JEST SOME THOUGHTS—

And Mother Nature hasn't provided us with a measurable amount of precipitation yet. We wonder why everything is always blamed on the female gender.

Regardless of the weather, it's the fault of "her" or a raging, roaring storm begins with "hur". We grant you for sure the "hers" padding around on this earth would like to see some moisture too.

We always enjoy seeing the little kiddies squishing mud up between their toes following a nice summer shower; brings back fond memories. There's just nothing quite like it.

The frogs croaking and the nice, fresh smell of the newly washed air we inhale—the luscious muddy tracks all over the carpets and floors, the lovely muddy cars—the "house dogs" that don't know they aren't supposed to take a bath outside and immediately return to their favorite spot on the bed or couch—that's living.

Especially in a year like we have just experienced with rain drops way below average.

Oh, well that was a nice thought.

So we turn our minds to the hot, dry parched earth and are thankful for irrigation. Can you imagine—without it?

The crops still look extremely good on the few roads we travel. Probably even just the humidity of the past few days will help. It was so heavy Monday night, we could even smell rain. So could our sinuses—enough to act up, anyway.

Hey, we have a new one added to the salt—mine this week. Our youngster is getting broken into the linotype this week. Besides being so much help to us, it is a real blessing to have someone else to blame the mistakes on.

After she sets this in the iron monster, we are liable to be a one man shop again. But we hope not, as it surely is nice having someone in the shop besides us. It gets kinda lonesome sometimes.

"Course our Mother helps us out sometimes, too, usually on Wednesday late—and anyone who happens by at press time for a cup of coffee generally gets roped in.

We never turn down help.

Got in the new schedule for the school year of 1971-72 this week. Boy, it's sure nearly that time again. And the football schedule—brings to mind cold, cold nights a vast cheering section—and we sure hope we have a real good team this year. But, win or lose the games are always good.

Can start thinking about the blankets, stadium seats and the steaming thermos filled with coffee, visting with those we haven't seen in a while, the thrill of the long, completed passes and the runs for touchdowns.

Well, just because we've got some help this week doesn't mean we don't still have plenty of work to do, so we'll roll off for another week.

It Is Our Belief . . .

That the elderly citizens of Ropes, and Texas for that matter, should not be caused the worry and upset of where their next meal is coming from, or where they will obtain the money to pay doctors and hospital bills if they should become ill.

A startling situation has occurred the past few days that has everybody wondering just what the State Department of Health and Welfare is preparing to do. Regardless of the situation, the older residents should not be placed in a position of worry and strain. They have given their best to society—have paid their taxes for many, many years, and now that they are unable to work any longer, they should have the peace of mind and rest that supposedly comes in the twilight of life.

We have not received much satisfaction on this subject, though we made numerous phone calls, and tried to find out just what the situation has become. We will say that most everyone we talked to was very cooperative and polite—but they don't have much information at this time either.

We called Frances Seate at the Welfare office in Levelland and she stated she didn't have anything for publication, she had no authority to release any statements, but if we would wait, we would probably receive news releases in the future, in fact, she would be sure we received one.

Well, we don't have a lot of patience, and do not care to wait, especially when so many older citizens have been upset at this early date. They shouldn't have been informed definitely settled besides the fact that they were fixing to lose the help of the state.

Mrs. Seate did give us two numbers to call in Lubbock, which we did, and though neither man was in when we phoned, one of them graciously returned our call.

Mr. Young, who is with the Welfare department in Lubbock told us that he is not sure just what is going to be done, but there is a new program going into effect September 1, and it is called the "Vendor Drugs Program." Though he is not sure what the benefits will be at this time, as the meeting is to be held next week in Austin to inform them, he did say that he thinks possibly the money now being allocated for medicine to the people will instead be given to the drug companies, for distribution (we suppose).

"We are facing something new that we don't understand," stated Mr. Young, "perhaps it is a foot in the door to what we are trying to accomplish. I don't know of any way a person can be denied help from the welfare if they have no other income. However, those who are receiving help to medicine, will be stopped, so this means a decrease in most checks and where a person is on social security, it does mean being cut off."

Really, what it boils down to, as far as we can understand it, is the fact that the amount prescribed for medication will be dropped from all welfare checks. In some cases, this may not leave very much help.

The funds that are now going into the checks being distributed, will be placed in the drug program.

On talking to Emmett Schoenrock, Commissioner for our precinct, he said that he really doesn't know very much about it either, but that he was surprised that the movement affected the older people. He had supposed it was for some of the others on the welfare program.

We spoke to local resident,

B. M. Taliaferro, and he said, "We were called to Levelland several days ago, and we thought it was about making a financial statement or something. Then the first thing we knew, she was lining up chairs in her room, a whole row full, and was going to explain the why and where. It was just like a bolt of lightning out of a clear blue sky, we were told we would be completely cut off September 1st. We have not been receiving very much, but what we did get meant a whole lot to us. They have been paying the premium on our medicare, which we will now have to pay, and I guess what medicare didn't pay on our medical bills, they paid."

"We have had a lot of doctor bills this past year and this meant a whole lot to us. I had many eye treatments in preparation for surgery, and then the surgery and the hospital bill and all, and it would have been a real burden if we had not had this help. If we could stay in good health and not have a lot of medical and medicine bills,

"My social security is bought and paid for, and I was proud we didn't have to have the help of welfare, but we needed it for medical bills. Way back in the '30's I voted for the bill to give old age assistance. It wasn't much, just a little amount, but it sure did mean a lot to us. It was a right smart disappointment to lose this help."

We kinda feel like Mr. Taliaferro in wanting to know who is responsible for this. We'd like to know who to vote for, too. The politicians may figure the older folks won't hurt their campaigns too much, but at the rate time is passing nowadays, we will be sharing the sameboat before too long, and we would certainly like to insure a little bit of care in later years.

We know for a fact that it is impossible to live on social security for a lot of people. Their check is so small they couldn't hope to live on it, and if they can't work some, what then?

7 Accidents In June

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated seven accidents on rural highways in Hockley County during the month of June, according to Sergeant H. E. Pirtle, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons being killed and 12 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first six months of 1971 shows a total of 52 accidents resulting in two persons killed and 45 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for June 1971, shows a total of 524 accidents resulting in 10 persons killed and 308 persons injured. This was 19 less accidents, 13 less fatalities and 46 less injured than during May.

The ten traffic deaths for the month of June, 1971, occurred in the following counties: Floyd with two; Hale, Montague, Palo Pinto, Stone-wall, Carson, Donley Harde-man and Hutchinson with one each.

SALE OF BONDS APPROVED

Recently we visited in Levelland with County Judge Hulon Moreland, and he informed us that the Commissioner's Court had approved the sale of the road bonds on June 12.

The bonds are for the highway between Levelland and Lubbock, and the road is desperately needed. The county voted on this issue in February, and it passed.

Though actual construction won't begin for a good while the buying of right-of-way will begin shortly.

The amount of the roads bonds is $450,000, and is payable in five years. It is stated that the interest on these bonds is less than four per cent.

Hockley County will pay one-half of the cost of the right of way, and the state will pay one-half of the right-of-way, and the entire cost of construction.

Fall Fashions Forecast

The fall fabrics prove there are no more fashion absolutes.

Yarns of all fibers will be made into chiffon, corduroys, denims, challis and silk broad cloth. Cotton, wool and silk and all the man-made fabrics will span the seasons.

Fall has a variety of moods. You can choose from the ethnics, batik-inspired prints, natural looks, all important denims, country oaks, tapestries and the quilts. All interpreted into a variety of fabrics for daytime and evening wear.

Cottons make the fall scene in Muslin, soft twills, brushed denims or embroideries. All cotton tapestries will also be available with a fat weave or a deep pile furry hand.

Fashionable wools will include the print on texture, softly brushed looks with a blanket feel and challis or classic paisley prints. Adding a new touch to the classic weaves will be metallic yarns. Solids are still important, especially in fluffy jacquard weave that is machine washable.

Acrylic fabrics for fall come in tapestries, challis and a retteny single knit. These fibers will be blended with wool and other synthetics. Keep an eye on acrylics. They have grown tremendously the last two or three years and their potential growth is even greater. Mystic beauty in Fall fabrics will be created with transparent nylons sheer velvets and organza and silk chiffons.

The fall colors are clear and bright. Blue, plum and pink, burgandy and terra cotta, papaya, green and red. The great neutrals are black, white, cream and gray.

Skirt length? Some authorities say around the knee — others say to cover the knee.

Diseased Kidneys? Prepare To Die

What do you do if you have non-functioning or diseased kidneys. The answer to that question all too often in Texas is: "Prepare to die," says the Texas State Department of Health.

But if you can afford it and have the facilities available—hemodialysis can be the difference between living and dying. Kidney transplants also have proved partially successful.

Time is important to a person with faulty kidneys because uremia sets in quickly. This toxic condition is followed by symptoms of headaches, swelling, vomiting, convulsions, coma and death — death that is, unless a kidney treatment center is available and there is sufficient money to provide the needed care. Patients can purchase their own dialysis machine for home use.

The kidneys are the chief excretory organs of the body. Waste products are carried to the kidneys by the blood stream and removed as the blood circulates through the kidney cells. The wastes pass out of the body as urine.

In dialysis, a tube carries blood through a series of sterile tubes, past various monitors and pumps and then to one side of a semi-permeable cellophane membrane. On the other side, moving in the opposite direction, is dialysis fluid — a man-made liquid with some of the same qualities as blood plasma. By simple diffusion, the waste products and some fluids pass through the cellophane into the dialysis fluid and are thus flushed away. Another tube carries blood back into the patient's arm.

A patient and his partner receive six weeks of training in using dialysis equipment. The partner must be present during training and actual use of the machine to prevent loss of too much fluid and a drop in blood pressure. The average patient spends five hours on the machine three times a week.

Treatment in a hospital—if enough of them had necessary facilities—would cost around $25,000 a year. But a home machine costs approximately $1,700. Disposable materials costs some $5,000 a year; however, this figure can be cut by more than half by a technique developed in Austin for reusing some of the disposables.

A survey conducted last summer showed that upwards of 500 Texans a year develop kidney problems necessitating dialysis. The study further showed that during the year ending last July 1, only 84 persons actually received it. The State Health Department hopes the day will come when all who need it can get treatment.

Mrs. Russell Retires

Mrs. Aubrey Russell, District 2 home demonstration agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service since 1951, will retire on August 31. Her headquarters have been in Lubbock.

Replacing her as district agent will be Mrs. Catherine Crawford, currently serving as home demonstration agent for Howard County.

The announcement was made by Extension Service Director John E. Hutchison.

A 24-year veteran of the Extension Service, Mrs. Russell was first employed in 1947 as home demonstration agent in Cottle County. From there, she moved to the same position in Hunt County, and since 1951, has supervised the youth and adult work of county home demonstration agents, associates and assistants in the 20-county South Plains district.

Hutchison said Mrs. Russell has been a dedicated Extension person, demonstrating poise and professional dignity along with a capacity for leadership in organizing and conducting educational programs for the development of people.

She has developed an excellent relationship with all Extension audiences, he continued. As evidence, home demonstration club women and agents of District 2 in 1970 created the "Aubrey W. Russell 4-H Scholarship."

A native of Burleson, Mrs. Russell received her B. S. degree in home economics education from Texas Woman's University and her M. S. degree in adult education at the University of Chicago, graduating with honors. She has done additional work at the University of Arkansas, the University of Wisconsin and Texas Tech University.

The retiring district agent is a life member of the American and Texas Home Economics Associations, having served as secretary of the Texas Association during 1962-1964. She is a member of the Altrusa Club of Lubbock, the Ex-Students Association of Texas Woman's University, the American Association of University Women and the Texas Agricultural Workers Association.

In addition, Mrs. Russell holds membership in the Alpha Zeta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi, honorary Extension fraternity.

Prior to her Extension employment, she taught at Egan Rural School in Johnson County and was home economics teacher for a year at Faris High School. She also served as Farmers Home Administration supervisor at Bonham and Vernon and District FHA Supervisor at Wichita Falls.

While Mrs. Russell plans to make her home in Lubbock after retirement, she also will spend time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wilshire, who still reside in Burleson.

Mrs. Crawford, the new District 2 home demonstration agent, is a graduate of Texas Tech University with a B. S. in home economics education. She has done additional work at Mary, Hardin-Baylor College, Texas A&M University and Texas Tech. Before joining the Extension staff of Howard County in 1960, she was instructor of nutrition and dietetics at Scott and White Hospital and head dietician at Santa Fe Hospital, both in Tempel, and taught high school home economics in Denver City.

Listed in the 1970 "Who's Who of American Women," Mrs. Crawford is a member of the American and Texas Home Economics Associations, Epsilon Sigma Phi and is association of Extension Home Economists.

Also active in the Big Spring First Methodist Church, Mrs. Crawford her husband Delaine and their four children have been named "Church Family of the Year."

NEWS FROM GENERAL TELEPHONE

Communications Workers of America has rejected a General Telephone Company of the Southwest offer for a new contract, according to a joint news release by the union and the company.

The company made the offer Tuesday with the union indicating Wednesday that they had reviewed the package proposal and were rejecting it in its entirety. Reasons spelled out for the rejection were: inadequate wage increases, retrogression in some benefits, non-acceptability of a three-year contract with wage reopener beginning in the third year, and inequities for females in wage schedules.

The company package offers included wage increases, improvements in hospitalization plan, increased company payment for hospitalization plan for employees and dependents, board and lodging improvements, eighth holiday vacation and pension plan improvements.

Talks Thursday following the rejection also included discussion of classification of towns and wage rates, details of board and lodging and hospitalization plan improvements.

Negotiations are expected to continue.
