The results of the highly publicized primary gve Bush a solid early lead in the Republican Party primary, but seemed to throw the race for the nomination

The New Hampshire results, coupled with the outcome of the lowa caucuses a week earlier, increased the importance of the March 8 "Super Tuesday" primaries in southern and western states, including Texas.

With all 298 Republican

54,915 votes, 38 percent of the total, and Dole polled 41,746 votes, 29 percent of the vote.

Conservative Jack Kemp, a US Congressman from Buffalo, New York, a conservative and an advocate of supply side economics, finished third with 13 percent of the vote.

scion of the chemical company and the Governor of Delaware. finished fourth with 10 percent, as did Pat Robertson, but Dupont got 14,446 votes and Robertson 13,839.

Former General and Secretary of State Al Haig, whoactually quit the race earlier in the week and threw his support toward Dole, got 522 votes

Robertson's fifth place finish was almost as surprising to some voters and Bush's victory. The former television evangelist had registered a surprisingly strong showing in the lowa caucuses with his heavily financed band of right wing fundamentalist followers.

Dukakis, the liberal governor of a neighboring state, was heavily favored to win, but the second and third place finishes of Congress man Richard Gephardt of Missouri and Senator Paul Simon of Illinois placed both of those candidates' campaigns in jeopardy.

Both are running out of money, reports say, and may not be able to pay the exhorbitant fees for television advertising that victories in Super Tuesday will require.

Tennessee Senator Albert Gore's fifth place finish damaged his chances only slightly because Gore, supposedly a favorite in Dixie, did not campaign Another candidate who should do better Super Tuesday was Jesse Jackson.

In a state with tiny black and Hispanic populations, Jackson focused his campaign on issues such as security for labor and diplmatic concession by the

Because of stiff sanctions for hiring undocumented workers, the "large residual illegal population," that will remain in the United States will be forced to live in fear of deportation, without jobs or access to social services.

McCarrick said.

archbishop said the Catholic conference urged lawmakers to give "more generous" assurances to families with eligible and ineligible members, reduce the $185 application fee, relax the limitation on absences from the continuous residency require ment, and ease the demand for documentation documentation.

Bishop Thomas Tschoepe of the Catholic Diocese of Dallas told the Dallas Morning News Saturday that the recommendations, particularly reducing application costs, would help.

Bishop McCarrick was testifying before a congressional sub committee studying legislation introduced last month by Rep Charles Schumer, D NY, that would extend the amnesty program one year to May 1989.

Citing statewide polls indicating that a majority of Texans support the movement, Zaeske said the governor's opposition! shows that Clements is "out of tune." Zaeske also is founder of the non partisan American Ethnic Coaltion, which is one of the organizations trying to have English declared the official language of the state and the country.

The Texas Republican Party has

U.S. & Mexico: Let's Talk Values

by Richard Salvatierra

Carlos Salinas de Gortari, the person singled out to be Mexico's next president, has said he will seek a more "dignified relationship" between his country and the United States. Salinas, a 39 year old economist, is the candidate of the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party in the presidential election scheduled for July...and the PRI never loses. The words "dignified relationship" carry a world of meaning.

Mexican sensitivity and pride have been hurt in the historical clash of two divergent cultures... hurt as a result of peoples who have come upon the world stage from two different directions and with different perspectives on life. The condition of Mexico has been aptly described by one of its great writers, Octavio Paz, in these

"As people on the fringes, inhabitants of the suburbs of history, we (Mexicans) are uninvited guests who have sneaked in through the West's back door, intruders who have arrived at the feast of modernity as the lights are about to be put out. We arrive late everywhere; we were born when it was already late

In the minds of far too many U.S. citizens, unfortunately, Mexico's "backwardness" has to be attributed to racial "weakness," to indifference about the real problems of the world, and of course to a political system that bred a great deal of

The latter happens to be the one non stereotypical assessment that is valid. Yet even here one might argue that this same political system has pre empted what might otherwise have been a series of right wing dictatorships during this past half century in Mexico.

Most certainly, there exist roblems, very frustrating ones, there exist problems, very frustrating ones, between Mexico and the United States....social conflict on border, for example, where economies and societies are intertwined; there are issues regarding illegal immigration and trafficing in illicit drugs, and the frictions caused by different perspectives on international affairs. Central America is a good case in point.

There also exist some very solid

"building blocks," such as the fact that Mexico is our fourth largest trading partner and that it is our foreign supplier of

This is so because if it is to remain true to the long established and noble commitment to help less fortunate nations uplift their economies and their societies, and support the spread of democratic institutions, this country must assure that its relations with Mexico reflect these ideals.

As the leading nation in the Free

World, the United States cannot...nor should it wish to...escape the responsibility for dealing with less fortunate societies on the basis of absolute fairness and equality.

In the process, we need always be cognizant of the fact that if we cannot sustain an amicable and understanding relationship with Mexico, our next door neighbor, this fact will not be lost on all of the other nations of the Third World, which we constantly seek to influence in the context of overriding political problems with the Communiist world.

James H. Bullington, who is director of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Mexico/United States relations length about weaknesses in U.S. society. In an article in Foreign Affairs a few months ago, he expressed this cogent thought:
"Since the common Western problems of division and decadence more immediately endanger our exposed allies than ourselves, it might be advisable to have the leaders of democracies discuss values rather than economies at their next summit.

Indeed, this might be a very good idea when the next president of Mexico meets the next president of the United States. Perhaps the merging of drugs, immigration and other problems with a discussion of values will set the tone for better Mexico United States relations as we close out the 1980s.
This approach could lead to the dignified relationships that Salinas says he hopes to see established.

Federal officials and Congress

Only one out of every 100 people in the Executive Office of the President is Hispanic.

At the departments of State, Interior, Transportation and Commerce, just four employees of every 100 are Latino.

Hispanics, now approaching 9 percent of the nation's population, also are its fastest growing segment. But you will not gain that impression by examining the civilian federal payroll.

Hispanic underrepresentation in the federal work force, first of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials' review of the Carter Administration, continues unabated. Our 1988 analysis, based on U.S. Office of Personnel Management information, found that it hovers at 5 percent, still far less than the 7 percent Hispanics represent in the national work force.

That equates to tens of thousands of jobs denied.

While NALEO remains outside the partisan debate over civilian federal employment, it is difficult to understand why only 16 Latinos in the entire United States can be found to fill the more than 1,200 positions in the current Executive Office of the President.

It is also impossible to apologize for any administration that has such a record.

Unfortunately, instead of dealing with the employment problem, some people blame the victim. Sadder yet, arguments victim. Sadder yet, arguments continue to be made that Latinos do not value education or they lack the desire to work for the federal government, or that Hispanic families do not emphasize

This rationale is groundless. Government figures show Latino college enrollment up 38 percent between 1976 and 1986. The number of Hispanics 25 years and older with college degrees 1975 and 1985. A pool of some 25,000 Hispanics are graduating from four year universities with bachelor of arts degrees every

But the point I wish to make is that the burden for seeking solutions to bilateral difficulties, or trying to ameliorate them rests mainly upon the United States.

Mexico y los EEUU Una Revaluacion

Por Richard Salvatierra
Carlos Salinas de Gortari, la persona seleccionada para ser el proximo presidente de Mexico, ha dicho que procurara una "relacion mas digna" entre su pais y los Estados Unidos. Salinas, economista de 39 años de edad, es el candidato del Partido Revolucionario Institucional que gobierna, en las elecciones presidenciales fijadas para Julio proximo y el PRI nunca pierde. Las palabras "relacion digna" tienen un mundo de significacion. La sensibilidad y el orgullo mexicanos han sido lastimados en mexicanos nan sido lastimados en el choque historico de dos culturas divergentes...lastimados como resultado de los pueblos que han llegado al escenario mundial de dos direcciones distintas y con perspectivas diferentes acerca de la vida. / La situación de Mexico ha sido descrita acertadamente por uno de sus grandes escritores, Octavio

Paz, en estas palabras:
"Como personas de las masaenes, habitantes de los margenes, habitantes de los suburbios de la Historia, nosotros (los mexicanos) somos huespedes no invitados que nos hemos colado por la puerta trasera de Occidente, intrusos que hemos llegado al banquete del modernismo al tiempo de apagar las luces. Llegamos tarde a todas partes; nacimos cuando ya era tarde en la Historia..."

En las mentes de una cantidad excesiva de ciudadanos

EL ALACRAI "El Que Pica Con La Cola"

Ya se nos llego LULAC Week y esta rete lleno de actividades. Todos los concilios estan teniendo diferentes funciones menos la de los profesionales numero 4447. El concilio de Bidal. Que pasa Bidal?...Pero los otros concilios se estan aventando...pa que no digan que nunca digo nada bueno de ellos....Los del Concilio 4449 tendran quizas la funcion mas constructiva en la opinion de este Alacran....Ellos tendran a todos los politicos en una session para preguntarles preguntas. Esta funcion se llevara acabo el proximo Martes dia 1 de Marzo en la Universidad de Texas Tech, Escuela de Leyes, Allison Courtroom, empesando a las 7 de la tarde. En seguida vamos a darle la dirreccion de la Escuela de Leyes de Texas Tech ya que sabemos que hay muy pocos de los nuestros en dicha escuela....pero el Presidente es HISPANIC....bueno pero eso es otra historia....quizas platicaremos mas de esto mas haya...Los que quieran asistir se encuentra dicho edificio en la Calle Indiana y 19....al otro lado del barrio...de oro!Ha pero me sali del camino y ya mero se me olvidaba que los del 4449 tienen otra funcion que tambien parece ser importante cuando se juntaran varias personas para discutir los que esta pasando en la comunidad Chicana de Lubbock...Lea mas sobre esto en la pagina de enfrente...

Bueno....y despues pasamos a lo mas entretenido...los de LULAC 263 tendran su banquete de becas el sabado por la noche en el Holiday İnn....el orador principal sera....you guessed it....John Montford...Bueno para mas informacion tocante estas funciones llamen al City Hall....Estamos mas que seguros que ellos tienen todos los detalles ya que los miembros de nuestro ilustre consejo declararon esta semana como LULAC week.

Ha y hablando de nuestro ilustre consejo...posque no se dieron un buen round Maggie Trejo y Joan Baker sobre quien nombrar para un comite de la ciudad...Se miraban en TV que las dos estaban pocas enojadas...Pues que Maggie queria que se nombrara raza y pues que no se le puso a decir la Joan que los canidatos submitidos por ellas no estaban "qualified". Esta palabra "qualified", me recuerda de los dias de la Raza Unida cuando a todos nos decian que no estabanos "qualified". Esto era aunque algunos de los candidatos eran doctorados, profesores, abogados y gente bastante capacitadas para tener un puesto politico...pero los otros nos decian que no estabamos qualified....Regresan los tiempos? No te rajes Maggie...

Quesque los abogados para las escuelas ya le dieron una contestacion a las cuatro mujeres quien los estan demandando...pues ahora dicen que quieren una respuesta inmediata....Este Alacran cree que unos cuantos mas que se lleven la mujeres para hacer su decision no afectara cuando se va acabar el mundo....Tomen su tiempo....es todo lo que

Bueno, ahora tocante la politica...pues nos cuentan que una actividad que se llevo acabo en la parte este de la ciudad donde se invitaron a todos los candidatos para el puesto de Representante del Estado para el distrito 83, se les pregunto una pregunta critica por uno de los participantes...pues estaban todos los candidatos...los democratas: Charlie Dunn y Floyd Holder y los republicanos antes democratas:Delwin Jones y John Selby...Se les pregunto sobre el movimiento para hacer ingles el idioma oficial de Texas...pues todos contestaron que estaban encontra menos uno....Floyd Holder les contesto que realmente el no sabía de que se trataba "este movimiento....bueno, cuando menos dijo la verdad...y a la mejor fue el unico...... .

Y ya todos se estan aliniando con sus propios candidatos...no nomas para este puesto que acabo de mencionar, pero para todos incluyendo y mas interesante para Presidente...Pues cada quien pa' su esquina....nomas recuerden que todos los dias de aqui a el dia 8 de Marzo va sonar la campana...Si se quedan en sus esquinas sentados....no esperen ganar el round....y si se les pasan muchos rounds....pues hay se fue su candidato al suelo....a trabajar raza....

Bueno ahora solo me queda contarles sobre las aventuras de Bidal...pues se me habia pasado la semana pasada decirles que la suerte de Bidal continua...Pues no se gano una troca este hombre....y bonita la troca....ya nomas le falla que se vaya pa el bingo y se gane el Jackpot...busquen su nuev troca...es la que le anda dando campania a Eliseo por todo Lubbock...Pa' la proxima semana le pondremos nombre...hay sugestiones?

Congratulations Tubbs Students!!!!!

Odyssey of the Mind began in 1978 when 28 high schools and middle schools met for the first creative problem solving com petition at Glassboro State College in New Jersey. Membership has expanded to include over 3000 schools and programs across the United States, Canada and Mexico. There are 15 Creative Instruction for Maximum Achievement (CIMA) Schools in Lubbock Independent School District that participate in Odyssey of the Mind. Tubbs is one of these schools.

Tubbs Elementary School will be sending six teams to the Regional Odyssey of the Mind competition at West Texas State University on March 12th. Should these students win either first or second place they will go to the state competition held in Houston the second week in April.

Last Saturday, Feb. 13th, the City Odyssey of the Mind competition was held at Coronado High School. Fifteen elementary schools in Lubbock entered from one to seven teams. Six out of seven teams from Tubbs placed high enough to go to the regional competition.

JOSEPH DRUAR AND SUSAN WYNNE OF NEW YORK PRACTICE THEIR ICE DANCE ROUTINE IN PREPARATION FOR THE 1988 WINTER OLYMPICS.

Swept by hurricane force gales that cancelled scheduled down hill skiling events, athletes from 26 nations began the 1988 Winter Olympics in frigid Calgary, Canada, Saturday

Most of the Olympic events will be broadcast by ABC Sports with veteran Jim McKay anchoring the ABC team. Channel 28 in Lubbock will telecast the ABC weekday events each night from 7pm to 10 pm, and from 10:30 pm until sign off. The events will be broadcast during the day of Saturday and Sunday. The 88 Calgary Olympics will conclude Sunday, February 28.

Solid Recruiting

While the Texas Longhorns and the Texas Aggies- may have recruited the top talent in the state, the Texas Tech Red Raiders will bring a solid group of prospects to Lubbock next fall, especially in positions where the Red Raiders need immediate help.

Graduation losses sent Spike Dykes and his assistance scouring the for offensive and defensive linemen and line backers.

Leading the Raider prospects are offensive linemen Michael Brisco of New Deal and Charlie Waters of Houston Waltrip, whose weight is listed at 305.

Among the top linebackers who signed letters of commitment was a local hero, Michael Brisco of the New Deal Lions. Other top linebacker signed included Kenneth Banks of Big Spring

McGirt Pounds Warren for Title

James McGirt battered hometown favorite Frankie Warren from one end of a Fort Worth ring to the other Sunday afternoon to win the vacant International Boxing Federation's junior welterweight championship.

Referee Barry Yeats saved Warren from further punishment at 1:34 of the twelfth round after McGirt had slugged the former Texas Golden Glover with powerful if looping right hand punches that closed his left eye and cut his right eye.

Baseball Season
MONDAY The 1988 edition of the Texas Tech Red Raiders will return to Lubbock Friday when they entertain the New Mexico Highlands University Cowboys in a double header beginning at 1 pm.

The Raiders and Cowboys will play another double header
Saturday, beginning 12 noon.
Tickets are one dollar for students and two dollars for adults, and are available at the gate

The twin double headers are expected to test the depth of the Raiders 13 man pitching staff, because at their conclusion,
Tech will have played nine games in eight days.

Two Hispanics, shortstop Tommy Hernandez and left fielder Gilbert Arredondo, are among the more promising of Coach Larry Hays' team this year.

Both are rated good hitters, and Hernandez is said to have sure hands but a somewhat limited range for a shortstop.

Attention Glamor Gals

Local glamour girls, here's the chance you've all been preening and waiting for. Eat your hearts out no longer. Applications for the 1988/89 Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders Auditions are being accepted, Cheerleaders Director Suzanne Mitchell announced today.

Interested young ladies must be high school graduates (or have a GED), at least 18 years of age or older at the time of the Preliminary Auditions on April 2, and go to school or work fulltime. Anyone selected to the squad who does not live in the DEW Metroplex would be required to relocate.

positions were primarilyl manned by third year pro Kevin Brooks and rookie Danny Noonan, both first round draft choices. Brooks took over in training camp from John Dutton, while Noonan gradually gained more and more time at the right tackle spot held for the past decade by future Hall of FAmer Randy White. LINEBACKERS:A plague broken bones was visited on the linebacker corps at the end of the season. Middle linebacker Eugene Lockhart was enjoying a Pro Bowl season before breaking a bone (fibula) in his leg on Thanksgiving Day against the Vikings.

Two weeks later veteran outside backer Mike Hegman broke the same bone at Washington. His replacement, Jesse Penn, was having a fine game against the Rams the next week when he made it three fractured fibulas for the linebackers. Penn also disloca ted his ankle at the same time and underwent surgery the next day.

The good newsa was the discovery of rookie free agent Ron Burton, who took over in the middle after Lockhart went down and showed outstanding promise Burton delivered a few hits that would have registered on the Richter scale.

and small businesses in Lubbock that want to sell to the City of Lubbock are invited to attend the Minority/Small Business Vendor's Conference.

The conference is free and open to all businesses. It will be held Feb. 23 from 9 a.m. to noon in Room 107 of the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

The purpose of the conference, according to City of Lubbock purchasing manager Gene Eads, is to "offer an opportunity to businesses that may not have considered selling to the city. The conference is to help the businesses understand the procedures the city goes through when we buy or contract out for goods and dservices. I think this is an excellent opportunity for the businesses to expand their operations by learning how to sell to the city.

The conference will include an explanation of the bidding and purchasing procedures the city discuss contract specifications and how to meet them, review upcoming projects, orient the business person to the different types of assistance that is available for small businesses and small business operator.

The city, Board of City Development, the Lubbock Center and the Chamber Commerce are co sponsoring the conference, Eads said.

department. The people who attend will have a much better understanding of how we do things and help those small businesses compete for the city's business," Eads noted.

Eads pointed out that the city buys everything from light bulbs to tires to computers and contracts for services as diverse as street paying, building demolition and construction work.

"We like to deal with Lubbock businesses as much as we can and keep our purchases local. Anytime we can channel funds back into the Lubbock community we try to do it. The conference will help the local business person compete for our purchases," Eads said.

In addition to the discussion of how the city purchasing department operates, Eads said poeple attending the conference will learn about local assistance that is available to the small business operator.

'Many small businesses could probably use some help every now and then to learn how to run a better business. The BCD, chamber and Minority Business Development Center and other groups have numerous programs and much information is available to help people conduct their business more efficiently and in turn, improve their profitability. This conference will explain what is available and how it can help the Eads said.

por el Rdo. Michael Dobbs B., pastor de la Iglesia Metodista Unida "El Calvario" de Midland

A veces cuando personas encuentran y conocen a Jesucristo por la primera vez se sienten muy emocionado, muy cerca a Dios, limpio, aún "alto" como los drogadictos. Van de avivamiento a vivamiento, de grupo de oración a grupo a oración, o de iglesia a iglesia buscando la manera de preservar ese "sentimiento" caluroso y hermoso. Así eran Pedro a los otros discípulos de Cristo. Tres veces en el medio del evangelio de marcos Cristo les dijo que el Hijo de Hombre tenía que sufriri y morir a las manos de los principales sacerdotes. Siempre rehusaron entenderle. No querían oir eso. Despúes de la primera vez, llevó Jesús a Pedro, a Juan, y a Jacobo con I a um monte apartado. Allí I fue transfigurado delante de ellos. (Marcos 9:2 to 91) Cristo brillaba. Entonces se aparecieron con I Moiss, el gran dador de la Ley y Elías, el gran profeta. Su aparenc junto con la luz que brillaba de la cara de Cristo, el monte, la nube, y la voz de la nube eran símbolos poderosísimos de la presencia de jehová allí con ellos. Casi sus mentes no podíano entender lo que estaba pasando. Es como si Cristo se apareciera a nosotros. No sabríamos que hacer. Así reaccionó Pedro. "Maestro, bueno es para nosotros que estemos aquí; y hagamos tres enramadas (carpas), una para ti, otra para Moiss, y otra para Elías," dijo Pedro. Maarcos dice, "Porque no sabía que hablaba, pues estaban espantados." (marcos 9:5 to 6) Pedro quería quedarse en el Quería esa experiencia tan inspiradora y espantosa de sentir en la mera presencia de Dios. Pero no podía ser así. Se desapercieron Moiss y Elías y Cristo los llevó de nuevo del monte al valle abajo. Esa experiencia del monte de transifiguración era hermosa para ellos y les ayudaría despúes de la resurrección; pero ellos tenían que ser testigos de las ocurrencias en otro monte, el monte Calvario, Golgotá, donde Jesús iba a dar su vida en la cruz por ellos y por nosotros. Sin el sacrificio de la cruz, no podemos experimentar la gloria de la presencia de Dios con nosotros. Sin la muerte de "el yo viejo", mi "egoísmo", ninguna de nosotros podamos experimentar la gloria de la presencia de Dios con nosotros y ser usados por El El discipulado siempre tiene un precio doloroso. Ese precio es la muerte del "yo viejo". Qú Dios les bendiga y les ayude crecer durante esta cuaresma para que

The Challenge of Discipleship

by the Rev. Michael Dobbs B., pastor of "el Calvario" United Methodist Church of Midland

Sometimes when people encounter and meet Jesus Crist for the first time they feel very excited, close to God, clean, ever "high" like one on drugs. They go from revival to revival, from prayer group to prayer group, and from church to church looking for a way to preserve that warm and beautiful feeling.

That's the way peter and the original twelve disciples were too.
Three times in the middle of the gospel of Mark Jesus predicts that the Son of Man will have to suffer and die at the hands of the high priests. They always refused to understand him, they did not want to hear anything about suffering

After the first time, Jesus took Peter, James and John with him up on a mountain away from everyone. There he was transfigured before them, that is, his face and clothes began to shine brightly. Then there appeared with Him Moses, the great giver of the Law, and Elijah, the great prophet. Their apperance with Him together with the bright light, the mountain, the cloud and the voice from the cloud that were to follow were all very powerful symbols of the presence of God with them on that mountain. Their minds could almost not take in all that was happening around them. It is as if

Christ himself appeared to you or

We would not know what to do. That's the way Peter reacted. 'Master, it is well that we are here; let us make three booths (tents), one for you, one for Moses and one for Elijah," Peter said. Mark then records, "For he did not know what to say, for they were exceedingly afraid." (Marck 9:5 to 6) Peter wanted to stay on the mountain. He want to preserve and extend this wonderful and inspiring experience of God's presence. But it could not be that way. Moses and Elijan disappear ed and Christ took them back down the mountain to the valley below. their experience on the of tranfiguration beautiful and inspiring and it would help them out after the resurrection; but they had to witness the happenings on another mountain still/Mount Calvary, Golgotha, where Jesus would give his life for them and for us on the cross. Without the sacrifice of the cross, they could not experience the glory of the daily presence of God with them Without the death of the "old me" of my "ego", neither I nor any of you can experience the glory of the presence of God with us or His using us. discipleship always has a painful cost. That cost is the death of the "old me". May God bless you this week and all during Lent and help you to grow so that you can be all blessing to others.

Un Rayito De Luz

Ya no es la libertad santa de los hijos de Dios, la que esta triunfando, sino el libertinaje de las malas costumbres, que han llenado casi todos los rincones del mundo. El Papa Pio XII dijo: "El progreso de las gentes se debe a que la vida matrimonial y sus buenas costumbres sean conservadas obedeciendo los mandamientos de Dios". Pero, que pasara si no obedecemos la Ley de Los cristianos somos muchos. Los heroes y los santos, son mucho mas...Pero las costumbres publicas estan Muy Podridas. Y se van a podrir mas si no nos ponemos a trabajar los que nos llamamos "Buenos Cristia nos llamamos "Buenos Cristia ños". Debemos de ponernos en contra de los que estan destruyendo. Y debemos de abrir de nuevo el camino al mando de Dios...Ya no es nomas en las grandes ciudades, sino tambien en los pueblitos que no estan en el mapa, donde el aire puro iba acompanado de santas costum bres, van contagiandose de podredumbre y de inmoralidad, y

Parece que se estan repitiendo los tiempos de Noe: Todos se ahogaron, porque no quisieron oir la voz de Dios, y se burlaban del castigo que Dios prometia. Tambien en este tiempo, Dios puede castigar asi a los que desprecian y pisotean y olvidan los Grandes Tesoros de la Gracia de Dios. (Genesis 6, 5 to 7).

Un Fuerte Grito de rebeldia se oye por todo el mundo. No quieren ori la voz de Dios, y se burlan del castigo que Dios puede mandar a los que se divorcian, cuando Dios ha unido para siempre, Un hombre y Una mujer, en el matrimonio. (Mateo 19, 3 to 9).

La mujer quiere tener los mismos derechos que el esposo. Los hijos no quieren obedecer a sus padres. Los solteros quieren tener los derechos que solamente les pertenece a los casados. Los casados no quieren respetar la mujer del projimo, ni las casadas quieren respetar al esposo ajeno. Muchos preguntan que porque tienen que obedecer las leyes de la pureza, y las de la prudencia? Y creen que son ideas de los "antepasados."...Pero debemos de saber que es Dios el que nos ordena "Cumplir los Mandamient tos", y debemos de cumplirlos porque nos ama y merece que lo amemos.
