NOSIN...

Anyone loose a horse lately??
 My guess is someone better take stock of their stock and see if they have one missing... Because... In this community, somewhere there is a very anxious little lad, who has someone's lost horse...

In a telephone conversation
 Wednesday with a news reporter he wanted to know just how long it ordinarily takes to apply the "finders keepers, losers weepers," theory...

"nosin"

Newsmanphobia--A psychologist from the University of Illinois says that newspapermen have the highest anxiety level of any American occupational group he has studied. They are even more anxious, he said, than navy frogmen, pilots in training and business executives.
 So just as we'd always thought the fear of drowning, flaming death in an air crash and bankruptcy is less than the fear of sounding like an idiot in print...

"nosin"

If the meek are smart, they'll put off inheriting the earth just as long as they can...

"nosin"

Oh, stop the world and let me off... Seems only yesterday that we moved to Earth with a second grader and a seventh grader... And just overnight come Sunday, June 27, 1965, and my then second grader, had grown up and was on this day, 18 years old... Old enough to sign up with the Draft Board...

What happened to all these years??? Why did they fly by with the speed of a rocket???
 Why did the world speed up so fast??? I distinctly recall it took me ages and ages to become eighteen... Yet just overnight Polly Jr. and Phil grew up... Why???

"nosin"

Things have changed alright, but our space program where nuclear rockets orbit the earth at tremendous high speed, is not the only high speed recorded... Our children seem to grow up at that same speed...

"nosin"

You are getting along in years sir, if you can remember back when the world was reasonably safe and sane.

"nosin"

I had perhaps forgotten just what a busy six year old gal is like, but believe me, they are like nothing else in the world...
 They're cute... and they're smart... but most of all, they're active...

Last week our nephew's daughter visited us along with her uncle, grandparents and great grandparents, and she was indeed a whiz... Busy as a bee every moment of the day and until about midnight every night...

While the other adults were playing "moon and 42" she would sneak my sister, Janis and I away upstairs and then begin "a devotional" period.
 We all read the Bible, prayed, and sang songs... I think one could safely say, we weren't too good without any type of musical accompaniment, but this she somehow failed to notice... And this action grew into a nightly custom...

At the crack of day, she again arose filled with vim and vigor, and at the breakfast table out "correct pronunciation program" usually began...
 She had been studying phonetics and was interested in finding a student to teach... I made the tragic mistake of showing interest in her teaching, so automatically, I became the student and she the teacher...
 Only thing wrong was... I had forgotten, much to my sorrow, that six year old girls just never show signs of fatigue... So my sense of hearing as well as my vocal cords, really took a beating... But so it is with a busy smart little gal... They really leave a lasting impression, Bless em... However, this week, all is quite again at the Middleton abode, and we'll have to admit we miss our live-wire little visitor...

Parting thoughts: Many a man's idea of Charity is to give unto others the advice he can't use himself...

Phil Raught To Participate In Gas Management Development Course

Phil C. Raught, of Earth, is among the 36 persons who will participate in the Southern Gas Association's Middle Management Development Course at Texas College of Arts and Industries July 18-30.

Raught is a manager for Pioneer Natural Gas Company in Earth and has been with the company for 15 years, moving to Earth in 1957 from Sudan, where he served as General Plant Operator with the company there.

Raught is a civic worker and was selected as the recipient of the coveted Chamber of Commerce "Man of the Year" plaque this year. He is the only employee of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company to be selected to participate in the course.

Dr. Frank H. Dotterweich, course director and director of the A&I College Division of Engineering, said the course helps individuals to become better managers by giving them a broader understanding of the fundamentals of management in the gas industry.

The 36 persons accepted for enrollment represent 12 states, including Texas, New Mexico, Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Florida, Illinois, and Alabama.

More than 400 persons have taken the course in the 12 years that it has been offered.

The course curriculum includes lectures that will enable a man to do a better management job in the position that he now holds and to be a likely prospect for promotion.

Lecturers include college and university professors and key men in industrial management.

Hail Damage Reported In Area

Scattered light to heavy hail damage was reported north and east of the El Paso Natural Gas Plant Friday and Sunday, with some fields receiving from 50% to 75% damage to cotton.

Other hail damages reported were north and northwest of Earth, as a hail storm, which also hit Sunnyside, Hart, and Tulla, passed through the area.

It is too late for replanting cotton at this date. Most farmers who received the damage say they will just leave it, and take the loss, however some say the cotton seems to be "coming out of it somewhat."

Any and all persons who are interested in or have business with the Board are notified to be present.

Equalization Board members are Fred Clayton, chairman, Buzzy Jones, and K. B. Parish.

Former Teachers Receive Honors

Among the fifty-one degrees conferred at the spring commencement exercises May 24 at the University of Corpus Christi was Mrs. Janice Ann Baldwin, formerly of Earth and Houston, who graduated with Summa cum laude honors, with a grade point average of 2.94.

S. degree in Biology, with a minor in Mathematics and English. She will receive her permanent teacher's certificate at the University of Houston this summer and will do practice teaching in Mathematics.

Charles Baldwin, a former mathematics teacher in the Springlake-Earth schools during the 1964-65 school year, will teach at Texas Tech College during the coming year.

He is a former graduate of the University of Corpus Christi. He attended the National Science Foundation for the study of Physics; has a grant to study Physics with expenses paid for a six-weeks course of study at TCU, Ft. Worth; has a Bachelor of Arts in Chemistry; taught Physics, Algebra II, and Geometry in the Springlake-Earth FTA.

Local FFA Members To Attend State Convention

Seven members of the Springlake-Earth Future Farmers of America Chapter will attend the State FFA Convention in Houston, July 14-16, 1965.

The three-day meeting of approximately 900 Future Farmers of America chapters throughout the state will include the awarding of advanced degrees, scholarships, and awards to the outstanding members. Jerry Jones' application for American Farmer was approved on the state level. This will go to the National Convention in October at Kansas City. He will receive his American Farmer (highest degree awarded in the FFA) at that time.

Three local FFA members will be awarded the State Farmer degree at the State Convention in Houston. This is the highest degree awarded on the state level. These boys are Bob Phipps, Bob Coker, and Ken Dawson. Bob Coker will also compete for the top public speaker in the FFA State Organization at Houston. He will represent Area 1, competing against winners from the 9 other FFA areas in the state.

Only 3% of the boys in FFA may make state farmer. The boys who make it are usually boys with outstanding projects, with strong leadership ability and high character traits. It is a coveted award and the merits of the individual who achieve their goal are well recognized by business leaders throughout the nation.

Among the important business to be transacted at the convention will be the election of a state president from the ten state officer nominees, who have been elected by members in the ten areas of the state. Voting delegates to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City in October will be elected.

Delegates will elect a sweetheart from the ten candidates elected by the areas. The top talent team in the state will also be elected.

The Lone Star Farmer Degree will be presented to 85 members of the 41,156 member organization. The membership will confer Honorary Degrees on adults who have contributed in an outstanding way to the accomplishments of the FFA.

A Vesper Service will be held on Tuesday evening, preceding the convention sessions, in the Crystal Ballroom of the Rice Hotel.

Outstanding speakers at the three-day meeting will include the Honorable Preston Smith, Lt. Governor of Texas, and Kenneth Kennedy, of Cadiz, Kentucky, President of the National organization of the FFA.

Approximately four thousand rural youth are expected to attend the convention meeting, July 14-16.

Gene Houston, Vocational Agriculture Teacher will accompany the local members to the Houston Convention.

Water Lines Enlarged In Two Areas

Ruby Anderson, City Secretary, states, "An enlargement of water lines in two blocks of the Taylor Addition, from 2" to 6" lines began Saturday, to give people in that section better pressure due to low water pressure which has been effected by the swimming pool and several new connections on that line.

On Tuesday, a similar project was begun in the Original Town blocks 3, 4, and parts of block 5, also enlarging the water lines from 2" to 6" lines, which will give additional water pressure to that section of town."

Cain Follows In Dad's Footsteps

Quoting the Kansas City Star, June 2, 1965, Kansas City, Kansas: "Back in the late 1930's Leo Cain was a basketball player at Rockhurst College. Now his son, 'Rocky,' is coming to Rockhurst."

Incidentally, Leo was the captain of all three sports that year, 1939-40, his senior year at the college. The only other all-time 3 sport letterman was Jimmy Gleason, who is now a scout for the New York Yankees.

Continuing the quotation, "Cain, a 6 foot 4 all state selection from Earth, Tex., two standouts from St. Louis and a 6-5 forward from Winnebago, Wis., have accepted athletic scholarships, according to coach Dolor Rehm.

"Jim Healey, 6-3 1/2 forward from Christian Brothers high and Mike McEvoy, a 6-2 jump-shooting guard from DuBourg, are the St. Louis products joining the Hawks.

"Cain averaged 22.6 points a game last season and was selected as the most valuable player in the district.

"Nickel and Cain are rugged boardmen," said Coach Rehm. "Both are good shooters from the corner. We were fortunate to get these two; they were sought by many other schools."

The last two weeks in August Rocky has been selected to attend Easy Ed McCauley's Basketball Camp in St. Louis. Two of the coaches at this school will be Cliff Hagan and Don Ohi, now playing NBA basketball.

Run On The Bank

So far, the stressed goal in the war on poverty program has been aid to the Appalachian region. However, says Senator Cotton of New Hampshire, six more Appalachias are being considered, among them the Deep South, northern New England, and the Ozarks.

The Senator goes on to say: "The fly in that ointment is that it's like a run on the bank. The funds will be long gone before many in line reach the window. This is especially true of Uncle Sam's bank which is already borrowing money to keep enough in the till to pay the tellers."

In other words, the administrative costs of such programs have a habit of biting deeply into the funds provided. One sometimes wonders if the principal beneficiaries aren't the armies of bureaucrats, some very highly paid, who manage to jump on the bandwagon.

Beyond that, ending poverty demands far more than any conceivable government program. The long-range, lasting cure is an expanding, vital and vigorous economy which eternally creates more jobs and opportunities.

Invaluable Protection

A spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has something of unusual interest to say about the drive to repeal section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act--the section which permits states to adopt Right-to-Work laws. Last year, he recalled, Congress passed a law outlawing job discrimination on the basis of color, race, religion, or sex. But now, he went on, the present Congress is debating "whether to legalize discrimination in employment because of membership or the lack of membership in a private organization--a labor union." It will be interesting to see how Congress can double-talk this issue.

It is difficult to see how anyone could reconcile repeal of 14(b) with Congress' previous legislative action. To discriminate against a man because he does or does not want to join a union is certainly as bad as to discriminate against him because of the color of his skin or the church he attends. No man is free when the right to earn a living is conditioned upon forced membership in any organization.

A good union has nothing to fear from 14(b). It will gain and hold its membership on the basis of services rendered. But when membership is compulsory, there is no need to provide good and effective service--the rank and file are helpless. Right-to-work provides them with an invaluable protection.

Plains Research Foundation Pioneered In Artificial Recharge

The Plains of Texas has over 37,000 playa (buffalo) lakes which collect approximately 1.4 to 2.5 million feet of runoff water annually. Over 90 percent of all this water could evaporate if left in the lake.

During a time when rain is falling and the lakes are full, this "waste" water can be economically and effectively stored and put to use at the time when it is needed.

The High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, Texas has pioneered in what is known as "artificial recharge." This practice is putting the lake water back underground either through gravity flow or by pumping.

James Valliant, Water Engineer for the Foundation, states: "We have recharged the equivalent of 28 percent of the total amount of irrigation water used at the Foundation for the past six years into the underground formation. This modified well can also be used as a lake pump if it is needed. Several farmers are able to farm land previously unusable due to the lake."

With over 52,000 irrigation wells on the Plains of Texas pumping an estimated 5 million acre-feet of water each year, the rapid depletion of the underground water supply could be cut, and the life of our water could be extended by putting what has been a waste back underground through artificial recharge.

In the underground strata found on the Plains, there is very little lateral (side) movement of recharge water. During the hot dry summer when more water is needed, the recharge water will still be in the area of influence of the multiple-purpose well for irrigation.

Valliant states he does not know of any properly installed and properly maintained multiple-purpose well that has been clogged or filled.

The average rainfall for the Plains of Texas is 20 inches per year. With this little rain, it will take 10 years to put one inch of water back underground by natural means. It takes 20 inches to put 1/10 of an inch into the underground formation.

The Foundation has developed successful methods of installation and maintenance of multiple-purpose wells and now a program is underway to develop a better method of clearing water for artificial recharge.

The Foundation is testing grasses that can be planted in the bottom of the lakes to serve as a filter and also for grazing of cattle.

Rainfall is not the only water that can be used in a recharge program. Many farmers are using their tailwater to recharge. This program can also take care of the neighbor who lets his tailwater run across a farmer's field.

Several farmers have planned, with the Foundation's help, a tailwater return system to bring all of their own tailwater back to where the multiple-purpose well is located thus not wasting any of the water.

In most cases where a farmer has put in a multiple-purpose well, the lake bottom was modified for drainage. In this method, much of the land that had been in the lake bottom can be used to grow crops.

HPRF Conducts Research On Proper Balance Of Fertilizer And Irrigation

James Valliant, Water Engineer for the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, Texas, is conducting research to achieve the proper balance in crops in regard to irrigation and fertilization.

Prior research by Valliant has proven that high yields do not always give the highest net returns. Valliant states that during the physiological growth of crops, there are times that the plant will need water more than at other times. At these stress periods of growth, the proper timing and amounts of irrigation in balance with the correct fertilizer level can give a higher net return than previously received. The practice of timing irrigation for crops to suit the stress needs can help, not only to reduce the total water necessary, but can also cut the production costs of farming. As a rule, the individual farmer has neither the time nor the equipment necessary to record the growth stress periods in crops.

At the Foundation, the reduction of costs along with the reduction in waste of water for the maximum net return in farming is the goal. In a recent fertilizer-irrigation test on grain sorghum, Valliant found that the highest net return came from three irrigations which included a preplant watering. Higher yields were received from plots that had been given additional irrigations, but the net return was much lower. This same principal was found to be true with fertilizer. The point of diminishing economic returns can be reached by improper and excessive fertilizer amounts.

In an area that grows 40 percent of the nation's irrigated grain sorghum on 1.9 million acres of land, a lot of water is not being wisely used. To maintain the "Life Blood of the Plains," our water must be conserved. A large step toward conservation of the underground water supply can be obtained by proper timing of irrigation, not indiscriminate watering of crops. This along with the proper balance of fertilizer can make the farmer a better return from his land.

Harvest Slowed By Rain, Hail

According to the Wheat Control office, Amarillo, "Wheat and small grain harvest was interrupted last week as a result of moderate to heavy rains throughout the South Plains and northern Panhandle area."

No shortages of men or machines have been reported and no shortages are expected during the remainder of the wheat harvest season.

The following are the latest reports on area conditions: In the Littlefield and Muleshoe area, wheat harvest was practically completed before being stopped by the rain. Yields are average to below-average from irrigated acreage. This was a final report.

In the Hereford, Farwell, and Dimmitt area, harvest is 35% complete. Extensive damage in some areas has resulted from hail and heavy rain. Wheat is mature and harvest will be in full swing as soon as fields are dry enough to hold equipment.

The Springlake Elevator has received approximately six railroad cars of wheat in Springlake, and 23 cars at Sunnyside. This is most of the area wheat expected. A very small amount has not been combined due to wet weather.

Wheat began arriving at the two elevators June 17. Last year's date was June 9. The harvest usually lasts from two to three weeks, depending on

Muleshoe Celebration To Be July 2-5

Mules, those fast disappearing, much maligned beasts of burden, will literally have their day in this west Texas town, July 2, 3, 4, and 5.

Muleshoe will pay long overdue homage to the mule, to all mules, for the unsung role they played in the pioneering and building of America in a four-day celebration.

The program begins July 2 with a trail ride to the Old Muleshoe Ranch headquarters where a historical plaque will be dedicated. Participating in the trail ride will be the famous Rolling Plains Mule Train, plus other riders mounted on both mules and horses.

On July 3, a fly-in breakfast, followed by an air show will start the day. Area pioneers will meet and enjoy a style show of pioneer fashions at 10. At noon, the highlight of the day takes place in the square of the north end of main street.

This is the unveiling of a life size monument to the American mule. Sculptured of fiberglass, the statue is modelled after "Old Pete", one of a span of mules still working in Muleshoe.

Attorney General Waggoner Carr will deliver the dedicatory address. An unusual parade, featuring mules, antique vehicles, and floats will make its way down Main Street.

Carrying out the historical theme of the celebration, a buffalo and beef barbecue will be served at 7 pm, followed by a historical pageant and brief fireworks display in the football stadium.

On Sunday, July 4, activities begin with sunrise church services at the campsite of the mule train, and in the afternoon an antique car parade and contest, and performance of a rodeo. The day concludes with an American Heritage musical program at 7:30 in the First Baptist Church.

July 5, the final day, is marked by a high talent contest and entertainment in the football stadium, where a picnic supper will be held. Judging of the pioneer beard growing contest will precede the grand finale, a gigantic fireworks display.

Mrs. Fernie Medina (Angelita Guana) and her two children from Fresno, California are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ysabel Guana.

Mrs. Gerald Taylor's mother, Mrs. Danmendez and sister, Phiea, from Holland, arrived Tuesday to visit in the Taylor home. They plan to stay 3 months.

The Tuffy Dent family, Austin, has been visiting in the M. H. Been home.

Mrs. W. T. Clayton, Springlake, outgoing president, installed other officers to serve with Mrs. Allen. They are: vice-president, Mrs. J. L. Haral, Abemathy; secretary, Miss Winnie Karth, Plainview; treasurer, Mrs. Marian McManigal, Happy; publicity chairman, Mrs. Jack Ford, Plainview; and parliamentarian, Mrs. Ralph Davis, Abemathy. The project is only one in a continuing trend of Wayland benefit projects staged by the women since their organization in 1964. In the fall, their birthday party for Van Howling Memorial Library netted some $1500. Dr. Roy C. McClung, Wayland president, extended welcome to the women. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Verney Townes, Muleshoe, preceding the reading of Matthew 6:19 by Mrs. Clayton. Entertainment for more than 25 guests was provided by Mrs. Clayton's granddaughter from Earth, Connie, Anita, and Donita Kelley. They sang "Twilight Time," "Tammie," and "Rambling Rose," accompanied by Duane Harris, Wayland Senior from Joplin, Mo., who serves as music director at First Baptist Church, Earth. Though some 70 women became members of Women for Wayland in its first year of organization, membership is still open for those interested in helping promote Wayland Baptist College.

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS SHOULD FURNITURE BE MIXED OR MATCHED?

By Wilma Taylor
Many years ago, furniture stores featured six, seven and even eight piece living room sets all in the same wood finishes. This finish usually was either mahogany, walnut or maple. Very often the fabric and color on the upholstered pieces were all identical. Although many people still prefer to use the same wood finishes throughout the living room, the trend through the years has been to get away from sets or suites of living room furniture by using many different finishes in the same room very effectively. As a matter of fact, many leading decorators prefer using different wood finishes and even different periods in the same room. One of the loveliest living rooms I have seen had a mahogany piano, a modern sofa, two Early American maple chairs, a white marble top cocktail table with black base, and a fruitwood French Provincial breakfast. However, all the colors and textures of the floor coverings, fabrics, lamps, draperies and walls were beautifully blended. So whether you like to mix or match, we are at your service with prices and terms to suit you. We invite you to come in. And be sure to watch for our future columns on furniture and interior decorating ideas. We'll be bringing them to you regularly from Taylor Furniture Earth, Texas, Open Mondays thru Saturdays until 6:00 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Glasscock and Hoyt, representing the A group (ages 11-12 years) and Mr. and Alton Shipley and Gary, Lubbock, representing the B group (ages 9-10 years) flew to Houston where they stayed at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel. Hoyt was in the finals contest Saturday morning. He was presented a baseball suit and a package of souvenirs from the Astrodome. The Glasscocks attended Friday's and Saturday's games with the New York Mets and the Houston Astros. They enjoyed the courtesies of reserved seats and meals at the Domeskeller, one of the five restaurants in the Astrodome. Hoyt's biggest thrill was receiving Casey Stengel's autograph on his Pee-Wee baseball glove, which he had when he was a PeeWee several years ago. The Glasscocks enjoyed a tour of the control rooms, the hospital ward where a doctor and nurse are present at all times, the restaurants, the sight of the fabulous score boards. They mentioned the fifty three private suites of rooms upstairs in the Astrodome, which are very

Dear Sir:

We could not get together to write your article until we had started home. Please forgive our tardiness.

Larry and I would first of all like to express our deepest thanks and appreciation to the people of Earth and Springlake, and especially to our host families, and the Springlake FFA. It is always hard to say goodbye to people who have become such good friends.

Larry and I came to Texas unaware of the different type of farming. We learned of new crops, to us, cotton, castor beans, wheat, and grain sorghum.

We saw the damage wind and sand can cause and the wonderful effect of irrigation on a dry climate. We learned how to sand fill, furrow, and burn weeds.

We were amazed to find the difference in soil texture and land topography. We toured a cotton gin, ammonia plant, and even were lucky enough to be on a Texas round-up. One of the highlights of our many tours was an afternoon at Texas Tech. Both Larry and I thought the campus very pretty and well planned. The college atmosphere was that of friendliness. All in all, our final impression of Texas is not the hot, rattle-snake infested dry land that some people told us we would find, but a productive, big, flat, irrigated, slightly

Farming In Iowa Differs With My Native Texas

By: Ken Dawson

To a native Texan who has hardly left home, Iowa might seem like a strange and distant land; or it could seem like a most exciting and fascinating country with its rolling hills and lush green acres of corn, the one and only main crop.

While in Grinnell, Iowa, for 2 weeks, I stayed with a family of German descent, the William Nagels, who own a farm of 480 acres and rent 175 acres. This is considered a large farm. The average is from 200-350 acres. The Nagels had a few chickens, no hogs at the time, about 150 head of feeder cattle, 125 head of high grade cows. They raise mostly corn with some soybeans, alfalfa and oats. Because of the smaller farms, the land is far more populated and sometimes there are as many as four homesteads to the section. Grinnell is a town of some 7500 population with a senior high of about 600 students. The FFA chapter had about 50 members this past year. The area around Grinnell is rolling hills. Trees are not native but many have been planted around each farm. The grass, trees, and flowers are lush and beautiful. I also found myself cultivating on a 45 degree angle at times.

Every farm has one or more cylindrical silos and a few big barns. The houses are mostly big 2-story wooden structures as are the barns. Corn is the main crop and it is all fed to the livestock. Very little is sold. Most farms feed out 100 to 300 steers, 100 or so hogs, broiler chickens, and dairies are very common. Most cattle are better quality than in Texas. Grades range from choice to prime. Soybeans is a recent crop.

Cold air from Canada and hot air from the south clash over Iowa and cause much more rainfall than in Texas. Because of the rolling hills irrigation isn't possible, but the rainfall is ample for the crops grown.

Hill is rather uncommon. The soil is so thick and rich the water saturates it and drainage is a real problem. Water soaks only to 5 or 6 feet and will go no farther because of a layer of hard red clay. To drain the water, farmers put tile 8 inches in diameter down about 4 or 5 feet deep along the hillsides.

I believe such exchange trips as ours, sponsored by the FFA will help agriculture to gain new understanding of the many problems facing it these days.

PARTY LINE

Mrs. A. M. Sanders had as guests in her home last week Mr. and Mrs. Don Sanders from Sayre, Oklahoma; Mrs. Rosebell Pruitt of Ardmore, Oklahoma; Mrs. Bertha Hitt and daughter, Dorris; and Mrs. Camille Robin and daughter, Marsha, all of Dallas.

Water Toll Totals 110 As 4th Nears

Texas drownings, besides the upwards of twenty in the Sanderson flash flood, totaled twenty for the last two weeks, as reported to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

This raised the total for the outdoor season to 110, mainly from water recreational causes. J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator, whose warden staffers are commonly called upon when tragedy strikes, said several of the victims of boating accidents could have been saved had they been wearing life belts.

He said a conspicuous example was the death of a New Caney father who perished when his motor boat exploded. He lacked a life preserver while his two young sons wore theirs in a successful bid for safety on the shore.

Phillips said life belts also were not worn by two men who drowned when a raft capsized in a flood-filled lake near Hereford, as well as a fisherman whose boat upset.

Other victims included a man who panicked when he got into deep water off Port Mansfield, and a Conroe father and young son who drowned in a vain effort to rescue a small daughter. With the Fourth of July holiday nearing with consequent increase in water recreation activities, Phillips appealed to Texans to observe the simple rules of safety. He said overloaded boats and lack of life belts as well as foolish risks at the beaches were most common causes of fatalities when the holiday rush attracts large throngs to the outdoors.

Party Line

Jannette Pellham entertained friends who were former classmates in the 1963 graduating class of Springlake, with a slumber party Friday night in her home. Attending were Carolyn Stephens, Irene Stewart, Deann Kilmore, Janice Cowley, Barbara Nance, and the hostess.

Iowa Exchange Students Return Home

Dennis Hull and Larry Wade, exchange students from Grinnell, Iowa, returned home Saturday following a two week visit on area farms.

As part of an FFA exchange program, the two high school graduates visited and worked on the farms of the J. J. Cokers, the Orville Cleavingers, and the Ed Dawsons.

They were chosen to participate in this program, due to scholarship merit, chapter point in FFA projects, and extra curricular activities in Grinnell High School.

This was the young men's first trip south, and they enjoyed the varied farming, the sizes of the farms and types of equipment used here.

They took slides, and plan to present programs and pictures in Iowa of local activities pertaining to our farming and agriculture.

PARTY LINE

Mrs. Kenneth Hinson and sons, Kevin and Kent will arrive in Lubbock Thursday by plane, following a 2 weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Watson, of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Axtell, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hinson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hawkins of Hart, at the Colonial Inn in Dimmitt Monday evening for dinner.

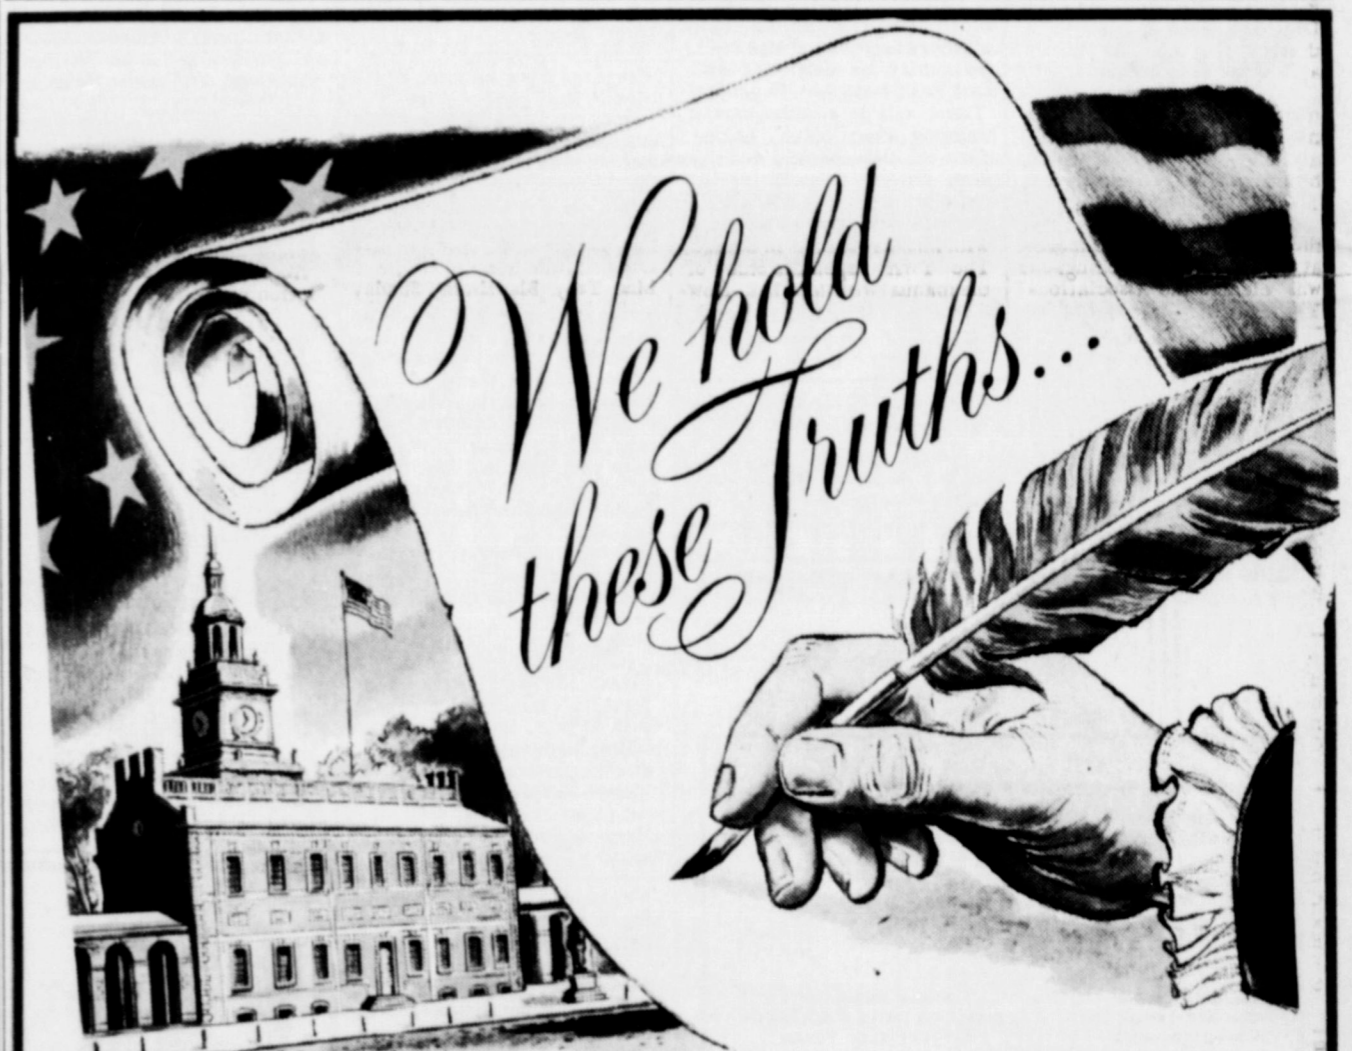

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mann visited in Pawnee, Oklahoma one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence were former members of the Springlake-Earth School faculty. They are currently affiliated with the Pawnee School system.

Mrs. Lewie Jordan attended the funeral of her uncle, J. N. Patterson Wednesday, at Spur. He died in Tulsa at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Marshall Smith.

The Spirit of '76 Lives On

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal" . . . Echoing through the years of our country's proud history, the words of the Declaration of Independence are living truths . . . now as then, truths to be held and cherished, guarded and preserved by all Americans. This year, more than ever, Independence Day is a time for us to be deeply aware of our priceless heritage of Independence and the right of one and all to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Let us resolve, with the same high purpose and dedicated spirit that moved our forefathers, to remember these truths thankfully and to act so that they shall ever be meaningful.

ance calls per average business day, whereas today the average is running close to 3,420."

Waldrop pointed out that the influx of calls requires constant study to determine faster, more workable means of handling long distance messages. Operating improvements such as mark sense ticketing also necessitates additional training for supervisors and operators.

"Our operator force has been preparing for conversion to the mark sense method for several months," Waldrop explained.

In addition to its long distance operation, General's Littlefield district also provides local phone service for 12 south plains communities.

SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE CREWS are busy in the area, installing new lines, cross bars, etc. This picture was snapped as a busy threesome installed new cross bars in the rear of the Earth Auto Parts Tuesday afternoon.

Littlefield General Telephone Co. Announces New Ticketing Process

A faster, more efficient method of recording information on long distance telephone calls will be placed in effect this month in General Telephone Company of the Southwest's Littlefield toll center.

Called "mark sense" ticketing, the new procedure is described by General's Littlefield district manager Alan Waldrop as "a purely automatic operation once it has passed from the operator's hands."

"Although the improvements realized through the new method are not visibly apparent to the customer, this change represents a much faster, more reliable and efficient means of recording information on long distance calls," Waldrop said.

Using specially treated graphite lead pencils, operators record information such as the calling exchange, the calling number, whether the call is station-to-station, person-to-person, collect, etc., on elaborately designed tickets which include scores of boxes or "bubbles."

The tickets are shipped daily to General's revenue accounting center in San Angelo where they are fed into IBM machinery which convert the data into punched cards, then tapes, and finally into printed information to be included in the customer's monthly bill. The function of rating calls is also performed automatically, eliminating the possibility of human error, Waldrop added.

The billing equipment includes an "editing unit" which automatically sorts out tickets which contain erroneous or inadequate information. Rejected tickets are then carefully checked and rechecked to insure that they reflect the correct information.
