Documentary Film Rio Grande to Be Shown on KLBK-TV, Channel 13

A massive wave of mercy that has drawn more than 50,000 volunteers to meet human need along the 900 mile Texas-Mexico border will be aired in a 30-minute documentary on television stations throughout the state in early September.

"Although the mission effort called the 'River Ministry' has been quietly expanding at our doorway to Mexico for about five years, many Texans have probably never heard of it," said Dr. T.A. Patterson, Dallas, executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. "This is largely because it hasn't, until now, been widely covered in television or newspapers."

The film, "Rio Grande," shows Texans, including teenagers, doctors, farmers, ministers and others giving their time and talents to improve the lot of the 2 1/2 million people along the River.

During the past five years more than 50,000 people of all ages from upstate Texas have spent vacations and other times doing everything from digging wells in desert areas to building churches where there were none.

Many doctors, dentists and other medical personnel travel to the Rio Grande regularly to give their time and talents to heal people's bodies and spirits, said Dr. Patterson. Several mobile clinics fashioned from old trucks and buses carry the doctors and their equipment and supplies into isolated areas where people wouldn't otherwise get the medical

Onions Delivered To Tech

Five 50 pound sacks of Terry County onions were delivered to Texas Tech this week as a sample of the quality of vegetables which might one day be grown on lands newly acquired by the university for teaching and research by the College of Agricultural sciences.

Don Tankersley, assistant vice president and agricultural adviser of the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Co., delivered the yellow sweet Spanish onions provided by R.B. Todd Produce, Inc.

"Vegetable growing is on the increase in Terry County," Tankersley explained, "and onions provided a valuable extra cash crop for farmers this year."

"We've brought some to Texas Tech just to demonstrate the potential of the land the university has acquired. We thought the administrators might like to see, and taste, what can be done on Terry County land."

The onions were unusually large and Dean Anson R. Bertrand of the College of Agricultural Sciences commented on their top quality.

Texas Tech acquired approximately three sections in Terry County early this year, and the land is to be developed as an agricultural sciences laboratory.

Tankersley is a graduate of Texas Tech University, holding the B.S. degree in agricultural education.

care they need.

About two years ago, Baptists launched an agricultural mission program to make isolated desert areas between Big Bend and El Paso-Juarez "blossom like a rose." Already many residents of Los Fresnos and El Comedor, Mex., downriver from El Paso have livelihood and a better life through irrigation, and such crops as pecan trees and bee culture as well as vegetable gardens for the first time.

"To continue the 'River Ministry' and to extend a caring hand to millions of other Texans," said Dr. Patterson, "more than 4,000 Southern Baptist churches across Texas will seek to raise $1 million in a special state missions offering in September."

"Through $1 million may not seem large in a state the size of Texas," said Dr. Patterson, "when it's backed up by thousands of volunteers from all walks of life, it reaches infinitely far."

"Mix with your financial resources, people-black, white, brown and yellow-working together shoulder to shoulder in Christian love and you have an unbeatable combination."

The movie "Rio Grande" will be shown in Lubbock on Channel 13, KLBK-TV. The date to be announced later.

Frenship Tigers Drop Opener to Hale Center Owls, 20-13, Friday

Frenship Tigers went to Hale Center Friday and played the Hale Center Owls, with Hale Center winning the game 20-13.

Frenship scored first after a 60 yard scamper by Travis Harvey, took the ball to the 2 yard line, and Davey Booher scored on a quarterback sneak.

The second quarter was rather disastrous for the Tigers as the referees decided to carry the ball. The third quarter was a repetition of the second. Several long gains were called back by penalties. The Hale Center Owls manager to score three times, once when a punt was blocked and once when a pass was intercepted.

The Tigers never gave up and scored the second time on a pass to Bo McKee.

A Natural Energy Home uses natural gas for heating, cooling, water heating, cooking and clothes drying to save you money and help conserve our cleanest natural energy resource . . . natural gas. That's because electricity in West Texas is generated by burning natural gas, and in the process of generating and transmitting electricity to your home, 2/3 of the gas energy is lost. So, by using gas directly in the home for the jobs it can do, you're helping to conserve it and you're getting more energy for your money.

Mrs. J.H. Wheeler of the West View Home Demonstration Club, read, as probably many of you did, that in East Texas at Athens a blackeyed pea bake and recipe contest was held. Joy wrote for the prize winning recipe "since we raise and eat so many blackeyed peas in Hockley County". Joy tried the recipe on her family with favorable results—well, it was really 75 percent favorable. It is a different way to serve blackeyed peas and Joy has graciously shared the recipe. I hope you will try it and let Joy Wheeler know if you like it.

Blackeyed Pea Casserole

- 1 cup cooked blackeyed peas
 - 1 cup white corn meal
 - 1/2 cup flour
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon soda
 - 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 - 1 cup buttermilk
 - 1/2 cup cooking oil
 - 1/2 pound grated sharp cheese
 - 1 chopped onion
 - 2 to 3 Jalapeno peppers
 - 1/2 can (size 303) corn

- Mix all together adding the cheese last (reserve 1/2 cup of the cheese for topping). Pour in greased oblong pan. Top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees F. 45 minutes.
