to Congress. He is presently serving his 20th term in the House. As Chairman of the 55-member Appropriations Committee, he occupies one of the most important posts of the Legislative Branch of the Government.

Mahon stated that the major concern expressed to him by the people of the area relates to present or anticipated fuel shortages. "Reports are confusing," he said, "and the facts are unclear; but the problem is a real one and will be the number one item on the agenda when Congress reconvenes on January 21."

Frenship Basketball Weekly Report

Varsity

Lonnie McKinney scored 21 points to lead Frenship to a 70-55 victory over Denver City Friday night. This was Frenship's second win in loop play with no losses.

Tuesday night the Tigers played Post and defeated them 69-48 to keep their district play perfect with 3-0. Lonnie McKinney had 24 points.

In varsity girls basketball Friday night, Denise Kinner hit for 43 points to lead Frenship girls to a 75-53 win over Roosevelt. Post defeated the Frenship girls 60-40 with Denise Kinner high for Frenship with 26 points. Post won the JV girls game 54-24.

Jr. High

The 7th, 8th and 9th grade boys and girls played Slaton Monday night and lost all six games.

Speed Limit Change Due—With President Nixon's signature on the nationwide 55 miles per hour speed limit law, Texas has no choice but to follow suit.

The State Highway Commission, under a new law passed in special session last month giving it authority to establish new speed limits to meet emergencies, scheduled a January 8 public hearing.

Result of the hearing was clear in advance: the limit will be lowered to 55 mph—probably enforceable by late January or early February.

The alternative: losing some $240 million a year in federal highway assistance.

A.G. Opinions—Political action committees have to report expenditures to influence elections, Atty.Gen. Hill held.

However, Hill said that determining whether such committees come under campaign reporting and disclosure law provisions is a question for factual determination in each case.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

•A law requiring financial statements by public officials is constitutional, and district judges are covered.

•A county commissioners court may transfer surplus road and bridge funds into the general fund.

•A member of the Parks and Wildlife Commission is entitled to reimbursement for expenses for meetings which are not regularly scheduled.

•A person who spends in excess of $200 per calendar quarter by paying another to communicate directly with a legislator would not have to register under the new lobby act.

•Texas Rehabilitation Commission can act on behalf of the state in entering an agreement with the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to carry out provisions of the Social Security Act. The commissioner of TRC is the proper official to execute the agreement.

Food Stamp Cards Sent—Three hundred thousand needy Texans received cards authorizing food stamps for them early this month.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell, meanwhile, alerted his field offices to give special handling to stamps for the aged,
