Weather Clear After More Rain

Most of the area residents were glad to see the rain late Thursday night because it gave a few a chance to enjoy a short vacation.

Although farmers thought they were receiving too much rain, reports show they seem to be glad now that it was received.

The weather has cleared off since then and the sunshine has really been welcomed.

The Lazbuddie and Dodd areas received from 3/4" to 1 1/2" of rain Thursday.

Springlake-Earth residents received amounts ranging from 1" to 1 1/2" Thursday.

GSPA Board Meeting Announced

A full board meeting of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association will be held Friday, July 28, at 1 p.m. in Amarillo, Texas. The Board will meet at the Pioneer Natural Gas Building in the "Flame Room" 301 South Taylor Street.

GSPA Executive Director, Elbert Harp, urged all GSPA Directors, Alternate Directors and interested producers to attend the meeting. They will discuss proposed changes in the GSPA By-Laws, and a minimum of two-thirds of the directors must be present to vote on these changes.

Harp said the Association has grown in the past year to include members throughout Kansas, Nebraska, East and South Texas, as well as the original area of the High Plains of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Also under discussion at the meeting will be a farm program proposal that would base payments and loans to farmers on the cost of production plus a fair return. Harp said the Board will explore some new uses for farm government programs for 1973 and thereafter.

The election of GSPA directors for the fiscal year that will begin October 1, 1972, is now being conducted by mail ballot. Results of the election are expected to be completed by the meeting date, and the new directors for the fiscal year 1972-73 will be announced at the meeting.

Mr. Harp and Jack King, GSPA Research Director, are currently in Washington, D.C., working on several GSPA projects, including the farm proposal and the shipment of grain to Russia.

Those attending the meeting were Earl Jordan, Macky McCarty, Phillip Haberer, Perry Martin, Leon Dent, Bill Scott, Harold Miller, Norman Hinchliffe, Dale Riggs, Bill Mann and Robert Gossett.

Mann Attends Farm Labor Cost To Increase Workshop In Austin

Bill Mann, superintendent of the Springlake-Earth Schools, attended the annual superintendent's workshop held at the University of Texas in Austin.

The workshop, held July 9-12, was jointly sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, the University of Texas and the Texas Association of School Administrators.

Those attending were divided into work groups. Different leaders were in charge of discussing various subjects; the main topic being public finance.

Panelists exchanged thoughts and ideas on solving the up-coming financial problems. Also, an equalized system of evaluating state ad valorem taxes was discussed. For example, some areas tax automobiles, some do not; some areas tax cattle; some do not; some areas tax land on 15% of its market value some tax on 75 or 80% of its market value.

For example, some areas tax automobiles, some do not; some areas tax cattle; some do not; some areas tax land on 15% of its market value some tax on 75 or 80% of its market value.

The House would jump the minimum for non-farm workers to $1.80, this year and to $2.20 an hour in 1974.

Ostensibly the Administration was pushing on the Senate floor for new minimum wage provisions much more in line with those adopted by the House, including a $2.00 top for non-farm labor and an increase to only $1.80 for agriculture. But Democrats as well as Democrats would like to gain support from organized labor in this election year, and numerous defections from the more modest wage approach were noted in Administration ranks.

Democrats in the Senate were especially anxious to mollify labor union leaders, most of whom were thoroughly disenchanted with procedures followed at the Democratic Convention and with the party's presidential nominee. Political expediency notwithstanding however, both Texas Senators -- John Tower, a Republican, and Lloyd Bentsen Jr., a Democrat -- voted for a substitute bill with minimum wage increases similar to those approved by the House. That bill was defeated by a vote of 46 to 47 and the minimum bill from the Senate Labor Committee passed 65-27. Presidential nominee George McGovern flew back to the Capitol from South Dakota to vote against the substitute bill.

Ultimately the Senate measure would jump the federal minimum wage by 37.5 percent for non-agricultural workers and by almost 70 percent for farm labor, the largest increases in history.

Noteworthy in consideration of the minimum wage provisions which eventually will be enacted is the fact that the chairman on the House Subcommittee on Labor, John Dent of Pennsylvania, fought a losing battle on the House side for a bill almost identical to that passed by the Senate. And Dent will no doubt head up the House conferees on the issue.

Washington observers do not expect the Conference Committee to meet until after the Republican National Convention in August.

Car Wash Nets $89

Residents had their automobiles washed, cleaned, and shined July 24, by members of the Earth United Methodist Youth.

The group gathered at Dutch Been's Phillip 66 Station Monday, July 24, at 9 a.m. and set about their task of cleaning dirty cars.

The group worked until 7 p.m. and donations totaling $89 were received by the workers. Busy workers for the day were Vicki Wisian, Gina Wisian, David Hinchliffe, Karen Hinchliffe, Gail Wages, Becky Littleton, Marian Dawson, Darlene Sulser, Kolita Biles, Kerry Husst, summer youth director, Kim Bock and Pam Holland.

The profits acquired from the event will be used by the local youths to support a trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico, this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Berryman of St. Charles, Illinois, are in Earth on a month's visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Drake.

As a result of actions by the House and Senate in Washington over recent weeks farmers can expect labor costs to increase by at least 15 percent later this year and by over 30 percent beginning in the Fall of 1973, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The House on May 11 passed a bill increasing the agricultural minimum wage from the present $1.30 an hour to $1.50 this year and to $1.70 a year later.

The Senate, ardently courting the favor of organized labor, voted July 20 to raise the farm labor minimum to $1.60 this year, $1.80 next year, $2.00 in 1974 and $2.20 in 1975.

"Thus the hourly minimum wage for agriculture in the years ahead will be decided by a House-Senate Conference Committee," Johnson said. "And a 30 percent increase by 1973, as written into the House measure, is the smallest increase that can be hoped for."

Also hanging in the balance when the Conference Committee meets will be the fate of overtime exemptions traditionally given to cotton gins, oil mills and other seasonal processing industries. The House version retains these exemptions but the Senate bill wipes them out. If the Senate version holds, some sources estimate the cost of ginning cotton will be increased in the neighborhood of $5 per bale.

The House bill would increase non-agricultural labor from a $1.60 minimum to $1.80 this year and to $2.00 in 1973.

The Senate would jump the minimum for non-farm workers to $1.80, this year and to $2.20 an hour in 1974.

Ostensibly the Administration was pushing on the Senate floor for new minimum wage provisions much more in line with those adopted by the House, including a $2.00 top for non-farm labor and an increase to only $1.80 for agriculture. salad, baked beans, rolls, ice tea, assorted cakes, and fruit salad was served by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Matlock of Earth and Mrs. Kenneth Tyler of Tulsa. MRS. SAMMIE MATLOCK (nee Nancy Elizabeth Jones)

Jones-Matlock Exchange Wedding Vows

Nancy Elizabeth Jones and Sammie Matlock exchanged wedding vows Thursday, July 20, at 10 a.m. in the United Methodist Church of Kress. Rev. and Dyess officiated the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Jones of Kress. The groom is Mr. M. Bud Matlock of Earth. The couple was united in marriage before an altar decorated with white cathedral cups adorned with carnations. Branched candelabras with white tapers and baskets of white gladiolus flowers flanked the altar.

The couple knelt for the "Wedding Prayer" before a bank of greenery. The aisles were marked with red ribbon striped with white.

The bride, presented in marriage by her father, wore a full wedding gown of white tulle designed with an bodice of alencon, accented with seed pearls, and a scoop neckline and long sleeves. The lovely train was attached at the waist line and enhanced with flower edge with alencon embroidered with seed pearls. The bride's beautiful length veil of silk illusion attached to a satin Juliet covered with re-embroidered lace. Her lovely bridal bouquet featured roses with a bridal ribbon bound in love knots and centered with a double cymidium orchids.

For something borrowed, the bride carried the Bible used by her mother at her wedding. Inside the Bible, was tucked a handkerchief which belonged to her maternal great grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Lloyd of Lockney. Something old was a penny in her shoe which was minted in the year both she and the groom were born. Something new was her wedding attire which was designed and fashioned by her mother.

Wedding music was presented by organist, Mrs. Sam Coleman and soloist, Donna Barnes, both of Clayton. "Twelfth of Never" and the "Wedding Prayer" were the bride's chosen songs.

The bride was attended by Cathy Flippin of Claytonville and Peggy Young of Kress as bridesmaids, and Mrs. Gary Scott of Claytonville, matron-of-honor.

Robin Brandes, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl.

The bride's attendants wore lovely red and white checked voile dresses fashioned identical to the brides, with a touch of white daisy embroidery added to the sleeves and at the waistline. Lovely nosegays of miniature roses were carried by the young ladies.

Buddy Vineyard of Kress served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Lynn Stark of Kress and Max Jones, brother of the bride, from Claytonville. Seating the guests were Garry Scott of Claytonville, Roger Sweatt of Kress and Donnie Haberer of Earth.

Miss Regina Pigg of Claytonville registered the guests before the wedding.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. Dickie Jones, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Lloyd Brandes, aunt of the bride, served at the bridal table. The table was covered with a white net cloth over red and centered with a crystal and gold epergne, filled with minute roses and daisies. The bridal bouquet was placed at the lower part of the epergne, and the attendants nosegays were placed at the corner of the table.

For a wedding trip, the bride chose a red acetate dress featuring white cuffs and collar and completed with white accessories. The cymidium orchids lifted from the bridal bouquet served the bride as a going away corsage.

The bride and groom are both 1971 graduates of Kress High School.

"BARDEN'S BONERS"

The old cliché "when it rains, it pours" has come to have real meaning to the Claude Bardens of Springlake. Since February of this year, the Bardens have experienced one "boner" after another.

It all started in the month of February when Mr. Barden began having severe aches and pains in his left leg. Hoping to wear the pain off he did not go to a doctor. The pain, however, became more severe and it forced him to go. The doctor prescribed several medicines for him, all of which he took; the pain in his leg was unaffected by the medication. Again, Mr. Barden, now hardly able to walk because of the pain, returned to the doctor, only this time to be hospitalized. His condition was analyzed and finally diagnosed as the "syatic nerve". After this period of hospitalization, he was allowed to return home. The doctor again prescribed several medicines for him to take. With the hospitalization, the prescribed medicines consumed, Mr. Barden's condition grew worse. Again, he went to the doctor and was re-hospitalized. The treatment was directed toward lessening the pain and enhancing his ability to walk, which had become almost impossible. Finally, he was dismissed and returned home. The doctor prescribed several medicines for him to take again. With all of this behind him, he was at last getting some relief when little spots began breaking out around the left side of his stomach extending to the middle of his back.

After these spots enlarged and started inducing pain, Mr. Barden again went to a doctor. He was told he had "shingles". The doctor prescribed some medicine for him and sent him home. The shingles continued to worsen and seemed to affect his leg; he was still unable to walk because of the pain. So, with the shingles and the severe pain in his leg, he returned to the doctor only to be hospitalized. In the hospital the shingles were treated with some success; the pain in his leg continued. After nearly two weeks in the hospital he was released and given more medication. At home, he remained unable to be up.

The pain in his leg again became so intense that he decided to experiment with a chiropractor. Having gone for several treatments, he could begin walking some with a cane. However, the chiropractic treatments seemed to be irritating his shingles. Enduring the shingles-pain, Mr. Barden continued the treatments of the chiropractor.

Departing from Mr. Barden for a moment, Mrs. Barden, also, made her boner-contribution. While shopping at a grocery store, she picked up a bottle of soda pop and accidentally dropped it on the floor causing it to shatter. A piece of the shattered glass cut a deep gash in her leg. She was rushed to a hospital emergency room and treated. The doctor prescribed medicines for her and dismissed her on the agreement that she would stay in bed a week, which she did.

Meanwhile, Mr. Barden was still getting around with his cane some, because of his leg, but most of the time, he stayed in bed because of his shingles.

When the storms began in our section of West Texas some time ago, many of the area residents took to the cellars. The Bardens were not exceptions. Except, while Mr. Barden was getting down into the cellar, he slipped on the top step and plummeted all the way to the bottom of the six foot cellar. He was taken to a doctor and it was discovered that he bruised several ribs. Fortunately, no bones were broken. However, he can't wear the foam belt to relieve his ribs because it irritates his shingles.

At this time, the Bardens are still recuperating from their "boners". It has rained a lot (for them) this year!

There's more to farming than cultivating and reaping, raising and marketing, investing and profiting. Farming brings satisfaction, pride and love of the land. Farming is caring. But, if not cared for properly, farming could mean disaster. Take the time to instruct your family and workers to report any default in machinery, buildings, electrical wiring; and any change in livestock. Make sure everything on the farm is in sound shape.
