Jest some thoughts

Sure thought we weren't going to get this column written this week; and it isn't accomplished yet, so maybe and maybe not.

And by the time we got around to it late Tuesday afternoon, the clouds are all gone, the wind is blowing, and it isn't raining, so what are we going to talk about.

All that's left of that young flood is the puddles, and they are mighty wet and muddy, but surely not newsworthy.

The fact that the floors are muddy and the cars have mud all over them is sure not news—and the statement that the clouds wept yesterday has already been said.

Also, the cotton doesn't need any more rain—but it got it—now when is the big freeze coming—will it give that late cotton time to mature, or won't it? This is also an old question.

The fact that its colder than heck and the electric blankets are in use—as are the long handles and sometimes big coats has already been said.

The ruts, which are getting so bad you can't stay in, around or on them due to the nutty weather have already been discussed.

And everyone knows that umbrellas and raincoats are more popular this year than they ever have been in West Texas.

All women know the wet weather makes some of their hair kinky and some of it straight.

It's also a known fact that we all are sprouting webbed feet and beginning to croak when we talk.

So, since we can't find anything to talk about since the weather let us down, we'll just not write the column this week.

To Class A

It was announced this week that Ropes will be in Class A rating next school term, and will be in District 5-A Interscholastic League.

A note from Mrs. Roy McCoy of Lamesa this week states she is fine, and looks forward to receiving the Ropes Plainsman each week, which she enjoys.

Ropes suffers loss of Commissioner Schoenrock

The final chapter has been written—and the book closed on the life of Emmett Schoenrock, commissioner of Precinct 1 in Hockley County—but the many pleasant memories remain.

Soft-spoken, dedicated and sincere, Emmett was highly thought of by his peers. Of all the people he served so well, no problem was too large or too small to receive his consideration. He numbered his friends by all who knew him.

Emmett was a man we had come to depend on—he was very reliable, and always kept his word. One of the very few in the political field who was completely honest, his firm handshake and friendly smile invited your trust and you knew immediately he would do everything he could for his precinct and county.

Ropes was lucky to have this man represent them in county business—we were fortunate in that he was fair to our portion of the county, our lives were all enriched by the friendship of this man.

Emmett will be missed—very much so, both in the great job he performed and the friendly chats he found time for. We have no idea who will take his place, but we do know we have had the pleasure of having one of the greatest commissioners in our history—and we all feel the loss.

Last rites were conducted at 3 o'clock Tuesday from the First United Methodist Church in Levelland for Emmett Otto Schoenrock. Interment was in City of Levelland Cemetery under direction of George Price Funeral Home.

Officiating was the Rev. Alby Cockrell, pastor, and the Rev. J. B. Sharp, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church of Amarillo.

Schoenrock, 59, died at 6:30 p.m. Sunday of an apparent heart attack while visiting with relatives in Comanche.

Announcing for Commissioner of Precinct 1 in April of 1968, he was elected and had not quite completed his first term of office. He had resided in Hockley County for 36 years, and in Precinct 1 for eight and a half years.

A retired farmer and business man, he served on many civic boards and was a member of the Methodist Church and served on the board of stewards.

He was a member of Levelland Masonic Lodge No. 1236, El Paso Consistory of Scottish Rite, Chapter and Council at Levelland.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Gene Schoenrock of Plains and Ronald Schoenrock of Dallas; two daughters, Mrs. Angle Martin of Levelland and Mrs. Janice Phelan of McKinney; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schoenrock of Levelland; four brothers, Herbert, Lawrence and Selmer Schoenrock, all of Levelland, and the Rev. Helmer Schoenrock of Dallas; and ten grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Jimmy Latham, J. R. Thompson, Gail Willis, A. W. Smith, Bob Burnett and Bill Hammer.

Eagles, Wilson tie in homecoming battle Friday

The Ropes Eagles and the Wilson Mustangs fought to a 6-6 draw here Friday night in a District 4-B game that left both with identical 2-2-2 season records.

It was the conference opener for both teams in a game that had been billed as possibly producing the eventual champion. Penetrations were tied, but Wilson led in first downs by 13-9.

Ropes scored first, taking a 6-0 halftime lead on the strength of Larry Shannon's

4-yard run in the second quarter. Wilson got its tally in the fourth quarter, on a 25-yard run by fullback Darrow Talkmitt.

Most heartbreaking to the Eagles and fans was a beautiful touchdown made on a pass, but was called back due to a red-flag play.

In homecoming ceremonies before the game, Connie Witt was crowned Homecoming Queen, Archie Jordan was named Football Hero and Becky Braden was selected Band Sweetheart.

Four accidents in county

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated four accidents on rural highways in Hockley County during the month of September, according to Sergeant H. E. Pirtle, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and no persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first nine months of 1971 shows a total of 76 accidents resulting in two persons killed and 58 injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for September, 1971, shows a total of 499 accidents resulting in 33 persons killed and 268 injured. This was 82 less accidents, eight more fatalities, and 132 more injured than during August.

The 33 traffic deaths for the month of September, 1971 occurred in the following counties: Potter, seven; Lubbock, four; Parker and Childress, two each; Archer, Clay, Garza, Kent, Lynn, Montague, Palo Pinto, Wise, Yoakum, Carson, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Gray, Hansford, Moore, Parmer, Swisher and Wilbarger, one each.

CONVENIENCE AND COST OF FOOD

We get built-in services—such as cleaning, peeling, mixing and cooking—in many of the foods we buy. Some of these foods cost more, some about the same or even less, than similar food prepared at home. Pricing in Washington, D. C., supermarkets reveals that some convenience foods cost as much as three times the cost of ingredients needed to prepare such foods from family-type recipes. Two of the assortment of foods priced cost less than their homemade counterparts.

PLATE DINNERS—Each of the four commercially prepared, frozen, ready-to-heat dinners—meat loaf, beef, fried chicken and turkey—cost more than its home-prepared counterpart. Cost was from about 25 percent higher for the beef dinner to 110 percent higher for the fried chicken dinner.

Costs were based on home-prepared dinners that had the same amount of meat and of potatoes and a second vegetable as the commercial dinners. Even so, cost relationships might have differed substantially from those shown if another cut of meat or poultry had been selected for the home-prepared dinners. For example, whole ready-to-cook frying chicken (cut up) costing 42 cents a pound was used for the home-prepared fried chicken dinner. If chicken parts—breasts with ribs and legs—at 65 cents a pound had been used, the dinner would have cost 35 cents instead of 25 cents. Thus, the commercial fried chicken dinner would have cost only 5-percent, rather than 110 percent, more than the dinner prepared at home.

MAIN DISHES—Some brands of frozen ready-to-heat main dishes cost much more than other brands—partly because they contain more meat or poultry. For example, in Washington stores one brand of beef pie cost twice as much while another cost about the same as beef pie made from a home recipe. The less costly frozen pie contained only three-fourths as much meat as the homemade pie. Similarly, one brand of chicken pie cost 150 percent more and another brand cost only 20 percent more than homemade chicken pie.

Chicken chow mein, frozen, ready-to-heat, cost about 80 percent more or 20 percent more than homemade chow mein depending on the brand selected. Canned chow mein cost only 7 percent more than chow mein from a family type recipe.

Cheese pizza made from a packaged mix cost only slightly more than the pizza made from scratch. However, frozen pizza, ready for the oven, cost 60 percent more.

BAKERY PRODUCTS—Cost of apple pie, pound cake, brownies, sugar cookies, waffles and baking powder biscuits made from mixes ranged in cost from slightly less to one-third more than similar foods made from scratch. Frozen waffles, heated in the toaster, cost three times as much as homemade waffles; but canned chilled biscuits, ready-to-bake, cost only one-third more than homemade biscuits. Apple pie bought ready to eat cost about 80 percent more than homemade pies, but ready-to-eat brownies and sugar cookies cost about the same as those made at home.

WHAT'S THE CONSUMER TO DO?—Convenience foods, even at a higher cost than similar foods prepared at home, may be the best buy for the homemaker if her time or cooking skills are limited. For persons living alone, preparing some dishes at home may require too many ingredients and provide too many servings to be practical. Or the homemaker may prefer to use her time for activities other than food preparation. In each of these situations certain prepared foods may help.

The careful shopper will want to compare costs of equal size servings of home-prepared and commercially-prepared foods to be sure she is not paying more for convenience than she intends. Calculating precisely the costs for mixed dishes such as those shown in the table is not easy. Before she attempts the calculations, the homemaker will probably want to try the convenience item and see if it is acceptable to her and her family. If the home-prepared food has been counted on to provide a specific need for the day (a serving of meat and a serving of vegetable in a meat pie, for example) the convenience item it replaces should also meet this need.
