THE MATTER

.....Ted Dotts

Last week I heard one of the current Folk Rock singers sing the following words, "Inferiority, insecurity, that's exactly the matter with me." This might well be a theme song for us all. In some, or many areas of our living we might all join with him and sing these words.

The great strength of our current Folk Rock musicians is that they are able to point out to us what is wrong with us. But, the great weakness of the Folk Rock people is their inability to point us to any cure.

There are several cures for our illnesses of inferiority and insecurity. The one cure taken by a majority of the world is the cure of the flesh. This is to say that we simply give up and begin to live lives that will give us some pleasure physically. Hence, we get drunk, commit adultery, or overindulge in eating and movie going or bridge playing.

Another cure taken by a majority of us is the drive to become superior to all others. We think in this way that we can cure our feelings of inferiority and insecurity. Gossiping is "easiest to see form" of the drive for superiority. Gossiping is our attempt to drag others down from their position (or the position we think they have) and this results in making us feel superior. For a moment, after we have dragged someone in the dirt, we lose our feelings of insecurity and inferiority. But only for a moment! Soon we are back in the same mess as before only worse because now we have guilt feelings for our gossip.

There is one other cure for inferiority and insecurity which is taken by only a few. This cure is effectual when men answer Cain's question to God with a great big YES! "Am I my brother's keeper?" asked Cain. "Yes," must be the answer for those seeking cure.

There is a moral order in our world. There is a God who punishes those who chose to live outside the moral order. His punishment is most often seen in the crumbling lives of persons who chose to live for physical pleasure or who chose to live trying to become superior to others. The Samaritan Woman (John 4:4-27) is a good example of one who sought to overcome inferiority and insecurity with physical indulgence. The Tax-Collector, Zacchaeus, (Luke 19:1-10) is a good example of one who tried to overcome inferiority and insecurity with a drive for power. Note how Jesus answers them both.

ROPES WINS 14-12

Thanks to a fine defensive showing, the Eagles contained the Whiteface Antelope attack and won 14-12.

Whiteface was repeatedly thrown for big losses by the Ropes defensive team, led by Bill McCormick, Sammy Means, Gary Don Rucker, Ronnie Huie, and Johnny Robertson, and Lonnie Exum, and Terry Bradshaw.

Ropes scored on a pass from Chuck Braden to David Bradshaw that covered 40 yards. The second touchdown was made on a one foot Quarterback sneak by Braden. Lara ran the extra points.

Ropes had one TD called back, that a ten yard run by Braden. Ted Lowrie looked good on kickoff returns, and Abram Lara was punting very well.

Ronnie Price and Monico Soloman, looked good on pass defense, as did Lara.

It was a real "team effort", and our boys hit very hard. Whiteface made only 15 yards rushing all night.

The following honors were made: Lineman of the week, Bill McCormick; Back of the week, Chuck Braden.

This week we play a highly favored Amherst team. They are undefeated so far. In order to beat Amherst, we must play four quarters of hard football. Our boys can do it if they have "loads" of encouragement from everyone in Ropes. Lets get behind them and help beat Amherst.

COOPERATIVE TAX FAVORITISM

by Ronnie McNabb

The cooperative movement in the United States has grown tremendously in the last few years at the expense of privately owned business. The cooperatives are replacing many independent businesses, and by doing so have ended their existence as federal tax paying firms. If the cooperatives replace all private businesses, who would pay the federal income taxes now paid by private industry?

The cooperatives now handle the largest part of the cotton crop in history. Cotton and cottonseed are handled by cooperatives from the producer to the spinner, and from seed crushing to the food buyer.

The cooperatives are constantly pushing the independent businesses out of business by their unfair 22 to 48 per cent tax advantage. It is not hard to see how cooperatives can grow so fast under such a tax advantage.

Under the present tax laws the cooperatives do not pay the same federal income taxes as private business. The cooperatives operate and do not pay any federal income tax on their gross income, while private businesses must pay 22 to 48 per cent federal

SIX FLAGS NINE HOLE GOLF COURSE TO OPEN

There'll be nine flags over Six Flags Saturday, September 25, when the Six Flags NINE illuminated nine hole, 3-par golf course officially opens to the general public for play at 9 a.m.

Designed by Ralph Plummer and Byron Nelson for Great Southwest Corporation, owner/operators of Six Flags Over Texas, the new $100,000 golf course is located in the Great Southwest Industrial District on Highway 360 just across the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike from the famed amusement park.

The beautifully landscaped 1,207 yard, par 27 golf course which has been under construction since May 1964, was designed to afford an interesting and enjoyable layout for golfers through the use of undulating greens, five sand traps and his-anders through the property. Full illumination makes the golf course available for play both night and day.

Distances from tees to the greens range from 162 yards to 104 yards. Byron Nelson, who spent numerous hours testing the Six Flags NINE under actual playing conditions said, "On this course the average golfer would probably prefer to use a 3, 5, 7, and 9 iron along with a putter for best results. Women golfers might like to add a wood to this complement of irons," he noted.

The 59,000 watt mercury vapor illumination system designed by Burton Brothers Electric Company of Fort Worth, is, according to R. E. L. Burton, vice president, "the best lighted golf course in the entire Southwest, and I say this without fear of contradiction." Burton added, "During practice rounds of golf after dark, the 59,000 watt system puts out 3,240,000 lumens (measure of light) and the golfers were able to follow the flight of the ball from tee to green equal to or better than in broad daylight."

The Six Flags NINE will be open from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m., seven days a week. As an added convenience, golf clubs will be available for rent.

WANTED BY THE FBI

ALSON THOMAS WAHRlich

Wahrlich, one of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives," is wanted for unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for the crime of kidnaping. He allegedly abducted a 6-year-old Arizona girl in Tucson, Arizona, on April 16, 1964, and brutally beat, choked, and sexually molested her before leaving her abandoned in the same city. A Federal warrant was issued at Tucson on April 23, 1964, charging Wahrlich with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for this offense.

A white American, Wahrlich was born in Rensselaer County, New York, on February 4, 1936. He is 5' 2" tall, weighs 185 to 140 pounds, wears glasses, has blue eyes, brown hair, a medium build and a medium complexion. He has a scar on his left shoulder, a vaccination scar on his left arm, a scar on each side of his abdomen, and a tattoo of a heart and the name "Cindy" on his left arm.

Wahrlich has worked as a truck driver, ranch worker, dishwasher, house trailer repairman, hospital orderly, insurance salesman, and ice cream truck vendor. He is very interested in guns and strongly prefers traveling by personally owned car. Wahrlich reportedly has mental blackouts, has been previously imprisoned for aggravated assault, child molesting, and a crime against nature. He reportedly is armed with a pistol and is said to carry a surgical scalpel in his trouser's pocket. Consider him armed and extremely dangerous.

Should you receive any information concerning the whereabouts of Alson Thomas Wahrlich, you are requested to immediately notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be located on the first page of local telephone directories.

Nola Knows

By Nola White

Dear Nola - My sister and I don't love our parents. They give us everything we want, and we do as we please. They are good to us, but we don't love them. This bothers us. What can we do about it?

Wretched

Dear Wretched - Parents who really love their children don't "give them everything they want" and they certainly don't let them do as they please. This is your real complaint. You have every reason to suspect that your parents don't love you, and of course, this bothers you very much. Show your parents this letter, and tell them you wrote it. Let's hope it shocks them into seeking professional guidance.

Dear Nola - My husband and I both work and get along fine. The problem is my mother. She's a middle-aged widow who is never satisfied. We've lived with her she's lived with us, boarded, had her own apartment, and lived with a friend. She's never happy. She complains of ill health. As a loyal, appreciative daughter, what's my duty to her?

Exhausted

Dear Exhausted - You've done your duty to her. She's a selfish tyrant. Your duty now is to your husband. So tell your mother she will have to grow up.

Dear Nola - My boy friend is going overseas, and he wants to get secretly engaged so I'll be waiting when he comes back. He says it'll be all right for me to go out with other fellows. I certainly don't want to stay home. Do you think I should become secretly engaged?

Sue

Dear Sue - A secret engagement would be meaningless, and both of you know it. You owe it to him to write, but don't compromise your conscience with an engagement.

Dear Nola - A couple I know fought all the time until they divorced. Now they're miserable without each other. They have two children. What about this?

Interested

Dear Interested - This is another example of how silly people can be. Obviously they need each other as sparring partners, and I think they should re-marry. I hope somebody makes it clear to the children that the parents fight because they like to and the marriage is as solid as a left hook to the jaw.

Send your letters to Nola White, Box 411, Temple, Texas. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

income tax on their earnings. The profits of the cooperative can be kept in the business tax free to be used in expanding the business or for whatever use they see fit. Whereas, private businesses must pay federal income tax and then if any money is left the business can be remodelled or expanded.

There are other ways in which the cooperatives have advantages over private businesses, but the tax advantage is the most important one. When a tax law is passed taxing the cooperatives the same as private businesses then one inequity will have been corrected between private businesses and cooperatives.
