Frenship 4-H Club Meets

Frenship Kittens Split First Two Games of Young Season

The Frenship Kittens hosted Idalou Saturday night in the season opener and were successful with a 52-34 victory. Cissy Beaver led the scoring with 22 points, followed by Jacque Howard with 13 and Cindy Pittman with 10.

It was a very physical game as 45 fouls were called. Defensively the Kittens were led by Kathy Laney and Sheryl Hart. Laney had 6 recoveries and 3 rebounds while Hart added 6 recoveries and 5 rebounds.

Tuesday night, the Kittens hosted Farwell and came out on the short end of the score which was Farwell 44 and Frenship 38.

The Kittens played very well both offensively and defensively but inopportune turnovers cost the team several important baskets.

The game was close all the way. The Kittens led after the first quarter, but fell behind in the 2nd quarter, never to catch up again, although the score remained close. In the 3rd quarter, it appeared the Kittens might regain the lead. Farwell then went into a delay game holding the ball. The Frenship guards made valiant efforts to stop the stall and get the ball, but had to foul in doing so. Farwell made 6 of 6 free throws in the last quarter to maintain their lead. Farwell maintained its stalling tactics until the end.

Cissy Beaver tallied 21 points and Jacque Howard added 17 to round out the Kitten scoring. Kathy Booth led Farwell with 23 points. Kathy Laney led the defense with 10 recoveries and 7 rebounds.

50th Wedding Anniversary Marked

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Adamson celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last Sunday. They were honored with a tea at the Wolfforth United Methodist Church with approximately 130 persons attending.

The former Opal Bulls and Adamson were married Nov. 15, 1975. They moved to Wolfforth in 1948. He was a farmer until his retirement last year.

In a special election held last Saturday, citizens of Wolfforth passed a $41,000 bond for construction of a city building to house the city's new fire truck, and to help qualify for an ambulance from the county by a vote of 50-36.

Mary Barger, presiding judge for the city said the turnout was "a lot more than I expected."

A similar bond for $34,000 was defeated last July by a 40-62 margin. At that time, Wolfforth voters passed bonds for the improvement of the water system, and for the purchase of a new fire truck.

Mayor G.A. Edwards, Jr., said the city council had decided last September to refloat the bond issue "to see if they'll (the voters) reconsider."

Edwards said council members were "very happy with the return."

The bond will provide for a metal building 40 by 100 feet, heated, insulated, and equipped for the maintenance of the city's new fire truck. There would be room also for the city's garbage truck and other municipal equipment which is now stored outside. The building will be located at 4th and Delta Streets.

In addition, an ambulance slated for the city will be stored there.

M.E. Casey fills out a ballot Saturday at City Hall. Casey and 85 other Wolfforth area residents cast their vote on the $41,000 special bond issue.

The county purchased 10 ambulances as part of the emergency medical service program, and will provide one to five area cities provided they have at least six available emergency medical technicians (EMT) to operate the vehicle.

Currently Wolfforth has 11 qualified EMTs.

Edwards said plans for the building will be submitted to the Federal Housing Administration for approval. Afterwards, the city will advertise for bids, decide on a contractor, and begin construction.

He estimated the process would take 45 days.

Economic Recovery Brightens Outlook for Cotton Use

While good weather is improving the prospects for the final outturn of the 1975 cotton crop, signs of continued economic recovery are pointing to a substantial improvement in domestic cotton consumption.

Economists at Cotton Incorporated now think domestic consumption of cotton may reach 7.4 million bales in the 1975-76 crop year, an increase over their previous expectations of 7.0 million bales.

At the same time, because of a month of good weather throughout much of the cotton belt, they are increasing their estimate of the final out turn of the 1975 crop

New Equipment Now in Operation At Lubbock's Methodist Hospital

An EMI Brain Scanner, a new X-ray technique for producing pictures of the brain, is now in operation in Methodist Hospital, George M. Brewer, president, announced last week.

"This new diagnostic device provides detailed information on brain tissue abnormalities in a new perspective. It is more comfortable and less costly for the patient, as hospitalization is avoided. It is safer than previous procedures used to diagnose conditions within the brain," Mr. Brewer states.

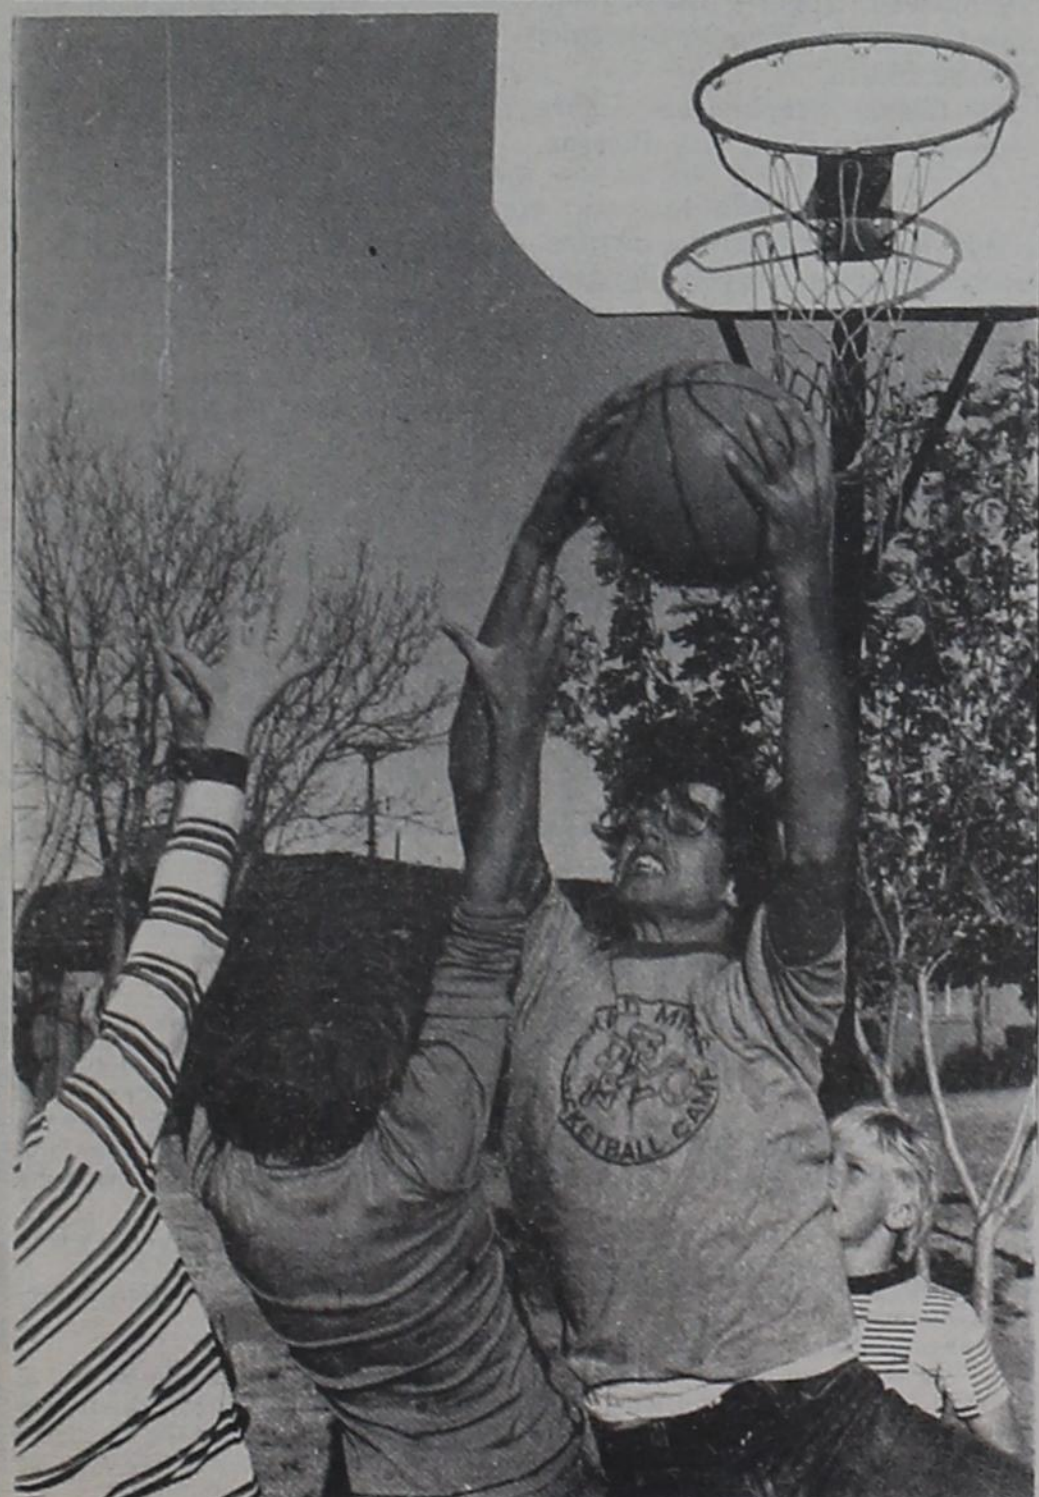

The EMI Scanner system, located in the Nuclear Medicine area of the hospital, uses small amounts of X-ray in conjunction with a computer to produce clear pictures, which are cross-section views from the top of the head, looking down.

Methodist Hospital staff physicians in neurology and neurosurgical services are scheduling patients to be evaluated for tumors, blood clots or strokes, brain hemorrhages, hydrocephalus, acute head injuries, epilepsy, multiple sclerosis and degenerative brain disease.

There is no pain during the examination. The patient wears normal clothing and reclines on an adjustable couch with the head positioned in a water-filled, rubber head-cap. The examination does not cause headaches or nausea, and hospitalization is not required for a recovery period.

Prior to development of the EMI Scanner, normal and abnormal conditions within the brain could be displayed only by injecting substances which created contrasts between tissue structures. Radiological methods most commonly used include injections of radioisotopes or dyes into the arteries or the introduction of air into the ventricles of the brain. These procedures normally can be done only when the patient is in the hospital, and they involve various degrees of discomfort.

The new EMI Scanner does not make these methods obsolete, but it does offer the radiologist and surgeon a method of mapping out the contents within the skull to make an early, definite and painless diagnosis.

Before Wednesday brought winter like temperatures for the West Texas area, Wolfforth youth enjoyed the warm weather by playing a perennial wintertime sport, basketball.

Mission in Africa

by Boyd Pearce, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Shallowater
 It was almost midnight on November 22, 1963. We were living in Nairobi, the beautiful capitol of Kenya in East Africa. There was another missionary by the name of Marshall Phillips living across town. Marshall had one of those overseas radios with a ship cord antenna, and he regularly tuned in the U.S. and picked up ball scores and occasionally even a ball game. When he called as late as midnight I knew one of two things had happened. Either the University of Kentucky (where he was from) had won a football game or Baylor had lost. When the phone rang and Marshall was on the line, I let him know that which ever of these two things had happened, I had rather hear about it in the morning. But that wasn't what he was calling about. The announcement had just come on the radio that President Kennedy had been assassinated in Dallas.

There is nothing quite as sickening for Americans living overseas as the feeling that the foundations at home are crumbling. The next morning there was a dull, sad hurt among us all, as if someone dear had passed away back home and we were not able to get back to the funeral. What bothered me most was that while I would be hurting inside, no one else in Nairobi, except a few Americans, would know why or even care. I was wrong.

When I drove downtown that morning, all the flags were at half-mast—even the East African Railways banner flying over the depot. Traffic seemed to be moving slower and quieter than usual. The morning paper carried the news in somber headlines. Across town an Englishman called one of our missionaries, whom he did not know and said, "You're an American, aren't you?" He said, "Yes, I am." The Englishman started crying and said, "I had to

by Joe Kelly

You have to feel sorry for Grant Teaff, almost as much as you have to feel joy for Steve Sloan. For one, it is a story of riches to rags. For the other, a pleasing comeback in a season that threatened to be dreary.

Baylor's Bears last year ruled the Southwest Conference. This year the sweet taste turned sour. Dame Fortune smiled kindly on the Bears last year, she frowned this year.

Injuries and turnovers can have a tremendous bearing on the success of any team. Last year the Bears had few injuries and few turnovers. This year, the opposite has been true.

In all probability, the Bears have better depth and material this year. But injuries to key players and a sudden plague of fumblyitis has cut the Bears down to pre-1974 status. The best they can finish now is fifth.

On the otherhand, the Red Raiders have come back after four heartbreaking losses to become one of the better teams in the conference.

Last Saturday, after beating Baylor, Steve commented on his admiration for this year's Tech team.

"They were sick after the Arizona loss, but they worked harder the next week than they had worked all season," he said. "This team has a lot of character."

Arkansas is a major test of how far the Raiders have come. The Razorbacks are in outside contention for the league crown and in good position for a bowl berth. Only Tech and A&M stand in the way of, say, second place and a major bowl.

The 1975 Razorbacks are bigger, stronger and faster than a year ago. They have everything going for them. As of last Saturday, the Hogs had a strong offense and a strong defense.

Arkansas ranked third in total offense and the same on defense. They were tops in rushing offense and third in rushing defense.

But while Tech was second in passing offense, the Raiders used a ground game to beat Baylor. Defensively against the pass, Tech and Arkansas were almost even.

Based on defense, which generally wins games, the Hogs appear to be a little stouter. Still, anything can happen and it should be a great battle in Fayetteville.

Regardless of the outcome of the year's final game, the Raiders have been pleasing in one important aspect; they have shown consistent improvement throughout the season.

The offense has come along faster than the defense, but the offense now is on a par with any team in the league. The defense was much slower to improve, but it has come steadily of late and it's capable of putting it all together Saturday.

The question of fumbles came up again at the press conference Saturday and Steve still is at a loss for a concrete answer, as are most coaches and observers.

"I had a long talk with Donnie Anderson," Steve said. "He thinks it could be the artificial surface. He mentioned that he didn't have any problem with fumbles until he started playing pro ball."

Steve went on to say that Donnie found that he eliminated much of it by putting his arm all the way around the ball, especially when he was going down.

"We talked it over with the coaches and players," Steve said. "As a result, we're trying it."

Tech had only a pair of fumbles last Saturday, so it may be working. None on Saturday would be great!

I had to feel sorry for Field Scovell and Wilbur Evans of the Southwest Conference. They were in Pittsburgh, pens in hand, to sign Notre Dame for the Cotton Bowl. Instead, Pitt ruined it by winning.

So, they apparently did a quick evaluation of the situation, realized that the chances of getting one of the top powers was lost and took Georgia. The Bulldogs are tied for second with Florida in the SEC, have an 8-2 record and always play tough in bowls. (ask SMU).

The bowls are starting to shape up. Two Big 10, two Big 8 and three SEC schools are assured of berths, with the SWC landing two, maybe three, and the Pac. 8, two.

The Independents haven't fared well so far, but Penn State, West Virginia and Georgia Tech still are possibilities.

And, should Tech beat Arkansas, there's no reason to think that the Raiders might not get a bid. A strong case certainly could be made—so long as buying tickets isn't involved!

Bystanders are those who can do the job better.

 tell somebody from America that I am sorry."

Perhaps the most remarkable thing that happened was 2 or 3 days later. We had gone into a beautiful but hard to get to area about 150 miles from Nairobi. The people there are friendly but very primitive. The first morning we were cooking breakfast over an open fire and a Masai warrior came into camp just to greet us and talk awhile. When he found out we were Americans he immediately told us how sorry he was about our President. That surprised me. I could understand the shock and sympathy of a metropolis like Nairobi, but out here in the "bush"? What did they know about Kennedy, or for that matter, what did they know about America? It turned out that one of the brothers had a transistor radio and they had heard the news from Nairobi. He explained further, "Last year, the rains did not come. We had no food. It looked like we might starve, and President Kennedy sent us food. He saved our lives. We knew him well." Sitting around the fire that morning I guess I had never been prouder to be an American.

Sometime later, on one of the main streets of Nairobi, Tom Mboya, the dedicated young statesman of the Kenya government, was assassinated as he was leaving a drug store. I was sympathizing with a sad African friend. He said, "First it was President Kennedy and now it's Tom Mboya. Bwana, why is it we always kill our best men?" I've never figured out the answer to that one, but I have thought about it often, usually when I look at a cross.

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin — State government ended its 1975 fiscal year with a record cash surplus of more than $1.4 billion, but if the legislature continues its spending ways it may not last long.

This was the good news and the bad news of Comptroller Bob Bullock last week as he released his annual financial report for the fiscal year which closed August 31.

"We're in the best shape ever for now," said Bullock. "But our analysis consistently shows that if spending increases as usual in 1977, we will face a tax bill in the $1 billion range."

The Legislature this year passed a $12.1 billion biennial appropriations bill.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe and others have predicted that, with reasonable economies and continuing high yield from sales and oil and gas taxes, a major state tax bill can be avoided in 1977 as in the last two legislatures.

Bullock said the state had $6.9 billion in the last fiscal year to meet an expenditure level of $5.5 billion.

Revenues, the Comptroller said, increased 13 per cent over 1974 income—reaching $5.7 billion.

"The real story," said Bullock, "is that revenue increased because of inflationary prices while the tax base remained the same. Spending jumped 21 per cent over the previous year. If legislators want to increase spending another 25 to 30 per cent in the next biennium, they had better have that billion dollar tax bill ready."

GOP Moving

Texas Republicans outlined major plans for 1976 campaign activities at a meeting here recently.

The State GOP Executive Committee approved Chairman Ray Hutchison's proposal to establish a powerful new executive campaign committee and central political fund.

Special recruiting committees were also appointed to seek out qualified congressional and legislative candidates.

Republicans decided to conduct their presidential preference primary on a congressional district basis. Ninety-six of the 100 GOP presidential nominating delegates will be elected at the polls May 1, and only four will be picked at the June 19 state party convention in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Pat Archer, wife of Houston Congressman Bill Archer, was elected new GOP National Committee woman to succeed Mrs. Rita Bass Clements of Dallas who resigned.

Hutchison named Ernest Angelo of Midland to head the new 15-member GOP executive campaign committee. Bob Flournoy of Lufkin was designated vice chairman.

Rates Studied

A 7.1 per cent increase in workmen's compensation insurance rates has been recommended by State Insurance Board actuaries.

Insurance company spokesmen aren't happy. They recommended a 12.3 per cent boost. Industry representatives weren't pleased either. They pointed out Texas business and industries already pay $611.6 million a year to insure employees against on-the-job death and injury, and they claim this is too much.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court left standing a lower court ruling that state and local governments can charge fees for access to large records computer data and microfilm.

The Open Records Act, court rulings have held, permit charges to examine such records.

In another ruling, the High Court affirmed a Texas Railroad Commission gas curtailment order placing Houston Lighting and Power Company in seventh priority as a customer of United Texas Transmission Company.

The Supreme Court also held that a Smith County man must be jailed for contempt of a court order by returning a tractor which he sold out of Texas.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the 100-year prison sentence of a Grayson County man in the death of a fifth-grade girl from Denison who has been abducted on her way home from school.

A three-judge federal court in Tyler set arguments in the continuing controversy over whether voters can be signed up under the new Texas registration act without U.S. Justice Department approval.

School Session Urged

Texas Association of School Boards executive committee has urged Governor Briscoe to call a special legislative session to deal with school finance problems arising from the Hill fee opinion.

Texas Association of School Administrators executive committee also asked the governor to help ease the strain on districts which the opinion may cause. Briscoe said he has no intention of calling a special session and will be "looking for other ways to meet the problem."

Hill's opinion October 1 concluded special school fees for such things as driver education, band uniform rental and workbooks are illegal.

Services Held for Albert Rich

Services for Albert G. Rich, 92, of Wolfforth, were held at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Lane Boyd, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Wolfforth Cemetery with Rix Funeral Directors handling the arrangements.

Rich died at 2:50 a.m. Tuesday in Methodist Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Rich was a retired farmer. He moved to the Wolfforth area in 1929 from the Sherman area.

Survivors include two sons, Fred of Corpus Christi and Robert of Wolfforth; five brothers, Phillip, Sid and Austin, all of Selina, Tenn., and Lester and Buford, both of Moss, Tenn.; five sisters, Mrs. Rose Brown of McKinney, Mrs. Hubert Atchley of Tipton, Ind., and Mrs. Vina Smith, Mrs. William Arms and Mrs. Lovie White, all of Moss, Tenn.; three grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Recovery Brightens . . .

 from 8.5 million to 8.7 million bales.

"The economic recovery has been far more robust than most observers considered possible," says David Cox, Cotton Inc. vice president for economic research and development.

The Gross National Product increased 11.2 per cent in the third quarter of 1975, and industrial production increased in September at its highest monthly rate in 11 years, Cox points out.

"Both the textile industry in general and cotton in particular have been sharing in those advances," he adds.

August retail sales of cotton goods increased nine per cent over sales in August 1974 and three per cent over sales in August 1973, a period of strong sales, Cox's figures show.

"Over the past year cotton has shown more market strength at the retail level than the synthetic fibers," he observes. "Synthetic fibers posted gains of only 1.5 and 2.0 per cent over sales in August 1974 and August 1973."

As the U.S. economy moves briskly ahead, economies of foreign nations are just emerging from the doldrums, Cox reports.

Improvements in foreign economies, coupled with signs of a decrease in expected foreign cotton production, should mean stronger export sales later in the crop year, he speculates.

"The United States is in an enviable position to benefit from a worldwide economic recovery next year," Cox declares.

He warns, however, "The U.S. economy must still be considered fragile."

A fully recovered domestic economy, Cox believes, will depend on increased consumer confidence, sustained retail sales, and a tolerable inflation rate.

Who'd want to invest in a bunch of revolutionaries?

They didn't exactly look like winners.

But then our revolutionary army beat the British at Saratoga in 1777.

And people recognized Washington's men as an army, rather than a band of renegades.

So faith was won as well as a battle. And investments in our government's securities started picking up.

It took courage to take stock in America back then. But it paid off.

And it can do the same for you now.

Just join the Payroll Savings Plan, or buy U.S. Savings Bonds at your bank. There's no safer, easier way to build your savings.

So, buy the specially designed Bicentennial Series E Bonds.

Those brave revolutionaries would be proud.

Series E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Bottle Gardening For Busybodies

If you don't have the time to take care of an indoor garden, why not try bottle gardening, suggests a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"All you need to turn a dull dark corner of your home into a bright colorful spot is a water proof container, tap water and cuttings of some favorite plants," says Everett Janne.

Beverage bottles, vases, canning jars, fish bowls and aquariums make good containers.

Use cuttings from any plant with a thick stem, such as a myrtle, geranium, oleander, wax begonia, coleus or hibiscus.

"First, clean out the bottle with hot water and detergent. Then add tap water. Make a clean cut on the branch or stem you want to use and remove the lower leaves so that none will be below the waterline. Put the cuttings in the water and arrange them any way you like," says the horticulturist with the Texas A&M University System.

Change the water about once a month and wash the container

STAR-SPANGLED HISTORY

HISTORICAL DRAWINGS BY JOSEPH BOGGS BEALE (1841-1926)

"SALEM WITCH HANGING"

The Salem witch scare began in 1692, when Tituba, a West Indian slave belonging to a local minister, told some of the Salem girls tales of voodoo. The girls became upset, and when they began screaming in the night and having nightmares, Salem's doctor declared that the girls had been bewitched. Tituba and two others were hanged as witches. The Salem witch scare lasted approximately one year, and in that time nineteen persons were hanged and one was pressed to death.
