

Three Members of State Champion Team Receive All-Tournament Honors

SUSAN BRITTON

JUDY GOVER

VICKI SANDERS

ANITA O'HAIR

Three members of the hard playing class A state champion team, the local Wolverettes, were named on the all-tournament team.

They are Vicki Sanders, 5 feet 6 inch senior guard, Judy Gover, 5 feet 7 inch senior guard and Susan Britton, 5 feet 8 inch junior forward. Others named in the class A conference all-tourney team, picked by sports writers covering the tournament, included Mary Rosebrock, 5 ft. 11 in, junior forward from George West; Pat Edwards, 5 ft. 11 in, senior forward from Brownsboro and Carolyn Tunnel, 5 ft. 8 in, senior guard from Cross Plains.

Springlake-Earth was the only team in class A conference to place more than one on the all-tournament team.

With the local Wolverettes taking the state championship in such a flash of speed and accuracy it was no surprise that at least three Wolverettes were named to the all-tourney team. Last year two local Wolverettes who were runner ups for state, placed two on the all-tourney team, Susan Britton and Diana Gregory.

Anita O'Hair Selected To All-Star Team

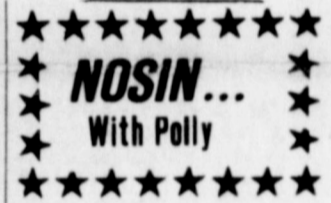

Anita O'Hair, senior forward of the state champion Wolverette team, has been selected as a member of the state all-star team.

The two man committee composed of Gay Ivey, Slaton and Mitch Lamoline of Abemathy made the announcement recently to Coach Dean Foshee.

The all-state game between the North and South will be played in July. Location for the game has not been selected.

Other members of the "North team" of which Miss O'Hair will be playing, were not disclosed to Coach Foshee.

Miss O'Hair has been a star member of the Wolverette team throughout her high school years.

Out of the clear blue sky Sunday night the telephone rang and from the other end of the line came a happy carefree voice saying "we just had to call to say how proud we are of your hometown Wolverettes. You see, we too, way down here in Oklahoma have watched the girls each week through the News-Sun and likewise became a real fan of your Wolverettes."

The voice went on to explain "we have been so excited after that all-green paper, we couldn't hardly wait to find out if the girls won. When the paper arrived today and we found they not only won, but had scored 105 points against a champion team we just had to call, and tell you how truly proud the Delbert Hodges in Oklahoma are of that fine Wolverette team."

We talked about 30 minutes, and I think I had even forgotten I was ever a sophomore in the Yeager, Oklahoma High School way back in the stone-age time.

The happy caller, one of my very best friends in those youthful days, is still as happy and carefree as ever and reminded me of many happy occasions. She married following our sophomore year, and I felt the loss during the following two high school years. She was a fine ball player (and yours truly tried to be one too.) She and her husband have remained sports fans throughout the year. The couple have two fine, educated children also living in Oklahoma.

"It is so nice to be reminded though we haven't had an opportunity to visit in years, that through the long and tiring years a true and treasured friend still remembers, and though many miles separate our paths in life, to know they are happy when you are happy, and that they take time to congratulate our Wolverettes."

Wilkinson served as master of ceremonies; David Lasiter, spoke on soil sterilants, fungicides and systematic insecticides and Bete Jennings talked about new products for weed control in cotton and maize.

Fried chicken dinners, pie, coffee, and iced tea were prepared and served by the members of the Pleasant Valley Social Club.

Junior Class Play Nets '309

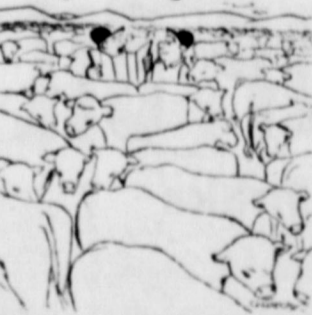

Approximately 375 attended the Junior class play, "Boys and Ghouls Together," and saw a top performing cast present the hilarious comedy.

Net proceeds from the play was $309.67 which will be used to finance the local Junior-Senior Banquet.

The "Blue Notes" a hometown band, furnished music preceding the play and during the acts.

Directors for the play were Mrs. Betty Smith, E.G. Gaston and Harold Fields.

Earth-Springlake Hospital District Bill Submitted by Bill Clayton

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake has introduced a bill in the House to create a hospital district in the Springlake-Earth area of Lamb County.

Earth-Springlake Hospital District, as it would be called, would provide medical and hospital care for the needy who live in the district.

An election, however, would be called by the commissioners court "on its own motion or on receipt of a petition of 50 qualified taxpaying electors."

The bill reads before the district could be established.

In the same election, the court may submit an additional proposal authorizing the district to issue bonds for construction of the facility.

The maximum rate of interest would be six per cent and the maximum maturity date would not exceed 40 years from the date of issuance of the bonds.

Also, voters would decide whether or not the district would have the authority to levy annual taxes at a rate not to exceed 75 cents on the $100 valuation of all taxable property within the district.

If the proposal should be defeated, the court would have the authority to call other elections on the same propositions.

If the vote were favorable, the district would be governed until the first Saturday in April by five members of the board of directors. The initial members will be named later in the bill.

On the first Saturday after establishment of the district an election would be called to determine who would be members of the board of directors. Those elected would draw lots to determine which three should be on the board two years, and which two should be on the board one year.

"Thereafter," the bill reads, "on the first Saturday in April of each year, a regular election of directors shall be held. A person elected shall serve a two-year term."

The board, before levying any taxes, would appoint a board of equalization composed of five resident property owners of the district who would see that taxes are assessed, valuations equalized and tax rolls prepared.

Not later than October 1 of each year, the board would levy the tax and immediately certify the tax rate to the tax assessor-collector of Lamb County or some other tax assessor-collector as determined by the district.

"The bonds of the district may be made optional for redemption prior to their maturity date at the discretion of the board of directors."

Clayton's measure provides that when bonds are issued after an election, revenue may be used for "the purchase, construction, acquisition, repair, or renovation of buildings and improvements and equipping them for hospital purposes."

A tax, however, would have to be provided to create an interest and sinking fund to pay the interest and principal as it matures.

The bill reads: "No bonds shall be issued by the hospital district, except by referendum, until authorized by a majority vote of the qualified property taxpaying electors of the district voting at an election called and held for that purpose."

"The bonds of the district may be made optional for redemption prior to their maturity date at the discretion of the board of directors."

The program ended with the Kelley Trio singing "Jesus Walked This Lonesome Valley," the song that won them a superior rating at the State-wide Baptist Music Festival in Abilene recently.

The lead story in the Lubbock-Avalanche Journal yesterday provoked me. Premier Ky of South Viet Nam made some rather strong and harsh criticisms toward certain members of the United States Congress. Not mentioning them by name, there was really no mystery as to who he had in mind. Not getting political, and certainly not holding up one party or another, I have to say I take extreme exception to this man taking it upon himself to play critic to the very government that is keeping him in business today. He used the word Doves in describing particular members of our Congress. He stated that our "Peace Mongers" were detrimental to the purposes of the war in his country. He stated other things.

He did not state how much, in lives and property, the United States was spending. He made no mention of the fact that if it were not for this nation, his would have gone under long ago. I kinda think this is ingratitude to the fullest measure. I think it is a downright shame when our leaders sit at the same table and listen to this kind of drivel, or in criticizing any member of our Congress, he is criticizing our nation.

It matters not that our chosen representatives are not in accord with foreign dignitaries. It matters not that they disagree even among themselves. What does matter is that they are OUR REPRESENTATIVES, duly elected by us. If we cannot support them from international abuse, then we should see that they are not returned to their seats in government.

But that is for us to decide. Not our "Little Brown Brothers" who are always taking but never giving. Simply put, I firmly believe that if Premier Ky doesn't like our way of doing things, he should stop waving the crying towel and clean up his own mess. We have a few in our own country that we could better spend the time and money on.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITORS NOTE:

A copy of the following letter written to superintendent Bill Mann by County Judge, O.J. Mangum, was sent to the News-Sun.

Mr. Bill Mann
Earth-Springlake School
Earth, Texas

Dear Mr. Mann:

The Earth-Springlake girl's basketball team, in winning the State Championship, has brought much credit and recognition to your school and to all of Lamb County. The championship was won in a convincing and record-breaking fashion. There is no doubt in anyone's mind that Earth-Springlake is the best team ever.

From all reports, the girls conducted themselves in championship manner off the basketball court, too. Such young ladies will be recognized and rewarded in all their endeavors.

Please add this congratulatory message to the large number they have undoubtedly received. They have earned the admiration and gratitude of us all.

Thank you,

Enrollment in Lamb County Schools Down

County school superintendent, C. Roy Stevens reported a total decrease in enrollment of 674 pupils in the six school districts within the county, compared to the same time a year ago. He said this figure was reached following the school census figures taken in February of all schools in the county. Stevens reported the current census gave a total of 5,355 students enrolled in schools in the county, while last year's figure indicated 6,029 were enrolled. All of the six school districts in the county showed drops in enrollment, he said, with Littlefield, Springlake-Earth and Olton, the three largest districts, having the most. Littlefield's enrollment this year is 2,130 compared to 2,494 in '66. Olton's enrollment dropped from 1,294 in 1966 to 1,204 while Springlake-Earth's number went from 922 to 821 students for this year.

Sudan slipped from 690 last year to the present enrollment of 632; Amherst now has 375 compared to 419 in 1966; and Spade fell from 419 in 1966 to 375. "One of the big reasons for the decrease is that there are fewer farm laborers in the county now. Many of them were not re-hired after last year's spring farm work was finished," he said. "Also, a lot of city residents have moved away." The decline in students occurred through all 12 grades of school, but most of the pupils were lost in the first eight grades, he said. The decline in pupils this year also will mean a decrease of about $57,250 in state funds to county schools this next year, Stevens said. State funds are to be allotted at $84.95 per pupil this coming year, after being increased from $81.80 per pupil from 1966.

Green added that previous years' winners have resided in small and large cities, including Whiteface, Rowena, Galveston, Benavides, Seymour, Port Arthur, Alpine, Corpus Christi, Amarillo, Gonzales, Schulenburg, Poth, Gainesville, San Antonio, O'Donnell, Dalhart, Fort Worth, Ennis and Wichita Falls.

Prevention Is Best Cure For Mildew

Prevention is the best cure for mildew, and you can prevent it by moving moisture outside the house, says Mrs. Laura Russell, area Extension specialist in housing and home furnishings. Most of today's houses are better built and tighter than in earlier days, according to Mrs. Russell. New construction allows inside air to pass to the outside and vice versa. "We constantly put moisture into the air by cooking, drying clothes, and using unvented gas-burning stoves during cool or cold weather," said the specialist. "The hydrogen in the gas combines with oxygen in the air to form water in the form of vapor," she explained. The vapor inside the house condenses into water in cooler areas and on cold surfaces, window panes, slab floors, and walls may go unnoticed until mildew forms. Vapor can seep through walls to the outside. It may condense on the inside of painted siding; and when the wood becomes wet, the paint can loosen and curl. Commercial materials such as special liquids, crystals, and paint additives are available for mildew control. Humidifiers can help. Keeping a window open for better ventilation or increasing air circulation with a fan will relieve the situation some. Save your paint inside and out, your wallpaper, carpeting, and clothing by venting gas heaters. Venting carries most of the moisture out of the house.

Evelyn Meadows, Former Resident To Assist In Student-Led Revivals

Evelyn Meadows, graduate of Grand Prairie High School, will be one of fifty students from Hardin-Simmons University who will travel to Indiana March 17-28 to help conduct student-led revivals in sixteen Southern Baptist related churches. Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Meadows of Route no. 1, Box 131, Grand Prairie, will be pianist for Dahien Avenue Baptist Church in Terre Haute, Indiana. Evelyn is a senior elementary major and speech minor. The revival teams, traveling in groups of three, have already attended three training sessions where they learned about work in the churches. They will conduct revivals, special music, give testimonies, hold prayer sessions and sponsor friendships. Two of the students are going as news writers and photographers. It will be the second year in a row that Hardin-Simmons students have traveled to Indiana to assist in week long revival services at Southern Baptist convention related churches and missions. Marshall Walker, director of religious activities at Hardin-Simmons University, will sponsor the trip. A chartered bus will carry the group to Indiana. Expenses, Walker explains, are being supplied by some of the students' home churches and through individual gifts. To be eligible to participate, a student must be in good academic standing and have permission from each of his professors. "Students will be missing two and one half days of school," Walker said, "and must be capable of making up the work before he is allowed to go."

Cotton Board Meets in Washington Elect Officers, Get Things Rolling

The Cotton Board of the Cotton Research and Promotion Act met for the first time March 15, in Washington. They elected officers, employed a manager, designated the "first buyer" as the one responsible for making the $1 per bale collection, and set up tentative procedures for producers to obtain refunds.

Cauley Cortwright, Mississippi cotton farmer and former president of the National Cotton Council, was elected Chairman of the Board. Named Vice-Chairman was J. Russell Kennedy of Bakersfield, California.

Lubbock's Roy B. Davis, Manager of Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, was elected Secretary.

Manager for the Board will be Carlton Powers, former Associate Director of Field Service for the National Cotton Council.

Detailed regulations on how the program will work with the first buyer making collections have not been formulated. This could mean the collector would be the ginner (if he buys the cotton), the country merchant who buys either for export or domestic markets, the mill which buys directly from producers, or Commodity Credit Corporation if the cotton goes into the Government loan.

Refunds, according to the first information from Washington, will be made from serially numbered request forms through a central office, probably in Washington.

It is presumed that further details on both collections and refunds will be worked out by members of the Cotton Board, Powers and USDA officials at an early date.

"... we are going to have a flourishing cotton industry on the Texas High Plains for many years to come, but it isn't just going to happen -- we are going to have to make it happen. And I have enough faith in this area's physical capabilities and in the wisdom, ingenuity and pertinacity of its people to believe we can and will make it happen."

So concluded an address made March 17 to some 150 Panhandle and South Plains bankers and their wives by Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Title was "The Future of Cotton on the High Plains."

The bankers were gathered in Lubbock for the third annual meeting of Lubbock National Bank's area correspondents.

Johnson cited a multiplicity of factors which will have significant effects on cotton's future and the future of this area's cotton industry.

"The decision of a turban-topped Indian in Pakistan to plant wheat instead of cotton, or vice-versa; the decision of a housewife at whether she buys and uses all-cotton fabrics or fabrics of cotton and synthetic blends; the results of an agonomist's efforts to breed cold resistant cotton varieties with desirable quality characteristics; the economic and political climate of our nation in future years; the results obtained from increased cotton promotion -- these and many, many other variables will determine our future," he said.

He pointed out that since it is impossible to assign a numerical value to the influence of any one of these things, it is impossible to pin down with any degree of accuracy where the cotton industry will be at any given time in the years ahead.

"So you can readily see that any opinion on the future of cotton must necessarily be based on faith. Faith in the people who are constantly conducting research on both the production and utilization of cotton, Faith in the vast productive potential of the Plains. And last, but not least, faith in our system of government."

On the national cotton scene Johnson called attention to a number of facts he believes will make a substantial contribution to the future well-being of cotton. And he made it clear that the cotton industry of the Plains could never divorce itself from conditions which exist in the overall cotton picture.

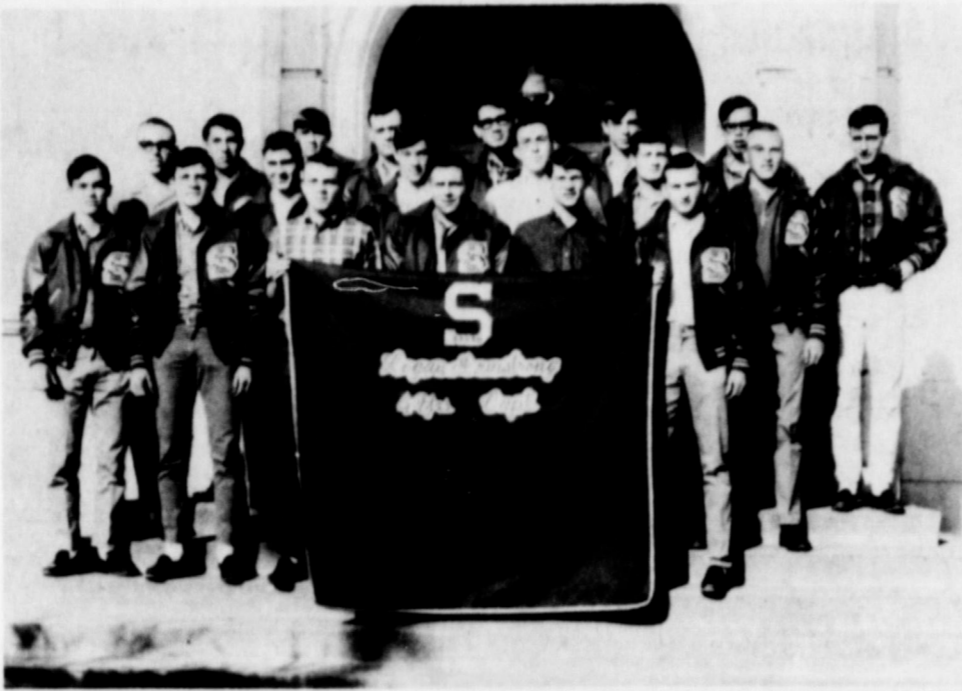

By the end of the current marketing year, he said he expected to see the cotton carryover in the U. S., reduced to about 12.5 million bales, down from almost 17 million the previous year.

He singled out the increasing popularity of durable or permanent press apparel as one of the things helping cotton's markets, telling the group that cotton is the "work-horse" in permanent press fabrics. When cotton and man-made fibers are blended, he stated, the man-mades are added to bolster the strength of cotton, not to improve permanent press or crease-retention.

"And this is the reason we have seen in the past few months many manufacturers reducing the man-made fiber content of blended shirts from 65 percent to only 50 or even 35 percent."

The development of gossypol-free, glandless seed in some of our better known varieties, according to Johnson, shows great promise of improving the farmer's total income from a bale of cotton.

Highlighted Dalton Gandy, Cotton Production Specialist for the National Cottonseed Products Association, to the effect that an international food manufacturing concern is now offering around 10 cents per pound for cottonseed meal made from glandless seed, which would mean at least $150 a ton for unprocessed cotton seed -- more than double the 1966 price.

He predicted that 90 per cent or more of all cottonseed oil and meal would be going into food for human consumption within 10 years, or less, provided development continues at its current rate.

"This would mean somewhere in the neighborhood of $30 or $35 per bale more for the producer -- the equivalent of six or seven cents per pound extra for lint."

Johnson noted that these and other bright spots in the cotton picture are the results of research and promotion on all levels, and said he expected even more rapid and spectacular results from the newly approved Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Under that act, producers will contribute $1 per bale on U. S. production to pay for expanded effort in the fields of research and promotion.

It was pointed out that in recent years some 60 per cent or more of High Plains cotton has been going into export markets. But Johnson said High Plains farmers now have the economic incentive to produce for domestic mill consumption, and will be using all the improved varieties and production tools available to compete in that market.

For the years immediately ahead, he told the bankers to expect four things: (1) Higher quality, more marketable cotton from the High Plains. (2) A reduction of the cotton surplus to around 7 million bales, which Washington planners consider a

Mrs. Parish Attends Two Day Cosmeticians School

Mrs. Leona Parish recently attended a two-day school for cosmeticians at the Kokobrace in Lubbock.

The school was slated to introduce the new line of cosmetics designed by Coty, and to fully demonstrate the art of applying the new "Coty originals."

In describing the cosmetic, Mrs. Parish said, Coty had designed a cosmetic, to give users a new face for every occasion. These New "Coty originals" were created especially to go with award-winning clothing, and will blend beautifully with the new-wiping colors.

Mrs. Parish said the new cosmetics could give its users the polished look, the velvet look, or the jeweled look.

With this new cosmetic facial contouring is easily achieved by shadowing and highlighting of certain facial features or areas by the use of contrasting shades.

Grandparents Enrich Lives Of Children

Children's lives can be greatly enriched by their association with grandparents, says Leota C. Lane, Extension specialist in family life education at Texas A&M University.

The most loved grandparents are not those who "spoil" children, but those who love them and respond to them. Children can learn a great deal about the meaning of love through their association with grandparents.

Another important contribution of grandparents to their grandchildren is as a link to the past. Young children understand things only on the basis of their own experiences--in the present. Through grandparents, the younger generation can learn to appreciate their family heritage. They enjoy hearing about "when Mom and Dad were our age."

In these days of emphasis on youth, grandparents can also impart a wholesome attitude toward older adulthood. When children have the opportunity to love an older person who is vital, interesting, and well-adjusted, they learn to appreciate older people and look forward to the time when they, too, will be grandparents.

Grandparents can support parents, subtly or openly, in their relationships with grandchildren, reinforcing the teaching done by parents at every opportunity. And, best of all, grandparents can have fun with the young people in "the new generation."

shell, as it is called by some companies, is best for the living room, kitchen, bath and in some cases for the hallway. Gloss enamel, covered with a rubbed-effect varnish, can be used for painting woodwork and furniture.

Latex, or water-based paints, are also known as vinyl, polyvinyl acetate, styrene butadiene and acrylic. Special paints include textured varieties, multi-colored and jellied paints. All produce a kind of pattern and require careful choice of fabrics and furniture to go with them, says the engineer.

Allen says semi-gloss and gloss paints withstand scrubbing and stain removal best; that any flat paint, including latex, will wear off and may leave shiny places when spots are scrubbed.

A paint looks brighter and darker on the wall than does a small sample, he says. The lighter paints reflect light and give better lighting effects for family activities. Allen suggests the use of a base coat, such as a primer, or a second coat of enamel or latex when covering a dark paint with a lighter one. Study paint container labels, says Allen, to gain information on content, proper storage, drying time, how to clean brushes, and the number of coats required. Then, he adds, select the best paint, the best equipment and the best ladders you can afford and practice safety when painting.

Finally, Allen suggests that you consider your time and energy when making the decision about painting. It might pay to have the painting done instead of doing it yourself.

Two Local Men Attend 3-Day Sales College in Lubbock

C.O. Taylor, owner-manager of Taylor Furniture and Joe De La Garza of that firm, attended the General Electric 3-day sales college in Lubbock last week.

The 3-day event which began on Thursday was held in the Reddy Kilowatt Room of the Southwestern Public Service Company in Lubbock.

Purpose of the meet was to show all the new General Electric models and acquaint dealers and salesmen with their new features. The group were shown the new GE refrigerators, freezers, ranges, dish washers, laundry equipment, stereo and television.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have entered another General Electric Sales Contest, and are currently ahead for the first two months of the seven month contest. Winners of this contest will have an expense paid trip to various places on the west coast.

New Label Clearance Given Disulfoton

Disulfoton (Di-Syston), a systemic insecticide, has received a new label clearance for cotton seed treatment from the Pesticides Regulation Branch, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

John G. Thomas, Texas A&M University Extension entomologist, said the prior label clearance permitted a maximum rate of 4 ounces per 100 pounds of cotton seed.

Thomas said the new label clearance would provide for cotton seed treatment at the rate of 8 ounces per 100 pounds of de-linted cotton seed, an increase of 4 ounces of insecticide. At the old rate, the length of the control period was not satisfactory.

A systemic insecticide is a chemical that is applied to any part of the plant and is translocated throughout the plant in sufficient quantities to result in an insect kill.

The entomologist said pre-treated planting seed can be purchased or the grower can have his own seed custom treated.

Di-Syston custom treatment is available at Pecos, Brownsville, Lubbock, Wall, Stamford, Fairlie, Hillsboro, Lamesa, Rockwall, Ralls, Morton, Seagraves, Shallowater, Plainview, and Tahoka.

Costs of disulfoton at the 8-ounce rate is 31 cents per pound of planting seed, Thomas said.

Although Di-Syston seed treatment is a new clearance, Phorate may also be used for pre-treating seed, the entomologist added.

Di-Syston and Phorate can be applied in granular form in-furrow at planting time. The application rate should be 5 to 10 pounds per acre of the 10 per cent granular form.

For further information on use of systemic insecticides, producers are urged to contact their county Extension agent and obtain a copy of "Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects."

I will greatly rejoice in the Lord.—(Isa. 61:10 A.V.)

Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing. Do not enter into the silence with solemnity. The Divine Mind is also joyous. We find that to live in the Christ way enables us to live in the world of Christ love, to base our life on love. So let us worship with gladness, and then carry our gladness into our everyday living.

Textile Products Import Has Increased 37% in Past Year

The textile products import situation, which has seen an increase of over 37 per cent in the past year up to the equivalent of over 1 million bales of cotton, is more and more drawing the concentrated fire of the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, Congressmen and Senators.

What all seeks is (1) a five-year extension of the Long Term Arrangement for Cotton Textile Imports which expires September 30 of this year; (2) to get the LTA administered in such a way as to return textile imports to "reasonable levels; and (3) assurances that there will be no further tariff concessions to foreign countries in what is known as the Kennedy Round of tariff negotiations, now in progress.

No less than 31 U.S. Senators, led by John Pastore (D., R., I.), recently spoke in Washington urging a solution to "unfair" textile import competition.

Representatives of the raw cotton industry have held a conference with top level State Department officials, including Under Secretary Nicholas Katzenbach.

ATMI is keeping members of Congress, the State Department and others under a constant barrage of charts and graphs showing increases in imports of the various textile import forms from yarn to finished products, and with figures on the deficit in U.S. textile trade, textile wages and textile price declines.

In the House, Congressman George Mahon has advised Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., he will be presenting a statement pointing up how unchecked textile imports could seriously hamper the current cotton program under the Agriculture Act of 1965.

He, along with other Congressmen, will call attention to the progress made in the cotton industry, including increased domestic consumption of raw cotton and 1966 exports projected at 5 million bales, up from 2.9 million in 1965.

This progress has given cotton producers hope of restoring at least a part of the almost 30 per cent cut in planted acreage suffered in 1965 and 1966.

But Mahon fears these hopes may never be realized if textile import policies encourage increases in foreign cotton production by giving unrestrained access to U.S. textile markets.

It is important to note, he says, that about three-fifths of the increase in textile imports came in the form of yarn. Yarn imports expanded in one year from 7 per cent to 21 per cent of the total. And the seven leading suppliers, accounting for 88 per cent of the total last year, are all cotton producing countries except Portugal, which has her own colonial supply.

U.S. cotton exports supplied these countries with less than 3 per cent of the cotton consumed over the last three years.

The seven countries are, in order of yarn and thread exports to the U.S.: Mexico, Portugal, Brazil, Spain, Greece, Colombia and Israel. Total U.S. yarn and thread imports jumped from 31,500 cotton bale equivalents in 1965 to 213,000 bale equivalents in 1966.

Cotton cloth imports accounted for over a third of the increase from 1965 to 1966, going from 371,400 bales to 468,800 bales. Nine countries were responsible for most of these imports, and the U.S. supplied only about 13 per cent of their raw cotton requirements.

Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, says there are so many departments of Government and so many diverse interests involved it is difficult to make any sort of prediction as to the outcome of what is rapidly approaching upon proportions over textile imports.

But he adds that "over a million bales of cotton are involved, and the outcome will obviously have its effect on High Plains cotton producers as well as those from the rest of the belt."

Information coming in to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., from seed breeders, ginners and the organization's field men now indicate that something like 500,000 acres -- about a third of total 1967 plantings on the Plains -- will be planted to varieties with the potential to produce one inch or longer staples.

Allowing for some of this cotton failing to reach its potential, this could still give the High Plains 25 per cent or more of its 1967 crop in the one inch and better category. This percentage figure, if reached, would almost double the 1964 figure, when only 13.3 per cent of the crop was in these medium lengths.

In calculating this total, PCG found that around 360,000 acres will go into the production of Paymaster III, and that the remaining 140,000 will be split between Lockett 4789, Del Cerro and several strains of Acala.

"And we are told that this acreage will exhaust virtually all of the available supply of quality planting seed in these varieties," said Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of PCG. "He continued by saying that because of this fact weather conditions around planting time this year may have an even greater effect on the staple lengths that will be produced. Initial plantings that may be lost to heavy rains, blowing sand, hail or seedling disease, even if the loss occurs early enough to allow replanting the longer staple cottons, will have to be planted to another variety.

Research on Feed Lot Waste Disposal Now Underway at Texas Tech

Solutions to feed lot waste disposal problems are promised through research being conducted by Texas Technological College, cattlemen were told in Houston on March 15.

The research, which is being made possible through a grant by the Cattle Feeders Division of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, was announced by Ben H. Carpenter of Dallas, TSCRA President and Dr. Grover Murray, President of Texas Tech at the 90th Annual TSCRA Convention in Houston. Additional funds for the research project are being provided by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, according to Lloyd Bergsma, Director of the TSCRA Cattle Feeders Division.

The project is officially designated, "Economic and Engineering Feasibility Analyses of Alternative Systems of Feed Lot Waste Disposal."

The Texas Tech Departments of Agricultural Engineering, Agricultural Economics and Animal Husbandry are cooperating in carrying out the studies. Primary purpose of the research is to determine basic characteristics of factors which could lead to problems in water and air pollution and the best methods of reducing or eliminating these factors.

Bergsma said the research project, which is divided into four phases, is already underway. It is scheduled for completion early in 1968.

The funds provided by the Cattle Feeders Division were contributed by Texas cattle feeders for specific use in this research project.

Cattle feeding within the state has more than tripled in the last two years. On March 1, 1967, Texas cattle feeders had 679,000 head on feed, which was 35 per cent greater than the number on March 1, 1966. Bergsma estimated that cattle feeding volume in Texas in 1967, would reach 1,750,000 head.

Little Strokes May Occur, Be Unnoticed

An often unsuspected cause of mental and physical incapacity is a series of "little strokes," says Today's Health Guide, the American Medical Association's book of health information for the American family.

A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain is reduced or completely cut off. This can be caused by a blood clot or by hemorrhage--bleeding from an artery in the brain, when the nerve cells of a part of the brain are deprived of their blood supply, the part of the body controlled by these nerve centers cannot function normally.

"Little strokes" may start when a person is in the 30's or 40's striking silently at night or passing almost unnoticed as a sudden dizzy spell, a momentary blackout, or just a few moments of confusion. The stroke itself is not severe enough to compel the patient to seek medical aid, but some permanent brain damage remains just the same.

A formerly kind, gentle person may become highly impatient and irritable. His judgement is often impaired. A strong man may become weak and prone to tears. Suspiciousness is common. A person with a tendency to emotional instability, field in check hereofore by will power, may suddenly develop a psychosis. Some become sloppy in dress and befuddled in thought, others lose a part of their normal sense. Sometimes the victim merely loses interest in his family and friends, and lives secretly, constantly hiding things that through forgetfulness he cannot later find.

When the symptoms are mild as they often are, the person may get along fairly well. Surveys show that a sufferer of cerebral vascular disease can get along better in the slower-going farm and small-town areas than in the faster-living city.

The problem of small strokes is one of the most difficult ever tackled by medical science. The most hopeful research approach is that of finding ways to prevent stroke. Science seeks to learn more about how to recognize early symptoms so that treatment can be instituted promptly.
