Ropes Eagles Downed by Crosbyton, 33-0

There isn't much you can say after you've been clipped by Crosbyton, 33-0, except to say that it was a non-conference clash and they don't start counting chips until this Friday night.

Friday the Ropesville Eagles hope to get off on a good basis when they go to O'Donnell to open District 5-A competition. And while the homestanding Eagles are strong, Coach Bill Shaha can point to his Texas Tech alma mater's upset of Oklahoma State as an example to follow.

The game Friday will start at 7:30 p.m. and Ropes is looking for a strong contingent to back the Eagles.

Ropesville shook off the effects of a 53-yard run by Ronald Wiley on the game's second play last Friday and fought the heavily favored Chiefs to a near standstill. The Chiefs managed a second quarter score, but held only a 12-0 lead at the half.

But Ropesville couldn't get going and the Chiefs powered their way in for three last half scores to ice down the victory.

needs the following information from those persons requesting ballots to be voted by mail: Name, as is listed on voter registration certificate, voting precinct number, and present address, whether it be a temporary address or their home address of P.O. box number.

State Feeder Pig Show Scheduled in Athens November 2nd and 3rd this Year

The second annual Texa State Championship Feeder Pig Show will be held in Athens, Nov. 2 and 3, according to John S. Carroll, Jr., chairman. The show is aimed at improving the quality of feeder pigs and the swine industry of Texas.

Site of the show will be the sale facilities of the Athens Feeder Pig

Sale Association located three and one-half miles north of the city on Highway 19.

The event is being sponsored by the Association and the Athens Chamber of Commerce.

All swine producers in Texas are eligible to enter pigs in the show. The deadline is Oct. 24. Entry forms are available from most swine association presidents or the Texas State Championship Feeder Show, P.O. Box 1418, Athens, Texas 75751. There is no entry fee or admission charge.

An entry consists of a pen of eight pigs, farrowed by the exhibitor. The pigs must weigh an average of 40 to 70 pounds. A pen may consist of barrows, gilts, registered, crossbred or any combination thereof. All barrows must be completely healed. Each exhibitor is limited to three entries.

The show will be made up of three classes, determined by the average weight of the pigs entered. Prize money plus ribbons will be awarded to the first seven places in each class. The first place in each class will receive $35, then the money decreases to $5 for seventh place. The grand champion pen will receive $400 plus a trophy, with the reserve champion pen receiving $200 plus a trophy.

As an added attraction, the judges will select one pig as Champion individual feeder pig. The exhibitor of this pig will be awarded a large clock trophy.

Judges for the event will be Dr. T.D. Tanksley, Jr., and Dr. Gilbert Hollis, both swine specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Bill Brown, manager, Extension Service, John Morrell Co., Memphis, Tenn.

Feeder pigs will be received at the show facilities Nov. 2 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Exhibitors should bring their own trough, water pans and other necessary supplies. The show officially starts at 7 p.m. Nov. 2 with an exhibitor's banquet. Judging of entries begins the next day at 8 a.m.

Following the judging, all entries will be sold by auction beginning at 3 p.m. A 5 percent commission will be charged on all sales.

Numerous swine equipment manufacturers will display equipment throughout the day. A Dutch treat "East Texas" open pit pork Bar-B-Q luncheon will be served at noon on November 3.

The Thick Of Things

"The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding fine."

So goes the saying.

The mills of the more "god-like" decision-makers of earth, courts and congresses, emulate that slowness, but that's as far as it goes. They are human institutions and imperfect, as we are often reminded by events.

Meanwhile there is nothing god-like about a newspaper.

Its presses don't grind at all—they whirr exceedingly fast.

As an imperfect human institution that is also always in a hurry, we are imperfect indeed.

Wisely, the function we serve does not require perfection. It requires only that there be an open marketplace for ideas and claims, so that the truth can "emerge triumphant" eventually.

Ours is a helter-skelter kind of service that is unique. The newspaper is the supermarket of the mass media. You can browse among the departments of your choice, examine the labels we call headlines, and select for yourself the items you care about.

The reporting style we use offers you still another choice. You can have as much of our food-for-thought as you want. You not only can stop with the headlines, you can quit after the lead facts or delve deeper if it suits you.

No other technique for gathering and laying out news and comment gives you this range of freedom of choice and a system of "labels" to make your choice most effective whenever you choose to exercise it.

In spite of the fact that we are always dealing with events that are bird-on-the-wing and can't "stop time" to do our thing as the courts, congress, researchers, and academicians so often do, the record shows that American newspapers are scarcely more error-prone in the long run than those other human institutions.

Yet our greatest virtue is that we do not pretend to be carving tablets of stone as they often do.

The daily newspaper, thus, with all its sins is a unique and invaluable institution and we are proud of the business we are in.

National Newspaper Week is a fitting tribute to the press, but the newspaper comes out every day, and in this on-going service every day is newspaper day in a practical way.

Our free and varied press may not give society "final solutions" to its problems, but it will always keep readers in the thick of things and able to cope.

We shall strive to keep meeting that basic obligation.

Saluting American Newspapers and their personnel during National Newspaper Week.

Sure, it's idealistic. It's also practical. For how can a people govern themselves if they don't know what's going on? Freedom of speech is a mockery unless you know what you're talking about! Your own personal freedom depends on freedom of information. That's why a free and fearless press is one of our Constitutional rights.

by Joe Kelly

The only trouble with big victories in football is that you get to enjoy them for such a short time. And, after a loss, it seems as though the time lasts forever.

Really, Texas Tech's victory over Oklahoma State was magnificent and should be savored by Raider fans, but there isn't time. The Texas Aggies, who have matured in a hurry from a Kiddie Korps to a Krunchin' Korps, hurry in for a game here Saturday night.

Still, you have to look back with pleasure on that 20-7 licking of the No. 11 ranked team in the nation. OSU Coach Jim Stanley had said that "the picnic's over", before the Tech game and, meaning no disrespect, I'd say that the ants spoiled the picnic.

The Raiders obviously carried the fight to the Cowboys. Aside from the only sustained OSU drive, the defense shut off the potent offense. And Tech took advantage of the breaks.

For some reason, the Cowboys had trouble holding onto Tech's first two punts. Both were fumbled, both were recovered by the Raiders. Both led to touchdowns. The Cowboys got so punt-shy that they stopped trying to catch David Kuykendall's high boomers.

Almost every time you looked up, State was on the defensive, trying to stop Tech. The Raiders simply kept the pressure on and never let up.

It was obviously a physical battle, the second in as many weeks, with another coming up Saturday. The Aggies are about as big as OSU and Texas. Tech will face another severe test.

In addition, the Aggies have a greater passing threat to throw at the Raiders, along with a running quarterback, who executes well, and a fullback possibly only a shade under Roosevelt Leaks. It's another major challenge to the bruised young Raiders.

I asked Coach Jim Carlen about David Mellott, who had about as sensational first home game that a freshman could have—on a freshman team, that is.

Mellott is the "walk on" freshman kicker, who booted five field goals against Arkansas the other night. He also added the extra points to wrap up the impressive Picador victory.

Mellott—with a name like that he should be a baseball player—came to Tech because two buddies had been recruited. Like varsity kicker Don Grimes, he is without scholarship.

Carlen says that the San Antonio freshman may never be the accurate kicker Grimes is, but he's taking a close look at him as a kickoff man. He has a powerful leg and his kicks weren't close. They sailed plenty long enough, long enough to knock a window out of the athletic offices! He could be a real sleeper.

Along with thousands of others, I enjoyed the football-baseball double header Sunday, including the College Highlight film on ABC, which had Tech looking good.

But one thing I could do without and that is that electronic trumpet at Cincinnati that plays "Charge" for almost every Cincinnati batter. Once in a while is fine, but the continuous blaring gets on your nerves. Made me happy the Reds lost.

The Oakland A's went home, 1-1, and have the edge going into the finals. I'd have to say that they have the best chance to make it into the World Series, with the Mets, after winning Monday, a solid favorite. The underdog Mets have had three great pitching gems.

So, as this is being written, it looks as though it would be the A's vs the Mets, California vs New York. It should be a great World Series, possibly the most popular in recent years. It's bound to be a bitter fight, Mets pitching against A's hitting.

Jesse Owens is still a champion, probably greater in stature today than he was, even, as an Olympic champion. The track great, who set the world on its ear in the 1932 Olympics, still is doing it.

But now it's through his speeches. He's gained a masterful style of speaking, and he doesn't back away from questions. He tells it like it is and makes no apologies for his opinions. The funny thing is, people accept it from him and respect him for it. Lubbock was fortunate to have him speak for the United Fund kickoff dinner.

Tech basketballers open formal workouts next Monday and Coach Gerald Myers, who is all smiles now, probably won't let a hint of a smile crease his face until March 15.

Gerald's biggest worry is replacing Ron Richardson at forward, a position he says he'll have to strengthen in recruiting. For this year he'll have William Johnson at one forward, with six weeks in which to find a mate as the Raiders prepare to defend their conference title. Somehow or other, I imagine Gerald and George Davidson will come up with a strong replacement.
