

Eleanor Parker Is One Example; Country Girl Can Make Movies

Eleanor Parker said if she had it to do all over again, she'd still rather be born in Cedarville, Ohio, even though she believes a girl who hails from the mid-west and wants an acting career has one strike against her. The Warner Bros. star says there's no reason for it, but somehow Hollywood producers are inclined to look upon midwestern girls as corned milkmaids.

"Even when I was doing summer stock in New England, I began to get self-conscious about my geographical background," the star said, "because it was the general opinion that if a girl wasn't from an eastern or a southern city, she was pretty small potatoes and pretty apt to stay that way."

When she enrolled in the Pasadena Community Playhouse, Eleanor still stuck to her guns, and with unwavering loyalty told anybody who asked—even producers—that she was from Cedarville, Ohio.

"I don't understand what difference it makes," she said. "I think the girls from Ohio and Illinois and Iowa are just as beautiful and talented as any other girls. But the impression seems to be that they are all butter-churners who wear flatheeled shoes, and ribbons in their hair."

Miss Parker is the star of Warner's "Caged," due at the CAPROCK DRIVE-IN THEATRE on Tuesday. Agnes Moorehead is featured.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hawk, Mr. and Mrs. James Manuel and Mr. and Mrs. David Hawk and family were Saturday evening dinner guests of Mr. Mike Grochowsky, Delores, and Barbara.

Director Reveals His Secret; It's "Action"

Revealing one of the most important inside secrets on movie-making, Director Alexander Hall claims that what keeps people going to pictures are the things actors do on the screen rather than what they say.

Hall has been keeping pictures moving ever since he directed "Sinners In The Sun" by the simple expedient of putting things in players' hands or giving them some physical goal to accomplish while they are talking.

In Universal-International's new family comedy, "Louisa," opening Sunday at the CAPROCK DRIVE-IN THEATRE, Director Hall had Spring Byington handle an armful of knitting wool to fuss with while she had a "family run-in" with her movie son, as played by Ronald Reagan.

Water Affects The Foods You Cook

If you are having trouble making your fresh vegetables, soups and various other summer dishes "taste just right" why not try cooking them with Hygeia Purified Water. This purified water is free of sediments and flavor robbing minerals found in ordinary hydrant water. Your foods do not absorb unwanted tastes when Hygeia is used. Hygeia Purified Water is recognized as a very important must for cooking among the people who are using it.

AND DON'T FORGET THE MUSIC—Patricia Deagen demonstrates how easy it is to pack up the portable piano unveiled by inventor Karl Gage at Chicago's convention of National Music merchants. Developed after five years of research, the four octave keyboard looks and can be carried like a piece of luggage. But after you close the top and fold the legs, don't forget to bring along your music.

O.P.S. Gin Rates Allows Increase

The Lubbock District Office of Price Stabilization announced that action has been taken to allow cotton ginners a uniform adjustment in their charges for ginning, wrapping and baling during the 1951 season.

The action is covered by a supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price regulation 34 effective on September 1.

Section 8 of CPR 34 permits percentage increases in rates over those charged in 1950 to persons engaged in seasonal services, such as ginning. These percentage increases are decreased by 1 percent in each of 7 seasonal periods beginning with 8 percent in the January 26, 1950 through April 30, 1950 seasonal period, down to 2 percent in the December 1, 1950 through December 18, 1950 period.

Accordingly, the supplementary regulation permits ginners to increase their rates by a flat 6 percent over rates charged during the 1950 season, rather than using the graduated percentage rates now allowed under Section 8 of CPR 34. Also, the action applies to all cotton ginners regardless of the number of employees, whereas under Section 8 of CPR 34 a distinction is made between services which employ more than or less than 7 persons.

Top Railroad Span

What's the longest railroad bridge in the world? Diligent search into the records reveals that the Lower Zambesi bridge is 12,064 feet long. This bridge cost $10,000,000 to construct, at a time when a dollar bought a dollar's worth. It took three-and-a-half years to build.

Stair Hazards

Basement stairs will be less hazardous if they are covered with a non-skid material. A durable covering for this purpose is Masonite quarter-inch tempered hardboard, nalled with its screen side up. This is the flooring that withstood the millions of footsteps of Chicago World Fair visitors.

Beats Great Britain
Greenland, the world's largest island, has an area of 827,300 square miles; nearly 10 times that of Great Britain or of Idaho.

News Of Slaton Men In Service

Pvt. Deal Rudd is stationed at Fort Hood, in the 13 Medium Tank Battalion. He is here on a fourteen day furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. J. E. Rudd. He will return to Fort Hood September 10th.
Cpl. Edward West, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. West, Sgt. Ben Davis, son of Mrs. B. L. Davis, and Sgt. Gene Moore, whose wife is the former Bobbie DeMent, left Eustis Virginia Wednesday morning, Aug. 22nd for New Jersey. They left New Jersey, August 28, for Heinrich, Germany, where they will be stationed.
Pfc. Francis Carnes left San Pedro, California, to go overseas August 27. His wife is the former Helen Ray West.
Joseph P. Bartley, seaman apprentice, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley S. Bartley, formerly of Slaton, now of Crowell, Texas, was serving aboard the Patrol Frigate U. S. S. Everett in Korean waters when the ship received a direct hit recently from Communist guns at Wonsan harbor. It was the first time the ship had been hit during her numerous fire missions against the North Koreans. One death, and several injuries were suffered by the crew. The Everett was the first frigate to be recommissioned, of the group returned to the United States by the Russians after World War II. The ship has been alternating between Korea and Hong Kong since July of last year. J. P. is stationed at Hong Kong and will be for about five months. He says he has a wonderful past time playing softball.

The following letter was received last week along with a clipping of a picture of Lt. Reo M. Hood:
"Dear Mr. Jackson,
Having read your nice article about Lt. Reo M. Hood a short time ago in the Slatonite, I thought that you might be interested in the picture I am enclosing. It is a picture of Lt. Hood performing one of his duties at Kaesong. This picture was taken from the third page of the New York Daily Mirror, which has a large circulation along the east coast and throughout the United States.
No, I didn't know Lt. Hood, but it is cheering to see a face from your home town, especially in such a prominent place.
Yours,
A Fellow Slatonite,
John T. Hall,
Army Signal Corps,
Fort Monmouth, N. J."

The Slatonite received a letter from John Frye on Midway Island recently. Enclosed with his letter was a copy of page one and two of "The Gooney Bird Bugle." "The Gooney Bird" is published daily except Sunday, for all personnel on Midway Island, on government equipment. This paper is certified to comply with the directions of the Navy Department.
It looks like a pretty good paper. Along with weather forecast, thought for the day, Island gossip, and condensed National Affairs (consisting in this case, mostly, of sport news) there was a funny story and this item: "Ye Editor, in order to protect himself must insert this little tid-bit seen so often in daily publications on "Harry's Island." "The opinions and statements often appearing in this paper do NOT necessarily reflect the opinion of the Editor . . ." Well Mr. Editor, O. D. Rollo, one can't please all the people all the time. We want to thank John for his letter and the paper, and in the future we will try to spell his name right and give him the correct rating.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eanes last week were Miss Edna Prentice of Columbus, Texas, Mrs. G. C. Wilson of Houston, and Mrs. Jack Prentice, Margaret and Gloria of Huntsville.

JUST TALK

by A.M.J.

My campaign for bigger and better peaches has been paying off. Last week Mr. C. L. Pack brought us some peaches that were larger than most cantaloupes you buy at $1.00 per pound at the grocery stores. It was all I could do to guard them from the office force, but I got most of them home to my wife. Mr. Pack said that I indirectly am responsible for the peaches because I have been bemoaning for more fruit for the South Plains for a long time and that he took my advice several years ago and bought the trees.

Mrs. L. R. Gregory also brought me some mighty fine peaches, a big sack full that were not quite as large as those raised by Mr. Pack, but they were about the best eating peaches I ever put high priced cream on. They were worth it too.

When I compared those fine peaches with the wormy little lemon sized ones my trees produced this summer I went out in the yard and raked a big pile of them up and carried them to the ash can.

From now on I'm going to be extra nice to Mr. Pack and Mrs. Gregory for they may have some more peaches next summer.

Got a letter from John Frye, who is, or has been, stationed on Midway Island for the Navy for some time and John says we hit the Jack Pot in making errors in addressing his Slatonite to him on the island, and in reporting his activities to the folks here at home in our "Men In The Service."

He said, "My name is spelled Frye, not Fry, I am a Yeoman, not a Yeoman, am second class, not 2c."

Like most folks John does not like to have his name all messed up and I do not blame him, and if possible I'm going to get him properly spelled. John is a mighty fine young man and one of the few who seems to be able to understand folks both older and younger than he is.

The college professors tell us that we should all endeavor to make new friends as we travel along, for the one you have might move away, die or get sore at you and not like you anymore. We are advised to try to make friends with people who are younger than we are so that we will have some acquaintances left when our older friends pop out, and John is one of those fellows who seems to be able to keep his friends in all age groups.

One philosopher said that to keep young, one should associate with young people but that if you want to get old quick, try to keep up with them.

That's quite a trick and I'm trying to find someone to tell me how to do it.

Last week Jackie Shepard came down to the office a couple of hours early to see the first Slatonite that came off the press. When they began to be printed he said, "Where's Just Talk?"

When I told him that his name was not in the paper this week he lost interest in it immediately and I thought maybe he was going to refuse to sell them any more. Becoming famous requires constant attention and a lot of publicity.

A lot of you folks may not know what a lot of trouble it is to crib stuff from other papers, magazines and books of all kinds in order to keep things halfway interesting in the Slatonite.

Just for your sake I have worn out three pairs of spectacles, pulled out all of the hair on the front part of my head and am now working on the grizzly patches left on the sides, and in the back of my cranium. I go to bed at night with a big pile of newspapers, magazines and books, and I tear stuff out here and there which messes them up for my wives reading, she objects vociferously to my opening up newspapers and scattering them on the bed, on the floor, and sailing them about the house. I lose half my clippings, I forget most all of the best ideas I have and have built my blood pressure up to 190, the doctor shakes his head every time he pumps up my arm to test things, newspaper costs are going up every few minutes, folks howl regardless at what price I try to sell advertising, the roof leaks, the help gets sick, the machinery breaks down, and yet folks don't seem to be as anxious to get copies of the Slatonite as I think they should be.

Last week when the weather cooled down to a little less than one hundred degrees I felt a draft where one of the weaker sections of my three-year old slacks had given away and I got to thinking that it won't be long before I'll have to get out my drop seat, slightly weak in the knee winter suit, and I have felt depressed ever since, for I dislike winter more and more each year. If my wife would go with me, I'd get me a nice hut on some South Sea Island and spend the rest of my life drinking cocoanut juice and eating cocoanut candy. Such a life would really be worth while.

Last week I spent quite a while explaining to Superintendent Lee Vardy of the Slaton Schools that the troubles of a newspaper are enough to give a man softening of the brain, loss of memory, bunions, curvature of the spine, and fits of temper and the longer I talked the more sorrowful he appeared, and now I'm afraid he never will laugh again, and if there is anything that would put a quiet spell on Slaton, it would be for Superintendent Vardy's laugh to get out of fix.

After my long recital he insinuated that there are a few troubles attached to running a school system.

When we lived in Waco there was a doctor who used to poke pills down me and he seemed a very sedate and dignified man, and I often wondered if he ever laughed, until one day I went to a motion picture theatre and Charlie Chaplin was on the screen in "The Dictator."

That doctor did everything but get out in the aisle and roll. He howled and screamed with laughter until every one in the theatre was laughing more at, and with him, than they were at Charlie Chaplin, and I have often wished I could enjoy myself just half as much for a few minutes or seconds as that Doctor did for the entire time he watched Charlie Chaplin.

A lot of folks take themselves too seriously, but I'm not one of them, and I'm looking for something to amuse me all the time, but seems like I've heard nearly all the jokes of all kinds. Anybody got a new one?

To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace. —George Washington.

JIMMY: A pancake with a non-skid tread. —The Canyon News

INKLINGS—
Each morning is a door entering on the stage of life and each evening it is sealed with the hard wax of time. The actors are expendable without affecting the continuity of the performance since the spectators and the cast are forever exchanging positions.

It is easy to form a warped opinion but I am frequently convinced that all the night drivers are returning from where I am going.

Frequently a handsome face is disfigured by an excessive amount of cheek.

Success is probably largely dependent upon being blissfully unaware of many inadequacies. —The Morton Tribune

Many a man keeps his nose to the grindstone so his wife can turn hers up at the neighbors.

In interviewing a spinster named Jane Smith, the census taker had been able to get answers to all his questions with the exception of the one concerning her age. "Well, did the Hill girls tell how old they were?" asked the spinster.

"Of course they did," was his reply.

"Well, I'm the same age as they are," she said hesitatingly.

So the census taker jotted down on his records: "Jane Smith is as old as the Hills." —Gaines County News

Maybe two CAN live as cheaply as one—but not as quietly.

Isn't it funny how women can talk on and on about things that left them speechless?

We have always wondered what would happen if a rattlesnake bit a drunkard.

Isn't it peculiar that the human brain begins to function from the moment you are born, improves as you grow older, then stops completely when you stand up to talk?

One thing can be said for the people who live in the past. They can do it cheaper.

Most drug stores could sell twice as much malted milk if they would only fill the glasses.

Your hat is too old to wear when a fellow refuses to take it from a crowded rack.

Stylists are revealing the summer fashions now, but mostly what they are revealing are the women who model them. —The Morton Tribune

WHAT IS THE MEANING?—

Musician's salary: The wages of din.

Columnist: Fellow who lives on the chat of the land.

Two Black Eyes: Total eclipse.

Dieting: Lean fun.

Apology: A means to amend.

Eavesdroppers: People who get in your hear.

Pessimist: Fellow with a gift of crab. —The Lorenzo Tribune

Someone has said that Utopia will exist when we enjoy 1951 wages, 1926 dividends, 1932 prices and 1910 taxes.

Slim: "We're having a raffle for a widow lady. Will you buy a ticket?"

Jim: "No thanks. Even if I won, my wife wouldn't let me keep her."

"What a handsome baby!" exclaimed the visitor. "Does he resemble your husband?"

"I hope not," replied the wife, "we adopted him." —The Gaines County News

Motherhood is the tableau vivant which portrays creation's most sublime achievement; the home through dust-laden centuries, and tomorrow.

The forest does not perish when its greatest tree is destroyed, nor does a community fail to survive after the loss of its pronounced citizen, the train of life transports continually changing passengers. —The Morton Tribune

A man apparently very much upset, approached the police sergeant at the local station house and reported his wife missing. The sergeant began writing a report.

"What size is she?"
"Oh, about average."
"Color of eyes?"
"Oh, neutral, I guess."
"Color of hair?"
"Don't know."
"Kind of clothes?"
"Hat and coat, I suppose; but she had a dog with her."
"What kind of dog?"
"Pedigreed collie; stands six hands high; weighs 38 pounds; brownish-gray spot above right eye; right hind leg is solid white; is slightly deaf in left ear; has deep brown collar and answers to name of Prince." —The Gaines County News

Susan: What does John do with that loud red tie of his?
Rachel: He wears it in history lecture. When his head falls down on his chest the tie wakes him up again.

Philosophy: Out of the mouths of babes come the best kisses.

One woman: Her husband was a judge, wasn't he?
Another: Everyone thought so until he married her. —The Lorenzo Tribune

Valued Metal
The United States—despite its part in the discovery of the metal and the fact that columbium was named for "Columbia"—is negligible as a source. At peak periods, this nation has accounted for only a few thousand pounds annually, gained in connection with mica, quartz, beryl, and other mining.

Platforming
A noteworthy development in the past year has been the use of platinum and palladium catalysts in new production processes. For example, "platforming," a new refining method for producing gasoline with high octane rating, is done with the aid of platinum catalysts.

Under Chrome?
Tests demonstrated that chromium will retain steel bright work longer decorative value over a longer period of use if the plate is deposited directly on the steel or over it directly on the nickel thioppper undercoat. This is the important factor.

IT'S A FIREBALL ENGINE

You never tried a fine car like This One

You've a right to set your sights higher when you buy a fine car. You can rightly expect more room—more comfort—more performance—and a lordly smoothness in the way it carries you. So we present these facts:
You'll find, in a ROADMASTER, more usable room than you'll find in any other six-passenger car in America.
You'll find the extra comfort of double-depth Foamtex cushions in ROADMASTER only.
You'll find that the ROADMASTER has a high-compression, valve-in-head power plant that is also exclusively Buick's—a mighty Fireball Engine endowed with more performance than most owners will ever need. And you'll find that a ROADMASTER rolls with unsurpassed levelness and poise, thanks to coil springs on all four wheels—which is still another feature found on no other car in the fine-car field. But the thrill that is yours, when you get this willing beauty out on the open road, is something that can't be summed up in any listing of features, one by one. It's a "feel" which, we honestly believe, no other car can approach. It's the sure way this day and performer holds the road—the way it responds to your slightest wish—the quick answer you get when you nudge the throttle—the extra security you feel in the velvet grip of the brakes—the complete freedom from tension you find in Dynaflo Drive—the sense of mastery that makes every mile a joy. And, confidentially, there's one more important way in which ROADMASTER stands alone, and that is in the modest cost of its pounds and performance. Better come in soon and check for yourself what a great car and a great buy this one really is.

That's Getting Off Key . . .

With all the singing of the blues about the cotton crop seems to be doubt in the minds of a good many people concerned with the cotton business that things are as bad as they ever were.

There are more men interested in buying cotton in this season, than have been here in a number of years and seems that there is going to be more competition for what cotton gets on the local market, than ever before.

The cotton ginner is getting things in readiness to go to it hammer and tongs at an early date, and local business men feel much better since the late rains.

There are few lines of business that represent as great a risk as farming and a great many kinds of business that produce a much greater return for the money invested, but there are none that give the independence that a farmer has.

Local farmers have had more successive good years since 1940 than come in most centuries. It is probable that most farmers have been expecting a poor crop as each season comes, and most farmers, in this part of the South Plains, will gather more cotton and grain than they hoped for or expected. We may all join with them in giving thanks for what the crops will mean, not only to the farmers, but indirectly to every one on the South Plains.

Things Are Mixed Up . . .

Few people on the South Plains and probably in most parts of the nation realize how scarce many items are now, or soon will be. Sales reports on electrical appliances and hardware show that items in these lines are overstocked and the market clogged but such items as metal desks, typewriters, steel filing cabinets are very scarce, or impossible to find.

The excuse of the manufacturers of the scarce items is that the Government allotments of steel has stopped the flow to the retail markets, but there is no explanation of why electrical appliances and hardware items are in over supply. Most all of them require steel in their manufacture.

It is probable that the retailer is going to find that his wholesale supply of refrigerators, gas and electric ranges, air conditioners and such lines is drying up at a fast rate, and if conditions continue as they have in the past few months it will not be long before many such items will be off the market completely, or will be under very strict Government control.

Where Does The Road Lead? . . .

It is hard for many business men to understand that expansion and progress in their lines is not as profitable these days as in the past, and many have found, to their regret, that they are in deep water when they secure more business than they have been taking care of lately.

Many contractors have found themselves out on a limb when they endeavor to secure merchandise in the building lines, experienced help is very difficult to find and to supply the customer is now harder than getting him to buy.

A number of workers are finding that it is expedient to quit their jobs rather than keep on and get into higher income tax brackets, and the many cross currents in increased expenses and in taxes is making a jumble of everyones business, regardless of whether he or she is an employer or employee.

This country seems to be on a road it has never traveled before and there is no assurance that the road leads to anything worthwhile.

Farmers Spurns U. S. Check—Why? . . .

In these days of crime committee investigations and big government spending, we're all glad to learn who can teach the government a lesson in both economy and honesty.

There was the Michigan farmer who received a check for $7.50 from the government for attending a meeting of the Production Marketing Association. Promptly he mailed back the check with the statement that he didn't hear anything at the meeting that he didn't know before he left home. If we had more farmers like that, the government might not spend so much tax money giving meetings that aren't worth attending. —Selected.

500 People—27 Gas Stations . . .

Waskom, Texas, (pop. 500) has 27 gasoline stations selling 270,000 gallons a month. Waskom is near the Louisiana border and Louisiana motorists drive over to save paying the state's nine cent per gallon gasoline tax—the highest in the nation.

More And More Government Employees . . .

According to the latest figures of the Byrd Committee on Nonessential Expenditures, the executive branch of the government is employing more than 3,360,000 civilian employees, and during the last reported month new employees were being hired at a rate of more than 1,000 a day. March was the ninth consecutive month in which net increases had been reported for civilian employment in both the military and nonmilitary agencies of the government. Since March 1950, when civilian employment in government reached its post-war low, the military agencies have hired civilians at a rate of almost one per minute, every minute of the day, every day of the year. The total civilian payroll of the federal government is fast approaching the level of $8 billion a year.

Senator Harry F. Boyd (D., Va.) has been particularly critical of the waste of civilian manpower in our military agencies.
He stated in a recent speech: "There is nothing in the military budget as it has finally been presented to alter the reputation of the military services as the most wasteful agencies on earth, both in manpower and money . . . There is no doubt that at least a half billion dollars could be saved by reducing requests for civilian employment."

Recently Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) singled out the Veterans Administration and the Department of Agriculture as among the agencies that are "grossly overstaffed." He particularly noted that the agriculture department "maintains not only a duplicate, but in many cases triplicate and quadruplicate and quintuplicate county organizations in most of the 3,000 counties in the country." —Texas Tax Journal.

Quotes . . .

"The Red women soldiers wore makeup, but it didn't do any good." —Lt. Harold Moore, at Korean talks.

"Industry-wide bargaining—compulsory arbitration—fit like jigsaw pieces into the Socialist scheme." —William H.
Ruffin, NAM president.

"A Broadway friend is a guy who's always around when he needs you." —Timmie Rogers.

"A philosopher is one who realizes that his creditors are even more worried than he is." —London Opinion.

The Production and Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced that the loan rate for middling 7/8 inch upland cotton, gross weight, produced in 1951 will be 30.21 cents per pound for Aiken and Lockney and 30.27 cents for Floydada, which is 90 per cent of the parity price of cotton as of August 1, 1951. The August 1st parity price, recently announced is 33.85 cents per pound.

Last year the average loan rate for middling 7/8 inch cotton, gross weight, was 27.90 cents per pound. Middling 15/16 will be 1.25 per pound more.

—The Floyd County Hesperian

Whether the bright moonlight night, vigilance of law enforcement officers and citizens, or just the law of averages was responsible, Seminole's window peeper who has been on a three-month endurance run was strangely inactive during the past week.

One officer suggested that perhaps even window peepers enjoy vacations, although the question comes up as to the sort of a businessman's holiday a window peeper might take.

In the absence of window peeper reports a rumor saying that officers had captured a culprit gained wide circulation. One version said officers took pity on the man because he had a wife and four children and did not file charges.

City officers said the search for the peeper continues unabated and said they had not established the elusive man's identity.

Only report on the peeper was made to Night Patrolman Jess Hinds Tuesday night by a woman living on Ave. H. Chief of Police Ted Hodges said. The woman saw the man standing in her yard in the glare of lights of a car turning in at a nearby house. The man had fled before officers arrived.

—The Seminole Sentinel

Following a hearing at Plain view Thursday, the State Board of Water Engineers unanimously ordered an election at which people of the High Plains of Texas will vote whether they want to regulate water under their land.

Strange things happening every day!

A woman called the News office Tuesday to report that Ray Phillips, deputy sheriff, had been killed in an auto collision a few miles out on the Odessa highway.

As camera was loaded, pencils sharpened, and pads gathered, a quick call to the Sheriff's office to determine exact location of the wreck was placed.

The answer: "Sheriff's office, Ray Phillips speaking."

—The Andrews County News

Only slight oil activity was reported in Garza county this week with the spotlight having shifted to other sections.

The picture was darkened somewhat when intrusion of water appeared to be ruining production prospects from the Strawn at Humble Oil and Refining company No. 1 Jeff Justice near Justiceburg.

After acidizing perforations at 7,475-485 feet with 1,000 gallons, operators swabbed 26 barrels of load oil and then swabbed 100 barrels of salt water for four hours.

If the Strawn proves barren, operators probably will plug back and retest the Wolfcamp section of the Permian at approximately 4,000 ft.

On the other side of the picture a new wildcat has been staked in the county. H. J. Strief of Dallas has staked a 3,600 foot Permian wildcat about five miles northwest of Post. It is the No. 1 S. C. Storie and wife.

—The Post Dispatch

Many cowhands will be scratching leather, come Sunday, Sept. 2nd and Labor Day, Sept. 3rd, the two big days of the Boys' Ranch Rodeo. Practice is in full swing for the 17th Annual show which will be at the Ranch, and the smell of liniment and iodine can be detected almost any hour.

The boys' take their task seriously, for the Rodeo stock will be furnished by the Buettler Brothers of Elk City, Okla., who have promised a bunch of ornery critters. The boys plan on showing Buettler Brothers how to ride, starting at 2:30 each day. They will be assisted by Amarillo Range Riders, who are sponsoring the show, as in the past.

Preparations have been going on for some time, and the boys have piped spring water into the 20 acre park for the benefit of those who bring their lunch, or buy sandwiches and pop on the grounds. The highway officials have promised completion of the highway from Channing, which means paved roads all the way to the Ranch via Channing.

H. G. Cook was elected mayor and F. C. Smith a new alderman in a special City of Wilson election held recently because of the resignation of Mayor Pat Campbell.

Mr. Campbell's resignation became necessary because of the fact that he is the town's postmaster and in the Post Office department looks with disfavor on its men, holding any other public office.

Cook, already a member of the Council, was replaced by Mr. Smith. Other members of the Council are: Clarence Church, Ira Clary, Pat Swann, and John Covey.

SELECT ONLY THE BEST PULLETS

When you're ready to select the pullets which will make up your laying flock, remember that the efficiency of your flock depends on the quality of birds you put in the laying house. Every small, underdeveloped bird you house will reduce the profitability and efficiency of your flock.

The type of bird to select is one which will come into production early, will maintain a good laying record throughout the winter, and will continue to lay well into the summer. There is no assurance that every pullet you select will equal this standard. However, there are certain markings and body characteristics which are usually reliable indicators of a bird's capacity for laying. Likewise, the poor laying types have certain characteristics which brand them as unprofitable producers.

The birds you will want to keep are those with well-developed heads, long broad backs, long keel bones, and fleshy breasts.

Cull Poor Layers

After pullets have been housed and the flock has reached about 25 per cent production, begin culling the poor layers. Here are some culling pointers:

Pigmentation—Non-layers of yellow-skinned breeds have yellow pigmentation in the beak, shanks, vent, eye ring, and sometimes the ear lobes. These parts are bleached or faded if the bird is a good producer.

Comb Changes—The loafing bird's comb and wattles are shrunken and scaly. In contrast, the good layer has a waxy, red, and full comb and wattles.

Body Characteristics—Poor layer's pubic bones are quite close together. The good producer's pubic bones are two to three fingers apart. The good layer has a large body capacity, which is indicated by a long broad back and deep body cavity.

General Pointers—Hens in high production are active, full of pep, and yet easy to handle. They are strong feeders and their bodies make maximum use of all feed consumed to produce the maximum number of eggs. The poor layer is relatively inactive and not so alert and busy. Her eyes are dull and sunken, her feathers are loose, and her skin is coarse and dry, underlaid with fat.

PIP OF A PIPE — Lost 1000 years ago by a Cohonina Indian when his home burned down and just found by a University of Illinois expedition to northern Arizona, is this old pipe which resembles a large cigar butt. Painted with a dull black design, the odd smoking-piece is exhibited by Russel C. Fey of Chicago, Ill., one of the expedition members studying the little-known Cohonina culture.

Slaton People Worth Knowing

Mrs. J. R. McAtee was born Lizzie Burns in Minneapolis, Minnesota. When she was just a baby her parents boarded a boat and sailed down the Mississippi to New Orleans, and from New Orleans to Galveston. They settled in San Saba and Lizzie was reared there. She attended San Houston Normal School in Huntsville and taught in San Saba four years after completing her education. She married J. R. McAtee in San Saba in 1896. They came to Slaton, January 4, 1922. Mr. McAtee was in the mercantile business in Wilson and other places around Slaton for about ten years.

Mrs. McAtee reared and educated nine children. She has eleven grandchildren.

She has a full life. She attends St. Joseph Church and has been very active in church work. She was a very active P.T.A. worker, while her children were in school. She was a member of the Tres Mesa Bridge Club for seventeen years, and still plays a lot but is not, at this time, a member of a bridge club.

Mrs. McAtee has several hobbies the main one, now, is painting. She is a member of the Slaton Art Club. She also enjoys fancy handwork and is especially adept at making Normandy cloths from old laces. Flowers are another hobby, though she insists that she is not much of a gardener, her yard and pot plants prove otherwise. Should these varied interests fail to keep her busy, Mrs. McAtee can read a good book, or relax listening to good music and be perfectly happy.
