Jackson Chef Recalls Doctor's Role, Final Days

LOS ANGELES — On the day Michael Jackson died, his personal chef says her first hint of something amiss was when his doctor didn't come downstairs to get the juices and granola he routinely brought the King of Pop for breakfast each morning.

Kai Chase, a professionally trained chef hired by Jackson to maintain a healthy food regimen, recalled the singer's final days in an interview with The Associated Press. She also spoke about the role of his personal physician, Dr. Conrad Murray, who is now the focus of a manslaughter investigation.

Chase said Tuesday that she had gotten used to seeing Murray coming and going from the mansion. The doctor usually arrived about 9 or 9:30 p.m. and would go upstairs to Jackson's room, and she said she would not see him again before she left — sometimes late in the evening — but understood he was staying the night.

In the morning, when she arrived for work, Chase said she would see the doctor coming down the steps carrying oxygen tanks. When Murray didn't come downstairs the morning of June 25, "I thought maybe Mr. Jackson is sleeping late," Chase said.

"I started preparing the lunch and then I looked at my cellphone and it was noon. About 12:05 or 12:10 Dr. Murray runs down the steps and screams, 'Go get Prince!' He's screaming very loud. I run into the den where the kids are playing. Prince (Jackson's oldest son) runs to meet Dr. Murray and from that point on you could feel the energy in the house change.

"I walked into the hall and I saw the children there. The daughter was crying. I saw paramedics running up the stairs."

At that point, Chase said, the small group that was gathered — the children, their nanny, a housekeeper and Chase — held hands and began to pray.

One of our outstanding Black businessmen had a birthday on Wednesday, August 5, 2009. It was reported that he became 80 years young. He is none other than Mr. Al Caviel, who was in business here with his wife, Billie, for 49 years. They were owners and operators of Caviel Pharmacy, 1719 Avenue A.

At present time, Mr. Caviel is a patient at Heritage Oaks, and is doing nicely.

We want him to know, he is missed and wishes the very best on his birthday. May God continue to bless him and family.

Th residents of the Chatman Hill Addition had an outstanding evening in he Booker T. Washington Park last Tuesday evening, August 4th as the celebrated "An Night Out In The Park," with food and fun. What a time it was.

One of our residents, Ms. Frances Bell, was reminding everyone at the "Night Out In The Park" on Tuesday evening about the upcoming 1959 Class Reunion of Dunbar High School.

As chairperson of the celebration, she says this was the first class to graduate from the new Dunbar High School as they moved to the new campus in January 1959.

There were 55 students in the class, and they were proud to make history.

All Class of 1959 of Dunbar High School are asked to assemble at Furr's Cafeteria, 6001 Slide Road, at 2:00 p. m. Saturday, August 29, 2009.

"We will be looking for all of the members of Class of 1959," says Ms. Bunton.

A New Day For An Oppressed People

We Thank God for Jesus
Lord, Take The Load Off Me!!!"
 Written by Evangelist Billy "BJ" Morrison, III - Your brother in Christ Jesus always.

Lubbock-Avalanche Journal dated Monday, January 19, 2009 article under the heading "Leaders" shared thoughts of a new day from T. J. Patterson, David Sowell, Billie Russell, Eddie Richardson and Donnell Hooper. These African Americans shared their own view of how President Obama's inauguration was a blessing for the whole of America. Donnell Hooper said, "This day (MLK HOLIDAY) celebrates an extension of his (MLK) dream. I believe this Monday, this Tuesday, it's divine. How else could it happen like that?"

I contacted my boyhood friend Melvin Owens in Tyler, Texas and asked him what the mood of African Americans in particular were in East Texas as it related to Barack Obama becoming president of the United States. After a deep conversation and scanning the past and related it to the present Melvin referred me to a November 12, 2008 article in the Bullard Banner News. I would like to share this article by Jim Epperson with those in Lubbock and the Lubbock area that may have grown up in the area or familiar with the area may share the enthusiasms.

"African Americans moved by first black president." Many African Americans began to believe a new era reached the shores of America, as tears rolled down their faces when Barack Obama became the first African American elected as president.

This new era was pushed into the forefront of American culture when Barack Obama won a commanding lead against presidential hopeful John McCain last week. And it is known without saying that African Americans have been a repressed people clawing inches at a time for equality and freedom.

"The color folks had it bad," said Annie A. Smith, who is 100 years old and grew up on the Bullard area. "We had to eat outside. We had to go to the back of white people's houses because we couldn't go in the front." Think for a moment about what an Obama win means to her. She lets out a sigh, as if she were relieving a century old tension. "It makes me feel pretty good. He can do something for the world."

Pearline Williams, who is 102 years old and lives just outside of Bullard, said she remembered when there were food rations during WWI and WWII. Pearline remembers seeing her first airplane. She thought it was a buzzard. She thought the first car she saw was a buggy with no horses. She has seen 18 presidents and lived through the Great Depression.

Williams lived in a time when she didn't have a school to go to because she was black. She started work when she was eight years old on the family farm. But she had never seen a president who is not white. And now, after For bers 11:1-6, 10-15. The morning lesson was taught by Rev. Walter Jackson, and was reviewed by Pastor Canady.

We remember the fish, which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic: But now our soul is dried ed away: there is nothing at all, beside this manna, before our eyes."

Numbers 11:4-6

The congregation enjoyed the morning lesson.

Outreach Prayer Breakfast

The members of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast are asking what do our leaders do?? We're glad you asked. You see, they lead!!

Leaders organize - actualize - energize Jesus did it by examples. He washed feet and much, much more. Those of us out there who are leaders, please don't abuse your office of authority. Somebody's watching your every move. When you lead, people will follow. It's better to have one idea and finish, than to have several large ones, and not finish any of them. We believe God is raising up leaders, just plain old simple people who really don't know how to lead, but are willing to be led by the Holy Spirit. This is the one who will lead us into the next century with great power.

Right now, most of us are not interested in the Kingdom of God. We're apparently interested in our own stuff, wondering if our sealed houses are safe enough. We have no need to do God's work. He finished his work, and said it was all good. Ministries are popping up all over the world, and people are starving for things which are pure. If you're you will grow, then start with yourself. God is not interested in growing your thing, when you're not doing nothing with what you have. Don't worry about filling your place, worry about filling the hearts of man with the word of God, strive to have a relationship with him. Just because you're unable to knock people down, don't worry. Maybe you need to help them stand against the wilds of the enemy. Remember, those things which are pure and right, let God promote you and not yourself. Humble yourself before God.

It's a true fact, unless Black African American people come into unity, and forget about denominations as far as going together and work out something to save our young men and women. Satan will continue to steal and kill them. He said Satan was a roaring lion, and we don't have to be afraid. He's roaming and our children are falling into his trap. Proverbs 28:1 -- the wicked will run when nobody is after them, but the Christians is bold as lions. We have millionaires on the East side of Lubbock, but one hundred pennies will make a dollar, symbolizing strength in unity!

Don't you forget that! Evil triumphs when good men and women do nothing.

Sister Dorothy Hood, president; Sister Christene Bujrleson, vice president; and Sister Elnora Jones, teacher.

Proposed November Bond Election

As the District Two representative to the Citizens Advisory Council (CAC), I should have reported to residents of North and East Lubbock sometime ago, I apologize.

There seems to be some with serious dislikes that only "splash pads" were the only items to be placed on the ballot, if approved by the City Council. A $65 million total was the limit placed on us by the Council. With all that our City needs, that amount should be ten times more. With reports from the different City agencies, I learned that North and East Lubbock had already been approved funding close to $7 million in Parks alone. That Community Development Funding was approved to paved several unpaved streets in the northeast section of Parkway. That the pot holes and ruts on several streets could not be placed on the Bond Package as this is a general maintenance responsibility that can be repaired with a call to Street Maintenance. Repairs to Broadway, Avenue A, MLK and Milk-Parkway Dr., 19th are in the planning stages.

Projects on the books with completion dates: replacing old playground equipment with new colorful equipment at Butler and Chatman Park (2011) Simons (2014) and Lusk (2015). Prior to December 2009, $205,000 will be spent on restrooms and sidewalks at Simons. 2009-10 A new pavilion at Simons.

The only item considered from Estacado High School meeting was a sidewalk from East 24th to 19th. The estimated cost of this project ($627,000) I felt was ridiculous, therefore, I did not support it.

On the Mahon Library issue, District 1 and 2 CAC members supported $5 million in funding, however, we were out voted. Reason: close to $20 million is needed to show significant improvements. I voted for the Soccer Fields as this was the only project that will bring funds back to the City in the form of out of town visitors for tournaments. Fire stations are needed for the new housing development as existing stations are not close enough for the allotted time required by the State to be met. As for 34th Street, there is no question, it needs attention, more than we could give.

Based upon the above information, Splash Pads were the only items District 1 and 2 could get approved to have north and east Lubbock voters something to vote on. Overall, our area has not been overlooked, however, we must not let the proposals get away. Should I not be around in the future, someone must keep the City accountable to these proposed improvements to our area.

Parson Smith

And now, after America's 221 year history, the white ceiling to the highest land in office has been shattered. "That was history and I wanted to see it," William said. "I've seen a good many of presidents come and go."

For 90-year-old Vennie Jackson (this writer's high school English teacher) who grew up in Bullard, she was growing up in Bullard when blacks were not allowed to go in many places, like cafe's, hotels and restaurants. If blacks were there, Jackson said they were working on jobs no one else wanted. "They were workers sweeping the floors and new they are the employees at the desk," she said. "That's a long way from a cotton chopper to the presidency." But what is most telling to Jackson is that race is not an issue for the majority of Americans when selecting a president. "American is in a new era when race is not an issue to younger Americans. People are people. Americans are Americans, regardless of nationality, religion or origin."

And Bobbie Bowie, 76, of Bullard, said an Obama election means that her grandchildren have the same opportunities as anyone else. "I hope it will enlighten my grandchildren to know they can be anybody they want to be. It shows you might be president someday."

Bowie wishes her grandparents could have seen the day when a black president was elected. "They are the ones who paved the way," she said. "They didn't have a voice."

One can only imagine how Bowie's grandparents would feel after realizing a new era is upon America. By slowly but steadily moving little by little to gain equality and the same freedom as whites, Bowie's relatives paved the way to make Martin Luther King Jr's American dream possible. And the dream is that a black man will be president, and that man is Barack Obama.

THINK ABOUT IT!

MOVE ON!!

by Eddie P. Richardson

The animal shelter issue is now history, and it is time to move on to another issue. This project proved that the people have a voice only if they use it.

On this issue, they did it, and work battle! The results were honorable. The new location is accessible and away from parks and residents and in an open field with room to grow. If this location or one similar would have been proposed from the beginning instead of parks, in the first place, we would not have had any of the controversy in the first place, especially the last site where an attempt to dump it where no one else...

But after all, some good came out of it after all it proved that America is still America and the citizens still have a voice and they used it and it worked.

The coalition proved that for the people by the people still works, this writer would still like to see the coalition stay active and work for and with Lubbock. Working hard to support issues that is good for the citizens of Lubbock and work just as hard and constant as it did to defeat what is not good for all the citizens of Lubbock. We have groups in Lubbock that only played the adversary role. That is not good for any one each issue must justify on its own merits fairly this is good for the total city collective!

The thing that made this coalition different and successful was it was made up of a cross section of members and supporters different races, religions, cultures, backgrounds, socio-economic and on one accord with the same goal in mind it was to defeat the animal shelter in Mackenzie Park. They were at every 7-a-m city council meeting until the end, and with the same message on animal shelter in Mackenzie park.

There are many other issues on the horizon, one very important issue is the city council is rumored to pass the budget without a public hearing. Thats about unusual taxes is a very unpopular word to most taxpayers, but on the other hand, it takes money to run a city and provide all the services water, lights, streets, garbage pick up, police, fire and many other services. The public hearings comes with the territory of being as elected officials. This writer was told by one of our council persons that they did not like controversy again. That goes with the territory of being an elected official

In Cinque

by Renetta Howard

Howard

They say that once you have left home, that you cannot go home again. I almost became a believer this past weekend. Being a native of Chicago, Illinois, I went back to a family reunion this past week and had I not known and recognized a few of the old landmarks, I would have surely thought that I was in some other city.

The temperature of the weather was agreeable as I had arrived from a very, very hot state and the coolness was welcomed. What I had forgotten was the rag weeds that grow so abundantly, and got the best of my immune system at the family picnic. My Claritin seemingly has not been effective or I have the summer 'Flu.'

Aside from the weather and grasses, my idea that the rush hour was a weekly thing wherein people were rushing to get to work and then rushing to get back home was another misconception. The traffic is just as bad on Sunday as it is on Monday. There does not seem to be any lull in traffic on the freeways, toll ways or any other street at any time of the day or night. There have always been twenty-four hour stores, but they were few and far apart, now they are in every neighborhood.

With the introduction of smaller and faster cars, the very youthful drivers are making two lanes on streets in one direction where only one was intended and if you do not get out of their way you could end up on the sidewalk or in a fender bender with another vehicle. They drive fast and challenge the traffic police and the cameras on the traffic signals.

The topography has changed Chicago's lakefront is becoming crowded with quite tall skyscrapers. It seems that it will be a matter of time when the Sears Tower will no longer be the city's or the world's tallest building and become second to the Hancock Building which had been Chicago's tallest when it displaced the Prudential

OPEN HOUSE! THIS N THAT... is asking as many as can to... ATTEND... the

BACK TO SCHOOL OPEN HOUSE... at the Building. The Standard Oil Building is still standing tall neck and neck with the Hancock. To really get a good view of Lake Michigan now, one needs to travel south of the downtown area, past the museum, planetarium, Soldier Field and McCormick Place.

Though Illinois has had the lottery for over thirty years, Chicago has new excitement in the casino which is located in Hammond, Indiana, just south of Calumet Park. One does not have to cross the river in this part of Indiana leaving Chicago to get there. You can get on a Chicago street which will take you straight there. This has certainly added to the traffic toll. Like all other casinos, it is open 24 hours, 7 days a week. One thing is certain; if you cannot read, getting around is much more difficult now. Let us get 'in cinque' and make sure that we adults really know how to read. Mr. Obama says, "Go back to school."
