Mabe Loftis Wins Saddle Given By Roping Club

Mabe Loftis, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Loftis of Dalhart, was named winner of the $275 handmade saddle, given away Saturday night during the last performance of the rodeo by the Earth Roping Club. A ticket for a chance on the saddle was purchased Saturday afternoon by his grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Loftis of Springlake. When Mrs. Loftis decided to purchase the ticket and put his name on it, she told her husband, "Both Rex and Monty have saddles. Wouldn't it be nice if Mabe could win this one?" However, she said, "I've never been lucky in my entire life and certainly never expected to win this time."

Lipscomb of Lubbock, as he addressed the approximate 100 Lions and Lionesses, who had gathered Tuesday night in the Springlake-Earth School cafeteria to celebrate the 20th Anniversary of the Earth Lions.

"Although the U.S.A. has provided money, machinery and aid of all kinds to foreign countries, Lionism, started in the U.S.A., is the greatest of all, as it has scattered brotherhood and humanity to those countries across the seas," Lipscomb, past International Director of Lions, concluded. He was introduced by Charles King, Lubbock, District Governor.

He said, "I'm sure all of you recall one person you admire just a little more than others, and to me this person has just been a shining light. He has willingly given of his time, money, effort, ability and automobile to help with Lions, church, Boy Scouts, fire department and community." He then named Phil Raught as Lion of the year.

M. E. Kelley gave the benediction.

Tables in the cafeteria were laid with white cloths and decorated with white candles surrounded by greenery spaced along the tables. The centerpieces on each table were arrangements of blue and gold flowers. The head table was enhanced with a miniature tree featuring tiny blue flowers and butterflies. Gold streamers of crepe paper lay parallel along the length of the table. The rear of the building carried out the anniversary occasion with large gold letters "20th" on a purple background, with a tiny stuffed lion attached to the purple background, looking down at the number of years, 20, and a huge stuffed lion lying on the grass looking upward. The small lion depicted the achievements of the club during the past 20 years, with the big lion portraying the hopes and expectations of the next 20 years of Lionism in Earth.

VOLUME 13 10 CENTS EARTH, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1967 8 PAGES VOLUME 48

Sanders' Home In Springlake Heavily Damaged By Fire Monday Morning

A fire at the Jack Sanders residence in Springlake Monday morning caused heavy damage to the house, furniture, clothing and entire household contents.

The Springlake Fire Department did a super job in extinguishing the flames when they arrived. According to fire chief, Walter Ernest, the flames were already reaching out the windows, and smoke was pouring from the roof top when they arrived.

Ernest replied after being told that they did an excellent job. "I'm not sure we were such excellent firemen, maybe just lucky firemen. It seems that when we squirted water to the fire, the house was so hot that it created a tremendous steam that quickly smothered out the flames."

The Earth Fire Department rushed to the scene, but the major fire was extinguished except for a small closet fire or two when they arrived.

Ernest said it was his understanding that the insurance adjuster had set the house damage at approximately 75 to 80 percent loss, but the clothing, furniture and household contents had not been adjusted yet.

He said Mrs. Sanders awoke at about 1:30 Sunday morning to find the hallway and attic ablaze, as well as the entire mid-section of the home. She quickly awakened her husband, and since there was no exit available except the windows, they quickly crawled out the window and summoned help.

A neighbor, Carl Perkins, called the fire department while Sanders crawled back into the bedroom, where the two had been sleeping, and grabbed clothing from the closet and handed them out the window. These were the only articles of clothing saved from the fire.

Ernest said the fire had in all probability started from the furnace or from an electrical short. He went on to explain the ruins above a furnace, located in a closet off the hallway, seemed to indicate the fire perhaps started there.

Ernest said the roof was still intact, but the rafters, joists and framework in the attic were burned and about ready to fall down. He said the ceiling had fallen in one or two bedrooms, and clothing had burned. The entire contents of the house were highly damaged by either heat, smoke, water or fire.

Funeral services for Efran H. Zambrano, 44, of Earth, were held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in the Catholic Church with Father Robert O'Leary of Muleshoe officiating.

Zambrano, a farm laborer employed by Edward Wuerflein, died Wednesday, July 13, in the Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt, of what is believed to be the first fatal case of encephalitis in Texas this year. It is believed he contracted the disease more than a month ago, and had been in the hospital for 28 days.

Dr. F. E. Peavy of Austin, commissioner of health for the state of Texas, was said to have informed sources in Lubbock Thursday night. "As far as I know now, this is the first fatal case of encephalitis in Texas this year."

Dr. Peavy said it is believed the mosquito, culex tarsalis, transmits the deadly disease, an inflammation of the brain, to humans.

"Mosquitoes infected with Western Encephalitis, more severe than the St. Louis type that occurred in Dallas and Corpus Christi last year, are endemic to that area (the southern Panhandle). That is, we always have periodic cases there every year."

Dr. Peavy said that the mosquitoes become infected with encephalitis when they bite young, wild birds, but it is not known how the disease is contracted by the birds in the first place.

Dr. W. C. Nowlin, Littlefield health officer, said, "To my knowledge, this is the only fatal case we've had this year. About three weeks ago, a young Littlefield woman contracted a disease that was tentatively diagnosed as encephalitis, but she recovered."

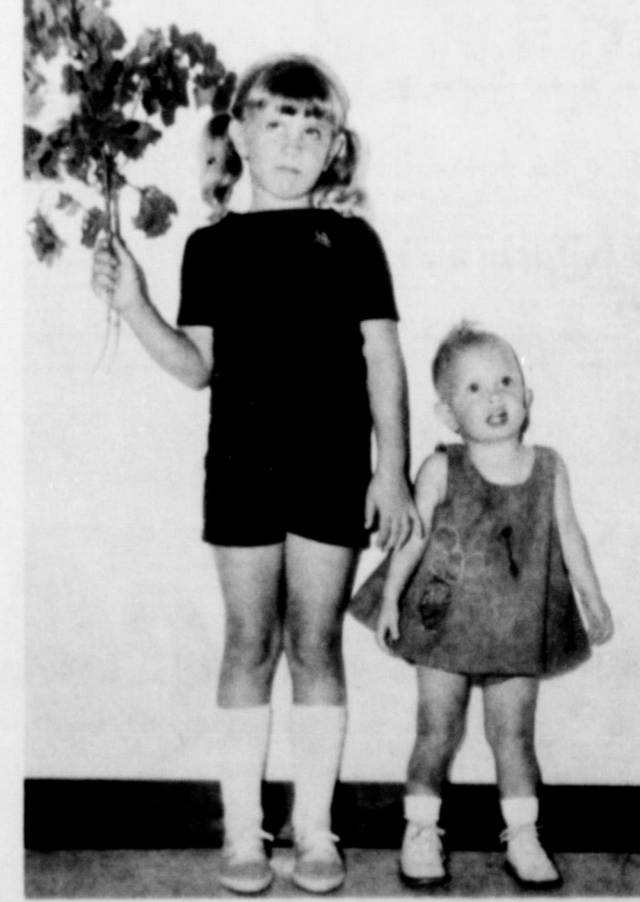

Dr. Nowlin said too, that it is believed mosquitoes transmit the disease to humans and that lately, mosquitoes have become quite plentiful in the area.

The city of Earth sprays at least twice weekly. Never the less, there is always this problem after rain. The sinkholes fill with rain and are ideal mosquito breeding areas.

Zambrano had been a resident of Earth since 1949. He was a native of Beeville and a member of the Catholic Church.

Burial was in the Earth Cemetery under direction of Parsons-Ellis-Singleton Funeral Home of Earth.

Zambrano is survived by his wife, Amalia; sons, Efran Jr. and Theodore; and daughters, Jana and Anselmo, all of the home.

Fall Fashions Will Feature Exciting Fabrics, Colors, And Prints

by Mrs. Lady Clare Phillips

Fashion excitement will be mainly provided this fall by fabrics, their colors, their wild prints, and their textures. When shopping, it is wise to keep these colors and patterns in mind, because the latest "new look" is a highly coordinated one. Stores are showing coats with coordinated boots, knee socks with kilts--and related scarves, belts, and handbags with everything.

Besides checking out colors, it is also important to study labels. More and more items, from suits to raincoats, are guaranteed machine washable. So, why not take advantage of technology designed to make life easier for mothers of school children?

Here's a preview of ready-to-wear choices you can expect to find this fall:

Dresses... The basic shape will continue to be the A-line or tent, but with belts, either loosely tied, chained or buckled. Knits will be much more fashiony, thanks to double-knit and bonded processes, which lend weight and body. Striped, novelty, jumper effect, and 3-piece ensemble knits will be offered in a variety of brilliant colors.

Gold, curry, persimmon, tomato, teal, and a new brighter navy are the colors to look for along with plaids in both wool and corduroy.

LABOR-SAVING DEVICES

Labor-saving devices mean that the homemaker spends less energy for her usual work, and needs less food. It used to take 240 calories to do the family wash plus 50 calories to hang the clothes on the line. Today it takes only 15 calories to put the clothes in the automatic washer and dryer.

DEFROST WATER PANS NEED TO BE WASHED

The toe plate grille located at the bottom of a refrigerator or upright freezer, designed to provide proper air circulation, must be kept clean to assure constantly efficient operation. To remove it for cleaning, open the refrigerator or freezer door and pull the grille off. Also remove the automatic defrost water pan located behind the grille; it rests on runners and can be pulled out easily. Wash both the grille and the pan in warm soap or detergent suds; then rinse and replace them promptly.

YOU CAN CAN OR FREEZE

In this peak season of preparing fresh fruits and vegetables for home freezing and canning, success depends on three factors: high quality food, following recipes explicitly, and observing maximum cleanliness. Otherwise, both effort and food may be wasted. Bulletins, Home Canning and Frozen Foods can be secured from the Extension office. Telephone 5-4004.

PARTY LINE

Linda Starkey, a student at Merriman's Business College in Lubbock, spent the week-end in Earth visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Starkey.

Linda and Joyce Starkey attended the rodeo in Tulia Friday night. They were accompanied by Harold Starkey.

Good Will Centre Still In Need Of Children's Clothing

The Good Will Centre was managed Saturday by members of the local P. T. A.

Only five dollars and sixty-five cents was taken in, due to the centre closing at 3 p. m. for the funeral of Mrs. O'Hair. Mostly ladies' clothing was sold Saturday.

Mrs. C. L. Houchin, P. T. A. president, said the items most generally called for were children's clothing of all sizes. Also, they could use children's tennis shoes.

The centre is still short of bed clothing and bed linens. These items, she said, are called for each week.

How Are Your Picture Frames

While you're giving the rest of the house a new face this year, check the frames around those pictures, suggests Jane Berry, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist with Texas A&M University.

Good pictures properly framed add much to the beauty of a home. Therefore, it's important to go with a particular picture rather than trying to suit a picture to a frame.

The frame should harmonize with both the picture and the wall, says Mrs. Berry. One guide is to select a frame that isn't quite as dark as the darkest color in the picture. It is also correct to select a lighter value than that of the picture.

Usually the frame should be darker than the mat. Repeating a picture color in the frame places emphasis on the picture and ties the two together. The lines of the frame should emphasize those of the picture whether they're simple, complex, straight, or curved.

Frames that look worn--eaten or weathered are suitable for natural subjects used in an informal room. Traditional portraits have elaborate, carved frames and are hung in formal rooms.

The frame should be the same period as the picture. For example, if the painting is by a Dutch artist of the 17th or 18th Century, the frame should be simple with no carving.

Frames for all paper pictures, such as water colors and pencil sketches, are usually made from fairly narrow, simple molding. They are smooth textured and shallow, with little grain or carving, and no deep carving.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Davis and boy of Lovington, New Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bills and girls of Denver City spent Saturday and Sunday visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Cole, and Pfc. Carroll Cole and Mrs. Cole, who are on furlough. Lesa and Denise Bills remained to spend the week with the Coles.

Mets To End Season Thursday As Champion Little League Team

Little League play for the season will probably end Saturday night. However, the Mets, coached by Jack Angeley, Joe De la Garza, John Aguirre, and Calvin Wood, have already ascertained the Little League championship by compiling a season record of 8 wins and 3 losses.

The mets will play Lazbuddie tonight to end their season play, but the outcome of the game will not push the Mets out of first place.

At present the Yankee team is standing in second place, but a game Friday night with the Red Sox could change the second place standing, as the two teams have been close contenders all through the season, according to Jack Angeley.

Lazbuddie News...

By Mrs. C. A. Watson

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey last week were his aunt, Clara McNebb, and a cousin, Lesia Boen, and her two children, Lynn and Jan Boen, from Riverside, Calif. Cost Of Auto Insurance Drops Slightly August 1

Starting August 1, Texans will be paying slightly less for their auto insurance on a statewide average.

Some will pay considerably less, some more. But overall, the State Board of Insurance maintains that motorists will pay $4,200,000 less in premiums. Average statewide saving will be about one per cent for all classes of coverage combined.

State Board adopted, with minor changes, the recommendations of its staff as submitted at a public hearing on June 20. Changes related to commercial and miscellaneous classes for bodily injury, property damage liability and physical damage coverages.

At the same time, the Board authorized a study of so-called "good student" credit. Latter would make some reduction in stepped-up rates charged young males under 25, provided they are students in the upper scholastic achievement bracket. Board said it is strongly inclined toward allowing such a discount. Another study will explore the possibility of creating additional statistical territories.

PARTY LINE

Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence and Jimmy of Pawnee, Oklahoma, arrived in Earth Monday night to visit friends. The Lawrences were members of the Springlake-Earth faculty for several years. They returned to their home Wednesday.

Vietnam Veterans Attending College To Receive Checks Early

Checks for more than two hundred thousand veterans, who will attend college next fall under the new GI Bill for Vietnam veterans, will arrive about ten days earlier each month because of an improved system adopted by the Veterans Administration.

Future checks will normally arrive about the 10th of the month, according to Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco.

The 10-day speed-up results from dropping the requirements for monthly certification, Coker said. Now a veteran, who is attending a regular course at an approved college or university, certifies his attendance at the beginning of the school year.

Checks continue as long as he continues in regular attendance or until his eligibility expires, the VA Manager said.

Cherry and Fawn Dent, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dent of Lubbock, were in Earth over the week-end visiting relatives. They visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L.H. Dent, also Mr. and Mrs. Leon Dent and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Faver and family.

Marketing Research Gets More Involved

The subtle and often intangible art of marketing is reaching out and borrowing from the sciences these days to better understand consumer behavior. Marketeers, says Dr. Bardin Nelson of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department, are tapping the thinking of psychologists, sociologists and even anthropologists. These people deal in what is called the behavioral sciences.

Researchers in marketing are enamored with such ideas as attitudes, motivation, learning theory and a consumer reaction known as equilibrium.

For example, grocery chains spend the funds of dollars in socio-psychological research to determine what item as a "loss leader" would be most likely to disturb the equilibrium of the housewife and bring her into their store," Nelson said.

To disturb a housewife's equilibrium means to peak her curiosity. An example of a loss leader are the coupons often handed out or mailed, offering price cuts on certain items. They are useful in getting people into the store or in announcing new products.

Nelson said many of the grocery chain loss leader offerings center on breakfast foods. Price deals on bacon have proven to be especially good equilibrium upsetters.

The field of behavioral sciences and image making has long been a favorite research area for Nelson. His findings have been printed and widely read.

In 1962, he wrote "Seven Principles in Image Formation" for the Journal of Marketing. This same material was the basis for a chapter on imagery and symbolism in a book titled "Consumer Behavior and the Behavioral Sciences."

Nelson says many ways have been suggested through the years for market development, but most of the progress and major achievements have come from borrowing ideas from other sciences.

WHO PAYS WHOM?

In order for business to survive it must have earning power, and for it to grow it must have a plentiful supply of risk capital. Business also must produce things people want and are willing to pay for—voluntarily.

The federal government, in contrast, doesn't have to make sure that the people really want, or how much they are willing to pay for its services. Since it has the power to tax, it can force-finance, and force-feed its own growth.

Although public opinion polls indicate that the American people want to decrease public spending, some members of Congress continue to introduce vote-bait bills. Many of these would add billions to federal deficit spending as the states, counties, and municipalities sidestepped their responsibilities and let the federal government foot the bills.

It's your money they are spending—the money you pay, and pay, in taxes. When the community or state obtains federal rather than local funds, costly bureaucratic paperwork and controls result in less value received.

Has the Administration created a perpetual motion juggernaut in non-defense spending? Can it be stopped? Is this heavy moving vehicle beyond the control of the Administration and Congress? If so, have the people, the voters, the taxpayers—lost their grip on government?

Federal spending is no longer a topic reserved for discussion by professors, economists, public officials and politicians—it's becoming street-corner conversation today as the average man begins to realize the enormity of the $135 billion federal budget. It would be wise for Congress to avoid passing new legislation and to do everything within its power to curtail non-military spending before the public hits the ceiling in angry protest.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor
Earth News-Sun
Earth, Texas

Dear Editor:

We realize that many of the citizens in the Earth area, who were in Muleshoe for the 4th of July Celebration, were disappointed that the Blue Notes did not make their appearance.

I feel a public apology is due these fine young men and the citizens of Earth. Due to the weather, many changes were made at the last moment. The Blue Notes were scheduled for the auditorium and later moved to the stadium. A piano that was suitable for them could not be found for them to use and perform as they wished.

The committee chairman, along with myself, apologized to the boys, and full payment was made to this group, as agreed upon by the Blue Notes and the committee before they left the stadium grounds. We too were disappointed and they extended their apologies to us for having given us such short notice of a piano needed for the group.

I extend our apologies to the Blue Notes and the citizens of Earth and the people in attendance from Earth, it's our first mistake of the month, and we hope everyone understands the complications that can occur on a project of this nature.

Sincerely,
Vic Benedict, President
Muleshoe Chamber of Comm.

Dear Mrs. Middleton:

Texas For Traffic Safety thank you for the support the News-Sun gave the remedial traffic safety legislation recently passed here in Texas.

Your newspaper and the other papers of the state did a magnificent job of informing the readers of the nature of the proposed legislation, and the reasons why it was being recommended by Governor John Connally and Texas For Traffic Safety so that the readers could form their own opinions based upon facts.

Once the newspaper readers of Texas understood the nature of the proposed legislation, they

Population Under 14 Surveyed By Census Bureau This Week

Information about the number of children under 14, as well as the number of owner-occupied and rented households, is being collected in a Census Bureau survey conducted here this week. Director Francis H. Wilmer of the Census Regional Office in Denver announced.

The information will help population experts in determining national population trends and will provide important economic data about U. S. households.

The questions are part of the Bureau's monthly Current Population Survey taken from a sample of the population throughout the U. S. Simultaneously, questions about employment and unemployment will also be asked for the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics to determine national employment and unemployment trends.

The identity of households participating in the survey is confidential, and the facts obtained are used only for statistical purposes. Census interviewer, who will be working in this area, is Mrs. Rosemary McNeese of Amherst, Texas.

The old things are passed away.—(11 Cor. 5:17)

Let us consciously let go the past; let us think of old thoughts and old conditions as waters that have passed away. Let us live in the present and utilize and express the wonderful God powers and capabilities that are ours. We can bless the past and let it go. It has served its purpose. Our purpose now is to live in God's wonderful present.

Lamb County Farmers To Receive Over $14 Million

Lamb County farmers will receive checks totalling more than $14 million of diverted acreage and price support payments to swell the county's economy. This amount was made known by Lamar Aten, head of the U. S. Department of Agricultural Stabilization and Soil Conservation in the county.

The figure quoted by Aten was $14,035,000. This is a total of diverted acreage and price support payments for both cotton and feed grain, Aten explained.

Aten stated farmers, who will participate in the program, must report to the ASC Office by August 15.

Total amount in payments this year is about $300,000 less than last year, Aten said, "but this is due to payment changes, acreage reduction and so forth." Part of this reduction in payments results from no diversion on feed this year.

Payments will begin about a month earlier than last year, Aten said he had hoped they would start even earlier, but his office had received notice none will be made in this area prior to August 28.

Speeding up of payments has come about under the new certification program by which individual farm producers report to the ASC.

Certification statements for individual producers are being sent to New Orleans for processing and check writing as soon as data is obtained here at the county level.

Checks will be mailed from New Orleans to Littlefield in a new speed up process of automation. The checks then will be placed in the mail for delivery to individuals.

Slayer Caught Near Olton Given Life

John Robert Whirly, 22-year-old Massachusetts drifter arrested near Olton March 31, pleaded guilty Monday to the murder of a teen-age girl and was sentenced to life in prison.

Whirly was apprehended near the Lamb County town after a statewide manhunt and has been held in Dallas County jail without bond since then.

Prosecutors had indicated earlier they would seek the death penalty for Whirly, charged with slaying Rose Marie Martin, 15. The girl's partially clad body was found on a motorcycle path near White Rock lake March 30 in Dallas.

Whirly pleaded guilty in the Criminal District Court of Judge Henry King. Whirly waived the right of a jury trial. The judge sentenced Whirly after the defendant took the stand and confirmed a written confession introduced into evidence.

Texas Farms And Ranches Increase In Size And Value

Texas farms and ranches continue to grow in size, value, and products sold, according to Tom E. Prater, Extension farm management specialist at Texas A&M University.

Farm and ranch value (buildings and land) reached $79,425 per farm or ranch in 1964 as compared to $51,787 per unit in 1959. The value of buildings and land has increased from $82.11 per acre in 1959 to $114.20 per acre in 1964.

Prater said the 1964 U. S. Census showed investment per farm or ranch in buildings and land alone exceeded $100,000 in 117 Texas counties. An investment of $200,000 was exceeded by 46 counties, and 14 counties exceeded an investment of $300,000 per farm or ranch for land and buildings.

The average size of the Texas farm or ranch increased 60 acres from 630.7 in 1959 to 690.9 in 1964.

Farm products sold in 1959 amounted to $2,108,880,646 as compared to $2,227,339,392 in 1964. The average per farm or ranch for 1959 was $9,306 and in 1964, $10,859.

Hale County sold $61,815,031

in farm and ranch products in 1964 to lead the state in total value of products sold. Other counties close to the top in farm and ranch products sold were Lubbock, Hidalgo, Lamb, Farmer, Castro, Deaf Smith, El Paso, Floyd, Wharton, Cameron, and Swisher, Prater said.

Pond Bullfrog Has Taste For Feathers

Predation of mourning doves can come from most unexpected members of the wildlife kingdom.

A Big Spring hunting and fishing club official recently watched a full-grown bullfrog drown and devour an unsuspecting mourning dove that came to a stock tank for a drink of water, according to Herbert Kothmann, wildlife biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Kothmann said the bullfrog grabbed the dove and pulled it underwater. After the bird had drowned, the bullfrog laboriously dragged the soggy prize onto the bank and devoured it.

By Vern Sanford

There is a food problem for wildlife just as there is for humans.

Perhaps the most serious right now is providing food for deer. Their population is increasing.

Despite very liberal laws, hunters haven't been able to do much about reducing the herd.

Large areas of Texas which normally support both livestock and wildlife have had but little rain. Drought has affected them. In agricultural areas, there has been heavy spring degradation and it is likely to get worse as the hot, dry weather continues. This fall it may be serious.

Texas' Parks and Wildlife Department now is looking for some practical plant that can be used to increase or supplement deer food supplies.

Dan Lay, one of the top biologists operating in East Texas, has been on the search for such a plant for several years. Deer population has increased materially in the piney woods country, but at the same time, considerable land has been utilized for other purposes. For instance, two major lakes already there and another one under construction have wiped out something like a quarter of a million acres of deer range.

Right now Lay is experimenting with yaupon, dwarf liveoak and Japanese honeysuckle. In the last four years he has researched more than 20 species of browse plants. He has found that a yaupon orchard, properly managed, will yield a ton of excellent browse per acre. Production of Japanese honeysuckle can exceed that figure.

Yaupon is an evergreen of the holly family. It is a branched shrub, with white-cluster blossoms that produce small berries, also good as bird food. Its growth, however, is slow.

Japanese honeysuckle has a vigorous, twining, woody vine, spreading 20 feet or more, with long-petal flowers. Deer are particularly fond of this plant as a food.

Both plants are fine for East Texas, where there is abundant rainfall. But in the Edwards Plateau and the Trans-Pecos areas, deer browse is another problem. Fortunately, many of the landowners, particularly those who lease shooting privileges, are willing to feed their deer as they do livestock. Some even go so far as to plant winter oats and turnip patches.

Since more and more landowners are recognizing that wildlife can be a crop, they are taking steps to insure that wildlife gets enough food.

Quite a bit of experimental work already has been done on the Kerr management areas, northwest of Kerrville. Here, there are pens with high fences, where deer, cattle and goats share a common area.

From these experiments, information is passed on to landowners who can use similar practices and propagation of necessary foods.

Thus while we do have more wildlife, preserving it is getting to be more complicated, like everything else. This means landowners must get a fee for hunting privileges. Otherwise they can hardly afford to feed and care for the wildlife as it should be.

Wildlife comeback has been startling in some areas.

For instance, wild turkey are said to be practically taking over southern Coleman County. A dozen years ago it was impossible to find a turkey in the area. Some were transplanted there. They have good timber for nesting along the Colorado river bank and in other smaller stream beds. And there is room for them to range with a lot of native food.

Other food testing experiments also are being carried out in other ecological areas of the state. Clubs and landowners can cooperate with the game department in this planning.

No doubt about it—increasing wildlife population can mean a money crop to farmers and ranchers.

14 Accidents In County During June

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 14 accidents on rural highways in Lamb County during the month of June, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in five persons injured and an estimated property damage of $9,150.00.

The rural accident summary for this county during the first six months of 1967 shows a total of 47 accidents resulting in three persons killed, 16 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $62,970.00.

The number of traffic deaths in Texas continues to rise. For the first six months of 1967 there have been 1,476 traffic deaths compared to 1,396 traffic deaths for the first six months of 1966. This six percent increase is very alarming, and chances are it will become very critical because of vacation months and holiday periods still ahead to intensify the magnitude of the accident picture.

This alarming increase of ac-

Pfc Carroll Cole Home On Furlough

Hospital Atmosphere Fails To Dampen Anniversary Celebration For Ivys

When it's anniversary time, a local Lazbuddie couple believes in celebrating, regardless of the place and circumstances.

This year, the 34th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Ivy rolled around Saturday, to find Mr. Ivy a patient in the Green Memorial Hospital in Muleshoe, lying flat on his back, suffering from muscle spasms in his back.

During the afternoon, the Ivys daughter, Mrs. Carol Smith, and granddaughter, Terri Carol, provided homemade ice cream and cake, and the party got into full swing. The Ivys celebrated their anniversary with nurses and Dr. Dean as guests.

He was expected to be able to return to his home sometime this week.

National Farm Safety Week Set July 23-29

The week of July 23-29 has been proclaimed National Farm Safety Week by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President, in signing the proclamation, emphasized "Agriculture remains America's first and most important industry. It supplies food for our people and many millions throughout the world, and a vast measure of the raw materials used in the making of other products.

Therefore, whatever diminishes or impedes the efficiency and productivity of our farmers is detrimental to men and women everywhere."

The objective of the National Farm Safety Week is to draw attention to the safety problems of farm and rural people and suggest ways to prevent accidents on the farm, in the home, and on the highways.

"Disabling injuries and the resultant economic losses are at an all-time high. Not only is a personal hardship involved, but we as a nation cannot tolerate the drain on our rural manpower and economic vitality in this time of critical world food needs," Leon J. Urban, manager of the National Safety Council Farm Department, points out.

In view of this costly loss of economy and the tragic loss of life, President Johnson makes this plea to America's farmers and their families.

"Urge all persons who live on farms, and those persons or groups allied with agriculture, to respond to applying full energy to the ongoing task of reducing accidents at work, in homes, at recreation, and on the highways."

Tips Given For Cleaning And Removing Stains On Glass

Cleaning and stain removal are often major problems for owners of antique glassware, but the problem can arise even with everyday glass articles.

Joy Arrington, Extension home management specialist with Texas A&M University, suggests the following solutions to common cleaning problems in glassware.

Minerals in water often result in such cleaning problems as lime deposits and surface discolorations. To remove the lime deposits from the bottoms of pitchers, bottles, or decanters, put tea leaves on the stained surface and fill the container with a vinegar solution. For surface discoloration on decanters, rub the glass with half a lemon, or wash it with vinegar or partially fill with uncooked rice and vinegar and shake vigorously.

A well-known research laboratory offers this method of removing hard water deposits which have dried in designs and etchings. Soak glassware in a solution of one part muriatic acid and four parts water. This acid, available at drug or hardware stores, should be handled with rubber gloves. After soaking in the solution, rinse the glass thoroughly and dry.

Vinegar cruets often become stained and should be rinsed with diluted ammonia before washing. Stains in flower vases can be cleaned with a chlorine bleach solution. To brighten glass coffee makers, use a teaspoon of baking soda in the rinse water.

Glass is never permanently stained, according to the Glassware Institute of America. It has a hard, smooth, non-absorbent surface that cannot be

TAX REDUCTION—"Great importance should be attached to regular, frequent and significant reductions in tax rates, said Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, (D-Ark.). He continued, "Stable economic growth is produced by a long-range program of periodic tax reduction. Attention has frequently been called to the growth in our tax system's revenue productivity which accompanies the growth of the economy. There will always be competition for this potential increment in revenues between those who would spend and those who would reduce taxes. I have expressed the view that tax reduction should have a preferred position."
