THREE INCHES OF SNOW

THURSDAY OF LAST WEEK

What was termed a "surprise" snow fell over the South Plains last Thursday afternoon and night. Some places it measured better than three inches.

At no time did blizzard conditions exist as there was very little wind and the snow came almost straight down, much of it melting as it hit the ground. It was not until that night the weather became cold enough for the snow to stick to the earth.

It stopped snowing during the night, the sky cleared and the sun melted the fall Friday by a little after noon.

JOY ALLEN BUTANE

TRUCK DAMAGED

Friday morning of last week the butane truck belonging to the Broncho Butane Company, and operated by Joy Allen, was damaged by fire. It is stated that the fire started when he tried to start it and it backfired.

The Ropes Volunteer Fire Department was called and extinguished the flames.

Students Deplore Fact Ropesville Voted Against College Bond Issue

Dear Editor,

I was surprised when I picked up The Ropes Plainsman this week to find that the people of Ropes had voted against the bond issue.

I think it would be wise for some of the people of this community to take a field trip to South Plains College to see how badly this bond was needed.

SPC has only one girls' dormitory at this time. It is equipped for 2 girls to a room. This past fall semester, 3 girls were put into one room.

Every girl is still paying the price that she would pay if only 2 girls share a room.

Also, a Science Building is in the greatest of need. The Science Laboratories are full every class meeting. There are only a few periods in the week that the laboratory is vacant.

Class rooms, larger ones are needed. Classes are meeting in the Band Hall because no class room is large enough to accommodate this size of class. Then tests are given in the Lunch Room because the Band Hall is not large enough for a test to be given adequately.

We, the students of SPC, would urge each and every one to take a trip to SPC. You might wish you had voted for the issue. Know what you are voting for or against before you vote.

Students of SPC,
Your Home Town Graduates.

ANSWER

Dear Students,
Thanks very much for writing us.

In answering your question of why Ropes voted against the college bond issue, we will use your last sentence, "Know what you are voting for or against before you vote."

In this particular election sufficient time was not allowed for discussion or publicity—the life of a democracy depends on the people being informed, it also makes it possible for them to cast an intelligent vote.

As students, you possibly do not realize that no publicity whatever was given this election until four days before it was to occur. I would venture to say that not a third of the people in the county was aware an election had been called and most of them were not informed as to what the election was about.

It appeared that it was a deliberate attempt to railroad the election through without the people being informed. Many folks saw it in this light. I don't think there is any need to hide an election and let it be carried by a minority of voters. If an election is for something good it will stand the glaring headline of publicity—few informed voters will vote against improvements for education. It is our opinion that if sufficient time had been given, and also publicity, the election would still have been more than a token vote to saddle the taxpayer with a $650,000 bond issue.

The Editor.

Visit Junior High During School Week March 4-8

Due to the fact that a bond election is being proposed, the proceeds from which will replace the Junior High building, folks in this community are urged during Public School Week, which starts next week, to visit and inspect the building.

You have been told of the condition of the building, as well as the fact it is outmoded—now go see for yourself just what condition it is in. We believe a close inspection of the building will convince anyone that it is time now to discontinue its use and replace it with a new and modern building.

Schools are something that have to be kept up; which have to be erected to meet the trend of the times. Already the buildings we now have are over populated, and with a continued increase of scholastics it is necessary that steps be taken to take care of them.

The cost of the building has not been determined as yet. However, Mr. Fuller stated he thought more information as to size and cost would be available next week.

NEWS REPORT FROM REP. OLEN R. PETTY

Floor action picked up this week as we began to get into major pieces of legislation for the 58th session of the Texas Legislature. There were several local bills passed concerning local problems as well as some other important state legislation.

One of the bills that passed Thursday of last week, that would be of interest to the people in our area, is the name of West Texas State College to West Texas State University. Also, other legislation of extreme importance to our state was House Bill 97, relating to the creation of Padre Island National Sea Shore. The bill has passed the House with considerable bit of discussion and with several amendments added to the bill. The Senate has already passed on one form of the bill and now the House has passed its version on Wednesday. The Committees are still hard at work hearing the bills concerning all different types of subjects.

The Race Horse Bill by Rep. Red Berry of San Antonio was heard this week. This bill, House Bill 130, was primarily concerned with Race Horse Running as well as gambling in Bexar County. Last year the bill was written to allow gambling in several different counties of the State. This year Rep. Berry has come back with a bill just strictly for the purpose of allowing Race Track Gambling and Horse Racing just in Bexar County. Of course, the opponents of this bill feel that if you allow one county in the state to have horse racing it would not be long before the state would be legalized in its entirety. Rep. Berry's bill is now in the State Affairs Committee and will be there until such time that they see fit to pass it out for floor action.

On Wednesday of this week House Bill 81 by Rep. Cotton relating the Game, Fish and Parks Commission that will replace the Game and Fish Commission and the State Parks Board. This bill has been of extreme interest to hunters and fishermen all over the state. The proposal is sponsored by Governor Connally as well as many others. We feel that this is a move that will improve the Game Parks Commission as well as provide a better and more efficient Game and Fish Commission and with more economy.

There have been a total of 17 House Bills introduced this week and the Committees as well as the House begin to work longer now as we have more and more work to make decisions upon. Almost all committees have their sub-committees which are working and the Appropriations Committee has pretty well finished up its immediate hearings and will begin its hearings on other bills concerning other appropriations.

We have been hearing more and more from people back home about their feelings on different pieces of legislation. Certainly, you know that we are very happy to receive these letters, telephone calls and telegrams. I am very pleased to report that several people have dropped by to see us. We appreciate seeing each one and appreciate the opportunity to sit and talk with you about any problem in which you are concerned.

The calendar is getting more crowded and the committees are getting fuller. As I said before this all adds up to the fact that we are receiving more legislation and certainly they are important.

There was a hearing Wednesday on a House Bill by Rep. Berry to allow eighteen year olds the privilege of voting. This subject has been discussed for many many years and the bill is in a sub-committee of the House now.

The Tax Bills are beginning now to be heard. There was a hearing last week on the plans to set the sales tax at different rates and drop different

I will send another report when these bills are more formulated and I can get more of a concrete form. At this point there are many bills introduced and you can expect almost any kind of bill you can imagine, due to the lack of space, we will not go into them on this report. If we can be of service to you in any way, here in Austin, please feel free to contact us.

MISS CORNETT IS BRIDE OF GERALD KEITH WARD

At a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in the Baptist Church at Union, Miss Nona Genell Cornett became the bride of Gerald Keith Ward. The service was read by the Rev. Gene Tone. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cornett, Route 5, Brownfield, and her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Ward, Route 1, Ropesville. Mrs. Ray Cargill, Carlsbad, N. M., sister of the bride, accompanied Royce Cornett, a brother of the bride, soloist.

The bride wore a gown, made and designed by her mother, of white bridal satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace. Appliqued Alencon lace outlined the portrait neckline of the fitted princess bodice. The long sleeves tapered to petal points at her hands. There were sprays of appliqued lace, embedded with pearls and sequins on the front of the bouffant skirt. At each side of the overskirt were three white satin roses and roses centered the back at the waist to form a bustle. A full length train flowed from the bustle. Her elbow length illusion veil fell from a white cabbage rose. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid atop a Bible. Mrs. Adrian Hinson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaid was Miss Judy Goldston of O'Donoghue. The bridesmatron was Mrs. Glenn Lewis of Tokio. The attendants wore yellow Shandou sheath dresses with yellow bows at the waists. A yellow cabbage rose and yellow shoulder length veil matched their dresses and they each carried a white rose. Rheaanne Cargill, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Leanne Hinson, niece of the bride, and Lisa Rhea Sims, niece of the groom, were candlelighters. Ronnie Jones of Ropesville served the groom as best man. The groomsmen were Billy Durham and Leslie Lewis, both of Ropesville. Clifford Cargill, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. A reception followed in the home of the bride's parents. For her trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride chose a royal blue Pesante suit with walking length coat accented by a blue, white and green silk blouse. The coat was lined in the material of the blouse. Her accessories were black and white. The couple will make their home in Ropesville.

ty delegates from Texas had a meeting with George Mahon, congressman from this district. "Mr. Mahon discussed world affairs and the nuclear age, pointing out that these are perilous times, and said that if a war should start now our entire way of life would be destroyed — there would be little left and the human race would have to begin over again." He explained that both the United States and Russia are doing everything possible to avoid such a conflict, but with the many flareups it might start any minute. He also said that Cuba is a thorn in our side but that President Kennedy has to deal with it with kid gloves as it could be the thing which will lead to a third world war. Following breakfast in the Capitol building with Mr. and Mrs. Mahon, the group visited the Senate Chamber and saw the offices of the president and vice president. In Atlantic City Mr. Fuller and Mr. Bevers saw more than thirty acres of school equipment, as well as architectural ideas of the school buildings of the future. Also, they heard Vice President Lyndon Johnson speak on schools and the future of the world. He was followed by Astronaut John Glenn who gave a word picture of the United States landing a man on the moon ten years hence. Speaking also was Lt. White, who piloted an X-15 at more than thirty-six hundred miles an hour.

SCHOLASTICS HIT ALL TIME HIGH

Taking of the school census in the Ropes Independent School District has revealed the number of scholastics and the probable number who will attend school here this next year is an all time high. Up to Tuesday, with the census not completed, the number totals 750, whites being 720 and colored 30. This tops by 95 the number for 1962-63. It is thought before the census is completed there will be more than 100 more than at this previous session. This drives home the fact that we must have more and better facilities to take care of the growing need. Last year, at the peak, the school overflowed—it is now crowded and there is hardly room for additional pupils.

JOHN ADAMS

Second President of the United States 1797-1801 John Adams played a leading part in the fight for American independence, and in the founding of the Republic. In appearance, Adams was short, stout, and of ruddy complexion. He was not popular, for he lacked that warm, human quality which won men's hearts. He was a profound lawyer, and a statesman of high courage, but very few people loved him. He was a nervous man who often acted too hastily. He was vain, and would not listen to ideas that did not agree with his own opinion. He was born in Braintree (now Quincy), Massachusetts on October 19, 1735. He graduated from Harvard College in 1755. He taught school for several years. He studied law in Worcester, Massachusetts and he practiced law in Braintree, his home town. In 1764 he married Abigail Smith. They had five children, the eldest, John Quincy, became our 6th President in 1825. John Adams took part in the fight against the stamp act, the Boston Massacre, the Boston Tea Party; he was delegate to the Continental Congress in 1774; he also played an important part in the Declaration of Independence. He was a diplomat to France. During Adams' administration, Congress passed the
