NAACP Names Committee

The Lubbock Branch of the NAACP met last Saturday night and discussed plans for the upcoming election which will be held in December.

The local branch elected a nominating committee to oversee the election. Persons named to the committee were: George Woods, Bessie Cox, Renetta Howard, Charles Stogner and H. E. Caro.

In other business of the evening, Rev. R. C. Jones, Legal Redress Chairman of the branch, reported on several complaints he had been working on. Rose Wilson, local president, turned two complaints over to Rev. Jones for investigation.

The attendance was small, but the meeting was "very successful", according to a spokesperson.

Blacks Vote Heavy!

Based on the pivotal role blacks played in many key elections around the country on November 2, from a national perspective it would seem impossible to dismiss the importance of the nation's largest minority group as lightly as he has done over the past two years. Not since Woodrow Wilson occupied the White House has a sitting president treated black Americans so cavalierly, even callously.

Now, not only did more than 90 percent of black voters cast their ballots for Democrats in 1982 but in many key states a significant majority of registered black voters went to the polls.

A quick survey by Joseph Madison, director of the NAACP Voter Education Program, showed, for example, that 89 percent of the registered blacks voted in Oklahoma City, Okla., and about 88 percent voted in Dallas County, Texas. Other samplings were: 70 percent in Jefferson County, Ga., nearly 80 percent in South Bend, Ind., 60 percent in Des Moines, Iowa, 65 percent in Supter, Ala., 70 percent in Yazoo County, Miss., 60 percent in Goldwayne, N.C., and 65 percent in selected precincts of Los Angeles.

Such a turnout, by NAACP estimates that are based on reports from our units around the nation, represents a record in modern times.

As in past years, the NAACP is proud of its role in registering voters and getting people to the polls. The more than $100,000 invested by the national office this year plus the resources of our volunteer-led branches around the country once more reinforced the NAACP's historical commitment to enfranchising black Americans and increasing their political strength.

There were disappointments in the 1982 elections, to be sure. Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, who would have been the first black governor in this country's history, was defeated by California Attorney General George Deukmejian, a Republican. Also, Robert G. Clark, Jr., would have been the first black congressman from Mississippi since Reconstruction, lost to Webb Franklin, a former State Circuit Court Judge. Despite their defeats, however, blacks have been encouraged by their boldness. Others are certain to seek statewide and otherwise significant offices in the future.

Those setbacks notwithstanding, blacks scored significant victories elsewhere. Blacks can be proud that as a result of reapportionment and their increasing political clout, the membership of the Congressional Black Caucus in Washington will be increased from 18 to 21 next January.

In other areas, blacks played a decisive role. They helped defeat a number of propositions in California that were against their interests, and thus sent Mr. Reagan a strong message. One such proposition would have authorized the state to distribute textbooks to private schools. The NAACP, labor, and other groups worked strenuously against such measures.

In Michigan, that is to the votes of Detroit's blacks, Democrat James J. Blanchard came from behind at the last minute to beat Richard H. Headlee in the race for the governor's mansion.

Thus, whatever Mr. Reagan might say publicly, Republicans cannot now overlook the reality that while the Democrats' triumph was due to the overwhelming vote by white Americans on pocketbook issues, black dissatisfaction with the Reagan-led GOP runs much deeper. So, unless the GOP revolutionizes its approach to black Americans promptly, it is a foregone conclusion that blacks will remain divorced from the GOP for the foreseeable future.

Gyna Bivens

Named Public Info Manager

City Manager Louis J. Fox announced last week the appointment of Gyna Bivens to the position of Public Information Manager for the City of San Antonio.

Ms. Bivens, who left Lubbock to take a position with KMOL-TV last year, has assumed her new duties.

A native of Fort Worth, she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Radio/TV/Film from North Texas State University in 1977.

A former employee of KCBD-TV, Channel 11 here, she will head-up the Public Information Office and coordinate the City's revamped Public Information Program, which will function directly within the City Manager's Office.

"Gyna's job will be to assist the media in covering City Hall, as well as to develop information strategies that will more effectively communicate local government programs to the entire community," said Fox. He continued: "She will be assisted by a network of departments' staff members who are familiar with City programs and the communities they serve. Her media background will add a sensitivity to the needs of the media and will serve as a tremendous resource in helping each of us to communicate more effectively."

"I plan to take City Hall to the people," said

Bivens. Bivens said one of her first goals in the $30,900-a-year post would be to tell residents what various city services are available to them.

The daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Roy Bivens of Fort Worth, she has also worked as assistant News Director for KKDA-FM in Dallas and as News Anchor for KBOX-KMEZ, also in Dallas.

At one time, she was reporter for the Lubbock Digest.

New Regulations at TDHR

After two years of litigation on the issue of the timely mailing of benefit checks to new recipients in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, Texas Department of Human Resources, the defendant, has entered a proposed settlement with the plaintiffs, a number of welfare recipients and two welfare rights organizations.

The settlement provides that TDHR will remain in compliance with federal regulations which require that initial AFDC checks be mailed within 45 days of an applicant's filing a claim for benefits.

The Department has agreed to mail at least 95 of the checks within the required time period. Over the past 18 months, TDHR has mailed an average of 95.9 of these checks within the 45 day period. About 223,000 children receive AFDC benefits in Texas, and applications representing approximately 40,000 people are made each month.

Under the terms of the settlement, TDHR will publish materials showing how to determine the 45 day period. These materials also will show the telephone numbers of the Texas State Bar lawyer referral service and a legal service coalition.

During the litigation, TDHR began furnishing applicants a form explaining the 45-day deadline. The agency also began displaying posters containing this information.

As part of the settlement, TDHR agreed to continue to write AFDC checks on each working day, on its automated eligibility system, and it also reaffirmed its present sense, re-educating ourselves as well as renewing and reinforcing our commitment to help our youth to prepare themselves for new challenges and brighter horizons," he said.

Secretary Pierce paid tribute to the social agencies and private businesses which worked together to bring the program idea to reality.

The center is to provide between 300-400 Addison Terrace youngsters with worthwhile after-school activities intended as alternatives to drug involvement.

While HUD has provided guidance, no federal funds have been earmarked for the program. Some $20,000 in operating funds has been raised by a community-based steering committee, with contributions provided by the Pittsburgh Foundation, the city, Warner Cable Corp. and the county's Mental Health/Mental Retardation Program.

Businesses and corporations also provided funds and equipment toward furnishing the rooms where the pro-

Samuel R. Pierce, Jr. recently helped launch a pre-teen drug abuse prevention program in Pittsburgh and said he hopes it will be copied at public housing developments nationwide.

The program provides educational and recreational activities for youngsters aged 8-12 who live in the Pittsburgh Housing Authority's Addison Terrace-Hill District Community.

Secretary Pierce, who conceived the idea for the program, served as keynote speaker at dedication ceremonies for what has become the Addison Terrace Learning Center, operating in a formerly underused community building at the development.

"We are dedicating a learning center for our most priceless resource—our youth," Secretary Pierce told community leaders, residents and program participants.

At the ceremony, Willie Mae Fullbright (second from right) was installed as the new president. Presenting the gavel to the new president is Beulah Beeler. Pittsburgh Housing Authority Executive Director Daniel Pietragallo, who has helped coordinate the effort, said youngsters in the program would be taught to operate the computer equipment, and to use it to improve their skills in math, language and other areas.

Commenting on the Pittsburgh project, Secretary Pierce told his audience, "I sincerely hope that what you've achieved will inspire other communities to similar efforts."

HUD already is working with community groups in Los Angeles on a similar pilot program aimed at preventing drug and alcohol abuse among youngsters living in public housing.

Your Social Security And You

by
Jewel M. Love
Service Representative

If you are getting monthly Social Security benefits, here is an important announcement. As of 1983, earnings after the month you reach 70 will not affect your Social Security check. There is no limit on the amount you can earn and still get your full payment.

If you are a working mother, you have an important stake in Social Security. Your children have the same protection on your Social Security earning record as they do on their father's. This means if you become disabled, retire, or die after working long enough under Social Security, your children can get monthly Social Security payments until they are 18. For more information, ask any Social Security office for a free copy of "A Woman's Guide to Social Security."

If you didn't sign up for Medicare medical insurance when you were eligible, you will have another opportunity. There is an open enrollment period every year from January 1 through the end of March. You can enroll any time during those 3 months. However, your premiums will be 10 percent higher for each year you could have signed up but didn't.

If you get monthly Social Security disability benefits, the law now requires that your condition be re-evaluated at least every 3 years. This is to determine if there's been any change in your condition. You will be notified by mail when your case is scheduled for review and you'll be asked to fill out a form that will help in the re-evaluation.

Tired of standing in line every month to get your Social Security check cashed? Here is a suggestion. You can have your check sent directly to wherever you have a savings or checking account and it will be deposited to your account. Just fill out a direct deposit form where you do your banking, and they'll take care of the rest. No more waiting in line, and no worrying about your check getting lost or stolen.

More information can be obtained about any of the above information by calling or visiting the Social Security office at 1611 - 10th Street in the Regency Plaza Building. Our telephone number is the same - 762-7382.

Slay, Floyd Slay and Clint L. Martin. Brother Martin read Esodus 27:2-4. Rev. Kelly Peached from St. Luke 14:26-35. His theme was "Count up th Cost," he really peached from his soul. God was high in this holy place.

We had four lovely visitors and we enjoyed their presence. Please feel welcome to come at anytime. You are always welcome to Pleasant Home Baptist Church. ## Business Hints

By LARRY BLOOM

Waiting

At least Mother Nature knows her business. She makes one to wait even when he does not want to and no amount of complaining, frustration, or worry will make her change her command that one waits until she is ready to let you move. It took me quite some time to learn that when Mother Nature is in control I could make it easy or hard on myself. I finally chose the easy road by considering and accepting the idea that this was her way to warn me to reevaluate myself, my business, and my life in general.

Reevaluation of one's self, I discovered, was the hardest thing to do because of the truths revealed. More than once I have had major surgery on self-will, self-pride, and self-centered. It is amazing how quick these 'selves' can occur if one is not careful. And since I do not like surgery I now start each day by striving to be the whole day be God's will, humble, and remembering others. I reevaluate my business to ascertain that I am using the proper business language, the laws, and the customs and habits of a person in business with accompanying advantages and disadvantages to assure that my products and services are being competently managed. There are also times I have to restudy to make sure that I am still on the right track and make adjustments in procedures and habits.

In searching my life in general I take advantage of Mother Nature through being knowledgeable that she only gives me one day at a time. Thus, I try to enjoy a variety of special interests such as reading, playing and piano, and listening to the records of my particular mood.

Then there are times when I slip to the bowling alley or visit with the sick and elderly not to mention a quick nap. But now that I know how Mother Nature operates she is not missing a trick and knows I need other enjoyments and interests to better enjoy managing my business.

EEOC Settle Job Bias Litigation

Washington, D.C.—The U. S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), private plaintiffs, National Steel Corp. and the Independent Steelworkers Union (ISU) today submitted an agreement in the Wheeling, WV, federal district court which, if approved, settles lengthy litigation and provides $1.9 million to approximately 1,000 present and former black employees of National's Weirton Steel Division.

In addition to the backpay award, the settlement establishes certified apprenticeship programs for all of Weirton's craft jobs, institutes affirmative action selection goals for craft and supervisory jobs and modifies the steel mill's seniority system. The settlement will be reviewed by Judge Charles Haden for fairness and adequacy.

If approved, the settlement will conclude legal action which began October 20, 1969, when Charles Williams, a black Weirton employee, filed suit against the company and the ISU alleging racial discrimination in the company's selection of foremen. That case was consolidated with action brought in March 1972 by three other black employees—Mack Allen, Willie J. McKenzie and Marion Sims—alleging a pervasive policy of discrimination throughout Weirton's production and maintenance unit.

In April 1973, EEOC intervened in the consolidated case. This was one of the Commission's first interventions after it was granted litigation authority in March 1972.

If you think bread is just a lot of empty calories, better think again. It's actually one of the most valuable foods around. And it's been around a mighty long time, giving us nutrients that are essential to life itself. Unfortunately, many Americans have forgotten just how important bread can be. Some people are cutting back or leaving out bread altogether. Maybe they don't realize that including bread as a part of a well-balanced diet makes for good nutrition. So we're encouraging everyone to remember their daily bread. Like Rainbo Bread. And for good reasons. Rainbo Bread provides food energy from complex carbohydrates, a kind of carbohydrate you can't get from sugar. It also contains protein. In fact, the average adult male can take care of one fourth of his daily protein requirement simply by eating the slices of Rainbo Bread per day. And Rainbo provides 8 vitamins, iron and calcium too. One thing Rainbo Bread doesn't have a lot of is fat. Or calories. In comparison to other foods. In fact, a slice of Rainbo has no more calories than a banana or a medium-sized apple. Energy, protein, vitamins and minerals. Without a lot of calories. Good reasons to rediscover the joys of life. And you'll find it, fresh and wholesome, tucked right inside each and every Rainbo cracker.

Lets Go to Work Now!

by
Eddie P. Richardson

The elections have come and gone. It's now time for us to go to work and build and rebuild our nation, state, county, and cities.

Have to agree with Kenneth May in his one man's opinion, no secret punch on Nov. 11, supporting election reform for Texas when he says "The voter ought to at least have to go down the list and vote separately for each office on the ballot." One thing the straight party ticket does is in some cases, make the voter lazy and not study the issues and the candidate. One disgusting thing the election did, was bring out some disappointing reactions on the Sheppard, Sedeno race, vibes coming from the Brown community is Sheppard had no right to run and his campaign strategy. Every American has the right to run for any political office on any ticket they choose. Whether one support them or not, even if you do not support a party or person, that right to run is still theirs as long as that person's citizenship is in fact.

We would like to offer our congrats to Jim Bob Darnell on becoming District Attorney. Lets all get behind him and hope him the best in controlling crime in our country. Our congrats is also in order for our friend Travis, his opponent, who also ran a good race. Expect to see and hear from this young man in the future.

Lets go to work now collectively working with, praying for and supporting our nation, state, county and city leaders in helping us help ourselves get out of the economic crime ridden mess we are in.

We urge all citizens of the Black community to support all of the merchants and institutions in and out of the Black community that are friendly to our needs and withhold your support and money from those that do not support our Black community and its efforts. Thats just good old plain common sense, support those that support us.

AN INDEPENDENT REPORTS ON WASHINGTON

By Gus Savage
Member of Congress

CBC Gains 2 in Election & Savage Tours Middle East

Everyone of the 18 Black Members of Congress were reelected except Shirley Chisholm, who retired, and she was replaced in Brooklyn's 12th District by an outstanding former State Representative Major Owens.

Incidentally, New York became the second city with 3 Black Representatives in Congress by electing, in addition to Owens and the astute veteran, Charles Rangel, Edolphus Towns from Brooklyn's 11th Congressional District.

In addition to Towns, 2 more Blacks won seats in Congress formerly held by whites: the able former State Senator Katie Hall of Gary, Indiana, and the young former State Representative Alan Wheat from Kansas City, Missouri. I was reelected to my second term by a 9-1 landslide, and found the time to also campaign a bit for Owens and Hall.

For the next three weeks, my column will originate from the Middle East, where I will be filing a series of on-the-scene reports to alert and educate the public to what is happening in that war-torn area.

As the only Black representative taking part in this Congressional fact-finding mission, I am looking forward to having an opportunity to discuss important foreign policy issues face-to-face with Middle East leaders.

The trip, my first to the Middle East, will take me to Israel, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, Tunisia, and Cyprus with stops in France and England on the way to and from the region.

I will meet with foreign officials to discuss the Middle East peace process, security in the Persian Gulf, negotiations aimed at solving the Lebanese crisis and the removal of American and other foreign troops from the country. American economic and political bilateral relations will also be discussed.

I am going to the Middle East rather than take a well deserved vacation because of my great interest in foreign affairs and particularly peace in the world and justice for the Third World Nations. As a Member of Congress, I am interested in this because 1 of 3 of your tax dollars go for defense and foreign aid. Moreover, as Black Americans, we should expand the horizons of our political interests, since we should understand the feelings of the oppressed of the world better than any other American.

Only the Rich Drinks Drunks and Dopes

"Somebody - somebody, buy me a drink" is a sad line in a sad song. People often sings the blues when they are busted. The bad news is they will do almost anything for the bottle when badly in need of alcohol.

A recent survey says the percentage of Americans who drink alcohol beverages has dropped from 70 percent in 1981 to 65 percent in recent days. It represents the lowest level of alcohol use since 1977. The drop is more noticeable with the over 50 age group, high school dropouts and those families with income of less than $15,000 a year. You might recognize the Black American race group is very represented in these latter two categories. Considering the consequence of this conversion it is difficult to know whether to cheer or to cry. Dopes do drink. Chaos exists across the country for the children of Black Americans.

Black American teenagers are taking it on the chin with unemployment at 48.5 percent. In the event the individual has only a grade school education he eschews the evils of drink. Dropping from 52 percent to 29 percent for this category.

Considering the individuals who make up this group a child or very old senior citizen has very little disposable income. It is clear a cut in expensive drink is evident to balance their budget. But, what of those high schoolers who did not graduate to go job hunting? Help. Part-time purse snatching or other silly alternatives to a full-time job is just about enough to drive them to drink.

The only category to reflect a rise in alcoholic drinking is the 18-29 year-of-age. A group of highly unemployed and underemployed people. Perhaps the hammer has not yet hit society. Since many of these young people are physically prepared to endure a lower standard of living. Especially when re-assessed with marijuana. Marijuana is a multi-billion dollar underground industry in this country.

Considering its alternative to a drink it is lousier up the annual comparison figures for a "get high" effect. Even the White House is overlooking the obvious. On April 14, the President created a special commission to combat drunken driving. Marijuana smoking while

A Glowing Tribute to an Old Time Bellringer-Mrs. Edna W. F. Harris of Lorraine, Texas is now retired and living in a Senior Citizens Home in Roscoe, Texas. She is the mother of Prof. T. P. Fowler, now a retired educator and prominent lay leader of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church and a successful farmer of Lorraine. Mrs. Harris is perhaps one of the best known lay leaders in the C.M.E. Church and in spite of her illness, she has a cheerful disposition and likes peppermint candy. She has been an ardent reader of this column for many years.

She received her early education in the public schools in Colorado City, Texas and her high school diploma and Bachelor of Arts degree from Texas College. She finished her teacher training course at Prairie View University and attended Wiley College and the University of Colorado. After receiving a diploma in Missionary Education from Gammon Theological Seminary, she earned her Master of Arts degree at Northwestern University.

Mrs. Harris taught religious education at Texas College and at Lane College in Jackson, Tennessee as well as teaching in many religious leadership training schools throughout the nation. She served as a writer of the Primary Quarterly of the C.M.E. Church for several years. Mrs. Harris served as the first editor of The Missionary Messenger, and as vice-president and president of the Council. She has also served as a member of the Trustee Board of Texas College, Texas Interracial Commission, National Council of Negro Women, Inc. and of the Alpha Kappa Sorority. In 1951 she was a delegate to the World Methodist Conference which convened in Oxford, England. A great Spirit and may she live long in our prayer.

A Bellringer Departs: "Dear Bob--Most of you know that I left Hobbs recently as pastor of St. Helena's Catholic Church. On Friday, Oct. 1st, I was assigned to be the Associate Pastor to my good friend, Fr. Russan Cole. My Address now is: St. Ann's 12 W. Main St., Chicago, Heights, Illinois 60611. The assignment in Hobbs sort of drained me both physically and spiritually. I believe that without as much responsibility I'll get more exercise and lose my big tummy. Likewise I believe I'll be able to concentrate more on my prayer-life. Golly, I have been a pastor and Superior no. 7 for almost 16 bright years. It's time to step down for at least a while.

"My three and a half years in Hobbs has proved both interesting and challenging. The vast majority of the parishioners have been kind and cooperative. Nearly all of the people have been loving and thoughtful. Most have said they would miss me. But there was a vocal minority who opposed me and my idea. That hurt. But only a fool can please everyone--I guess.

"More important of the many physical improvements we made as Pastor, the folks in Hobbs know that I defended the Hispanics and formed the Hispanic Council. Lot long ago the Churchillistas entertained me in Spanish and the Anglo ministers had an ecumenical lunch for me. The Black Protestant ministers hosted a spare-rib (what else) dinner in my honor. I have found the more you befriended people, the richer your life. The more you truly love folks, the closer you get to God. God is love. With love, Fr. Arthur, former pastor of St. Helena Church-Hobbs, N.M.

Bob's Comment-The ecumenical Spirit shown in the above letter, reminds this correspondent of the same spirit alive today in Pecos, Texas where there is an informal luncheon every week at the Catholic, Protestant and other Denominations-of the area. Did not Christ pray that "we might be one." What we add: "The world needs more love and respect." Agree bellringers?

driving is just as dangerous as drunken driving. It's estimated drunk driving accidents cause $17 billion a year in economic losses, as well as, taking 26,000 lives annually and injuring 757,000 people. There are no such statistics available for marijuana caused by marijuana drivers. Doing nothing about driving while under the influence of marijuana and other harder drugs is a dumb act.

A strict penalty for drunken driving is a good idea whose time has long come of age. An equally punishing ruling for marijuana and hard drug driving would be a modern approach to a growing problem. People have apparently forgotten the high use of dope in Black American ghettos in the past when people were unemployed in the 1940s. Unemployment in this country at 10.1 percent is the worst since 1940.

For the sake of the children of this country regardless of their color it must be recognized that there is a great danger of life and limbs when driving under the influence of alcoholic drink of some other form of dope.

May we use this method to express our sincere thanks to all the wonderful people who supported me in my race for Justice of the Peace, Oct. 6. Thank you for your love, effort, money and prayers.

Lyda Sedeno and Family.

MEDIA REVIEW

Living and Learning in the Slave Community

(A book about the transmission of black culture)

A review of Deep Like the Rivers: Education in the Slave Quarter Community, 1831-1865 by Thomas L. Webber (New York, W.W. Norton & Company, Inc., 1978), 339 pages—paperback—$5.95.

"For the black children of the quarter community the world of their home plantation was, for all intents and purposes, the entire world of their personal experience. Within its confines, they encountered nearly all the physical and material realities of their childhoods and acquired the knowledge, attitudes, values and skills with which they learned to view the world and make sense of their relationship to it."

These are the opening passages of this very informative and highly readable book by Thomas L. Webber. He uses the slave narratives and other sources to piece together the story of education in the slave quarter. He found that there was a critical difference between what slaves taught, and what slaves learned. For this reason, the book uses a definition of education which clearly distinguishes between the effort to transmit learning and the process by which learning actually occurs. Education is defined as "the knowledge, attitudes, values, skills and sensibilities which an individual, or a group, consciously or unconsciously has internalized. It is the content of what is learned. Teaching in this context becomes the deliberate effort, successful or not, to educate." Webber concedes that the plantation was an effective vocational or industrial school in which blacks received job training in a wide variety of manual and technical skills. Most slave owners, however, were smart enough to know that they not only needed a skilled work force, but also one that was willing to use their skills productively. Some slaveholders relied upon a strict system of reward and especially punishment but most successful plantation owners taught their slaves a carefully arranged set of attitudes, calculated at motivating them to work to the best of their abilities. In other words, slaveowners found it in their best interest to teach their slaves the "values, attitudes and understandings of obedient and trustworthy servants."

"The culture of black people under slavery in America," continues the author, "can be likened to a deep river." This deep river of slave culture had nine strong currents. It was by means of these currents that black culture was transmitted from adult to child in the slave community.

Whites used a variety of methods to try to fashion the blacks they owned into "obedient, docile, trustworthy, and grateful servants." Adults in the slave community, however, were able to transmit to their children and sustain in themselves cultural values which were clearly their own. Every black man, woman and young adult should read this book and feel very proud to be a part of a people who have been tested and have learned not only to survive, but how to live as they themselves determine.

Grandparents' Day

Estacado PTA Volleyball Game

Estacado PTA will sponsor a rematch of the volleyball game played November 4 between the women faculty and the PTA Parents. The Estacado women faculty defeated the parent team in a best of two games out of three games. The faculty won the first game. The parent team bounced back to take the second game, but in an exciting third game the faculty finally won.

A good time was enjoyed by everyone attending. The faculty team boasts, "We'll win again", while the parent team vows "we will win this time!" The exciting rematch is scheduled for Thursday, November 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Estacado Gym. The admission price is $1.00. Come and enjoy the excitement! The proceeds of this game will go to the PTA for their continued efforts in purchasing a copying machine for Estacado.

Texas Tech Coach

Nowhere does Jarvis Scott's dedication to hard work and her ability to motivate athletes shine brighter than on track. Beginning her fourth year as cross country, and track and field coach at Texas Tech, Scott's energy and expertise as a coach reflect her own competitive days. A world class runner since 1967, Scott's long list of athletic accomplishments is highlighted by a sixth place finish in the 400 meter dash at the 1968 Olympics. She was the first American woman to qualify for the Olympics in both the 400 and 800 meter runs.

The importance of this column this week is not in the welcome (?) briefness that it appears but in the real importance to a good many people to which it is aimed.

The briefness can be dismissed airy but calling the moviegoers attention to the fact that in the Lubbock movie houses these days are a raft of so-so or no so films holding on to occupy space until the alleged Christmas Big Ones are released along about Dec. 15 on. So much for that.

What I want to get across this week is very important to all persons over 60, white, black, brown or whatever. It is an event that comes as a gift to each and everyone and as such should be accepted and enjoyed to the fullest.

At 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon (this Sunday, Nov. 21) in the spacious Lubbock Municipal Auditorium (not Civic Center this time but the facility at the end of Sixth Street, just beyond Jones Stadium), the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra, 80 members strong, will present a warm and nostalgic concert—free of charge to all who come. The music, under the direction of founder-conductor William A. Harrod, will have a little bit of something to please every taste in the book, the love songs, the choruses and all, and there will even be a sing-a-long for all to join in and give it their all!

This major musical event will be given for its second year. Last year's concert at the Civic Center Theatre (downtown) was a walloping success and the event promises to grow into a major annual event to all appearances.

The tab for the concert is being picked up by Target, the big store, as an expression of gratitude to the public and to show its readiness to fit into the city amusement-cultural scene through its generosity. The Target people are to be commended highly for this gesture.

So, come Sunday afternoon, get into the old car and head out to the Auditorium. There is a vast area of parking space in front of the Auditorium-Coliseum and I will personally guarantee that a smashing good and entertaining time will be had by each and every one of you. And, think about it, it won't cost you a blomin' penny, either.

Game of the Year

The weather was cold but the spirits were hot. It was the annual event of the year when the Dunbar Panthers and the Estacado Matadors clashed at Lowrey Field. The Panthers lost by a close score of 12-6 but all is not totally lost. Both teams are assured of playoff games next week. Estacado will meet Andrews District 2-4A runner-up and Dunbar will face Sam Angelo, Lakeview the 2-4A finalist. The Estacado record stands at 9-1 with a 7-0 District 1-4A record, and Dunbar is now 9-1 and 6-1.

The crowd was eager on both sides of the field, but it was the Dunbar crowd was a little more into the spirit of things maybe because there were more fans on the Dunbar side.

The Dunbar defense was fierce and tough but the scoring drive of the Matadors came back in retaliation. With last year's tie of the two schools, the question is now settled as to who is No. 1 for this year in district 1-4A.

These pictures tell more about the story of the East Side's Game of the Year.

SWAC Players News

Shreveport, LA. (Special)

Quarterback Willie Totten and wide receiver Jerry Rice of Mississippi Valley State remain the most lethal one-two offensive punch in Southwestern Athletic Conference statistics.

Totten, the season-long leader in passing and total offense, is the league's workhorse in both departments. He has racked up 1,431 yards on 87 of 198 passing attempts for an average of 178.8 yards per game.

Totten has upgraded his total offense effort to 194.8 yards for eight games.

The other dual leader is Grambling's James Taylor, whose sustaining virtues elevated him into the rushing and scoring forefront.

Taylor is averaging 76.5 yards rushing and figures prominently in the scoring race with 62

Boxing Briefs

A Las Vegas doctor says it will be days before he decides whether to shut off the machinery that is keeping South Korean Lightweight Boxer Duk Koo Kim alive. Dr. Lonnie Hammargren says he wants to see first whether anything can be done for the 23-year-old fighter.

Kim was knocked unconscious by W-B-A Champion Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini during round 14 of their title bout Saturday. Kim never regained consciousness, and Hammargren says he is showing no sign of brain function.

points. Rice, a brilliant improviser in Valley's air attack, is the dominant figure among receivers with 43 receptions for 762 yards.

Jackson State's Carl Johnson, a fixture in the deep secondary with his indomitable poise under fire, is the interception leader with six.

Talented Carl Williams of Texas Southern has made his presence felt as the top all purpose runner. Williams has accumulated 1,167 yards on the punt returns, kickoff returns, rushing and receiving to average 129.0 yards for eight games.

Unflustered Trumaine Johnson is the top intimidator on punt returns with 13 for 220 yards.

The kickoff return leader is Alcorn State's Erick Moon who has filled in nobly with 419 yards on 17 runbacks.

Few observers feel punter Otis Culiver of Mississippi Valley will be dislodged as the league's best kicker with his 42.9 average.

Texas Southern's Karl Watson remains the best defensive performer against ground assaults with 145 combined stops. He has earned a reputation as a premier pro tackle prospect.

As for Mancini, he is thinking about staying away from boxing in the near future, in the wake of Kim's injuries. Mancini says he is "Going to have to sit down and seriously think about it."

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

The members and friends of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast met at 9 a. m. last Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. Artie M. Washington. And this was a good meeting with Mrs. D. Hood presiding in the absence of president ward.

Morning devotional was conducted by Mrs. Mildred Bogus, scripture lesson by Mrs. C. C. Peoples, II Timothy 2:15, Hebrew 11:1 and Romans 10:17. Our subject was "What Kind of Listening Christian are You?" Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed. Rightly dividing the word of truth.

Hebrew 11:1 Now faith is the substance of things hoped for the evidence of things not seen.

Romans 10:17 So then faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word of God.

What kind of listening christian are you a sponge funnel or sifter. A sponge will soak up everything in come in contact with good or bad, a funnel will not hold anything, you pour in one end and it runs out the other. The sifter is one needed to be used daily in our lives. What remains in the sifter is what should be thrown away. Sifter daily and get rid of the trash, hugs and stuff in your life that hinder you from becoming a strong faith and believing christian. If you sifter, you are sure to find something. If you hold on to what remains, the Lord will say in the end depart from me I know you not.

See, I wish you could have heard this lesson in its entirety. Mrs. Peoples was at her very best on Saturday. You have heard the best now come and hear the best. The group love this lady, how about you??

Mrs. Winters song "I Don't Know What Jesus is to You."

A few thoughts for the week: When men forsake God they see false gods, he who forsakes the fountain of living waters always finds a heavier task in hewing out "broken cisterns that can hold no water." Think for a minute.

Breakfast was served as usual, "delicious." Come by and eat spiritually or physically with us. This year is almost gone, we wouldn't want any one to enter the new year "hungry."

Our guest list included:

Mrs. C. C. Peoples, Mrs. E. M. Brooks, Mrs. Lenora Dugles, and Mrs. Ellen McCreary.

We were so pleased to meet again in the home of Mrs. Washington. All of our guest are very special. Come Again.

Our sick and: Mrs. C. E. Fair, Mrs. Willie M. Washington, Mrs. Louise Perry, Community Hosp., Im. 108, Mrs. Ida Mae Tolbert, Mr. Tolbert, Mr. James Jones, Methodist Hosp., Mr. Jeff Joiner, Methodist Hosp., Beatrice Brown, California, Evelyn Mims, Dorothy Kervin, Methodist, Jonella Savage, Jarle Roberts, A. M., Washington, Juanita Sowell, Perlie Ruth Bonner, Don Graves, Methodist, and Mrs. Martha Brown.

The bereaved families are Cravin, Struggs and Jones.

Father while we sleep this night under thy watchful care, please lift our worries, banish our fears and cleanse our minds and bodies of all pain and discomfort. Bring us and all my sisters and brothers who pray together with me, thy gifts of glowing, vital health and strength. This we as in Jesus' blessed name. AMEN.

If you have a prayer request, please write or call, P.O. Box 1223, Lubbock, Texas 79408 or call 762-3347 or 747-7326.

Project Blessing went out to Mr. Don Graves, 2110 Birch, Mr. Graves, God specializes in things that seem impossible and he can do what no other doctor can do. He loves you and we do too.

"Thank God For Jesus"

"Thanks to Ben -- 3/14/41"

"Lord; I Wanna Come Home"

Luke 15:11,12,13 Jesus said; A certain man had the younger of them said father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. And not many days after he gathered all together, and took his journey to a far country, and wasted his substance with riotous living.

I was born in a little town, way down south, But I moved to L.A., to check the big city out.

I was raised in a christian home, but when I moved I left God alone.

I had a big house, big account, and big car you see, I was making $15 per hour working for Time D.C.

I was a hit with all the ladies in the bars, I wore fine suits, diamonds, while lo-riding in my car.

I drink the best liquor that money could buy, but Lord; I wanna come home and here's why.

Luke 15:14 And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that land; and he began to be in want.

Lord; I was working for a big company called Time D.C., but hey closed their doors, and got rid of me.

Lord the finance company foreclosed my house, I had to sale my car, my account played out.

Lord; I am working odd jobs, like sweeping the streets, I sleep in old buildings, sometimes no food to eat.

Lord; my friends turned their backs on me.

Lord; I wanna come home, I am in misery.

Luke 15:18,19 I will arise and go to my father, and say father, I have sinned against Heaven, and before thee. I am no more worthy to be called thy son: Make me one of thy hired servants.

Lord please; forgive me for my sins, I want to start over again.

Lord I'll do your will, and go where I am sent.

Lord please I want to come home; I'll be your servant. (Always).

I Billy D. J., do thank God for his son Jesus, for giving his life for a wretch like me. I, like brother Paul, was chief sinner.

I Timothy 1:12 And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that He counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry.

Directed, arranged, produced and guided by my Lord Jesus Christ. Written by Billy B.J. Morrison, III your brother in Christ Jesus.

"God is not through with us yet, let's pray for one another always.
