COMA Elections Postponed . . .

COMA elections were postponed Tuesday night when the legality of proxy votes was questioned by members present. The question of the use of proxy votes was brought up by Bidal Aguero after he was informed that his lifetime membership honor given to him for funding COMA did not include voting privileges and he had been given a proxy vote by another member.

"Our creditials committee composed of Robert Lugo, Jaime Garcia and Genaro Chavez has ruled that you (Aguero) do not have a vote," said Montoya when questioned by Aguero as to his voting status.

Aguero said during and after the meeting that he would rescind his lifetime membership to the organization. "I don't need plaques to hang on the wall. If this type of membership doesn't give me the right to vote, I don't want it," said Aguero. He added that he doubted if he would join COMA ever again. "I'm tempted to burn the plaque at the banquet, but I'll probably just send it back special delivery," said Aguero.

A motion was passed by the membership to postpone the elections until a committee appointed by Montoya decided the legality of proxy voting.

Montoya had said prior to the motion that the provision in the bylaws to allow proxy votes had been changed last year. "Proxy votes were not allowed last year and will not be allowed this year." Montoya could not produce minutes of documentation of the change.

Several members present said that the by-law change had been made during a reception by asking for individual votes but that the required 30 day notice for changing the by-laws was not sent. "I do not remember ever getting a notice of the proposed change," said Gilbert Flores member and also past president of COMA.

The motion to postpone the elections past almost unanimously and Attorney Albert Perez was appointed to chair the committee. "I want to meet within one week so that we can reschedule the election," said Perez.

Olga Riojas, who had been given several proxy votes commented after the meeting that she felt proxy votes were very important. "There are a lot of people who just simply cannot make it to the meeting but still want to have a voice in the organization. I can't see us denying them of their vote just because we want them to be present so they can fill up the room and enjoy a Christmas party after," said Riojas.

Las elecciones de COMA se posponerán el martes por la noche después de que se trate de usar un voto por ausencia por Bidal Aguero, fundador de dicha organización. Además los oficiales de COMA declararon que el honor dado a Aguero el año pasado de ser "miembro por vida" no incluye el derecho de votar. Aguero dijo que el iba rechazar el premio. "Yo no necesito premios para mi pader," dijo Aguero.

Se nombró un comité para investigar si se podía votar por ausencia y para fijar otra junta para elecciones. Se nombró el Lic. Albert Perez para encabezar el comité. Miembros quienes asistieron la junta dijeron que no se le debería negar el derecho de votar a personas quienes no pueden asistir la junta.

Se espera que el comité se junte dentro de una semana.

Darán Permisos Provisionales

Washington, (SE) - El Comisionado del Servicio de Inmigración y Naturalización, (SIN), Alan Nelson, giró instrucciones a los directores regionales de inmigración para que concedan permisos provisionales de trabajo a todos aquellos ilegales que puedan tener derecho a la amnistía, incluyendo a aquellos indocumentados que ya se encuentran presos en los centros de deportación.

Así lo informó aquí el periódico Washington Post el cual agregó que Nelson ordenó el cese inmediato de las deportaciones de todos los indocumentados que muestren tener derecho a la amnistía decretada por la nueva ley de inmigración.

El diario explicó que el permiso provisional de trabajo se entregará para que los ilegales que tienen derecho a solicitar su residencia legal, puedan permanecer en los Estados Unidos hasta el 6 de mayo, fecha en que se comenzarán a procesar las solicitudes de amnistía. El comisionado Nelson explicó que las operaciones de detención y arresto de ilegales en la frontera con México no sufrirán cambios. Los ilegales que sean detenidos cerca de la frontera serán enviados de regreso a sus países, también aquellos que pudieran mostrar que tienen derecho a la amnistía pero que sean detenidos en las fronteras, serán expulsados del país, explicó Alan Nelson.

Las personas que son elegibles para la amnistía de acuerdo a la nueva ley, no deben salir del país pues corren el peligro de perder sus derechos si lo hacen.

Por el momento, si usted es sorprendido por los agentes de inmigración y tiene derecho a la amnistía, debe decirles que usted es elegible de acuerdo a la nueva ley y los agentes le entregarán un documento que le permitirá trabajar temporalmente en los Estados Unidos.

Alan Nelson explicó que para ser elegible, los indocumentados deben probar que entraron en los Estados Unidos antes del primero de enero de 1982, no haber sido nunca convicto por una felonía, o por uso de drogas, no haber reunido tres sanciones por mal comportamiento, y no haber recibido asistencia pública de fondos federales como los programas de Welfare.

El Comisionado de Inmigración explicó a los directores regionales que ellos deberán de usar su buen juicio para determinar si los ilegales son elegibles para la amnistía o no, pero que si temen cometer una equivocación, el error debe ser cometido para ayudar a los indocumentados y no para perjudicarlos.

The Harwell addition, including ten new classrooms and other construction, is the first addition to be completed as part of a school improvements bond package passed by Lubbock voters last December.

The climate-controlled addition, costing approximately $500,000, is providing ten new classrooms which will house four kindergarten and five first grader classes. Two classrooms will be used by teachers and students involved in the LISD Primary Enrichment Program. For the first time in several years, all intermediate classes will be under one roof. In past years nine classes had been held in portable buildings.

In addition to extra classroom space the construction package included new administrative offices, remodeling of the teachers' lounge and workroom area, a new special education area, and a new rotunda-design entrance way.

Lorenzo M. Sedeno, Field representative for the Veterans Land Board was presented with a certificate of recognition in appreciation for his dedicated service to the Veterans of Texas, by Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro. Mr. Sedeno has served the Veterans in the northwest Region 2 which contains 57 counties with a total veterans population of 119680.

Unions Reach Out To Help The Undocumented

Por Rick Icaza

Many Hispanics view with suspicion a key provision of the new federal immigration law penalizing employers who knowingly hire illegal immigrants. But another feature of the act — offering legalization to undocumented aliens who have lived continuously in the United States since Jan. 1, 1982 — has sparked a contrary response: hope.

Hope for thousands of workers who have subsisted for years in the shadows of society.

The union which I lead, United Food and Commercial Workers Local 770, serving the Los Angeles area, has become the first U.S. labor organization to help union and nonunion workers alike in their efforts to gain legal status and eventual citizenship under the recent legislation.

We have initiated a program for undocumented aliens in the food industry. Information hotlines have been installed and staffed by skilled bilingual personnel. Callers can get facts about their rights and advice on individual cases.

Local 770 is also using the lines to issue warnings about unscrupulous operators who are preying on unwary and often fearful immigrant workers during the law's implementation period.

Since our program was announced, we have been besieged with calls from potential beneficiaries of legalization. We also hear complaints about unethical immigration "consultants" who exploit the new act by promising services they cannot deliver.

As the largest union local in California, Local 770 represents 33,000 workers, mostly drug and food store clerks. We serve 4,000 packinghouse workers; 85% are Hispanics and an estimated 60% are undocumented aliens.

Typical is María Luisa Serrato (not her real name), 23, a single mother with a 2-year-old daughter. She has been living in the United States illegally since 1979. She works as a meatcutter at a large Los Angeles packing-house.

For María, legalization holds out the promise of freedom from fear and insecurity. It also means she can improve herself financially, better educate her child and — her ultimate goal — own a home.

Our services to undocumented workers are available to the entire community, to nonunion workers as well as our members. Our program complements other efforts to aid people in coping with a change in law and procedure which is still unclear in many of its facts. Los Angeles City Councilman Richard Alatorre, for example, is producing a question-and-answer guide in English and Spanish. Plans are to distribute it through community-based organizations, including unions, to hundreds of thousands of undocumented residents in Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura counties.

Despite the misgivings minority and civil liberty groups express about the new law, once qualified workers obtain legalization and eventually citizenship, they will be able to participate more fully in the social, economic and political life of their communities.

That could bring major societal changes in states such as California.

Hispanics presently represent 17% of this state's adult population. A post-election poll last month showed that they constituted only 7% of those who voted. Lack of citizenship, poverty, youth and "disengagement from the political process" were some of the reasons cited for their being part of a growing "political underclass" in this state.

If immigration officials implement the law equitably, thousands of persons — maybe a million or more — could become enfranchised. Then the communities where they live and the agencies which serve them must get involved.

Other unions are starting programs similar to ours at Local 770 — particularly those unions which represent or seek to represent undocumented men and women. Such responses may disturb people who believe that we should stick to the bread-and-butter services that unions traditionally offer their members. But increasingly, unions are realizing that they must care about the quality of their members' lives as much as the size of their paychecks.

Historically, labor has been in the forefront of civil rights and equal opportunity battles. Unions don't have to — and shouldn't — confine themselves to the narrow agendas of wages, hours and working conditions. Those undocumented workers who live among us, who have been contributing to our communities for years, deserve our help in their effort to emerge from the shadows and walk in the sunlight, too.

(Rick Icaza is president of United Food and Commercial Workers Local 770 in Los Angeles.)

EL ALACRAN

"El Que Pica Con La Cola"

Pues este Alacran no fue a la junta de COMA pero nos cuentan que hubieron bastantes cuetes. Quesque la ilustre Presidenta estaba determinada de que nomas los miembros presentes pudieran votar. Ah, y me dicen que a Bidal no lo quisieron dejar votar. Quesque decidieron Roberto Lugo, Jaime Garcia y Genaro Chavez que su membresia no contaba. Como dicen los gringos "Not worth the paper it's written on." Pues este Alacran no sabe mucho y entiende menos pero yo si fuera Bidal lo mandara para atras y les dijera que se lo dieran a alguien como el Presidente Reagan ya que estamos seguros que el nunca va querer votar por los oficiales de COMA.

Pues nos llego una carta esta semana. Aquí les va:
Estimado Alacran,

La semana pasada mientras pasaba el tiempo, vide en otro periodico comentarios sobre su columna. No se me hizo nada ésta ya que yo se que su columna es la favorita de muchos inclusivo trabajadores de todos los otros periodicos para darse cuenta que ésta pasando en Lubbock. En esta columna que creo yo viene de Los Angeles, lo ocusan a usted de insultar a Luis Trejo. Quizas esta persona no sabe leer bien el español. Yo recuerdo lo que dijo el en esa columna de dar gracias usted. (Al igual lo tengo que encorendar por sus excelentes comentarios en esa columna) Para mi usted estaba tratando de corregir algo que hasta a mí me enchillaba el cuerpo cada vez que lo escuchaba. A mí me da bastante pena escuchar profesionales en la tele y la radio decir "nojertos, ancina, asegún, frioles y palabras por el estilo. No hacemos nada mal con corregir y tratar de mejorar nuestro idioma.

Siga con sus consejos y con sus buenas opiniones.

Sinceramente
Un Fiel Lector

No lo pudieran ver "dijido" mejor yo!

Bueno ahora solo me queda contarle sobre las aventuras de Bidal. Pues ya les dije lo que le paso en la junta de COMA. Pues nos dice Bidal que quizas se va hacer miembro de la Camara de Comercio de los gringos para haber si allí se lo dejan votar o que quizas se haga miembro de el de Austin.

Pues creanlo o no, este Alacran ya acabo!

Philip Morris "How To" Booklet For Minority Vendors

Company Spent $150-million With Minority Firms In 1985 And Seeks to Increase Volume

New York — Philip Morris Companies Inc. announced this week the publication of a booklet aimed at significantly increasing purchases of goods and services from minority entrepreneurs. The company purchased more than $150-million from minority vendors last year.

Inviting minority vendors to call on Philip Morris Companies, Hamish Maxwell, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer, Philip Morris Companies Inc., said: "Philip Morris welcomes small-business operators because they refresh our creative and competitive spirit. They stand for growth in the American economy, create jobs and profits, strengthen our communities and set the stage for other minority entrepreneurs to do business with corporate America."

The front cover of the booklet, "They Sell to Philip Morris, So Can You," picture two black and one Hispanic vendor, each of whom sells more than a million dollars worth of supplies and equipment to Philip Morris annually.

The three are John Enoch, owner of General Maintenance of Burlington, Inc., and Industrial Paper Products, Inc.; Joe Duarte, owner of Rancho West Concrete, Inc.; and Reginald Gibson, owner of P & G Graphics, Inc.

The booklet lists the four steps necessary to make the Philip Morris supplier team, as well as the goods and services normally purchased by the company. It also lists names, addresses and telephone numbers of principal contact persons in the major units of the company: Philip Morris USA; Miller Brewing Company; General Foods Corporation and Mission Viejo Realty Group.

Robert J. Romano, Chairman of the Philip Morris Minority Vendor Development Task Force, lead a team of 14 executives from Philip Morris Companies, each of the conglomerate's operating companies, to the National Minority Supplier Development Council's Annual Conference in Los Angeles last month.

They conducted hundreds of interviews with prospective

"It is important that we impress upon minority entrepreneurs that we are serious in trying to do business," Romano said. He said the task force is made up of purchasing and affirmative action executives throughout Philip Morris who are "assigned to find Minority-owned businesses and encourage them to bid on company goods and services wherever possible."

Cash & Carry: McWilliams Raids O Coaches

David McWilliams dropped the other boot on the Texas Tech football program Tuesday by hiring the entire Red Raider offensive coaching staff as assistants at the University of Texas at Austin.

The loss of offensive coordinator John Mize, line coach Clovis Hale, quarterback coach Steve Brickey, receiver coach Clarence James and running back coach Jack Kiser was the latest blow the Tech football program suffered from their Austin rivals during a long and lost weekend.

McWilliams, the coach who led Tech to its first winning season since 1978 and first bowl appearance since 1977, announced last Friday he was leaving Tech to become the Longhorns new coach.

Send in your Sports News, Pictures, etc to El Editor Sportsweek P.O. Box 11250 Lubbock, Tx 79408

The Texas head coaching job had been open since the previous Saturday, when UT Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds announced the sacking of Fred Akers, despite Akers' ten year record of 84-24-2.

Saturday embattled Tech Athletic Director T. Jones, who some Tech fans blamed for the loss of McWilliams, announced that defensive coordinator Spike Dykes would replace McWilliams as Tech head coach.

At a tense press conference Friday afternoon, Jones said McWilliams would coach the Raiders in their upcoming Independence Bowl battle with Mississippi.

Later, however, Jones said that Dykes not McWilliams would coach the Raiders in the bowl.

Informed sources close to the University of Texas at Austin told El Editor Sports Week several times during the David McWilliams ordeal that legendary Longhorns coach Darrell Royal was the guiding hand behind McWilliams' selection as the new Texas coach.

Those disclosures were corroborated by stories from Dallas print and radio broadcasting media this week.

Sources say Royal prevailed upon Texas Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds to persuade McWilliams to leave Tech after one year even though McWilliams had four years remaining on his contract.

Other sources claim that the hiring of McWilliams was a compromise between pro-Royal and anti-Akers factions among boosters and alumni. These sources said they believed the hiring of a Longhorn "insider," like McWilliams, was a safer choice than hiring a coach from outside the state.

The Cowboys As Losers

It's getting harder and harder to hate the Cowboys.

America's once-swaggering team lost their third consecutive game Sunday night as the Los Angeles Rams thrashed them, 29-10.

The defeat was the Cowboys fifth in their last six games and eliminated them from realistic playoff contention.

In order for Steve Pelluer, Phil Pozderac and company to sneak into the playoffs, Dallas must beat the Eagles and Bears at home in their two remaining games while San Francisco and Minnesota must each lose at least one game.

The Bears, Giants and Redskins have already clinched three of the five available playoff positions, and the Rams are a virtual surething.

Suspenden en el último momento, pelea de Benítez

Buenos Aires, (AP) - Poco antes de comenzar, fue suspendido el combate de boxeo del ex-tricampeón mundial, el puertorriqueño Wilfredo Benítez, ante el argentino Carlos Manuel del Valle Herrera, en la ciudad de Salta, a 1,600 kilómetros al norte de aquí.

La suspensión, dijeron medios locales de prensa, se debió a que al promotor del combate Angel Herrera le fue embargada la recaudación. No se indicaron las razones de ese embargo ni se dieron otras explicaciones.

Se dijo que, de todas formas, la pelea entre Benítez y del Valle Herrera, de la categoría medianos livianos, podría realizarse el miércoles o viernes próximos.

Benítez fue el campeón mundial de boxeo más joven de la historia.

Jesucristo fue de Galilea al río Jordan, donde estaba Juan, para que Juan lo bautizara. Cuando Jesus le dijo que lo bautizara, Juan le dijo a Jesus: Yo soy el que debo de ser bautizado por ti, y tuquieres que yo te bautice a tí? Jesus le contesto: Hazlo como te digo, porque es necesario que cumplamos todo lo que Dios ha ordenado. Entonces Juan lo bautizo. Tan luego que fue bautizado, salio del agua, y se abrio el cielo, y Jesus vio que el Espíritu de Dios bajaba sobre el Sucedio que estre la gente que se bautizaba, tambien Jesus fue bautizado", asi nos dice el Evangelio. O sea que se forma en la "LINEA." Yo no en cualquier "linea," sino en la "linea" que formaban los pecadores. Cristo, de quien poco despues la voz del Padre Celestial iba a decir: "Teres mi hijo, el predilecto". Y estaba formado en la "linea" como todos aquellos pecadores... Cristo, que con todo derecho podia haberse arrimado a Juan el Bautista para pedirle que lo bautizara primero que a todos los demas, alli estaba tranquilo, esperando como todos que las "filas", a los que siempre buscamos la manera de meternos adelante de los que llegaron primero que sentimos mas importantes que todos, o los que creemos que nuestro tiempo vale mas que el tiempo de los compañeros formados en la "Fila". Aviso A Los Extranjeros a Quienes Se Les Han Negado Beneficios Del Seguro Contra Desempleo

Si a UD. Se le negaron beneficios del seguro contra el desempleo a partir del 28 de Marzo de 1983 debido a que UD. Era un extranjero a quien el servicio de inmigración y naturalización no había autorizado a trabajar, lea este aviso con cuidado. Puede ser que UD. Tenga derecho a recibir una cantidad de dinero.

Como consecuencia del arreglo de esta acción de clase, la Comisión de Empleo de Texas (CET) ha accedido a evaluar de nuevo las reclamaciones de extranjeros para conseguir beneficios del seguro contra desempleo con tal de que tales reclamaciones hayan sido rechazadas a partir del 28 de marzo de 1983 y que la razón del rechazo haya sido que el Servicio de Inmigración y Naturalización (SIN) no había autorizado al reclamante a trabajar. En cualquier caso en que la nueva evaluación de una reclamación resulte favorable al reclamante, éste tendrá el derecho a recibir una cantidad de dinero.

Antes la política de la Comisión de Empleo de Texas requería que todos los extranjeros reclamantes de beneficios tuvieran autorización de trabajar del Servicio de Inmigración y Naturalización. La nueva política de la CET y la política que se aplicará a las reclamaciones evaluadas de nuevo, capacitará a todo extranjero que quiera bajo una de las siguientes categorías a recibir beneficios sin importar el que el SIN lo haya autorizado a trabajar:

Individuos identificados como "conditional entrants" o "parolees"; los individuos a quienes se les ha concedido salida aplazada o salida voluntaria prolongada; los solicitantes de ajuste del estado legal; los solicitantes de asilo político o de detención de deportación, o aquellos a quienes ya se les ha concedido esto; los solicitantes de suspensión de deportación o aquellos a quienes ya se les ha
