of his wife's ability to turn out an endless stream of best-selling romances; but when he'd wake up in the middle of the night and find her still pounding her typewriter his patience would occasionally wear a bit thin. He turned on the bedside light early one morning, saw the time: 3 a.m. "Jean!" he yelled, "come to bed!"
"Can't darling," she called back. "I've got my heroine out with a wolf, and I've got to get her safely home."
"How old is she?"
"Oh, 25 or so."
"She's old enough to figure it out for herself! Come to bed."

Some disillusioned husband once said that marriage is like a bath—by the time you get used to it, it's not so hot.
Joe: "What ever became of Bill's wife?"
Sam: "She talked in her sleep so he sent her home to mutter."
Nit: "Won't you join me in a cup of coffee?"
Wit: "Do you think there's room in that little cup for both of us?"
—The Wink Bulletin

The Colonel, writing in the Taft Tribune several years back, gave a verbatim account of what he says were the questions and answers when a lady applied for a driver's license:
How old are you?
Over 18.
What is the first rule of the road?
Watch out for the motor cops.
What is the second rule of the road?
Don't let anything run into you or past you.
What would you do if the steering gear broke?
Drive into the nearest garage and have it fixed.
What would you do if the battery runs out?
Try to put it back.
What is the accelerator?
The name of something you put your foot on that has something to do with something inside the car.
What is the charging indicator?
The bill you get from the garage.
What is meant by "short circuit"?
Going some where by the shortest way.
What furnishes the motive power of the car?
My husband.

The wife had been put on a budget plan. At the end of each month she and her husband would go over the accounts together. Every once in a while he would find an item, "H. O. K. $5" and a little farther on, "H. O. K. $3."
Finally he asked: "My dear, what is this—H. O. K.?"
"Heaven only knows," she replied.

"Rambling With Royce"
The hospital is man's greatest friend; it shelters the rich, the poor, the unfortunate, and the suffering. The beggar is operated upon with the same care and technique as the rich. The doctors, nurses, and helpers are ever on duty to administer to the burned child, the broken arm, the emergency, and the accident. It is the community life saving station, and with its concentrated equipment, doctors, and trained nurses, it is one's last hope for life. Therefore, give it your cooperation and respect. Speak well of it. Encourage and support it, in order that it may render the best service at all times. You or your friend may need its services tomorrow.

He was rather small and had been used to sleeping with a night-light in his room, but his parents had decided that he must start sleeping in the dark. When his mother put out the light, he asked, plaintively:

"Must I sleep in the dark to-night Mummy?"
"Yes, darling," was the reply, "you are getting to be a big boy now."
"Well, may I say my prayers over again—more carefully?"

Visitors to Plains have been known to grumble about the stop light on highway 380. They wondered why such a light is needed in a little sawed-off town like this. Well, having to stop at this light is just the penalty against you for your fast driving through town. If care had been practiced in driving through the town the light would never have been put.

Opportunity Is Beating And Banging . . .

The smaller towns on the South Plains, and in most all parts of the state, have better opportunities to become better trade centers than they have had in many, many years, and some of them are taking advantage of conditions to some extent, but none are reaping as much benefit from their opportunities as could be done.

With traffic conditions becoming more and more involved every day and with the prospect of more and more cars crowding streets and highways even the larger cities are breaking up into trading centers and more and more folks are shopping in the less congested areas when the opportunity is offered.

The people who live on the farms and in the suburbs are becoming more and more conscious of the convenience of buying in the smaller communities and the only reasons that they do fight their way through the traffic congestions of Lubbock and other bigger communities is because of price and variety of choice. When the merchants in the smaller and medium size towns get up nerve enough to carry most all of the grades of goods that prosperous farm people want, and are willing to pay for, then the more prosperous the smaller towns will be.

Of course the more business increases in the smaller towns the more congested their traffic will become, and if such business activity is to help the smaller communities, then the traffic problem will have to be considered. This could be done by providing adequate parking space before the problem gets out of hand as it has in many communities where the parking meters have been found to make the shopping problem even more difficult to solve than if they were not in use.

The folks from out of town should be encouraged in every way, and the town that accepts the responsibility of catering to the out of town shoppers will be doing more for the home folks than could be done in any other way.

Small town folks should go out of their way to make shopping easy in Slaton, Wilson, Posey, Idalou and all other communities where new business will help.

If more free parking space is needed the town should provide it. The larger the town gets the more difficult it will become to secure such facilities.

There's No Place Like Home . . .

This is the time of the year when most of us write or receive post cards and short notes about how BEAUTIFUL the scenery is in Colorado, Wyoming, California, or in most any spot on earth except where our homes is out here on the South Plains.

When you get right down to it are any of those places as inspiring as our own part of the world?

Have you ever returned from any of your trips and not felt that the good old South Plains is not the best place in the world to live? If you have you should get busy and move to whatever place you might feel would make a better place to live, for there "is no place like home." If it is not the best place on earth to you, then you are in the wrong place.

We take for granted, because we have become too familiar with them, the better things that are ours out here where the wind blows, the sun shines, and where the rivers are dry.

If you are a mind to see the sun set, the vast open views, the black fury of a South Plains sand storm, the tablelands of cotton fields so varied in their contouring, and can take the heat, the cold and all the other things that you complain about, then you can come home from a vacation or can read messages from friends or relatives, who are visiting in distant places, and say to yourself that the South Plains is the best place to be.

State Highway Upkeep . . .

Texas Highway Commission Chairman Thornton has raised the pertinent question whether we are not spreading our highway resources too thinly—unless the people are reconciled to an increase in gasoline taxes for financing an expanding system.

The commission has authorized an appropriation of $23,076,900 for maintenance alone in the coming year, a total that is only $3 million less than the entire outlay for highways in 1945. Upkeep will be required for 12,961 miles of farm-to-market roads and 25,623 miles of the primary highway system.

The last two Legislatures made provision for building farm-to-market roads, but the problem of maintenance of them is the highway commission's worry. Record costs of upkeep for the coming year are attributed to addition of 3,962 miles to the road system and wear-and-tear on aging roads.

The legislative desire for more roads is a characteristic sentiment of the times, which favors more and more public works without regard for subsequent operation and maintenance. As a result of this naive policy modernization of the state's primary road system would require $602 million. Current revenues would finance no such high expenditure. Hence, the people should be forewarned of possible resort to the easy expediency of a bond issue for putting the highway system in order.

Texas has a 38,340-mile state road system which is built and maintained by the state. In 1948, the TEXAS ALMANAC reports, the mileage was 30,146, the 30-year cost of which had been more than $1 billion. Progress has been evident in this development of highways. But the system has expanded so fast that maintenance and modernization have lagged far behind. This is the problem presented by the highway commission chairman. It boils down to the proposition that, if the people want more and better roads, they will have to pay more.

Fast Ball Down The Middle . . .

Senator Douglas's "Sunday pitch" had all the stuff on the ball he claimed it would. He could merely have let "senatorial courtesy" take its course and reject the two judges for Illinois federal posts whom Mr. Truman nominated after ignoring Senator Douglas's recommendations.

But the senator refused to fight it out only on grounds of politics or precedent. He asked the Chicago Bar Association to ballot on his choices versus the President's, and to consider only fitness for judicial office. And he promised to abide by the results of the poll. Bar association members cast 6,000 out of 6,400 ballots sent out. Mr. Douglas's candidates bested Mr. Truman's, 3,656 to 553 and 3,003 to 1,310.

This puts Senator Douglas in the position of playing the very best sort of politics and the President, unless he sees the light and reverses himself, in the position of playing the worst. No wonder Washington correspondents have just voted the freshman from Illinois the best man in the United States Senate.—The Christian Science Monitor.

South Plains To Have Big Display

The South Plains area will have an impressive display of its own as part of the "Storybook of Texas Agriculture" at the 1951 State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 6-21.

Irrigated cotton will be featured in the large diorama devoted to the South Plains, Extension District 2 of the Texas A.&M. College System.

Growing cotton will line the front of the display while in the center a miniature field of cotton under irrigation will be shown. A model farm house and cotton gin building will also be shown along with the amount of cotton in a bale and the products that can be made with this much cotton.

Grain sorghums, truck garden vegetables and wheat will also come in for a fair share of attention, while growing dahlias will form the floral decorations for the South Plains exhibit.

District 2 includes Farmer, Bailey, Cochran, Yoakum, Gaines, Castro, Lamb, Hockley, Terry, Swisher, Hale, Lubbock, Lynn, Dawson, Floyd, Crosby, Garza and Borden counties.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thompson, and R. A. Jr., have returned this week, from a vacation in Truth and Consequences, Albuquerque, and Ruidoso, N. M., and Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Clifton's birthday was Saturday, July 28th, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton's anniversary was Monday, July 30th. Both events were celebrated by a dinner on Sunday. Melinda is spending the week with her aunt and uncle in Lubbock.

Newcastle Immunity
Laying chickens that have recovered from an attack of Newcastle disease or that have been vaccinated against it pass along a temporary immunity to chicks hatched from their eggs. However, the immunity lasts for only a short time—ten days for some birds, up to three or four weeks for others—and after it wears off the youngsters are wide open to infection. Vaccination offers the best means of protecting them against the Newcastle virus, particularly if they are being raised in areas where outbreaks already have occurred.

Ever buy a car from this angle?

SURE, a trim new Buick makes a mighty pretty picture when you see it in your driveway, or watch it wheel by.

But if you could get a mechanic's-eye view of this big, broad beauty as it sits on a lift, you'd see an impressive picture of rugged brawn that makes good-to-look-at Buicks give such a good account of themselves on the road.

You'd see the full-length torque-tube drive that firms the whole power relay system, and steadies your going like a giant hand beneath you.

You'd see big sturdy wheels with really wide rims that provide surer footing, give better car control, make tires last longer.

You'd see all four wheels cushioned by stout coil springs that are completely service-free, practically breakproof—and a principal reason for the ever-level Buick ride.

But mainly, you'd see the massive foundation that backbones every Buick—the deep, wide, X-member frame that's rugged as a rock, and a brute for strength.

So when you look at the beauty of a Buick—the big mileage power of its valve-in-head Fireball Engine—and the moneysaving ability of its Dynaflo Drive*—don't overlook the tough stamina that goes with it all.

And don't overlook the fact that a new '51 Buick, with all its heft, costs less per pound than any other car of comparable size, structure and weight.

Better come see us first chance you get—and find out what a smart buy this is—from every angle.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

No other car provides all this:

Early Vision Theory
Empedocles, Greek scientist of about 500 B. C., and other savants believed the eyes emitted rays which struck an object and bounced back to produce vision. Now, of course, it is known that the object sends out waves of reflections which the eyes pick up and transmit to the brain, where the image is formed and interpreted.

Passenger Cars
Steam heated passenger cars, doing away with stoves or hot water heaters, were introduced in 1881. Passenger cars were greatly improved in 1903 by the introduction of the vapor system of heating. With this system, live steam from the steam train line is reduced to vapor at atmospheric pressure and admitted to heating coils inside the car.

"I got the story on 50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"

says H. Joseph Johnson
Taxi Fleet Owner
Maryville, Missouri

"Our fleet of cars are driven 25,000 to 30,000 miles a month. We find that motors lubricated with Conoco Super outwear the bodies of our cars."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

NEWSPAPER DELIVERY

"I make daily trips of 250 miles and more, delivering newspapers into Nebraska," reports Paul M. Foss, Cheyenne, Wyo. "After 70,000 miles exclusively on Conoco Super, I don't even have to add oil between 1,000-mile drains."

"A real money-saver—that's Conoco Super," says W. H. Grubbs, Used Car Salesman, Fort Worth, Tex. "I was driving a 1939 car using 2 quarts every 500 miles. I changed to Conoco Super and stopped having to add oil between drains."

Widening of 5.1 miles of Highways 87 and 70 through the Plainview city limits will start soon. Contract has been let to Holland and Page, Austin contractors, on a bid of approximately $289,000. H. C. Weaver, resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department said. Property owners and the city are paying for the curb and gutter.

Highway 70, designated as Fifth street in the city limits, will be widened to an over-all 64 feet, providing four lanes with eight-foot parallel parking lanes on each side.

Requests for entry blanks for the third annual Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo to be held here Aug. 14, 15, 16, 17, and 18 have increased considerably in the past week, Leon Miller, show secretary, has announced.

Approximately 100 entry blanks have already been mailed out by Miller and Alvin Davis, publicity director of the show. By the time the rodeo rolls around officials expect approximately 300 contestants to be entered.

They also claim this year's show will be one of the most highly publicized in the nation. L. E. Orr, of San Antonio, has notified David and George Samson that he will cover the rodeo for Movietone News. And his son, Jimmie Orr, will cover for another newsreel company. A professional rodeo photographer, Andy Kathey of Ft. Worth will also cover the show.

Two feature stories will also be run in leading magazines following the show. The Cattleman, published in Fort Worth, will feature the Post Junior Rodeo in its Sept. issue.

National 4-H Club News editors have also indicated they intend to run a story on the rodeo after its five night performances.

Dr. F. B. Malone, president of the South Plains Council of the Boy Scouts of America, announced this week that the swimming pool at C. W. Post Memorial scout camp has been closed for the summer.

This recinded a previous statement which stated the pool would be closed only temporarily. The action was taken as a precautionary measure due to several cases of polio in Post.

The scout camp will remain open for use of Scout troops for camping purposes without swimming facilities. Scout troops were reminded by Dr. Malone to get their camping permits from the council office in Lubbock before going to Camp Post.

The Department of Agriculture wants Texas farmers to plant 6,000,000 acres of wheat this fall and winter and hopes they will produce 60,160,000 bushels. It wants them to plant 1,600,000 acres of oats, and produce 23,480,000 bushels. It wants 20,000 acres and 2,480,000 bushels of barley and 21,000 acres and 168,000 bushels of rye. Total requested wheat acreage for the nation is 78,850,000, or 1,165,000,000 bushels. USDA has not set final national oat figures. The announced 1952 crop goals are designed to fill all known requirements and to maintain or build stocks as safeguards in the defense emergency, said Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture.

Crosby county faces the gravest threat to its agricultural future that has been known since the plow first broke the virgin sod of the plains. W. I. Kimbough, county agent, warned its residents this week.

"Beside this menace, Johnson grass is a play-thing," stated the agent, "I refer to the encroachment of bindweed, also called possession vine and wild morning glory."

Bindweed has already heavily infested 10,000 acres of good Crosby county soil, the agent said, where just a few years ago the obnoxious weed was unknown in the county. If unchecked, the weed can easily make useless a huge slice of the farming land of the county within a comparatively few years.

—The Crosbyton Review

"Now that summer has come to Texas it is time for people who expect to enjoy camping and swimming during the warm weather to be sure that they are adequately protected against typhoid fever," according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. "Although the public health strides of recent decades have practically eliminated typhoid fever as a threat to persons living in communities with approved water supplies and good sanitation, the disease remains a real danger to those who swim, camp or picnic in remote rural areas."

"Typhoid fever is transmitted from one person to another by means of water, food or milk that has been contaminated by discharge from a patient suffering with the disease or from an apparently well typhoid carrier."

CHICK CHATS
Presented By Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories
ALWAYS KEEP GRIT BEFORE YOUR BIRDS
Most everyone knows that the chicken has a gizzard, but not everyone knows its function, or what its purpose is in the make-up of a chicken.

Actually, the gizzard takes the place of teeth. Since chickens do not have teeth, they need a "grinder" of some sort to break up their feed and prepare it for easy digestion. That's where the gizzard fits in.

A Muscular Organ
The gizzard is a tough muscular organ in which the grit or gravel is retained to crush and grind the feed. When it is loaded with feed, the gizzard begins to expand and contract, causing the hard grain to be crushed and ground by the pebbles or grit. When the feed is reduced to finer form by the grinding, it passes out of the gizzard and on into the intestines where it is digested and assimilated by the bird's body.

Of course, if there is no grit in the gizzard, no grinding can be done. Impacted crop or gizzard frequently results when the bird does not have access to grit or other grinding material.

Eventually the grit grinds itself into powder, then passes on through the intestines. Grit should always be kept before the birds so that they may replenish their supply.

Chicks And Poults
With baby chicks and poults it is a different story. While the youngsters are receiving all-mash rations there is no real need for grit. Consequently, it is recommended that it be withheld for a few weeks. The danger of giving grit to very young chicks or poults, particularly the latter, is that the little birds may gorge themselves on the substance, filling up their gizzards so completely that the regular movement of feed through the digestive tract is blocked. Of course, after the birds are old enough to eat whole grain, grit should be available at all times.

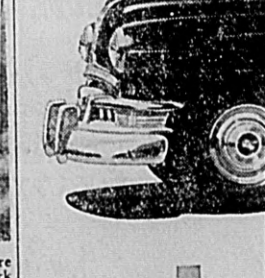

Grit should be rather insoluble. Soft material, such as marble or ordinary limestone, powders quickly, and the birds must eat large amounts of the material for replacement.

They Loved Beauty, Too
At the time of Louis XVI, highly polished dark woods were used for the large pieces of furniture. The lighter pieces were often painted or enameled in white or pale tints—or lacquered in the Chinese manner. Even the quaint harpsichords of the day were often painted a pastel tint overlaid with delicate garlands and Watteau figures.

RAY-BEATER—Britain's first world middleweight champion in 57 years, 23-year-old Randy Turpin will give Sugar Ray Robinson a chance to regain his crown in New York on Sept. 26. Turpin rocked the ring world when, as a four-to-one underdog with only 44 pro fights under his belt, he gave the world's supposedly punch-proof fighting machine such a beating that Sugar was lucky to go the whole distance.

Most of the patients at that hospital were Korean casualties. Delbert was sent to Mare Island at Vallejo, California early this year, where he was attached to the commissary. It is probable that he will be there for some time. There are several bases around there, and, of course, it is a very crowded place. However, Delbert says there are plenty of recreation facilities. They have a basketball team and a baseball team organized at the base, and they play teams off ships that come in, and also among themselves. They hope to organize a football team later this year. Delbert bought a new car the other day, and will drive back to California, when his 20 days leave is up.

Mrs. Ray Conner has just received a letter from her son Pfc. Bobby Conner. Their ship had docked at Haines, Alaska. He said the scenery was beautiful, high mountains with very tall pines, and plenty of snow. Their group will travel overland from Haines to Anchorage, which will take from thirty to forty-five days.

Cpl. Billy Jo Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bartlett, arrived in Slaton August 7th. He took basic training at El Paso, Texas, then was sent to New Orleans, La. Billy Jo has orders to report to Camp Stockton, California, (near San Francisco) August 20 to await shipment overseas.

Pfc. Joe Tucker, who joined the Marines last October, is now stationed in Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. He took his training in radio communications at San Diego, California before being sent to Camp Lejeune.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gaither have had as visitors in their home, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Max Ratekiff and Jimmy of Marshelton, Iowa.

JUST TALK
by

have made such a success of the office supply business and the main reason why Howard Swanner puts on that Bankers stare when I ease into the hard bottomed squirmers chair in the ladders pen at money headquarters in Slaton.

If there are any folks who are going to build concrete sidewalks and need something to substitute for gravel I will be glad to sell them some peaches that I feel would be excellent for this purpose.

Up until this year we have had some of the best peaches on our two trees that I have ever stuck an eye tooth into, but they are just skin and seed this year. My wife has been checking up on other folks who have been petting and pampering peach trees during the long hot summer days and nights and her investigations reveal that most all the peach trees in this area have turned out about like ours. My heart has been set on two or three big freezings of peach ice cream, but it looks like I'm going to have to be satisfied with ice cream made from inspired California peaches or do without.

Now that I've tried three different kinds of hay fever pills I'm ready for some more suggestions, such as, putting sulphur in my shoes, drinking a gallon of buttermilk each day, carrying a buckeye in my pocket and lugging an Irish potato around until it gets as hard as Stalin's heart.

The pills have worked about as well, but no better, than the sulphur, buttermilk, and Irish potato, which means that none of them have done any good at all. My sneezes are just as loud and just as bone shaking as ever, but I'm not discouraged, for I feel sure that some day some one will come up with a suggestion such as walking backwards on my tiptoes for two blocks, standing on my head in the corner for thirty minutes, or carrying a twenty pound weight on my head for twenty minutes each day will cure hay fever. It is a lot easier to take pills and that is the only advantage I see in them.

It won't be long before you will be able to go to the grocery store and get canned scrambled eggs, ready mixed coffee, buttered biscuit, tea that has already been sweetened, and it won't be long before all a woman will have to do to turn on the automatic cooking stove will be to turn over in bed early in the morning and punch a button, it is probable that some smart inventor is working on a baby spanking machine, a radar directed carpet sweeper, a dish wiping machine for women who cannot control their husbands, it won't be long before there'll be an electric mopping machine, a magazine holding device that can be controlled by a flick of the wrist and what the women are going to do with their time I have no idea, they'll just have to have more coffee drinking parties, and think up more slogans about women's work is never done.

Met Mrs. H. G. Sanders in the Post Office last week and she did her best to cheer me up by saying that I seemed to be feeling better as I have been wearing a smile lately in place of that heart broken, dejected air that had been plaguing me before I had myself whittled on at the Hospital.

It seems that I must have been going around grouching a lot, for Mrs. Sanders is not the only person who has noticed that my disposition has been improving, in fact I'm afraid I'm going to ruin my reputation as a bellyacher, and that Dr. W. E. Payne will not speak to me. I'm trying to get back into the proper mood by discussing the poor trapping conditions on the South Plains with B. G. Guinn.

B. G. and I have discussed the problems of trapping on the South Plains and he claims that some one had been running his lines and thought that if I was not so lazy that I might have been guilty. I put on my saddest look and sympathized with Mr. Guinn, but, just between you, me, and the gate post, I think B. G. has been slipping a few good pets off my line.

If Mrs. Sanders will just be patient with me I'll soon overcome my pollyanna attitude and with B. G., Kirby Scudder, Howard Swanner and Leonard Harral I'll take on the troubles of the world and get my face back in its proper order by reflecting my dejected outlook on life.

One young lady who worked for us for a while put a poser to me not long ago. She asked how to spell a certain word and I told her to look it up in the dictionary.

"How am I going to look it up when I don't even know what letter begins the word, I've got to know something about what I am looking for," she said.

Anybody got any suggestions on how to meet such an emergency, it may come up again.

Fourteen-year-old Dean Stockwell finds it difficult to keep up with the rough life of a cowpoke in Universal-International's new Technicolor Western, "Cattle Drive," starring the young actor with popular Joel McCrea, left, Chill Wills, center, outdoor favorite, heads the large supporting cast of "Cattle Drive," directed by Kurt Neumann and produced by Aaron Rosenberg. Young Stockwell played an important support role to McCrea in "Stars In My Crown" released last year.

JOHN WAYNE gives the orders in this scene from "Operation Pacific," the Warner Bros. submarine epic, opening at the Slaton Theatre on Friday. Ward Bond and Scott Forbes are on the listening end.

No Uppers Long Ago
Shoe uppers were unknown among the ancients. As late as Julius Caesar's days, soldiers' shoes were made of pieces of heavy leather shaped to the foot, with simple thongs to hold them in place.

Mrs. Addie Jackson, who has been visiting relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Cheak, and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Echols, left Sunday for Sweetwater, where she will spend some time before returning to her home in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Yvonne DeCarlo Film Is Loaded With Plenty Of Technicolor Spice

Too long absent, the exotic romance of the ancient East once again returns to the screen at the Caprock Drive-In Theatre with ravishing Yvonne DeCarlo and stalwart Richard Greene starring in Universal-International's Technicolor melodrama, "The Desert Hawk."

In the type of role that made her famous, Miss DeCarlo sings, dances and emotes her way through this fast-action film in a manner to satisfy the most exacting entertainment-seeker. Not only has Designer Bill Thomas exceeded fondest expectations in creating provocative costumes for Yvonne, but the studio has given him three other lovely handmaidens, Lois Andrews, Ann Pearce, and Lucille Barkley, on which to work his imaginative wonders. The only time the star is left without these maids is in love scenes with her co-star, Greene, in which she brings some ever-to-be-remembered moments of delicately shaded passion to the screen.

Green is everything a man, or woman, could expect of a desert hero; tall, dark, handsome, dashing, full of humor and a tender lover. His return to American films after an absence of two years in England is a welcome one. In the title role he gives a virilo and creative performance.

Estacado Reunion At Lubbock Park

Former residents of Old Estacado, Crosby county, the first town on the South Plains, will hold a reunion all day Sunday, August 12, in MacKenzie State Park at Lubbock.

Estacado originally was a Quaker settlement, established about 1879, and the center of the first Plains farming. The bustling little town even attempted to start a college, but the Quakers moved to Galveston county and other settlers moved in. Today, little remains but a store and church.

However, there are many Plains residents who one time or another called Estacado home, and there are even a few descendants of the Quakers left in this area. The first reunion is being sponsored by Mrs. B. H. Howard of Lubbock, and Mrs. M. A. Becton of Becton, and Mrs. S. W. Page of Ralls. It is hoped the reunion may be made an annual affair.

Anyone who ever lived at Estacado is invited to come to the reunion and bring a basket lunch.

Polio Player
For eight years, a Chicago boy with a polio-crippled body was told his case was hopeless. The boy begged his parents for an organ. He not only developed his limbs, but Joe Scotti, now 13, is making professional appearances, playing the organ.

DRY-CLEAN — One way to keep a freshly washed youngster from getting covered with sand is to plunk him in a basin and give him a beer can to play with. That's what a Korean mother did with this tot. And when she returned from the river, where she had been washing diapers, the lad was dry, clean, happy.

Slaton People Worth Knowing

Mrs. Claud Anderson was born Lela Rowland, in Gainesville, Texas in 1883. She married Claud Anderson in 1906. They came to Slaton in 1914. Mr. Anderson bought the building that now houses the Slaton Pharmacy, and went into business as a pharmacist. Slaton was not built up then, and Mrs. Anderson remembers that Mr. Anderson hoed a path through the weeds, which were so very tall that only by looking down the path could one see the back of the store.

For eight years, Mrs. Anderson was church pianist at the First Baptist Church, where she is still a member. She also helped organize the first Campfire girls group, here, and was their guardian from 1919 to 1926. Those first Campfire girls are now mothers and grandmothers.

Mrs. Anderson is a graduate of Carr Burdette College in Sherman, Texas. She majored in music. After her graduation she had a music class in New Mexico, before she married. After her marriage, she taught music eight years here in Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have two children, Claudia, who lives with her parents; and Rowland of Encinitas, Calif. She has three grandchildren, Forrest Lee, Roland Lane and Jerri Lynn. Her main hobby is talking about her grandchildren.

Mrs. Anderson is still interested in music and plays often. She is an ardent art fan and spends a lot of her time painting. The many beautiful pictures in her lovely home are evidence of her ability as an artist. She is starting a new hobby. She has ordered many Iris and plans to spend a good deal of her time, here, on them. However, she chooses Iris, because quite often she and Mr. Anderson like to run off to California to see Rowland and family; and one can own beautiful Iris and still neglect them.

Mrs. Anderson is a member of the First Baptist Church, the Past Matron Club and the Slaton Art Club. She loves to travel different places to paint—her paintings show a favoritism of New Mexico in the fall. However, says Mrs. Anderson, "There may be prettier places in the world, but I wouldn't want to live in any of them. Slaton is the only place in the world that I want to live. This is the place where friends are loyal."

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Evetts and sons have moved to Pecos. Mr. Evetts has been transferred there by Western Cottonoil Co.

HELEN BAILY'S
ADVICE ON Human Relations

Dear Helen:
I have been married only six months. Recently my husband's mother came to live with us. She is a widow and my husband of fered her a home with us. I like her very much except for her habit of bossiness. She wants to run the household plan the meals and generally be the boss. What should I do to remedy the situation without hurting her feelings.
YOUNG WIFE

Answer:
This is a problem common to many homes. I can see that you respect your mother-in-law since you say that you do not wish to hurt her feelings. But if matters are allowed to continue the entire household will be disrupted, eventually. I suggest you bring the problem into the open. Have a family council and explain your side. I'm sure your mother-in-law will understand, especially if you present your case in such a manner as to help her recall her own early days of marriage.
HELEN

Dear Helen:
At what age do you believe a girl should start having dates? I'm fifteen but my parents won't let me have a date with a boy, even to church socials. All the other girls go out often. My parents say I should wait until I'm sixteen. How can I convince them?
FIFTEEN

Answer:
I guess your's is a problem to girls of every age. I don't know why your parents are reluctant to let you have dates, but I imagine it must be a good reason. The easiest solution in cases like yours is to do what the others are doing. Customs vary in every locality, but if you say other girls your age are beginning to date, you should point out to your parents that fact. Suggest a double-date with boys that they know and trust.

HELEN

Helen Baily cannot answer mail personally, nor can she publish each letter she receives. Instead, she chooses representative problems that would be of interest to all. Write her in care of the Slatonite, P.O. Box 775, Slaton, Texas, for forwarding.

Truck Rolls Over; Occupants Unhurt

On Sunday, July 29, Ed Cooper and Sam Finney were driving a truck load of cottonseed from down valley way to Lubbock, for Jack Berkley Trucking Contractor. The driver had taken the Kingsville cutoff to go over to highway 281 at Alice. The occupants of the truck apparently fell asleep, for as they came out of the side road on to the highway, the driver suddenly jerked erect, tried to make the turn and failed. The truck skidded over on its side, then on its top and rested upside down. Miraculously the occupants escaped uninjured.

Mr. Berkley traveled to the scene of the wreck, Tuesday, to supervise repair of the truck. He estimated damages not to exceed $500.00. After repair, the truck and drivers, rolled, again, on the way to Lubbock.
