Woman Helps

rushed over its banks from a deluge of rain in the canyon watershed between Canyon and Hereford 25 and 30 miles away and was getting deeper as they drove the pickup out.

"By the time we got to the top of the hill, where we had been was probably 5 1/2 to 6 feet under" she said. Mrs. Stevens and her grandson left the pickup and the girls at the road and went back in.

Swimming in places, they reached a car where the Ronnie Walker family of Amarillo had climbed onto the roof to escape the water. They took the children, 2 1/2 and 1 1/2, while Walker helped his wife out through about four feet of water.

For two hours we could hear two girls hollering for help, she said. "We could see some lights but couldn't reach them. They were on top of their van. Finally they were swept off the top of the van and Jeff and some of the men went down and threw a rope to them and pulled them in about the length of a city block from the van."

"Then we found a lawyer in a tree and pulled him in." The girls were Heather Marth and Nancy Laurel of Baldwin, N.M., Mrs. Stevens said. The attorney was Jefferson Lankford of Louisville, Ky.

"A couple from Germany, Anke Mollenkott and Manfred Zumppe of Wilhelm, West Germany, were in a tree for 2 1/2 hours and finally swam out. We didn't know they were there."

After the sun came up and the rain slackened, there were five children and 15 adults on the hundred yards or so of main road that was not underwater. Seven cars and pickups were submerged in more than six feet of water in the two-block-square campground, which is beyond the fifth water crossing in the canyon and near the end of paved roads.

Mrs. Stevens had packed the camper with provisions. Two plastic tablecloths and a shower curtain were stretched out from the camper to make shelters from the rain. Blankets were distributed and food was taken out for the dismal breakfast.

Later that morning, a Department of Public Safety helicopter piloted by Bill Meador of Lubbock made the first of several stops it would make at the worst-flooded part of the eight-mile-long state park.

No one was injured there, so Meador left without picking anyone up.

He came back Sunday and took out Mrs. Walker and her children and the two younger children of the Stevens group.

Jeff stayed there to help his grandmother. They worked Sunday to salvage what they could from the cars and pickups as the water started to go down.

Meador came back Sunday afternoon to carry out any of the adults who wanted to go. Several stayed to try to get their vehicles out of the canyon.

The decision to stay carried some danger because they were told Lake Tanglewood just north of the park and Buffalo Lake at Umbarger between Canyon and Hereford might break their dams and flood the canyon again.

Eight of them stayed after Sunday, Mrs. Steven and Jeff, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schroeder of Delmar, N.M.; Air Force Maj. John Hill of Clovis; Ronnie Walker and Mr. and Mrs. James Williams of Pittsburg, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams also had an unusual story to tell when they got home.

They were asleep in a tent when the flood water hit and were carried away. They could not unzip the tent as they bumped and rolled along wetly in the dark and Williams finally got out a knife and cut their way out. They swam and waded to dry ground.

"We held a prayer service while we were there thanking God we got out," Mrs. Stevens said. "I don't see how we did."

Only Mrs. Stevens was able to bring her vehicle out when the water finally receded enough Thursday. The other cars and pickups "were completely ruined, completely covered with mud," she said.

Her husband, W.O. Stevens, who farms south of Sudan did not know his wife had had such an adventure until she got home.

"He wasn't really worried while we were gone because he thought we were in a real high campground and were all right," she said. "He said he was glad he didn't know."

Veterans Administration

Some 70,000 widows, wives of totally and permanently disabled veterans and their children are enrolled in college or other training with Veterans Administration financial help, according to Max Cleland, Administrator of Veterans Affairs. The VA provides up to 45 months schooling to eligible spouses and to children between the ages of 18 to 26, Cleland said.

But the VA chief warned that some spouses will lose their eligibility for these valuable benefits if they don't act within eight months.

The eligibility of a spouse ends on November 30, 1978, or ten years from the date the veteran was found to have a total and permanent service-connected disability, or ten years from the date of his or her death.

Agribusiness Exposition

The second annual High Plains Agribusiness Exposition will be held at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center August 25, 26, and 27, according to Danny J. Cunyus, show director.

In a news conference held at the Civic Center Thursday morning, Cunyus noted that the 1977 Exposition was the first major farm show held in this area with over 150 exhibitors. "Response from last year's exhibitors wishing to be in the 1978 show has been very encouraging," said Cunyus. Plans are currently being formulated for forums on marketing, farm management, import-export opportunities and energy. The forum format has been developed to continue the Exposition's efforts to provide an occasion for anyone interested in agriculture to become more aware of advances and problems in the field, according to Cunyus.

Officers and management for the organization include Danny J. Cunyus, director; Karl Richey, coordinator; Gerald Griffin; Robert D. Rogers, all of Lubbock; and Joe Cunyus of Lockney. An advisory board composed of High Plains farmers will be announced later.

The Exposition will be free to the public, Cunyus added, and will contain 124,975 square feet of exhibit space inside and adjacent to the Civic Center.

Kelley-Clayton Attend Banquet

DANIEL MAY & VICKI WATKINS

Mrs. Ann Kelley and Mrs. Myrtle Clayton were special guests at the Mother-Daughter Christian Charm Banquet held June 3 at Lubbock. The banquet was sponsored by the Melonie Park Baptist Church and was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Jaquess.

The two long banquet tables were covered in white with streamers and flowers placed down the center. From the ceiling hung colorful balls of nylon net. Other spring and garden decorations were used.

David Jaquess welcomed the guests and the students of the Christian Charm Class introduced their mothers and presented them with flowers. The students then had charge of the program presenting a "Far-out Fashions" style show and other talent numbers. Mrs. Roger Clark narrated the style show featuring the newest in fashions with the students modeling clothes compliments of Montgomery Wards.

The invocation was given by Bro. Jimmy Hardy. Following the delicious meal, Mrs.

As the girls were handed their diplomas they explained the lessons learned in achieving outward and inward beauty.

Murder Case

decided they should go ahead and rape the children. Kinslow testified they got into bed with the children, but he said, "Something happened to me and I couldn't."

Kinslow began wiping fingerprints and emptying Mrs. Andrews' purse when Perrin came out and said the children would have to be killed too. Kinslow testified he couldn't do it and handed the weapon to Perrin.

"Jim took the gun and went in and I heard two shots," he said, adding that Perrin returned to the bedroom and fired again when one of the girls started groaning.

The judge was presented a pre-sentencing report on Kinslow's past history, but the contents of the report are confidential under law. However, Garvin County, Oklahoma Sheriff Bill Branch said Kinslow had been in trouble as a youth and spent many years in a juvenile detention center in Helena, Oklahoma.

A court placed Kinslow in the custody of his father in El Paso in October, 1976. Kinslow testified that he moved in with Perrin in Chaparral about a month before the murders.

Kinslow will stay in the Dona Ana County jail until he testifies at Perrin's preliminary hearing, which is scheduled next week. It was originally scheduled last Tuesday but Perrin's attorney obtained a delay in the hearing because he was recently assigned to the case.

Galvan instructed the sheriff's department to keep Kinslow under the "strictest security" in the county jail.

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE

Q. When I bought my house ten years ago, I paid $25,000 for it. Now it's worth almost twice that, but my $25,000 life insurance policy is still worth $25,000. Inflation has hurt me there, right?

A. Not really. During an inflationary period the money you collect from an insurance company may have less purchasing power but on the other hand, since your salary will usually increase in inflation, the percentage of your income you pay for premiums declines.

Not surprisingly, most people add to their existing life insurance protection during an inflationary period because their incomes have risen and they have more dollars to protect.

MRS. DAVID CARR
(nee Kathy Winders)

Winders-Carr Exchange Vows

Miss Kathy Winders became the bride of David Carr of Springlake in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, June 3, in the Earth First Baptist Church. This date is the same wedding anniversary date celebrated by the parents of the bride. The Rev. David Burum officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Winders of Earth and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Carr of Springlake.

Organist, Mrs. Bob Belew, presented wedding selections and accompanied soloist, Mrs. Kenny Hamilton as she sang the chosen songs, "Kneeling, Dear Saviour" and "Sunrise, Sunset."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a wedding gown fashioned of white silk organza. The bodice featured a modified wedding band neckline encircled in heirloom lace. The deep veed yoke of sheer organza was outlined with the lace with a small lace overlay accenting the inner yoke. The long fitted sleeves were overlaid with double rows of lace, tapered at the wrist and fastened with tiny self trimmed buttons. From the slight Empire waistline the A-line skirt fell to form a brush train edged with lace and accented with a row of lace above. The headpiece was a Juliet cap encrusted with seed pearls holding a chapel train veil of illusion edged with lace. The bride carried a bouquet of yellow roses, blue and yellow tinted stephanotis, and baby's breath. For something old, the bride wore her grandmother's antique ruby ring and in her shoe, she carried two pennies minted in the year of the couple's birth; her wedding dress was new; and a blue garter borrowed from her aunt completed the traditional choices.

Miss Sherri Winders, Earth, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Julie Poage, Floydada, Lisa Norris, Sundown, and L'Anna Sulser, Lubbock. The attendants wore formal length gowns of soft yellow satin, featuring a scoop neckline accented with a single-tiered ruffle edged in yellow lace that fell over the shoulders to give a cape-like effect. They carried bouquets designed of yellow gladiolus with yellow streamers, baby's breath and greenery.

Greg Welch, Earth, served as best man. Groomsmen were Darrell

Carr, Springlake, Micky Price, Earth and Keith Kniffen, Lubbock.

Spiral candelabra with greenery and blue and yellow streamers flanked each side of the altar. The memory candle was placed on a pedestal in the center. In front was a kneeling bench entwined with greenery and baby's breath. Family pews were marked with blue and yellow ribbons, baby's breath and greenery. Yellow long-stemmed roses were presented with a kiss by the bride to her mother and the groom's mother.

Candlelighters were Kerry Winders, Lazbuddie and Rod Faulkner, Lubbock. Ushers for the wedding were Monte Winders, Happy, brother of the bride, Steve Stephens, Lazbuddie and Kent Winders, LS Ranch, Channing.

Flower girl was Miss Kristi Curtis. Her gown of yellow dacron with lace and satin ribbon sash was accented with a cape and overskirt of soft yellow georgette edged in lace. She carried an ivory lace basket filled with nosegays of rosebuds, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Ring bearer was Brannon Byers. He carried the rings on an ivory heart-shaped lace and satin pillow.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Winders wore a light blue giana knit gown with a cape-like effect neckline and an accordion pleated skirt. Her corsage was of a yellow orchid.

Mrs. Carr chose a blue floral double knit eyelet gown with a stand-up tie neck and matching sheer jacket with long sleeves. She wore a yellow orchid corsage.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. Monte Winders, Happy, presided at the registry table which was covered with a white cloth and held the bride's book, a blue plumed pen and a white vase containing a yellow silk rose.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth centered with the bride's and attendants' bouquets. The beautiful white three-tiered cake was decorated with yellow rose buds. Yellow punch, yellow and white heart-shaped mints, and nuts were served from crystal and silver appointments. Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Terry Blanton, Lockney, Mrs. Steve Stephens, Lazbuddie and Mrs. Kent Winders, LS Ranch, cousins of the bride.

The groom's table, covered with a white lace cloth, was decorated with a yellow silk rose with streamers in a white bud vase. Gernan chocolate cake topped with the "Reluctant groom" and bride was served with coffee from silver appointments. Servers were Mrs. Rick Partain, Gainesville, and Mrs. Ronnie Puckett, Lazbuddie.

During the reception, Miss Cynthia Curtis distributed blue and yellow rice bags from a yellow lace basket.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colorado, the bride chose a blue and white printed double knit dress with tie-neck and butterfly sleeves.

Mrs. Carr, a 1976 graduate of Springlake-Earth High School is a junior elementary education major at Texas Tech University.

Carr is a 1975 graduate of Springlake-Earth High School and attended South Plains College in Levelland. He is currently employed at Springlake Farm Chemical, Springlake, where the couple will make their home.

Special wedding guests were the grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. L.D. Winders, Earth and Mrs. N.J. Whitley, Ozona. Other out of town guests present were from Odessa, Midland, Floydada, Sundown, Gainesville, Channing, Petersburg, Muleshoe, Lazbuddie, Lubbock, Olton, Dimmitt, Lockney, Hereford, Gruver, Allison and points in Kansas.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS
 Most babies learn to sit steadily after being helped up between seven and nine months, though many normal, intelligent children wait a year or more. Doctors feel that, in general, it's better not to prop a baby up until he can sit steadily himself.

QUICK & EASY LAUNDRY

Swimming, tennis, and picnicking make this one of the busiest times of the year for outdoor fun. It's also a hectic time for Mom; grimy, grass-stained laundry accumulating from numerous clothing changes makes the washday routine an endless task.

Extra laundry needn't spoil your fun. Try these time-saving tips to help you get the job done quickly so you can get outside into the sunshine:

* Get the whole family in the habit of using the washing machine as the hamper for white clothes; use a bathroom hamper for colored clothes. When the washer is full, you can run it without having to waste time sorting. If your washing machine is not conveniently located, try using two bathroom hampers to help save sorting time.

* To eliminate pre-soaking and scrubbing from your laundry scheme, pretreat clothing with Spray 'n Wash® laundry soil and stain remover. Just spray it on the extra grimy spots, wait 60 seconds and then wash the clothes as

* Don't over-dry laundry; it causes wrinkles. If you're running the dryer as you leave the house, set the timer so that garments don't dry completely; then, finish the cycle when you get home. This way you can fold items while they're still warm from the dryer, and smooth wrinkles out by hand to avoid ironing. Take advantage of clear, warm days and hang your wet laundry outdoors to be air-dried.

SCREWORMS DETECTED IN THE ROLLING PLAINS-The first screwworm cases for the season were found in the Rolling Plains during May. This report was received from the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Two cases of screwworms were found in Coleman County and one case each was confirmed from Stonewall and Mitchell counties. There were no reported cases in our area for 1977.

Ranchers should be on the lookout for possible screwworm infestations by continually checking livestock for suspicious wounds. All suspect samples need to be sent to the Mission Screwworm Laboratory for positive identification. Collection kits and vials for mailing worm samples can be obtained from the Lamb County Extension office.

We all need to be screwworm vigilantes this year. Extra precautions with fresh wounds need to be taken to prevent the spread of these early infestations.

CATTLEMEN URGED TO CONTROL ANAPLASMOSIS-Anaplasmosis continues to cause more than $100 million in losses to the nation's cattle industry each year, and blood surveys have shown that about 16 percent of the cattle slaughtered from Texas have the disease.

Cattlemen should take steps to eliminate the threat of anaplasmosis in their herds.

Anaplasmosis is an infectious disease of cattle caused by a small parasite that destroys red blood cells. The disease is especially wide-spread in warm, humid areas where it is spread by certain insects, primarily biting flies such as horse and deer flies. Certain ticks can also spread the disease along with the use of contaminated bleeding or vaccinating needles, dehorners, ear notchers or nose tongues.

Infected animals generally show no visible symptoms during the four-to-six-week incubation period. Then they become weak, may go off feed and refuse to drink water. Later they may become constipated, stray away from the herd, or become unduly excited. Advanced cases become pale around the eyes, muzzle or teats or show yellowish-tinged skin. Seriously infected cattle either die or begin to recover in two to four days after the first symptoms appear.

Older cattle are more severely affected than younger ones, and calves under six months generally do not show recognizable symptoms. Of course, animals that recover are carriers of the disease.

To prevent losses from anaplasmosis, cattlemen may want to begin a vaccination program. However, they should first seek the advice of their local veterinarian. Tetracycline antibiotics can be used as a continuous feed during the season when fly vectors are most prevalent. These may also be given intravenously in early cases. Of course, controlling insect vectors with dust bags, back rubbers or a regular spray program will help reduce the incidence of anaplasmosis.

Cattlemen should watch their herds closely for signs of the disease and to call a veterinarian if the disease is suspected. Cattle showing symptoms should be handled carefully since they are weak and may die rapidly from too much activity or excitement.

PROTECT SQUASH FROM VINE BORERS-Squash vine borers can completely destroy squash plants in the home garden.

Squash vine borers attack all kinds of squash and will occasionally attack cucumbers and pumpkins.

The adult of the squash vine borer is a beautiful wasp-like moth about 1-1/2 inches long. It has metallic blue front wings and the hind wings are transparent. The body is ringed with bright red, black and copper. These moths fly about the garden during the day and deposit small flattened, brownish eggs on stems and leaf stalks. When the eggs hatch the small borers enter the stems and bore up and down the vines. Full grown larvae are thick white caterpillars with a brown head and are about an inch in length.

Plants infested with vine borers begin to wilt and turn yellow. Heavy infestations will kill the plant. The larvae will feed from four-six weeks, and infestations can be detected by the sawdust-like grass which the larvae push out of holes they make in the sides of the vines near the base of the plant.

Infested plants may be treated by slitting the vine with a razor blade or sharp knife at the point of infestation and puncturing or removing the larvae.

Chemical control of this pest is difficult unless the pesticide is carefully applied to the infested area of the vines near the base of the plant. Sevin or Methoxychlor dust may be used.

TIPS FOR FLOWERS OWNERS

Tips To Help You

DOUBLE THE LIFE OF YOUR CUT FLOWERS

Imagine buying a bouquet of cut flowers on Monday and still being able to enjoy them the following Monday. Impossible? Not when you fill your vase with distilled water and floral preservative.

Findings of Ohio State University's Horticulture Department have shown that distilled water, used with a floral preservative, can extend the life of cut flowers up to 100 percent. Devoted flower lovers may have already made this discovery about distilled water which, until now, has been used mostly in steam irons and for cleaning contact lenses.

This floral life-span increase stems from the fact that the preservative reacts more quickly and effectively with distilled water than with tap water. The chemicals in common tap water tend to slow down the preservative action and interfere with optimum results. Unlike tap water, distilled water contains no chemicals, minerals, or trace elements of any kind.

You can use distilled water on your house plants, too.

Basketball Camp Set

The Lubbock All Girls Basketball Camp, scheduled for two week-long sessions at Lubbock Christian College this summer, is filling its enrollment fast. The two sessions are scheduled for July 3-7 and 17-21.

The camps are under the direction of LCC basketball coach Darrell Price. Any girl 10 years or older may attend the camp, however there is a limit of 50 campers for each session. "We want to make sure that each camper gets the proper amount of attention in the basics so we are going to limit the number to 50," Price stated.

Daily sessions will be conducted in the LCC Field House. Campers will live in the college dorms and eat in the school cafeteria. A full-time camper will pay $90 for the week camp while commuters will pay $75. Price also indicated that some girls will not be able to attend. "The University Interscholastic League rules prohibit girls who will be playing on a varsity team to participate in a camp like this. Those who are on junior varsity teams may participate, however. If anyone has a question regarding to rule they should talk to their coach," he stated.

Women Are More Active In Today's Army

In the last five years the number of women in the active Army has more than tripled, according to General Bernard W. Rogers, Army Chief of Staff. This increase and the entrance of women into many non-traditional skills presents challenges. The Army has a commitment to the integration of women and to provide fundamental guidance to insure this integration is completed smoothly and rapidly.

Today women are successfully performing a wide variety of duties, many of which were considered solely in the male domain just a few years ago. A recently approved combat exclusion policy opened more specialties to women than ever before. However, equal training for men and women was only recently implemented.

Qualified women now have the opportunity to serve in all but a few specific combat units and combat specialties. Women are an essential part of the force. They will deploy with their units and they will serve in the skills in which they have been trained, according to General Rogers.

Women are an integral part of the Army. With this in mind, we must insure that women are provided an equitable opportunity for assignment in their specialty, given adequate training and held responsible for the full range of duties prescribed for their assigned positions.

The first considerations in the assignment of women in the Army have been, and will continue to be, the mission of the Army itself and the uniquely demanding nature of Army service in wartime. Within that context women can make important contributions. Indeed, they are doing so now. The burden rests on leaders at every level is to provide
