LOCAL PILOT IS SHOT DOWN TWICE BEHIND ENEMY LINES

A Texas fighter pilot was shot down twice in an hour and a half but he and two would-be rescuers reached safety.

The pilot, Lieut. Vernon L. Wright of Slaton, bailed out of his crippled F-80 jet behind enemy lines.

A helicopter manned by Lieut. Charles J. DuPont, LaPlace, La., and Cpl. Gerald L. Fryer, Woodland, Calif., picked him up.

The helicopter was shot down shortly after it took off.

None of the men were hurt. They walked six hours through freezing rain to get away from the Communists.

Next morning a second helicopter rescued the men and returned them to friendly lines.

Lieut. Vernon L. Wright is not unused to thrills in the air.

On his first combat mission over Korea, the jet fighter pilot with the 51st Fighter Interceptor group scored heavily against the enemy. It was announced earlier from Japan.

With a flight of four F-80 Shooting Stars he attacked the North Korean supply center of Yonan.

Carrying 500-pound bombs and 50-caliber machine guns, the jet pilots dived bombed and strafed warehouses, vehicles and troops, destroying 15 buildings, damaging 12 more, two vehicles and 19 supply cars. In addition, the flight inflicted eight enemy casualties.

The officer is a son of Mrs. Alta Mae Wright.

Commenting after the Yonan raid, Lieut. Wright said:

"We were on an armed reconnaissance when I spotted a group of supply warehouses just south of Yonan."

"We dived down in our first pass, releasing the bombs just as we neared the target. They landed in the center of a cluster of buildings, blowing them skyhigh."

"There was a bunch of camouflaged trucks parked beside the warehouses. I could see fire eating into them as we pulled up."

"I strafed those buildings in four passes. When he left the area two of the warehouses were already gutted, and the fire was spreading."

"The officer is a graduate of Lubbock High School. Wright joined the Air Force and received his wings as a fighter pilot at Williams Air Force Base, Ariz.

Lieut. Wright formerly worked for Western Cotton Oil Co. in Slaton and was a brakeman for the Santa Fe Railroad.

Mahon Writes On Child Labor Law

The following letter in regard to the Child-Labor-In-Agriculture problem, was received from Representative George Mahon.

Dear Friends:

As you know, school officials, farmers and others have had all manner of trouble in connection with the so-called Senate Amendment to the Wage-Hour Act of 1949 which changed the law with respect to child labor in agriculture. No right-thinking person wants to exploit children, but the present law, as I see it, is intolerable.

Many Members of Congress, including myself, have introduced bills to change the situation. The bill which I have sought to get approved would leave the whole matter of child labor in agriculture, school attendance, etc., in the hands of the states.

In addition to seeking legislation, we have sought a more realistic and sympathetic interpretation and administration of the present law. Numerous conferences with the Secretary of Labor and others have been held. Officials have admitted that, despite inferences to the contrary in a bulletin which the Department has circulated, the farmer is not required by law to see to it that the young worker has a certificate, etc. But, generally speaking, those conferences have been to no avail. In the meantime, many school programs are disrupted, the farmers are encountering difficulty and the children themselves are being handicapped by the operation of the present law.

As you know, Congress has now adjourned. However, last week before adjournment, at a meeting which was attended by interested Members, we were told by the Chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor that he could not get approval of his Committee of any worth-while measure this year.

From time to time, I have reported to you on this subject, and I thought it proper to make this further report. You may be sure of my continued best efforts here. Please call upon me at any time. Best wishes to all.

Cordially yours,
George Mahon

Local Men Are Responsible For New Road Paving

B. G. Guinn and Vascar Brown, who were instrumental in securing the right-of-way for the paved road that is now under construction on the West side of Slaton, report that the people of Slaton and this area are indebted to attorneys Nat Heaton and Claude Cravens for the legal work that the two men did in connection with securing the land for the road. Both men gave all of the time and their efforts without charge in order to get the project through. That meant a great deal for without their work the paving could not have been done.

The road, which carries considerable traffic, has needed paving for a number of years and considerable complaint has been made over the years because it has not been done. It has taken a lot of the time of Mr. Guinn, Mr. Brown, County Commissioner George Green and of the two attorneys, Heaton and Cravens, to get the project going as the County would not buy the land for the right-of-way and the above mentioned men had to get the needed land deeded to the County for the purpose for which it is being used.

It is probable that some paving will be secured for Englewood Cemetery when the paving of the new road is completed. The new road will serve to route a large amount of traffic from going through town to the Slaton-Lubbock Highway and will be of great benefit to people living in the West part of town, and people living West of Slaton.

What's Going On At The Civic Clubs

The Lions Club was entertained with a piano solo by Nancy Clifton and by Mary Alice Kenney, who sang several numbers accompanied by Joyce Burns at the clubs regular meeting last Tuesday night at the Club House. The members also discussed plans for their man's style show, the date for which was set at Tuesday night, November 13th at the Slaton Theatre.

The telegram stated that the nature of the wounds was not known, but that they were apparently not serious because he had not been evacuated. This was encouraging news to the Marshes.

Lt. Marsh had been wounded previously in Korea, but not seriously. He spent ten days in the hospital at that time, and then was returned to the front.

Comparison
The British miner produces an average of 1.72 tons of coal per day. The American bituminous miner, in contrast, has an average of 6.48 tons.

Average Gas Tax $525
The average car consumes about 8,000 gallons of gasoline in its lifetime and, at present rates, its owner will pay the state and federal governments about $525 in taxes on that gasoline.

Safety Measure
Basement stair steps are safer if the bottom step is painted in a contrasting color. Most steps that lead into the basement are painted in dark colors. Therefore, if the last step is painted white, this contrasting color will show up, even at night, and will help to prevent stumbles and falls.

JUST TALK by A.M.J.

Last week we hit the jack pot in getting folks irritated, up-set, and on my neck. First thing Friday morning the phone rang in a very angry way and the receiver quivered in my hand, sparks shot out of the part that goes on the ear and the wire hitching the instrument to the wall, quivered.

"Did you write that about the phone rate going up," said a voice that I would have recognized if it had not been boiling over.

"It was turned in to the paper," I said, "and I put it in just as the telephone company manager gave it to me."

"Well I want to tell you right now that I think it an outrage and I don't think we should stand for it. We've got telephones like grandpa used to use and most folks who visit Slaton have to be taught how to use them just like a modern kid would have to learn how to use an old style water pump. We're still in the old oaken bucket days as far as telephones are concerned."

"Don't burn me up, I told him, call the fire department and get the fire put out, then call the Mayor; he and the city grandfathers are the ones who will have to accept or deny the increase in rate," I told him.

"Well, don't think I won't," he said, "but I just want you to know how I feel." And the Slaton Banker slammed the hook on the telephone and my instrument gradually cooled off, but I felt shivers go over me all day when the thing jangled.

That Slaton Banker was headed for the Mayor and city commissioners and I'm sure that the Mayor can tell most anyone all about the deal by now. But please don't call me. I do not have a thing to do with it. I'll say one thing and that is the telephone company is in just as hot a spot as any of the rest of us. The Union is pushing labor costs up every few months materials are hard to get and very expensive, and most everybody feels privileged to throw rocks at them just as they do at all semi-public institutions. Well I've got troubles of my own and I'm going to let the city commissioners and the Telephone Company get this worked out, but I'd like to see dis-telephones in Slaton if we can get them. I feel ashamed when visitors come into the office and try to use our telephone and seem as confused as I feel when I try to use a dial telephone in a bigger town. Last summer when I was in Dallas and tried to use the phone in the Hospital I was as lost as Robinson Crusoe.

Another place where I got my tail in a crack was with P. G. Meading, when I gave statistics on the number of business houses in Slaton and compared them to the number in Post, Tahoka, Spur, and other towns.

My figures showed Slaton as having 150 and Tahoka as 140. Friday morning P. G. was standing at the door when we opened up with his own list of the number of business houses in Slaton, it contained 257 which included churches, the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Slaton. He said my Amarillo News-Globe figures were all wet and he fixed me with a belligerent stare that made me quail so I apologized and hereby proclaim that there are 257 business houses in Slaton, if the churches, the Chamber of Commerce and the City Secretary can be counted as business houses, but I'd like to submit on bending knee the figures that I got out of the newest edition of the Texas Almanac as the authority for the figures I first quoted.

In this column last week I suggested that a survey be made and a list of lines of business not represented here be made so that such people in such lines of work could be encouraged to come to Slaton. Let me suggest a few: We have no sign painting shop here, no concern equipped to repair electric motors, no awning company, no dairy, no blue printing and concern doing duplicating work, no public stenographers, and there are a number of lines of business where there is so much activity that there is too much business for the ones in them to give proper service.

What I intended to say was that Slaton does not have as many business houses or business institutions as most towns of over 5,000 population and I still believe that is true. There are some lines that are over crowded and where competition is perhaps too keen, but there are also a good many lines that are not represented here at all.

How to Cut Grass

Lawn mowers throw grass clippings to the left. Thus, says Scotts Lawn Research, the proper way to mow is counter-clockwise. The clippings fall into the path of the "next time around", are chopped finer and fall among the grass roots.

Fawcett's Fables

Last week I did a little better on my predictions so I don't feel so bad about week before last. Since I don't know anything about math I can't figure my percentage so I'll just keep trying and a little later I'll get some smart math student to figure the thing out for me.

Fridays' game between Lubbock and Pampa should prove to be one of the real football games of the season. Pampa seems to have a power house and actually no one knows exactly what the West-erners really have in the bag, but I'll bet they have a lot more than it is thought they have. Pat Pattison, who is the greatest football coach in the state as far as I'm concerned, always has a few tricks up his sleeve. No matter who wins it should prove to be one of the greatest ball games ever played in this part of the country.

Coch Poulos seemed to have his boys playing ball the way it should be played last Friday night even though they did come out on the short end of the score. Good work boys, keep it up and you will take Post next week. I guess I will try my luck once again.

Lubbock over Pampa — school spirit.

Tahoka over Ralls — a ruined homecoming.

Rice over Pittsburg

Texas Tech over Texas Western

Texas A&M over Arkansas

Southern Cal. over Army

Baylor over T.C.U. — could be up set.

Tennessee over N. Carolina

Texas over S. M. U.

Arizona over West Texas State

Cincinnati over Hardin Simons.

I do not bet on any games because I know I would lose, so do not use my predictions to place your bets. Until next week keep your nose clean and drive carefully to and from the games you may attend this week end.

Color Affects Daily Lives

The color of our surroundings quite imperceptibly becomes the color of our daily lives. Colors seep into our consciousness, influencing our spirits, our moods, our well-being. A room painted in lovely harmonious colors adds a note of buoyancy, an exhilaration that lasts through the day. On the other hand, lack of cheerful color can be depressing and can give a drab, morose outlook to sensitive people. Loud, inharmonious color schemes induce a jarring note.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: Carl Walker, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of Carl Walker, deceased; and all persons claiming any title or interest in the land described below under deed heretofore given to Harry Martindale, dated November 17, 1922 and recorded in Volume 78 at page 9 of the Lubbock County, Texas Deed Records, of Lubbock County, Texas, as grantee Defendants, Greeting:

R. L. BOYD

Betty Ross Maeker, a nurse of Lubbock, was visiting her parents Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Robertson are parents of a daughter born last week at Slaton.

The new oil well, a short distance across the canyon, has been drilled for a few days. The derrick is well lighted at night. T. A. Johnson is drilling a four-inch water well for irrigation purposes.

F. H. Stahl recently went to O'Donnell to get cotton pullers.

The Methodists will hold a meeting Friday evening at the Community Church, as part of the All-Texas Revival. Rev. Walters of Smiley will be in charge.

The election concerning state amendments to be held Tuesday,

November 13, will be in charge of M. P. Gentry and F. H. Stahl. The voting place this year will probably be in the gin office.

R. B. and R. L. Boyd were at the football game Saturday afternoon at Lubbock.

R. P. Schuette has some farm laborers from Bryan, Texas. Farm help is still scarce but may improve after frost.

A son-in-law of W. T. Davis of Slaton will work part of the large Davis acreage next year.

Interest in Tractor Farmers

To Set Off Treasures
Small hanging shelves or built-in ones frequently have the outside surfaces painted to match the room. The inside surfaces are often finished in a color to emphasize the treasures the shelves contain. Shelves so painted are especially good for colonial rooms when they hold Early American glass or china.

Tool Chests
Help prevent mold and mildew from harming your tools by wiping the inside of your tool chest occasionally with a light coat of boiled linseed oil.

Part Of Cotton Is Affected By Frost

The very light frost last week resulted in crazy quilt patterns in the cotton fields around Slaton. The plants that were growing froze and turned brown, while the tougher dryer plants stayed green. The result is green and brown patterns in varied shapes and sizes. The farmers are now waiting for a hard freeze to finish the defoliation so they can start using mechanical cotton harvesters, and the ginner is expecting a rush of cotton when the boll pullers go into use.

4-H Achievement Week Held In Tex.

The accomplishments of Texas 4-H club boys and girls will be recognized and honored during the observance of the 1951 National 4-H Club Achievement Week, November 3-11. Volunteer local leaders of 4-H clubs will share in the honors.

In their efforts to meet the challenge of the 1951 4-H theme, "Working Together for World Understanding," 4-H members have worked to learn something about the cultures, contributions and problems of rural people in other countries.

Youth from 67,732 farm homes and 21,146 non-farm homes participated in 4-H club work last year. Valuable contributions to community improvement were made by 308 4-H clubs in Texas.

In addition to regular demonstrations, Texas 4-H boys and girls received training in fire and accident prevention, forestry, recreation and leadership, health, wildlife conservation and other worthwhile activities, reports Mr. Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader.

Clothing, field crops, food preservation and preparation, forestry, garden and orchard management, home grounds beautification, home management and improvement, livestock and poultry were included in 4-H demonstrations.

Lynch emphasizes that these demonstrations are not an end in themselves. They are used in training 4-H members to be better leaders and citizens.

Fish odors can be removed from drying pans and dishes by soaking them in hot water and salt.

The week of November 3-11 is National 4-H Achievement Week. The 118,000 plus Texas 4-H members will observe the week with special events in the local clubs and countywide activities. 4-H clubs are sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service.

Ranchmen have found through demonstrations that proper stocking rates coupled with good range management practices will increase the amount of beef they can produce on their ranges.

If allowed to remain on the fabric, mold growth will weaken and rot the material.

Simplicity Is A Lost Art In The Design Of Modern Farm Machinery

Live Stock Show To Open Nov. 24

Work has begun on the 52nd edition of the International Live Stock Exposition, the nation's leading agricultural event. Early entries indicate that the 1951 show will attract larger classes than ever before.

The exposition, which will get underway in the International Amphitheatre of the Chicago Stock Yards November 24 for an eight-day run through December 1, each year makes Chicago the center of interest of the continent's livestock industry.

Last year's show drew over 11 thousand head of the nation's top cattle, sheep, swine and horses from 34 states and 2 Canadian provinces. To the livestock breeder and feeder it is the "world's series" of all shows, where final decisions in livestock competitions are made. An International winning is regarded as the highest award that an exhibitor can attain.

Cash prizes will again total over $100,000 according to the management.

An eight day program, filled with interest to the farm people of the continent, is planned. The Junior Livestock Feeding Contest for farm boys and girls showing livestock of their own raising will dominate the first day's program in the Amphitheatre.

The International Horse Show is scheduled daily. There will be eight evening performances and matinees on Sunday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and the final Saturday.

Thursday will be draft horse day in the Amphitheatre. Many other contests, allied with livestock productions, are scheduled for the rest of the week.

The Cub Scouts met October 25 for their monthly pack meeting. The program consisted of a pot luck supper, songs, stunts, and presentation of awards.

Receiving awards were Billy Fred Murphy, George Privett, David Childers, John Dodson, Eddie Gravell, Bronnell Daniels, Frank Chapple, Travis Hendrix, and Richard DeMoss.

In the business meeting Richard DeMoss was elected to replace Eldon Boulter as Cubmaster. Willard Childers was elected assistant Cubmaster.

22 cubs, 22 parents, and several visitors attended this pack meeting. Den 5 had the most parents present.

Den Mothers, Den Dads, and other Cub officials will meet Thursday, November 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall to begin a Cub training program. Bill Postma will attend in order to direct the showing of the first film.

The next session of the training program will be announced in the Slatonite.

Poultry manure is a good fertilizer but it is high-powered. J. O. Dutt, extension vegetable specialist of the Pennsylvania State College, warns that it must be used in small amounts in the garden. Because of its high nitrogen content, poultry manure stimulates plant growth and too much will cause spindling growth.

In the days of the Model T car, it was said if you had a pliers and some baling wire you could fix anything that went wrong. Much the same was true of the early general farm tractor. Those days are gone, but not forever, the local farmers are hoping.

The trend in farm machinery has been toward inaccessibility and a way from simplicity. This is true of implements as well as tractors. The implements are harder to change, harder to adjust, and harder to keep in adjustment. With certain makes of tractors it takes two men to attach the cultivator and hours are wasted in the process. During certain rush seasons on the farm, time consumed in changing implements can be a very real and costly loss to the farmer, as well as an inconvenience.

Time was when almost any farmer could do any overhaul or repair job needed on his tractor and implements. Now when a minor job like a fan belt replacement comes up, the farmer must have special tools or bend tools to fit, on some of the new model tractors. The job may take an hour or two and will often result in bruised and skinned hands. And to make matters worse, and more complicated, the generator is often operated from a separate belt, which means a double adjustment.

Then if the generator belt needs replacing the fan belt must first be removed and after the generator belt has been replaced, the fan belt must be put back and both adjusted. On some makes this process requires a half day's time. Or the farmer can haul the tractor to town and have the work done at the shop and then take it back home. This also means a half day's loss of time from the field work, and as everyone knows these little breakdowns always occur at the busiest time of the year when the time loss is most costly.

Farm women are becoming as bitter about this situation as the men. On irrigation farms, especially, they find it profitable to have a field garden and raise their own vegetables for canning and for the deep freeze or locker. But field gardens need cultivation, and most farmers would rather sacrifice the garden than take the time to change implements twice for so small a job. They can't afford to waste that much time because of the complication of changing implements, the actual job of cultivation would present no problem.

A very fine implement display was seen at this year's County Fair. The newest models in tractors and implements were displayed and where possible, demonstrated. Men were present to explain their line of farm equipment with the view of selling it to the farmers in mind.

The largest group of farmers from this area was gathered around a tractor and implements manufactured by an old established company, but one which is new to this area.

The big attraction was this: One man could attach the lister on this make in exactly 60 seconds, and in a few minutes more the cultivator could be attached, also by one man. One local farmer in the group was heard to say, "Next time I buy a tractor, you can bet I'm changing makes."

Farmers are usually patient people, but their patience is wearing thin. They have been buying what was available in farm machinery, even when it wasn't what they wanted. Now they are in favor of abandoning this line and asking for what they want and need—simplicity in design, rather than complicated inaccessibility.

The farmers feel that if they can persuade one or two companies to design for simplicity, their proucts will be in such great demand that other makes will be forced to fall in line with the trend. Farmers have no desire to go back to the earliest tractors and equipment but they feel that modern machinery could be designed so that small or even large overhaul jobs could be easier, and they could be designed for speed and simplicity in implement changes, as well as for less complication in implement adjustment for depth, coverage, etc., in the field.

No Stick-to-it-iveness
A unique property of silicone coatings is revealed in the fact that they can be used as coatings for the bread pans in commercial bakeries. This makes it unnecessary to grease the pans to prevent sticking for 300 to 500 bakes. Other applications of this remarkable property of the silicones are being investigated.

Under Construction In Slaton Is Diocese's Largest Catholic Church

Construction is going forward rapidly on what is to be the largest Catholic church in the Amarillo diocese. The new St. Joseph's church, pictured in the architect's sketch, will be 155 feet long and 72 feet wide. It will have a total seating capacity of 1,000-800 in the main body of the church, 100 in the choir, and 100 in the side chapels. The exterior of the edifice is being constructed of steel and brick and trimmed in Austin stone. It is designed to be completely fireproof.

The ground for the new church was broken on August 14 by the pastor, Father T. D. O'Brien. The foundation has since been poured, the structural steel has been erected, and brick is being laid. Father O'Brien laid the first brick on October 4, and 12 bricklayers are now busy at work. It is hoped that the building will be completed by next Easter, and with all materials on hand no delays are anticipated.

The West Texas Builders company of Lubbock has the contract, having made a bid of $150,000 for the job. The architects are Butler-Bracher company of Lubbock.

This is the fifth church that Father O'Brien has erected during his 36 years in the priesthood. It is hoped that the building will be completed by next Easter, and with all materials on hand no delays are anticipated.

Hodge Podge—

We have an odd taste in music, but sometimes the popular songs of the area even get to be too much for us. A typical 15 minute request program leads off with a song in which some one, in a high, whining tone, is urging some one to be the "mommer" while he'll be the "popper" because he wants to play house—a juvenile past time for what would seem to be an adult.

When the plaintive wail of the would be householder dies away among the echoes, another group comes on. Their music, which would be quite passable, is distorted by some one in the background who insists on yelling "Whoopee, San Antonio." Or "Yippee, Sing It Bill," or other remarks. A personal poll we took indicates that this yell is a very popular entertainer indeed.

After a series of whines and shouts, the long suffering disk jockey winds up the program with a song in which the singer says his gal's been slipping around—he drags out around—but now she has been found. He's going to bring her back, he says, if the train doesn't jump the track.

Sometimes we yearn for a little Tex Reneké.

In New Orleans, it appears to a tourist as though two-thirds of the men are representatives of sight-seeing buses—and the other one-third are taxi-drivers who offer to take you on a tour of the night life.

In one night spot (so I heard) the master of ceremonies asks, "Anyone here from New York?" When someone says, "Yes," the m. c. turns to the band and says, "Maestro, the state song of New York"—and the band plays the opening bars of the "The Eyes of

Trends—

We don't suppose it will do any good to say anything about it, but at least we can get it off our chest. This child labor law as it pertains to children of transient cotton pullers has turned out to be just about the biggest farce yet foisted on the agricultural south, of all the farces dished out by the administration. With education as its publicized purpose, the law was in reality conceived by powerful labor unions that know not where they are going and care less, mothered by the administration, and hatched by a Congress afraid of the labor vote.

Instead of education for these transient Latin American children, what do we have? Every rural school in Crosby County, as well as most of the others all over West Texas, has been forced to close in order that their patrons, the cotton farmers, could get hands to pull their cotton. Two of the independent schools of the county are operating on short schedules. Barks and Crosbyton continue to operate on regular schedule—of course the best thing for the schools but a decided detriment to the farmer.

And what about the transient school children the law was to help. Most of the Latin Americans have flocked to districts that have been dismissed in order that the law can be evaded. Those who have enrolled in the schools of the area, knowing little English and having little educational foundation, pass the day, that is all. They overcrowd the rooms and make the teacher's task, which is always difficult, even more so.

It is the same old story of too much concentration of power in a far off place. Washington cares nothing about what happens to us out here in West Texas because we always vote Democratic. If the power were closer to home, vested in state government as it should be, then it might be possible to work out a solution of this problem fair to everyone. But as it looks now about the only solution is—plant that stormproof cotton and wait for the frost to use that mechanical puller.

- 1 Enforcement Begins January 1, 1952. On this date, the new Safety Responsibility Law, as passed by the Legislature, goes into effect. This law was designed to protect you against financially irresponsible drivers and owners of motor vehicles involved in accidents. It affects all drivers and motor vehicle owners (except Federal, State, County and City-owned cars).
- 2 What Must You Do After An Accident? Under existing laws, you must file a written report to the Department of Public Safety if your car is involved in an accident where there is a death, an injury or property damage in excess of $25. Under the new law, a written report must be filed within ten days if your car is in an accident resulting in death, injury or property damage in excess of $100.
- 3 You Don't Have to Carry Liability Insurance, But . . . If you are not insured against bodily injury and property damage liability, you must be able to deposit with the Department of Public Safety security equal to the estimated damage, not exceeding $15,000.00, to cover all claims growing out of an accident anywhere in Texas in which you or your motor vehicle were involved. If you cannot establish financial responsibility for the future, your driver's license and your motor vehicle license plates are automatically suspended.
- 4 It's Easy to Establish Financial Responsibility with a motor vehicle liability insurance policy. If you do not now have such a policy, call your local insurance agent today. He is a qualified insurance counselor who will be happy to advise you concerning your needs.
- 5 What is the Minimum of Your Liability? The law permits each driver to establish the following minimum limits of liability: up to $5,000.00 for injuries sustained by one person; up to $10,000.00 for all personal injuries resulting from one accident, and up to $5,000.00 for property damage. You do not have to establish such liability but it is the easiest way.
- 6 Select An Established Insurance Agent. The agents listed below know the insurance business and represent well-known dependable capital stock insurance companies. These agents are not of the kind that are here today and gone tomorrow. Their names are listed in the telephone directory. Laugh Happy Film Stars J. Stewart

"Laugh and the world laughs with you," runs the old adage, and James Stewart and Joan Fontaine heartily agree. They are currently spreading happiness at the Caprock Drive-In Theatre, where their film, "You Gotta Stay Happy," is playing, and the two Academy Award winners, teamed for the first time, insist they were especially happy making the film.

Stewart's reasons are simple: "You Gotta Stay Happy" has him back in flying togs and aboard planes such as he piloted during the war, and it gives him a chance to appear opposite Joan, whom he calls "the most fascinating actress in Hollywood."

As for Joan, she was happy making the picture, she explained, because it provided a real change of pace in her career. Films such as "Rebecca," "Suspicion," for which she received an Academy Award; "Ivy" and "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands" established the blonde actress as a dramatic performer with few opportunities to play comedy. A few years back, however, she appeared in "The Affairs of Susan," which won her critical acclaim, and which she had so much fun making that she has been looking forward to another chance at romantic comedy.

Joan also was happy to have Stewart as her leading man, because she considers him a "natural" for the role he plays. The young actor won an "Oscar" for his performance in "The Philadelphia Story," and scored notable successes in such other romantic comedies as "It's a Wonderful Life," "Come Live With Me" and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

"You Gotta Stay Happy," a Rampart Production released by Universal-International, was adapted from a story by Robert Carson that appeared as a serial in the Saturday Evening Post. The screenplay was written by Karl Tunberg, who also produced the film, the featured cast of which includes Eddie Albert, Roland Young, Willard Parker and Percy Kilbride. H. C. Potter directed.

Chandler Stars In Prize Fight Role

Ever since Richard Barthelme made "The Patent Leather Kid" and Reginald Denny became famous in "The Leather Pushers" series the fight picture has been a stepping stone to movie fame.

Rugged Jeff Chandler is the latest Hollywood star to stand on the threshold of filmland success with his powerful performance as a pugilist in Universal-International's "Iron Man," opening Sunday at the Slaton Theatre.

Evelyn Keyes and Stephen McNally are also starred in "Iron Man," the first fight film in two years to strip the veil of romance from the ring and tell a hard-hitting tale of manipulation behind the scenes of the roaring arena.

Jeff Chandler plays the role of the fighting coal miner who takes an unmerciful beating every time he fights up to the point where his mind blanks out and he slugs his way to a win. The rugged star fights a total of seven bouts in "Iron Man," but contrary to the formula prize fight story, loses his most important match.

Screen newcomers Rock Hudson and Joyce Holden, two promising Universal-International contract players, head the strong supporting cast of "Iron Man."

Spectacle, Action In Big-Scale Epic

A colorful, hard-riding regiment of United States Cavalry that brawled and fought its way to fame in the rugged Black Hills country of Dakota serves as the exciting focal point for "Warpath," which opens on Sunday at the Circus Drive-In Theatre.

With Edmond O'Brien, Dean Jagger, Forrest Tucker and Harry Carey, Jr., starred, and lovely Polly Bergen heading a big featured cast, this Paramount release excitingly recreates the story of the most savage and wide-spread Indian warfare that the West ever saw.

O'Brien portrays a tough, rough trooper who has joined up to track down a pair of killers that he believes is now serving in the regiment. Jagger is seen as an unscrupulous frontier trader who deals with both sides in the conflict between white man and Indian, while Tucker portrays a blustering, cruel, line sergeant. The feminine interest is torridly supplied by Polly Bergen who plays the red-head regimental belle.

With treachery, arson and murder spicing the narrative, the film swiftly develops the violent struggle between the massed Sioux armies and the rugged band of horse troopers who matched flaming arrows with cold steel. Spectacular charges, grim ambushes and bloody massacres are all authentically reenacted as the drama advances to a thundering crescendo.

Sea Unicorn

The narwhal is called the sea unicorn because of the long, spiral and tapered tusk that grows from its upper jaw. This is sometimes as long as ten feet. Its purpose has never been determined. Ironically, the tusk is often fashioned into a harpoon used in the hunting of these sea animals.

Groom Crosby Has Too Many Brides

Paramount's "Here Comes The Groom," a comedy which has been the object of some of the most unrestrained praise that ever heralded a film, will open next Sunday and Monday at the Caprock Drive-In Theatre. This latest Bing Crosby starrer reputedly packs all the charm, wit and melody that have marked the greatest Crosby vehicles of the past, and in the process uncorks the hilarious tale of a reporter on a wild-eyed search for a bride to mother two engaging orphans.

Produced and directed by Academy Award winner Frank Capra, "Here Comes The Groom" is a generous entertainment package stocked with top stars and featuring several exciting newcomers as well. Jane Wyman, Alexis Smith, Franchot Tone and James Barton frolic with the Groaner in stellar roles, while Anna Maria Alberghetti, a thrilling fifteen-year-old soprano, and Jacky Genece, an engaging French youngster, brighten the screen in their American cinema debuts.

Bing plays the reporter who checks into the States with two French orphans, is given seven days by the immigration authorities to find a bride-mother. He thinks girl friend Jane Wyman will fill the bill, but finds that she's been doing some stepping of her own while he's been globe-trotting, and is scheduled to merge with her millionaire boss.

Bing plots a hilarious offensive to win Jane back, gets the assistance of his editor and the girl's fisherman father. Normally sedate Boston is reduced to a torrid bedlam as he craftily tries to rekindle an old flame. And all of this is culminated in a howling garden wedding ceremony in which much more than vows are exchanged on the altar.

Along the way, there are a lot of lively musical interludes. There's a high-flying jam session staged in a trans-Atlantic plane. Ace song-smiths Jay Livingston and Ray Evans have crafted a very hummable set of tunes, and Johnny Mercer and Hoagy Carmichael have contributed an additional melody. "In the Cool, Cool, Cool of the Evening," to which Bing and Jane apply their best singing and dancing.

All in all, "Here Comes The Groom" looms as a jumbo helping of swiftly-paced entertainment that mixes gags, smart dialogue, music and mirth in just the right proportions. If it's as satisfying as everyone seems to think, you'll do well to put it on your movie agenda.

Kirk Douglas and Jan Sterling play leading roles in "THE BIG CARNIVAL" coming Wednesday and Thursday to the SLATON THEATRE.

Americana
Even the great American writer, Nathaniel Hawthorne, failed to burn up the world with his first literary efforts. The Book House for Children relates that he realized so little money from early magazine articles, he was forced to take a job as a weigher in the customs house at Boston and later to work as a farm hand.

Don't Starve Grass
Where there are trees on lawns, Scotts Lawn Research experts have noted that the grass is starved through theft of nourishment by near-surface roots. This can be avoided, the experts say, if double rates of fertilizer are applied in areas under trees out as far as the tips of the longest branches.

Pinch radishes before you buy them, and if they are at all soft it is a sign they are dry and plithy.

All Is Not Gold That Looks Good . . .

The formative period of the South Plains is just beginning and the future of this area will be very strongly influenced by what takes place within the next decade.

Somewhere in this rich and progressive area some industrialization will most surely take place, some such activity has already been developed in Lubbock and in its immediate environment.

Should great development of agriculture be encouraged and the industrialization be given less support or should the efforts be the other way around.

The coastal country of Texas has undergone a vast upheaval in the past fifteen years, while big industrial concerns moved in bringing in large numbers of workers who were strangers to the country and who established their own ways of life and practically took over the country.

Out here we still have a great deal more individuality, we have the old established way of life that has been followed for nearly a century and the longer the people who are here can resist mass industrialization the longer the South Plains can enjoy the isolation that we now have.

A Business Nuisance . . .

After attempting to read and understand the items released to newspapers by the Office of Price Stabilization, our sympathy goes to the bedeviled retailers and service men who have not only to read but to apply to their businesses the multi-fold regulations.

An Edinburg businessman whose establishment carries simply thousands of different items made up a report for the OPS only to learn, after he had filed it, that much of it had to be done over because of the material changes made in the regulations.

Putting additional costs of doing business on stores—and certainly in many of the larger establishments a full time employee is needed to keep within the OPS regulations—seems a poor way toward getting lower prices for the buying public.

How True . . .

Long ago it was amusingly observed that the Tennessee River "flows through three states and drains the other 45." All the taxpayers of America have subsidized TVA and are continuing to subsidize it.

We can see TVA clearly now—a gigantic monopoly, with life and death power over the agriculture and industry of a great region. Here is socialism in full bloom.

A Million Dollar Debt Ok'ed By 11 Voters . . .

Only eleven persons cast ballots at a special election here last week. All of them voted in favor of issuing bonds in the amount of $1 million.

Quotes . . .

"He couldn't keep me and the government." —Chorus girl telling why she lost her sugar daddy.

"A credit dollar is just as inflationary as a printing press dollar." —Earl Bunting, managing director of NAM.

"Taxes are like golf—you drive hard to get near the green and then wind up in a hole." —Eddie Davis.

"Government's function is not to dominate, but to lay down rules so everyone can act affectively." —AFL's "Labor Monthly Survey."

"A man usually falls in love with the woman who asks the kind of questions he is able to answer." —Ronald Coleman.

Kip Taylor, Oregon State coach, suggests the ultimate in the football platoon system: one team for offense, one for defense and on to attend classes.

Blanche Manor: Television has a lot of first-grade comedy in it—the trouble is most of the audience has gone beyond the first grade.

Dan Bennett: An ideal husband is one who treats his wife like a new car.—Your Life.

Walter Winchell: The guys in Washington that a year ago were yelling "Red Herring" are now crying "Holy Mackerel!"

Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine: Used to be that when you brought home a report card with low marks you'd get a licking; nowadays you get drafted.

Iika Chase: You can always spot a well-informed man—his views are the same as yours.

YEAH TEAM!—Shapely Marie Wilson, radio and screen actress, seems determined to add her curves to the grid lines this year.
